3-6-2018

Refugee & Immigrant Resettlement in Waterloo, Iowa: Film Screening & Panel Discussion [poster]

University of Northern Iowa. Center for Holocaust and Genocide Education.
REFUGEE & IMMIGRANT RESETTLEMENT IN WATERLOO, IOWA:
Film Screening & Panel Discussion

In conjunction with the opening of “Bosnian Portraits: At Home in the Cedar Valley,” at the Grout Museum of History & Science, Waterloo, the documentary film “A Home in the Heartland,” about Bosnian resettlement in Waterloo in the 1990s and 2000s, will be screened. This 16-minute film was written, directed and produced by Don Fish, a UNI graduate. Don Fish will do a live video introduction to the film.

The film screening will be followed by a panel discussion on Bosnian resettlement in the Cedar Valley and its relation to other influxes to the Cedar Valley of refugees and other newcomers. The panel, moderated by Mark Grey (Department of Sociology, Anthropology & Criminology, UNI), will include Sulejman Dizdarević (Waterloo); Joana Lwin (Ethnic Minorities of Burma Advocacy and Resource Center, Waterloo); and Fernando Calderón (Department of History, UNI).

TUESDAY
MARCH 6, 2018
7:00 PM

CURRIS 109
JOHN DEERE AUDITORIUM

This event has been organized by the UNI Center for Holocaust and Genocide Education and is co-sponsored by the student organization RISE (Refugee and Immigrant Support and Empowerment).