Learning Commons

“Compared to a traditional library where even the quietest of shoe squeaks turns heads, the Learning Commons is an incredibly modern space to converse and work with your classmates, peers and friends.”

Partners

The Learning Commons is maintained through a collaborative effort between several offices, departments, and programs on the University of Northern Iowa campus.

The contributions and perspectives from these continue to provide a comprehensive and versatile view of the academic needs of the undergraduate community.

The Learning Commons builds on existing partnerships with individuals, departments, and centers on campus such as Academic Learning Center, Information Technology Systems, and Interactive Digital Studies.
