Anticipatory Set/Introduction [Inquiry Question is required] (Req.): How do folk tales represent culture?

Instructional Sequence/Procedure (Req.):
1. Read or review the traditional “Cinderella” story.
2. Locate India on a map.
3. Students will read or listen to “The Enchanted Anklet”.
4. Discuss the characters, plot, time, place, and intended audience of “The Enchanted Anklet”.
5. Discuss what they learned about India’s culture.
6. After reading and discussing the two stories do one or more of the following activities.
7. Illustrate two aspects of life such as clothing, architecture (homes), food, musical instruments, types of transportation, animals, etc.
8. Use a Venn Diagram to compare and contrast the two stories (enclosed). Another way to represent a Venn Diagram is by placing two hula hoops on the floor. Have the student write their information on index cards that can be placed inside the hula hoops.
9. Choose three main events – one from the beginning, one from the middle, and one from the end – and illustrate or write a paragraph describing each event.
10. Divide a story into sections. Have each person illustrate a section of the story.
11. Make a list of words that describe each of the characters traits and/or behaviors.
12. Write a Cinderella story that illustrates the culture where you live.
13. Illustrate the new Indian vocabulary words that were in the story. Put one illustration on a piece. of paper. Then trade their pictures with a partner and see if they can match the words to the pictures.

14. Create a play or skit.
15. Listen to music from India.

A Venn Diagram is a useful graphic organizer to examine similarities and differences of two items. Two overlapping circles are drawn and each circle represents an item. The characteristics unique to each item are written in the portion of the corresponding circle and the characteristics common to both items are recorded in the overlapping section. In this lesson one circle is for the American Cinderella, the other circle is for the Indian Cinderella, and the intersecting portion is for both.
