JASON BENNETT graduated from Ames High School in Iowa. He received an associate of arts degree in humanities from Marshalltown Community College in 1985, and his bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Iowa in 1987 with a major in philosophy and religion. Currently, he is completing his master's degree in literature at UNI while working on his first novel and a book of poetry. He hopes to teach at a liberal arts college.

ELIZABETH BINGHAM was the University of Northern Iowa's first candidate for the Rhodes Scholarship. As an undergraduate, she was editor of the UNI campus newspaper, The Northern Iowan, and she now holds the bachelor's degree in German and English from UNI as well as a master's degree in English. She currently teaches courses in writing in the UNI Department of English Language & Literature, but plans to pursue a Ph.D. in Teaching English as a Second Language. She lives in Waverly, Iowa, with her husband and their two cats, Grendel and Griffon.

SCOTT F. YOUNG is currently working in a substance abuse intervention program for Native Alaskan teenagers in Sitka, Alaska. After spending most of his life in Cedar Falls, Iowa, he took an elementary teaching position in southeast Alaska where, he writes, his heart has resided ever since. Living and writing in Sitka, as well as working as an education specialist for the Southeast Alaska Regional Health Corporation, he says, afford him both great challenge and tremendous pleasure. "The B.A. in philosophy (1978) and M.A. in English (1988) earned at UNI," he writes, "continue to serve me well in my pursuits of poetry and pedagogy."

ANTHONY PRICE is from Coggon, Iowa, and graduated from North Linn High School. He received his bachelor's degree in English from Wartburg College in 1986, and has begun a master's degree in English literature at the University of Northern Iowa. He is currently living in Fujiyoshida, Japan, where he is teaching English for UNITAS, a Japanese American language exchange program. He will return to the United States in August 1989 to be married; then he and his wife will pursue teaching positions in Japan.

MICHAEL MCKINLAY was born in Cuba City, Wisconsin, and grew up in nearby Dubuque, Iowa. He first attended the University of Northern Iowa at the age of 16, and received his bachelor's degree in English in
