JIM WITHAM - HEAD COACH

Beginning his fourth year at Iowa Teachers, Jim Witham this season has what appears to be the best squad since he took over the Panthers. Back from last year's outfit are four regulars, and some nifty sophomores are expected to add considerable strength. Faced with a dearth of material when he arrived here, Jim has patiently built the Panthers into a club that's considered a threat to win the North Central Conference this season.

Witham came to Iowa Teachers from Mankato (Minn.) State College, where he had been in charge since 1945. During his ten year stay there -- he took time out in 1954-55 to work on his Doctor's degree--his clubs won 70 percent of their games. His worst year at Mankato was 1947-48 when the Indians won 16 while losing 11.

Witham's clubs employ a unique offense, which Jim devised himself several years ago. The forwards and center line up on either side of the keyhole, and the guards rotate in to lay screens that usually develop into excellent shots from close range. Witham also stresses defense. His clubs normally throw up a man-to-man, and occasionally use variations of a zone.

Before taking over at Mankato State, Jim coached at Hackensack, Osakis and Benson high schools in Minnesota. He took the basketball duties at Bemidji (Minn.) State College, his alma mater, in 1942.

Witham, 49, holds a Master's degree from the University of Minnesota, and has completed nearly all the work towards his Doctorate at the University of Indiana.

Jim had an outstanding athletic career at Bemidji State. After graduation he spent his summers playing professional baseball in the Northern League.

Jim and his wife Bernice have four children -- Mary, 18, Jimmy, 16; Dick, 15; and Doug, 7.

L.W. (MON) WHITFORD - FRESHMAN COACH

Mon Whitford, who will handle the Panther frosh again this winter, is best known for the fine baseball teams he has turned out during his three decades of directing Teachers' diamond fortunes. Mon's club last season was one of the best in history, winning 11 of 14 and again taking the Southern Division title of the North Central Conference.

Whitford is a 1924 graduate of ISTC, and coached at Monticello high school two years before returning to his alma mater in 1926. He has coached all Panther baseball teams since that time, and was also football coach for three years.

Mon earned 11 major letters during his ISTC athletic career. He officiated for several seasons in the Big Ten basketball circuit, and has umpired in the Western and Three-I baseball leagues.

A veteran of both world wars, Whitford, 61, and his wife Blanche have two sons.

Ron LaFrentz.....lots of sense

Ray Lutz.....oh, nuts

Jim Meskimen....hates women

Pete Spoden....loadin' for bear

Cliff Svoboda....SWO-ba-da, the Big Ox

PANTHER PROSPECTS

Take four returning regulars, several good sophomores, add plenty of zip and desire and you should come up with the formula for a winning basketball team. Those are the ingredients Coach Jim Witham has at Iowa Teachers this winter, and he hopes they brew to a successful season.

Not that the Panthers are automatically in. The returning vets will have to play better and more consistent ball than last season, and the promising sophs have yet to prove themselves on the collegiate court.

Witham has his entire front line returning -- two-year regular Ron LaFrentz, jumping Jim Jackson, and big Cliff Svoboda. In his two seasons as a starting forward, LaFrentz has scored 544 points for an 11.8 average. He could make his senior year a memorable one.

As a soph last winter, Jackson led the Panthers in scoring and board work, breaking the ISTC and North Central Conference rebound records in the process. If he starts this season as he finished the last (he came on strong his last half dozen games) he won't have much trouble staying at the head of both categories.

Svoboda is the key to the front line. Like most big men (he's 6-8), Cliff's progress has been slow. He turned in some dandy performances last season, however, and wound up with 203 points and 202 rebounds. He has both a good jumper from outside and a soft hooker from in close. If he shows 25 percent improvement this year, he'll be tough on the opposition.

Dean Jensen, the Panthers' top guard, had his troubles last season. A victim of shin splints, he was up and down and his play depended on how his legs responded. Going back through the team's 11-12 record, one thing comes to light -- when Jensen was right, the Panthers won. He's wearing weights to correct his troubles which haven't cropped up yet this season. Jensen and LaFrentz are Teachers' co-captains.

The other guard spot will probably be filled by a sophomore, and Jerry Holbrook seems to have the inside track. As a forward, he topped the frosh in scoring last winter. With good speed and an abundance of hustle, he should have little trouble converting to guard. His 6-2 height will also give the team more size, and he's tough defensively.

Other returning lettermen are Bill Herkelman and Jim Meskimen. Herkelman, 6-3, played guard last year but has moved back to the front line. Meskimen is improved after a year's experience, and might give Holbrook a battle for a regular guard berth.

Allee Nowden is a returning squadman. A fine halfback in football, he was slowed by a bad knee last year, and might see more guard action than last winter.

Noonkesser, the freshmen's number two scorer last season, will be a top front line replacement. He's only 6-2, but has a variety of shots from in close, and is an excellent ball handler.

McBride, 6-5, needs seasoning but shoots well and should help as the season goes along. The same can be said for forwards Cull and Lutz.

Dotson and Ware show promise in the backcourt, and either is capable of coming fast and grabbing a starting berth. Don Cook, a 6-3 junior college transfer, might help the front court.

The Panthers should be much stronger at the semester break when Pete Spoden and Bobby Waller join the varsity. Both mid-year transfers, Spoden (6-6) averaged 15 rebounds and 9.3 points for frosh. Waller (6-0) is an exceptional outside shooter who fired at a 65 percent clip while averaging 14.2 a game.

TALL CORN HOLIDAY TOURNAMENT

Back in the fall of 1956, Jim Witham of Iowa Teachers and Ax Bundgaard of Wartburg were searching for basketball games over the holidays. Neither had any success, and when they heard of each other's plight, the two coaches put their heads together and came up with their own tournament.

The first tourney in January of 1957 saw Iowa Teachers taking the championship with Wartburg second. Other clubs were Luther and Mankato State. Teams who have competed in the tourney since the first year are Northern Illinois and Gustavus Adolphus. Grinnell and Northern Illinois are the guests this winter.

For two years the tournament went along without any name, but in 1958 the four-team meet was christened the Tall Corn Holiday Tournament. Since its inaugural, the first round has been played at Knights Gymnasium in Waverly, with the championship and consolation games played at the Iowa Teachers gym. Dates this year are Dec. 29 and 30.
