A QUICK LOOK AT COACH CLYDE L. (BUCK) STARDECK

Terminating himself as always pessimistic, Buck Starbeck tackled his 1933 head coaching task with the same vim and vigor that he did when coming to the Iowa State Teachers College campus in 1936.

But even when making his debut at Iowa State Teachers College "Buck's" name was far from strange to followers of the North Central Football Conference. He is entering his 27th year of association with the league, either as a coach or a player, and during that time he has been a cog in winning 16 conference championships. Then he joined the Panthers in March of 1936 it was their first year in the North Central Conference.

Buck's days in the conference date back to 1923 when he enrolled in South Dakota State College and promptly won a berth at center on the team. He was picked as an all-conference selection as a freshman and repeated his remaining three years in college. During that time the Bunnies were twice winners of the conference title.

Upon graduation from college, he began his coaching career at Eau Claire, Wis., where his high school eleven posted an eight won no lost record. His high school coaching days were short-lived however, when he accepted the position as line coach at the University of North Dakota in 1928. The Nodaks brought home six conference crowns during the eight years he was there before accepting the position he now holds.

During his first four seasons with the Panthers, Starbeck enjoyed only mediocre seasons, finishing third, fourth, fifth and seventh in the conference. But when 1940 rolled around, Starbeck's
Panthers became the scourge of the league and carted off 10 straight titles before losing to South Dakota State in 1950.

A third-place finish behind the University of South Dakota and the Jackrabbits in 1951 ended the Panthers stay in the lower rungs, as they swept to an upset in the loop for the 1952 flag.

During the Panthers winning streak, from Nov. 4, 1939, to Oct. 8, 1949, Starbeck's clubs chalked up 31 consecutive North Central Conference wins. A 14-13 loss to the Jackrabbits on the latter date tied the Panthers with South Dakota State for the title. It ran the Panthers win string to seven, first time in national collegiate history that one team had so completely dominated a league over such an extended period.

During his 14 seasons with the Panthers, Starbeck has racked up a North Central Conference record of 90 wins, 16 losses and three ties for a .716 mark. His over-all record at Teachers College stands at 71 wins, 41 losses and nine ties for a .624 mark.

Starbeck was born in Montevideo, Minn., on Jan. 7, 1901. He started his football career as a prepper at Montevideo where he played for five seasons.

He continued his football the following year at Hamline University, and then coached at the Pipestone, Minn., Indian school for two years before enrolling at South Dakota State. His Indian team won 12 and lost two games during the two seasons.

Married in 1925, death claimed Starbeck's wife and two oldest sons within a two-year period. He has two other sons, Bob 17, and Pat 15, at home. Starbeck remarried in 1948.

1953 PROSPECTS

As usual, Coach Buck Starbeck was not too optimistic when his 42 candidates reported for practice August 31. But the opening drills presented even more problems than he had counted on, especially after he discovered the lack of experience within the group.

"With 13 lettermen returning, Starbeck feels that he can field one team quite adequately, but after that "the ranks really get thin," he says. Whether the Panthers can come up with an aerial attack comparable to that they had in 1952 when they won the North Central Conference championship will be a big measuring stick in the '53 success.

Position by position, the 1953 squad stacks up thusly:

Ends--Two lettermen help shape the starting end corps for the Panthers. A third letterman, Charles Novotony of Cicero, Ill. received his induction notice only a week before practice opened. Dick Beetsch set a new school pass-catching record last fall with 24 completions for 368 yards and nine touchdowns. Tom Walker, other letterman end, caught two passes for 33 yards. Jim Rosien, transfer student from Fort Dodge, has drawn several plaudits from Starbeck.

Tackles--A wide open battle is being waged for the starting tackle berths, with two lettermen back to defend their old positions. LeRoy Dunn of Manly and two-time letterman Jim Tachenheim of Chicago are drawing stiff competition from Bob Elmore, Des Moines, and Lyle Smith, Cedar Falls.

Guards--Carl Rauch, double letter winner from Chicago Heights, Ill., leads the list of three lettermen back for starting guard positions. Roy Voggessor and Robert Case have both sparkled in early practice sessions. Some untried sophomores will undoubtedly get a chance at these spots as the season progresses.
Centers—This is definitely the weak spot of the line as far as veterans are concerned. Jerry Foster is the lone returning vet, and he won his letter at tackle last year. Foster, along with several promising newcomers must fill the shoes vacated by the Panthers' Little All-American Lou Bohnsack.

Quarterback—Diminutive Ralph Capitani, 150 pound, two-year letterman, commands top spot here with his sizzling aerial tosses. Whether he will be able to run from the single wing as throw will depend on how well he will fill the position. LaVerne Rohlfson, two-year letterman just out of the Marine Corps, adds experience to the quarterback spot.

Halfbacks—Probably the strongest position in the Panther backfield. Art Landau and Doug Butler, both lettermen, loom as the top prospects for starting berths, with several newcomers adding needed depth.

Fullbacks—Bud Bitcon is the only returning vet, but should get help from Fred Loffredo and Vern Rosene.

Although the two-platoon system has been ruled out, specialists are still required. Teachers specialty crew:

Punting—Neither Bud Rowray nor Jim Miller, who handled the punting chores last year are back. Starbeck is still testing new personnel for the job, with Capitani and Bitcon showing the best booting ability.

Passing—Considerable of the Panthers' success fall depends on how well their passing stands up. Last year's ace, John Cory, is gone, but Capitani, who served as his understudy appears a top-notch performer here.

Receiving—There seems to be few worries in this department, with Dick Beetsch, who set the new school record, teaming with Jim Rosien, an untried transfer student, at the end posts.

Rushing—Landau, Butler and Capitani are the only returning rushing leaders from last year, but figure to keep the Panthers as the top.

1953 Central Michigan Prospects

Central Michigan Chippewas offer one of the toughest teams Teachers College will probably meet in 1953. Defending Champions of the Interstate Conference, the Chippewas lost but eight seniors to graduation. They are fortified by 23 returning lettermen and a host of promising freshmen. Coach Bill Kelly expressed more concern at the outset of the season over switching from the two-platoon system than over player personnel. His ends are exceptionally strong with eight lettermen of near-equal ability. His tackle posts are well-named by 6-5, 245-pound Larry Shotley and All-Conference Ken Barron. Jim Meyer, another 240-pounder is up from the junior varsity.

Experience is definitely on the short side at South Dakota State where Coach Ralph Ginn is planning a regular rebuilding campaign this fall. Of the 14 men invited out for fall drills, there are seven seniors, ten juniors, 26 sophomores and one second quarter freshman. There are 15 lettermen returning, many of whom were not regulars. Top spot to fill is the fullback post that was held down by Pete Retzlaff the past two years. Twice all-conference, he gained more than 1,000 yards rushing each of the past two seasons.

Prospects at Coe this fall appear extremely bright. Although without 12 lettermen from last season, the majority of the Kohawks offensive backfield was made up of underclassmen. Returning are ace passer Jack Elgin and his favorite receiver, Jayme Fisher. Both are two-year lettermen. Cas Passalino was one of the team's leading ground gainers last fall, and Ron Schirm, an All-Midwest Conference guard in 1951, is back to bolster the line.

1953 North Dakota University Prospects

The formation of an entirely new backfield unit faces Coach Frank Zazula after graduation claimed his starting array from '52. However, the entire Nodak line is back to support the inexperienced backfield. Dick Ryan, an All-Conference offensive end last fall, is expected to fill the left halfback slot. The rest of the quartet will be made up of Reserves. Dean Lenaburg, 6-4 and 220 pounds, and Ron Sax, a 6-3, 185-pounder, are the formidable end corps.

1953 North Dakota State Prospects

The Bisons appear as the strongest title contenders on the North Central Conference horizon in '53. Finishing the 1952 season in whirlwind fashion, the Bisons lost but one regular in the three-graduating seniors. Of course, he was Benny Noland, who was selected as the most valuable player, but 180-pound fullback John Sowa is expected to adequately fill his shoes at the ground gaining. Frank Espósito, sturdy little 5-8, 165-pound "T" formation quarterback, commands the Bisons' air waves. Chuck Gronberg, who lead the league in pass catching in 1951, and Chuck Thurm, who pulled the same feat in 1952, will be at opposite ends.

1953 Augustana Prospects

"In 1952, the Vikings don't appear much stronger with their 1953 aggregation. Not only did they lose Dennis Erbe, who led the conference in total offense with 536 yards rushing and 322 passing, but they are also without the services of their coach Linn Wells, who resigned in the spring. Their new coach, Vic Pederson, didn't report until June 1, and so missed spring drills. The Vikings lay their strength in a pair of better than average ends, Jerry Crump, 6-2 and 185, and Ray Billie, 6-0 and 175. Mike Dahl and Bill Root are expected to supply the backfield punch."

1953 Morningside Prospects

"The Maroons get the darkhorse title going into the skirmishes of 1953 with a well seasoned team that ran up five straight victories back from last fall. Undefeated until Iowa Teachers beat them the latter part of October, the Maroons faltered to fifth in the conference. Returning from that team are End Walt Wagner, tackles Bob Motter and Bill Thomas, guards Kermit Isaacson and Roger Cohring, and center Paul Kirkegaard. The Maroons leading passer, "Buck" Miller, also returns for another year's duty. In '52, Miller accounted for 542 yards and six touchdowns in league games by passing."

1953 South Dakota University Prospects

The Coyotes invited only 26 players out for fall grid drills, but with 14 lettermen still have strong designs on the conference title. Among the top line prospects are Ordell Braase, an all-NCC tackle last season and potential Little All-American this year; Bob Curry and Arlin Haaikinson, a tackle and guard from Sioux City; ends Jim Kolb and Bob Otto; and centers Jim Prins and Ray Rifenbark. Fullback Fred Rover, who gained 583 yards on the ground, caught six passes for 163 yards and scored 148 points as a sophomore; and two-year letterman halfback Ralph Polenz and sophomore Billy Hauck are the top running prospects.

1953 Drake Prospects

Joe McClaran, the pass-catching specialist of last fall, is the star in the Bulldogs attack. In 1952, McClaran snagged 47 passes for 666 yards to rank second in that department nationally. Nineteen other lettermen are vying for starting berths. But for Warren Gaer, Bulldog coach, he is not eyeing the '53 season with too much optimism. He points out the need to replace both guard positions, right tackle, left half, blocking back and fullback. He also must go along with an untested forward passer at the outset of the season.
