SENIOR REVIEW

CLASS OF 1917
SECTION I.

Senior Review

I. S. T. C. High School, June 1, 1917.

Boost I.S.T.C. High School

Every time you go down town
And speak to the folks a standing round,
Boost T.C. high school way up high
For it's the school we go to; you and I.

Boost I.S.T.C.

For now that we've finished our high school days
And stand at the parting of our ways,
Most will go on to I. S. T. C.
Then we'll boost our college, we all agree.

- Class Valedictorian -
May twenty-first it was announced that Mary Robinson was the valedictorian of our class. She had the highest grades during the entire four years in high school. We feel that it is very fitting for one who has spent all of her school days in the training school and has been so prominent in all the school activities to receive this high honor.

- Class Events -
Weiner Roast at Dry hunt
The first of our numerous good times was a Weiner roast. About seven-thirty we met at Wildred Barnes' and started for Dry Run with the buns, weiners and marshmallows. As it was a dark, windy night we hunted some time for a sheltered spot in which we could build our fire. After the weiners and buns had disappeared everyone sat around the fire. At this time the boys established the custom of singing their glee club songs for us. After this, games were enjoyed until ten when all decided to go home, everyone seeming to have had a good time.

Victory Celebration
One night during the winter, after beating Independence in a basketball game we adjourned to Eugene Lynch's home. Card games were played first and then refreshments were served, after which many songs were sung with Eugene playing his cornet and Yula Isley at the piano. When we shot our victory had been duly celebrated we started home.

Seniors = Kindergartners
If a stranger had been at Prof. Barnes' one winter evening, he would have thought our kindergarten class was assembling. There were no teachers, tho, for Miss Correll and Miss Caldwell were dressed as children too. We found that we could not escape work even if we were children, for we were taken to the kitchen and given the task of preparing our own refreshments, singing while we worked. We learned that Geo. Bentrude could make delicious fudge and others knew just how to get popcorn balls together. Some showed us that they were able to toast marshmallows to perfection over the fire in the fire-place, and those who were not good cooks could sample the good things the others made. We left about half past ten having thoroughly enjoyed our unique evening.

Farewell for Soldier Boys
When Willard Reynolds and Harold Kreger enlisted, we held a farewell party for them at Wildred Barnes'. Friday evening, April twenty-seventh. The house was appropriately decorated with flags. This evening also, we passed the time with music and games. While we were still enjoying these, the girls brought us sandwiches, cocoa, pickles, ice-cream and nabiscoes, and favors which were tiny silk flags. After singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and other patriotic songs, we departed, wishing the boys good luck for the future. M. E. N.

"O, come to the church in the Wildwood"
May Day, May 15, 27 of our class responded to this call and left in four automobiles for the Little Brown Church. Nature seemed to have done her very best to make the eighty mile trip delightful for us, and we certainly enjoyed it. We arrived there about 11:30 and as we got out of the autos and stood looking upon the little brown church, it seemed the perfect thing to hum the chorus of the song which had made this place famous. Then putting aside all thoughts of dinner, we ramble down the street of the village searching for the dale, the wildwood and the little brown house where the key was kept. We found this and hurrying back let ourselves into the quaint old church. The instant we were inside the atmosphere of pioneer days seemed to surround us, and again and again we found ourselves singing, "The Church in the Wildwood". Finally the inner man notified each of us that singing alone would not satisfy him, so somewhat reluctantly we went outside to prepare the lunch. We ate our appetizing dinner under "the trees where the wild flowers bloom" and afterwards rested and played there enjoying ourselves so much that when we had to leave, the spot was also dear to us. We got safely home before "day faded away into night" all agreeing that there is "no lovelier spot in the dale".

Junior-Senior Reception
Saturday evening, May 19th, the Junior class of Teachers College High School, gave a reception for the Senior class and Training School faculty, in the Training School auditorium. The auditorium was beautifully decorated with apple blossoms, palms, ferns and roses, the use of which combined the class colors of both the Juniors and the Seniors. Flags were also used in profusion. With rugs on the floor and with many comfortable chairs placed about, the room presented a very home-like appearance.

The program which was given was as follows:

Piano Solo ......... Geneice Hollis
Reading ........... Elizabeth Mestain
Violin Solo ......... Edward Cummins
Presentation of Ladder and Spade ......... Otis McCreery
Response ........... Martha Short
Reading .......... Charlotte Bockenhein
Vocal Solo ......... Gladys Bird
Address............. Dr. Stone
Class Prophecy ........ Wilson Sherrard
Songs ......... Boys Glee Club
Class Songs and Yells

The Juniors sang a farewell song to the Seniors, and as the Seniors left amid the well-wishings of the Juniors and Faculty, each was presented with a souvenir in the shape of a pink rose, the Senior class flower. All departed, feeling they had spent a very enjoyable evening. F. S.

Training School History
They tell us there was a Training School before we came into it. When we remember it, it was in the north end of the auditorium building. On the first floor was the Primary with Miss Suphlee as the critic. Below was the Kindergarten under Miss Gunn's instructions, and above, the Grammar Grades and High School. All of these were under the supervision of Mr. Bauder. As the school grew the Grammar Grades and High School were moved into what was then called Old South Hall and which now bears the name of Gilchrist Hall. This building was very old being one of the first to be erected on the Campus. For this reason it was not a desirable school building. The class rooms were small and the school was crowded for room. So in January, 1914, the school was moved into a new fire proof building with fine equipment, light and every convenience. Here it is possible to have sewing, Manual Training and cooking besides the usual scholastic work.

All the faculty have been instrumental in making the Training School what it now is. Still as we look back over the history of the institution and read the records of the early days we know that those three, Mr. Bauder, Miss Hughes, and Miss Fesenbeck who worked together for so many years, did not work in vain but laid a sure foundation upon which Mr. Stone and his assistants are skillfully building. How to Keep Beautiful
Answers to Queries

Questions pertinent to beauty
if matters of general interest, will be answered in this Column.

What can you do with a Roman nose? Science does wonderful things. Sometimes wonders come without science. Do you ask why Eugene Lynch's nose is not Roman? There is one reason only. Nature made it so.

-----

What can one do to loosen tight joints? We have two experts on the matter of loose joints either one of which is fully capable of giving good advice. Address stamped envelope to Robert Corning or Stanley Barnes.

-----

Do health, happiness and exercise make beauty? Yes, do you know why everyone enjoys looking at Mary Robinson?
Well this is the whole reason. For years she laughed, romped and rollicked over the campus, the pet of every workman, the menace to every job. She now tries it with the teachers. Try it.

May I hope to regain a cheerful expression?
The expression on my face is very sad due to loss of an early love affair. I therefore find it difficult to make friends. What do you advise? We are happy to be of service to you in this matter. Glade Butterfield had an experience like yours and has entirely regained his placid countenance. So there is hope. Write him for advice.

Some say size has much to do with one's influence. What can I do to gain size. Signed—Yula Isley—
I’ve tried Cod Liver Oil, Olives, coconat butter, cold cream. What do you advise next? “We congratulate you, Yula, on the influence you have and advise reduction of diet”, so some other girls and boys have a chance.

How may one seem to be awake without really being awake?
I am having some difficulty—my countenance belies my intense interest in my studies. What do you advise? Raymond Bailey.

The Senior Class play will be given May thirtieth in the Training School Auditorium.

The Sewing and Manual Training department had an exhibition on May 16th., to which all the mothers of the juniors and seniors were invited. The work done by these classes during the year was exhibited. The guests were served light refreshments by the members of the Senior Sewing Class.

On April 27th., the Senior Class had a farewell party in honor of Willard Reynolds and Harold Kreger who have enlisted in the army.

Millred Newton was absent from school, a week and a half on account of an attack of chicken-pox.

Not many weeks ago the news came that the United States had declared itself in a state of war with Germany. Willard Reynolds and Harold Kreger from the Teachers College High School graduating class were among those wishing to do their share. Willard joined the Hospital Corps at Waterloo and the next day was sent to the St. Louis barracks, later being transferred to a camp near Chicago. Harold joined the National Guard, was held here for a while, then was transferred to the Cavalry Division of the regular army. On May 29th., he left for St. Louis to await further orders.

The Senior Class play, "The Twig of Thorn" is to be given in the Training School Auditorium, Wednesday evening, May thirtieth. The members of the cast are as follows:

Messa Tieg - the woman of the house - Ruth Popejoy.

Maurya, - her neighbor - Mary Robinson.

Onah, -Messa's granddaughter - Freda Schmitt.

Aengus, - a young peasant - Otis McCrery.

Aileel, - a wandering poet - James Hearst.

Father Brian, - the priest - Albert McKinstry.

A Fairy Child - Jane Inlay.

Neighbors:

Finula - Mary White.

Kathleen - Yula Isley.

Sheila - Elizabeth Timmons.

Sheamus - Stanley Frisby.

Martin - Glade Butterfield.

Tumaas - James Timmons.

Hungar Phanto - Hellig Loseley.

Committee on locals:

Ruth Popejoy, Jane Inlay, George Bertrude.

A High School without athletics is like a ship without a sail; it would be a standstill. There are different kinds of sports for different seasons. In order to do one's best it is necessary to take a little more pains in the manner of living, have regular hours for eating and sleeping and leave tobacco alone.

Track requires the finest training of any of the sports especially for the sprinters. Each member of the team has only one chance which lasts but a few seconds so he must be in the pink of condition. Basket ball takes much more work than track as the players must have endurance. Football is similar but in addition to endurance one must also be hardened in order to stand the jolts he will receive in the game.

The Training School Exhibition.

On the evening of March the twelfth a number of people gathered at the College Gymnasium to see the first Physical Training Exhibition given by the T. S.

Every number was interesting and well carried out much to the satisfaction of the teachers and pupils who had worked so diligently and to the parents who helped equally with their enthusiasm and cooperation.

The program opened with the grand march in which all were represented, then followed games and drills by each grade until the H. S. classes were reached. These, in addition to Volley Ball, gave some very interesting dances which rivalled in excellence the work of some of the College classes.

The exhibition was in every way typical of the work done in the Physical Training classes for no practicing was done outside of the regular gymnasium period and no pupil had drilled so that the exercise had lost its interest for him.

The H. S. Volley Ball Tournament has become an annual event of much interest at T.C.H.S. This game is especially adapted to class competition for according to it's rules any number of girls may participate. For the past two years the present Junior Class have carried off the honors, and no doubt wishes that the permanent trophy were an established fact.

Jokes

We editors may dig and write
'Till our finger tips are sore
But some young sap-head is sure to say
"Why, I've heard that joke before".

S. B. "Who was inventor of the wireless airship?"
R. C. "Don't you know that? Any fool could tell you!"
S. B. "That's why I asked you."

Judge: "The prisoner claims he tooted his horn before he ran over you."
Complaintant (G. B.) "Maybe he did, your honor, but what good is that when a car is traveling faster than sound?"

D. B. "I've got a new job. I'm a barber at a soda fountain."
Y. I. "A barber at a soda fountain?"
D. B. "Yes, I shave the ice."

Eugene: "How much for your collars."
Clerk: "Two for a quarter."
Eugene: "How much for one?"
Clerk: "Fifteen cents."
Eugene: "I'll take the other one."

Friend: "What course does your son expect to graduate in?"
Mr. Jewel: "In the course of time at the present prospects."
"When the old Ladies Aid Society is dismissed we will take up the lesson."

We all wonder why Shorty Eugene Baker Lynch went to Hudson last Wednesday and returned with a happy smiling face and a picture of some unknown character in his pocket. What do you suppose was the object. Band concert???

In Sewing Class the girls have been learning how to furnish homes. Yula and Mildred Barnes wonder if this study is profitable.

Latest Invention

James Timmons, the famous boy electrician, has invented a new electrical device which reads minds whenever he touches his electrical fingers to the switch.

In Physics class, Freda Schmitt made the discovery that although light does not travel thru most solid objects it will pass thru Mary Robinson's head.

"How I do love to ride in the front seat of a 'Henryetta' with a left hand drive and a right arm squeeze."

Dewey.

Mildred Barnes' New Discovery.

A new problem was discovered in advanced Arithmetic class when it was found while studying Ratio and Proportion, that:

Frappe: Ice Water:: Wafers: Toothpicks.

For sale cheap - One pony, three years old, and well-broken to ride. It's name is Caesar - Inquire of Otis LoCreery.

Found: An ivory dome, flat on the top with the initials S. P. carved on it. From all appearances it was lost shortly before the final Physics examination. Owner please inquire at the Office and pay reward.

Lost: Brains somewhere between the Senior room and the Senior Arithmetic class. Finder please return them to Tom Anderson and receive reward.
