The University of Northern Iowa, one of the state's leading institutions of higher learning, is the outgrowth of the Iowa State Normal School established by the General Assembly in 1876. On September 6 of that year 27 students under four instructors began classes in a renovated home for Civil War orphans. This building, later named Central Hall, was destroyed by fire in July, 1965.

From a single building on a 40-acre campus, the University has grown to include over 41 major buildings of more than 8,000 square feet each, a 721-acre campus, over 500 full-time faculty members and nearly 10,000 students. Of the 9,806 enrolled for university credit in the fall of 1972, 8,845 were on-campus, 612 were through extension and 349 in correspondence. The University also maintains a laboratory school for 728 students in preschool through 12th grade.

During the first 27 years, the school issued teaching certificates requiring 12 weeks to two years of training. In 1903 a four-year curriculum based on high school graduation and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education was authorized.

In 1909 the institution was renamed the Iowa State Teachers College and the government of the College, along with that of the University of Iowa and Iowa State University, was vested in the State Board of Regents, a nine-member body appointed by the Governor. Under the new name, the College attained a reputation as one of the nation's top ten institutions for preparation of teachers.

On July 5, 1961, the Iowa General Assembly on recommendation of the Regents changed the name of the school to State College of Iowa and redefined its function to include the offering of liberal arts degrees.

On July 1, 1967, the General Assembly on recommendation of the Regents approved university status. The name was changed to University of Northern Iowa and its function was again redefined.

Although teacher education remains its largest program, the University offers degrees to students majoring in a wide variety of subjects. Thus UNI has two Bachelor of Arts degrees, one with certification to teach and one without certification. Also, a Bachelor of Technology degree can be earned with or without certification to teach, and since 1969, the Bachelor of Music degree has been offered. An Individual Studies major enables a student to pursue, with faculty approval, a wide assortment of study areas.

On the graduate level, courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts in Education were offered for the first time in the summer of 1952 and a sixth-year program leading to the Specialist in Education degree began in 1960. Specialist degrees are now granted in education, business education, science education and special education administration.

In 1964, the Master of Arts degree was approved by the Regents. The first Master of Arts degrees were granted in 1966.

Phase II of the Education Center and the Biology Research complex are being occupied this fall. Construction on Phase II of the Library began in May, 1973, with completion anticipated in August, 1974.

SPECIAL SERVICES

EXTENSION SERVICE

Consultant Service -- The University provides its staff to assist with much in-service work in the public schools of Iowa. Staff members are chosen from the various departments and devote their time to assisting teachers, administrators, and school boards in improving instruction. Consultant visits were made in a total of 56 towns and cities and in 28 counties in the school year 1972-73. A total of 150 days of services was rendered.

Extension Classes -- These classes fall into four categories -- those taught during the academic year by staff members, those taught by instructors not on the extension staff, those taught by coordinators of student teaching in their respective towns, and community classes. During the year 1972-73, 48 classes were taught by on-campus staff, 11 classes were taught by the extension staff, and 33 classes were taught by coordinators of student teaching. 12 short courses were taught in the summer months. In these courses 1,621 students were enrolled. Five community classes were offered with an enrollment of 74.

Correspondence Study -- The University offers an opportunity to earn credit by correspondence study to teachers in service and to other persons not in residence. During the 1972-73 school year, there were 385 enrollees in correspondence study.

Educational Service Publications -- As of June 30, 1973 38 different publications prepared by members of the University staff were available to supplement educational concepts and methods of teachers in the schools.

Educational Conferences -- The Extension Service assists with nearly all educational conferences held on the campus. 59 conferences were scheduled through the office during 1972-73 with attendance totaling over 17,392.

Speakers Bureau Service -- Information on staff members available as speakers is made available to schools, educational organizations, and service clubs upon request.

Pre-School and In-Service Institutes -- The Extension Service provides personnel for institutes and workshops to the public schools.
PLACEMENT OF GRADUATES

The Office of Career Planning and Placement aids prospective graduates and alumni on both the teaching and non-teaching curricula in securing career positions, in accordance with their qualifications and special interests. Registration with the placement service, including establishment of a set of placement credentials, is available to potential graduates on all degree levels who meet the requirements. Alumni may re-register for service. Career information and counseling are provided upon request.

Recruiting in the non-teaching field begins in October and runs through the month of April. Representatives of business and industrial firms and government and other agencies and institutions come to the campus each year to interview candidates.

In teaching, employment activity for the coming year starts in February and continues through the school year and summer. Vacancy listings received from Iowa and other states, are made available to candidates through a computerized mailing system. Many school officials come to the campus to interview.

COUNSELING PROGRAM

The Counseling Center is located on the lower floor of the New Administration Building. Professional counselors are available to assist students in developing a better understanding of themselves and their relationships with other people. In addition to individual personal counseling, opportunities are available for participation in personal growth groups. Career counseling is available for those desiring assistance in the choice of a major field of study or an occupation. Study skills seminars are conducted each semester. Referral relationships are maintained with private psychiatrists for those desiring additional personal counseling.

ORIENTATION AND NEW STUDENT ADVISORY PROGRAM

The Coordinator of Orientation and New Student Advising is located in the Office of Academic Affairs, Room 200, Administration Building. Orientation programs are developed to assist the student in becoming a part of the University community and aware of the educational opportunities at UNI. Orientation and academic advising are viewed as a phase of career planning and, therefore, exist to aid the student in planning the best academic program to meet his vocational and educational goals. Each student has an assigned adviser. The advising system utilizes a group of special orientation advisers, residence hall staff members and faculty advisers.

EDUCATIONAL MEDIA CENTER

The primary function of the Educational Media Center is to provide a variety of media, equipment, and services for the total university. The Educational Media Center consists of seven closely related areas—the Audio-Visual Services (including the Audio Listening Center), the Curriculum Laboratory, Graphic and Photographic Services, the Self-Instructional Media Laboratories, Television Services, the Communication Center in the Education Building, and Motion Picture Production Services.
EDUCATIONAL MEDIA CENTER (Cont’d)

Audio-Visual Services, located on the first floor of the Commons, is the center for university-wide distribution of media software and audio-visual equipment. The A.V. Center houses motion pictures, filmstrips, and recordings as well as globes, models, slides, and transparencies. It also has a wide variety of audio-visual equipment including various types of projectors, tape recorders, record players, and limited photographic equipment. The Audio Listening Center, now part of the A-V Center, houses a university-wide collection of tape recordings and 56 listening carrels with tape recorders.

The Curriculum Laboratory is a facility where teacher education students and faculty, as well as in-service teachers and administrators, may pursue educational studies and projects related to curriculum and instructional development. The Curriculum Laboratory is located on the second floor of the Education Center. Approximately 50,000 educational publications are systematically organized and available for examination, study, and research. Included in the Laboratory are elementary and secondary curriculum guides, resource units, current educational materials and equipment catalogs, commercial games, professional pamphlets and research monographs, elementary and secondary textbooks, education methods books, instructional pictures, and educational periodicals.

Graphic and Photographic Services, located on the ground floor of the Commons (west), provides diverse systems for the design and production of media materials. Almost any type of audio-visual material can be produced locally to assist faculty and staff in implementing instruction. Examples of these materials are overhead transparencies, posters, charts, reproduction copy for offset, printed learning packages, three-dimensional models, displays, photographs, and slides.

The Media Laboratories, located on the second floor of the Commons, provide facilities, equipment, and self-instructional programs for all students and faculty who want to produce their own instructional materials or learn the operation of a wide variety of audio-visual equipment. In addition, a media supply room houses materials available for purchase.

Television Services provides four-fold capabilities to the university community. A professional television studio, located on the third floor of the Auditorium building, is connected to five large classrooms all equipped with high quality television monitoring facilities. A smaller classroom-studio, with all equipment remotely controlled, can be scheduled for recording of student-teacher performance and other classroom activities. Two previewing areas, for both small and large group viewing of prerecorded video tapes, are also available in the same building.

The Communication Center in the Education Building utilizes a unique color television system to distribute all types of audio-visual media to every classroom and laboratory in the building. The Center also contains a color television studio and control room for the origination of professional color television programming. Price Laboratory School is connected to the Education Building by coaxial cable permitting production and distribution from either building.

Motion Picture Production provides a university-wide service in filmmaking, including budgeting, production planning, filming, titling, limited animation, and sound recording.
RADIO AND TELEVISION STUDIOS

Radio Studios are located on the second floor of the Old Administration Building and the third floor of the Auditorium Building. Regular programs of instruction and information are recorded in the university studios and are broadcast daily. The radio studios are used as training facilities for the Radio and TV offerings of the UNI Department of Speech.

FM Radio Station KUNI, which is owned and operated by the University, broadcasts programs of informational, educational and cultural interest. The station covers nearly one-half of Iowa with 100,000 watts stereo from an antenna 1,800 feet above ground. KUNI(FM) can be tuned in at 90.9 MHz.

Closed-circuit TV studios are also located on the third floor of the Auditorium Building. They are used for multiple-class instruction and are connected by coaxial cable with five classrooms, each of which is equipped with receiving sets. Instructional material may be preserved on video tape or kinescope recordings. The TV studios are used as training facilities for the Radio and TV offerings of the speech department.

Open-circuit TV programs -- Weekly programs on Iowa history for in-school viewing have been recorded on film for distribution to TV stations throughout the state.

Campus-carrier Station KCRS, a student-operated commercial radio station, serves the students in the University dwellings and local area merchants. The KCRS studios occupy a suite in the UNI Union. KCRS can be tuned in at 970 on the AM dial.

STUDENT LEADERSHIP ORGANIZATIONS

UNI Student Association -- UNISA is the supreme student governing body, empowered to regulate, implement, and coordinate all matters of student affairs, to act as the voice of the students, and to supervise student body activity in order that it may be conducted for the best interest of the student body as a whole.

Graduate Student Council provides communication between graduate students and faculty and is represented on the Graduate Faculty Council as well as UNISA government bodies.

Married Student Housing Council coordinates the activities of the married residents on campus with the activities of UNI. It attempts to develop interests, sociability, and organization among the residents and cooperates in implementing UNI's policies concerning the activities of the Married Student Housing residents.

Residence Hall Association provides a common government for the residence halls, coordinates their activities, and develops communication between the residence system and the campus community.

Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Councils -- These groups are the coordinating bodies for the six social sororities and five social fraternities on campus. The councils are comprised of elected representatives from each group.
