Iowa State Teachers College
Miss Lou P. Barrett, Class 1878.
A letter from Miss Barrett states that she is very cordially invited to the class reunion of the class of 1878 to be held this fall. She was one of the very early students of Iowa State Normal School and has brought credit and honor to the institution in all her work. She has taught for many years in the rural schools of Iowa county, Iowa, and is now engaged in the real estate business in Cedar Falls. Since graduation she taught for three years in Iowa, four years in Chicago, and one year in Minneapolis, Minnesota. She is principal of a rural school in Mears, Iowa, this year, which school district she has served acceptably. Miss Barrett's career has been a most successful one, as it has been devoted to constructing the standards of civilization and a high adjustment of the lives of the young.

Golden Wedding. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Fields, some years ago prominent in the educational and literary work of the region, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home town of Columbia. There were present their children and grandchildren. A few hundred of their former students gathered about the house and to extend them the best wishes for the forty years of married life. Mr. Fields was a member of the Board of the Normal School in the last few years. He has been very active in doing everything as an officer and as a director and the interests of a struggling institution. The work of the pioneer board has much been like that of the pioneers of this community. The efforts of the later developments would have been impossible.

The S. U. F. Normal Club. The old students and graduates of the State Teachers College in Iowa City and in the State University held their annual banquet and banquet at the Jefferson Hotel. The spirit of the entire occasion was inspiring and the toastmaster, W. W. Bumgart, the secretary-treasurer, made the attractive features of the entertainment a matter to be remembered.

Twin City Alumni. The Twin City Alumni of the Teachers College held their third annual day's work. The banquet was held in the Twin City Hotel.
