Centennial Celebration
The School of Music Student Organization “The George Walker Society of Music” presents a one-hour music program to celebrate the centennial births of two great American music icons—Ella Fitzgerald and Thelonious Monk—on Friday, November 10 @ 4pm in the Learning Commons. For more information email Celeste.Bembry@uni.edu.

Fingerscan Registration
Want to check out items but forgot your ID? No problem! Register a scan of your fingerprint at the Library Services desk to ensure you are always ready for checkout. You will initially need your UNI ID to register.

Sweet Life
Join us Tuesday Nov 14 at 3:30 in room 287 to talk about “Living with Diabetes.” This event is in honor of World Diabetes Day. It is designed to increase awareness of the support for diabetic students at UNI and to help everyone better understand the disease.

For Credit Library Classes
Looking for a little something to round out your course load for next semester? Consider taking a library class for credit. Next semester we will offer two courses: “Beyond Google” and “Creating Wikipedia for the Arts.” “Beyond Google” takes trolls and fake news head on as you learn about the social, ethical, legal and political issues associated with the ownership of information. “Creating Wikipedia for the Arts” is an upper-level information literacy class that engages with Wikipedia, the arts, information literacy and social issues like diversity and representation. At the end of the course, students will have a portfolio of Wikipedia article contributions and a toolbox of practical and transferable research and writing skills.

Kanopy Streaming Service
Need to add some video to your courses or presentations? Rod Library has recently subscribed to the Kanopy video streaming service. Kanopy offers over 17,000 videos including theatrical and independent releases, documentaries, international films, television shows, and training films. To access Kanopy, start by going to Rod Library’s website. You can either search for Kanopy directly by typing it into the OneSearch! Portal located in the middle of the page or find it using the Databases A-Z page found on the left-hand side of the site. Additionally, if you’d like to search for a specific video you have in mind, you can type it into the OneSearch! Portal to see if the library has access to it through Kanopy or any of our other resources. Viewer information, including instructions for establishing a user profile can be found at https://tinyurl.com/UNIkanopy.
