SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

Original articles are considered with the understanding that neither the article nor its essential substance has been or will be published elsewhere before appearing in the International Journal of Global Health and Health Disparities as it becomes copyright of the journal. A covering letter should identify the person responsible for negotiations and correspondence regarding the manuscript, and should confirm that the final manuscript has been approved by all authors, and that, in part or in full, the manuscript is not submitted, in press or being considered for publication elsewhere. The author should describe in the letter which category would suit the manuscript (article, commentary, report, profile, book review or bibliography).

Once a manuscript has been accepted for publication, it becomes property of the International Journal of Global Health and Health Disparities, and may not be reproduced or published elsewhere without written permission. In accordance with the 1978 U.S. copyright law, all authors submitting manuscripts to the journal must sign a copyright transfer agreement. All submitted manuscripts are subject to peer editorial review and revision; those that are accepted will be edited according to journal standards

Authors are expected to disclose any commercial or other associations that might pose a conflict of interest in connection with the submitted article. All funding sources supporting the work should be acknowledged. Materials copied from other sources must be accompanied by a written statement from both author and publisher giving permission to International Journal of Global Health and Health Disparities for reproduction. It is the author's responsibility to ensure that such permissions are obtained.

AUTHORS SHOULD SUBMIT THE FOLLOWING:

et al.: Information for Authors
