A University Is Born . . .

The two high-rise residence halls on the left and right in this model are presently under construction north of Campbell Hall. The 13-story residence halls will each house 600 students. Bids will be taken early this summer on the dining-lounge unit, center, which will accommodate students living in these two dormitories. The project budget for the two residence halls and the dining-lounge unit is $6,200,000. The third residence hall is included in the general plans for future construction. This is a view of the north side of the complex.

COVER PICTURE — Iowa Governor Harold Hughes, seated, signs the bill changing the name of SCI to University of Northern Iowa and expanding the educational aims and programs of the institution. The bill will go into effect July 1, 1967.

SCI Bursting at Seams

Urgent Need for State Support

POINTS TO REMEMBER

1. The need for funds is acute.
2. The Board of Regents request represents real needs of the institutions.
3. The recommendations in the state budget proposed by the Governor are inadequate for the job at hand.
4. Enrollment has zoomed; costs have increased.
5. Students are carrying their share of the costs.
6. Student fees have tripled since 1950, but total costs per student are about the same.
7. Students are paying for the dormitories.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Your alma mater needs your help! With enrollment booming, costs increasing, and a long backlog of space needs, recommendations now before the Legislature are deemed inadequate. Something nearer the original Regents request is imperative if SCI and the other two state schools are to maintain their positions of excellent service and prestige among institutions of their kind. Talk to your legislator.)

An alumnus who graduated in 1960 who visited the campus today at the end of a class hour might find himself joining a line three and four abreast on the Circle Drive. If he were to climb to the third floor of Sabin or Gilchrist hall and look out a window, he'd think an army was on the move. Crowded hallways and doorways are commonplace.

In the last issue of The Alumnus, President J. W. Maucker said, "It's not hard to predict that 1967 will be a crucial year for SCI."

"Enrollment will probably increase by 10 to 12 per cent. The shortage of office and classroom space will become extremely acute.

"And, greatly influencing all aspects of college life, the General Assembly will decide how well the institution is to be 'nourished' with state funds through the legislative appropriations for general operations and additional buildings," he said.

As this issue of your alumni magazine goes to press, the situation with regard to support is certainly at an "acute" stage.

The State Board of Regents has requested the appropriation for SCI of $19,354,000 for operating expenses and $9,200,000 for capital improvements for the next two years.

THE ALUMNUS is entered as second class matter at the post office in Cedar Falls, Iowa, under the act of August 24, 1912. Authority granted January 27, 1930. It is published and distributed quarterly in September, December, February and May by the State College of Iowa. The Alumnus is mailed without charge to 25,000 alumni. As second class matter it is not forwardable without extra cost.

THE ALUMNUS — May, 1967

The total Regents request for all three state schools is $185,000,000 for operating expenses and $55,000,000 for building construction. The Governor's recommendations are $160,000,000 for operating and $30,000,000 for buildings. Yet, the three schools will have an additional 7,000 students to teach in the next two years. And this in the face of rising costs for staff, for buildings, for services, for supplies, for just about everything! If the legislature approves only what the Governor recommended in the state budget, fees will have to be increased substantially if we are to prevent serious erosion of the quality of educational programs.

SCI enrollment has more than doubled since 1960. In 1960, enrollment was 3,616. Last fall, 7,418 students were enrolled at SCI. This amounts to a 51 per cent increase. It took 84 years to reach an enrollment of 3,616 students and only six years to more than double this number.

SCI administrators have stated that if the Regents requests are not approved, a greater financial burden will probably have to be placed on the student in the form of higher student fees.

Yet, the cost to the student (the student fee) has tripled since 1950, whereas the total cost of educating a student for one academic year is about the same. In 1950, the cost was approximately $1,100. At that time a student paid $108 per academic year in student fees.

In 1966, the cost per student was still about $1,100, but the amount the student paid was $342.

The present student fees at SCI are now higher than those in similar institutions of its type and size in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Kansas.

Not only are students paying a larger share of the cost of instruction, but it is they who are paying for the dormitories, not the state. Part of the income from room and board fees is used to retire bonds issued to finance the residence halls.

In the eight-year period from July 1, 1959, through June 30, 1967, approximately $15,163,000 has been spent or encumbered for residence hall and dining service construction projects.

In the same period, the 58th, 59th, 60th and 61st General Assemblies appropriated approximately $9,017,250 in state funds for capital improvements.

Funds to provide classrooms and laboratories have not kept pace with the need. Ten of the 14 buildings built with state funds and now being used for instructional purposes were built before 1925; nine before 1915. These buildings now house the majority of SCI classrooms.

Two instructional buildings, the Arts and Industries Building and the Malcolm Price Laboratory School, were built between 1945 and 1960.

Only two buildings definitely related to the instructional program have been built since 1960. These are the Music Hall and the New Library. A third building for Science instruction is now under construction. The New Administration Building, which was also built with state funds and completed in 1965, helped alleviate, temporarily, a critical need for office space. However, need for space for instructors' offices has now become so acute that at its March meeting, the Board of Regents approved a crash project to provide five mobile office buildings to house 30 staff members.

The purpose is to provide movable buildings which can be located on various parts of the campus until enough permanent office space can be built.

SCI has had a constant struggle to keep up with the enrollment in this decade. Students must double-up in rooms, and subsequent crowding causes poor study conditions. Classrooms and laboratories are crowded. Many faculty offices are so crowded that students have little opportunity to speak privately to a professor.

SCI BUILDING REQUESTS FOR 1967-69

Included in the capital improvements request by SCI for the next two years are: Education Building, Unit I, $1,950,000; heating plant addition and boiler, $990,000; Physical Education Building, Unit I, $1,350,000; Industrial Arts and Technology Building, $605,000; and Library, Unit II, $2,000,000.

SCI is in no sense trying to provide a lavish physical plant for its faculty and students. It is merely attempting to fulfill adequately its function of service to the state. This will not be possible unless the college receives appropriations somewhere near the amounts requested from the Legislature.

"It is important that all SCI alumni be aware of the urgency of the situation," says Milo Lawton, director of Alumni Affairs.

"Alumni in Iowa should make a special effort to contact legislators in their communities and urge that adequate funds be provided to meet the needs of these crucial years," he said.

President Maucker to Speak At California Alumni Reunions

Dr. J. W. Maucker, president of the State College of Iowa, will speak at the 16th annual spring reunion dinner of the SCI Southern California Alumni Association at the Rodger Young restaurant in Los Angeles on May 6. Roger W. Mullinex, Long Beach, is the president and Joseph B. Paul is president elect.

President Maucker is also scheduled to speak at the San Francisco area alumni meeting on May 7. Mrs. Raymond L. Fuess, Palo Alto, is the chairman.

New Bill Changes Name, Expands Goals, Programs

Gov. Harold Hughes signed a bill changing the name of SCI to the University of Northern Iowa and expanding the educational aims and programs of the institution Friday, March 10.

SCI President J. W. Maucker; Dr. William Lang, dean of instruction at SCI; and Bob Davis, student editor of the college newspaper from Humboldt, were present for the signing of the bill which will go into effect July 1, 1967.

The bill declares: "The university shall offer undergraduate and graduate courses of instruction, conduct research and provide extension and other public services in areas of its competence to facilitate the social, cultural and economic development of Iowa.

"Its primary responsibility shall be to prepare teachers and other educational personnel for schools, colleges, and universities and to carry out research and provide consultative and other services for the improvement of education throughout the state.

"In addition, it shall conduct programs of instruction, research and service in the liberal and vocational arts and sciences and offer such other educational programs as the State Board of Regents may from time to time approve."

The proposal for university status for SCI was proposed to the Board of Regents by Dr. Maucker in November, 1965, to encourage prospective faculty members to join the staff. The faculty recommended university status to the Board in April, 1966, and the Board approved the recommendation in October, 1966.

On Feb. 15, 1967, the Iowa Senate voted 51-7 to change the name and scope of the school. The House of Representatives passed the measure by a 114-4 vote Feb. 23 and sent it to the Governor.

Campanile Project Half Financed

With $12,622.50 in cash gifts, and almost $3,400 in pledges to be honored yet this year, the $32,000 project to add 32 bells to the set of 15 already in the Campanile is halfway financed, according to Walter Brown, Marshalltown, president of the State College of Iowa Foundation.

Response has been enthusiastic according to William V. Anthony, assistant to the director of Alumni Affairs, who has directed telefund drives in a number of Iowa cities. He reports that if all alumni respond as they have for these telephone events, the project will be resolved and the singing tower completed on schedule.

Results of the telefunds to date are as follows: Ames, $300; Boone, $89; Nevada, $28; Cedar Falls, $2,005.50; Cedar Rapids, $347; Marion, $10; Davenport, $244; Eldridge, $12; Bettendorf, $50; Moline, $33; Rock Island, $24.50; Fort Dodge, $167; Webster City, $95; Des Moines, $621; Marshalltown, $458; Newton, $151.50; Mason City, $199.50; Charles City, $165; Hampton, $104; Clear Lake, $67; Sioux City, $136.50; Waterloo, $1,009.

Voluntary response from the project letter continues to roll in, but the great majority of alumni have still not been heard from. Many classes have a good start on the $1,000 quota, but only the class of 1920 has reached the mark. The cash gifts to date by classes are as follows:

Merchant Scholarship Awards

Two graduates of the State College of Iowa are recipients of Merchant Scholarships for the 1967-68 academic year, totaling over $4,000.

The scholarship fund was established by the late Frank I. Merchant, former professor of languages at SCI, and his sister, the late Miss Kate Matilda Merchant, to be awarded bachelor of arts graduates of the college who wish to pursue graduate study at any college or university of their choice.

Winners are James Albrecht of Cedar Falls, presently principal of SCI High School, who was awarded $2,500 to pursue a doctorate in secondary school administration at Indiana University, and John Jacobs of Waterloo, who will receive $2,030.54 to continue his work toward a doctorate in English at the University of Chicago.

Here's an Iowa State Normal School alumni banquet—1907 style.

An Excursion Back

Those Exciting Days of the Past

By Mrs. Shelley Pardun

(with thanks to Miss Mary Dieterich of the SCI Archives)

When old friends meet, the two words “remember when” dispatch hundreds of journeys into the past.

When the State College of Iowa honor classes of 1907, 1917, 1927 and 1942 reassemble for the annual Alumni-Faculty Reunion Saturday and Sunday, May 27 and 28, these words will again transport former classmates back through the years to times when their memories were current news items vividly reported in the Normal Eye and its successor, the College Eye.

To refresh some of these memories, let us travel back to the student days of the honor classes. With tickets stamped “remember when,” and with former Normal Eye and College Eye reporters as our guides, we'll take an express trip through the senior years of the four classes—catching glimpses of the times as they flash by. All Aboard!

Class of 1907

Society life at the Iowa State Normal School is literally society life with “writings,” “orals,” debates, vocal and instrumental performances, and social activities highlighting society gatherings . . . at their first meeting, the male Aristos debate the propositions “that the experiences of vacation are more beneficial than those of school life” and “that a bachelor is happier than an old maid.”

Male enrollment drops “probably due to the fact” (that Normal has) “no football team” after the abolishment of grid competition by the Normal athletic board in 1905 . . . “for the present, the pigskin is doomed,” “football is only a name” to Normal students, the Normal Eye declares, and increased support of forensics is adopted as the “only alternative” for “forming the bulwark” of school spirit . . . members of Chresto, one of seven ladies societies, debate the pros and cons of American interference in the insurrection in Cuba.

"The greatest event of the term" is the 11th annual debate with Ames which Normal wins as the yells of the visiting Ames delegation sink "into insignificance when the clarion voices of the schoolmarms rent the air" . . . a new science hall, the first building at Normal "to be entirely fire proof," is "ready for action" . . . a cash prize is awarded for the first time in the annual ladies inter-society oratorical contest lending "an incentive which cannot help but work for improvement in the art of public speaking at Normal," the Normal Eye comments.

An "exclusive ladies haberdashers" in Waterloo makes "special prices to Normal students" and pays "transportation if purchases warrant it" . . . future teachers are told that the current average monthly wage for Iowa teachers is $63 for men and $43 for women . . . Able Hobo fraternity members and their feminine companions travel to a Waterloo hotel in sleighs for a mid-winter frolic highlighted by a nine course dinner—beginning at 10 p.m.

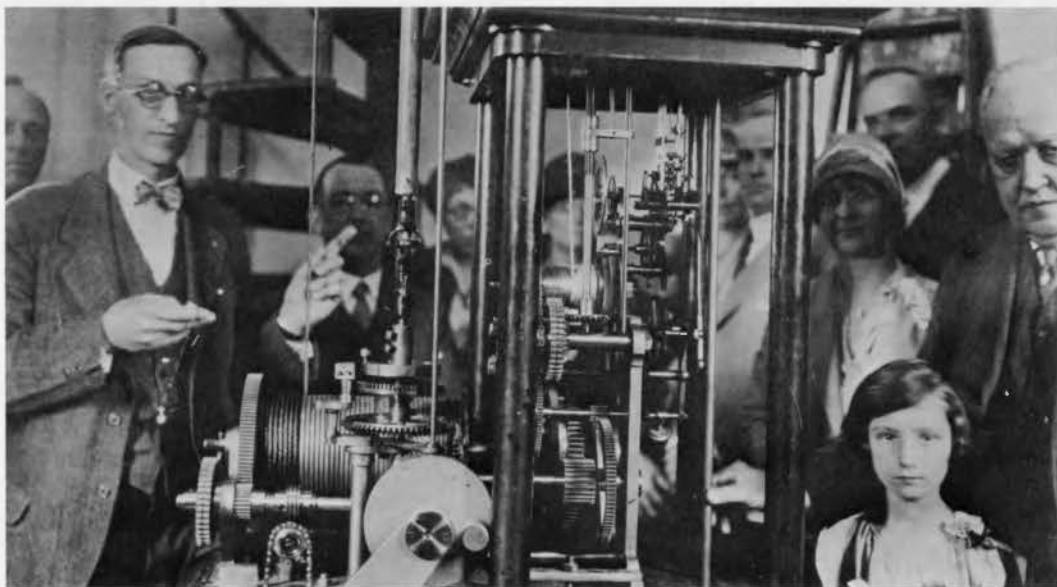

Students "hail with joy" the news of a general assembly decision to grant state certificates to Normal grads without taking a "rigid examination" . . . "hack" fare from the depot to Normal is reported to be advancing to 50¢ and the Normal Eye warns that "the cab owners of this little burg may as well sell their wagons if they put the price up to that figure" . . . the class of 1907 presents Schiller's "Joan of Arc" as its class play.

Class of 1917

Nearly 200 men meet at the beginning of the fall term for the annual YMCA "mix." This "melting pot of the men of Teachers College," the Eye reports, features lawn ball and "black and white" games, cider as "eats" which was "as acceptable as any 'eats' could have been," songs and speeches . . . freshman English students are classified according to elementary and secondary preparation . . . courses in Bible study and allied subjects are added to the curriculum.

A pep meeting ends in a snake dance . . . the Pink Poodle offers a new treat, "Pie a la Poodle," and $5.00 worth of food for a $4.50 luncheonette ticket . . . Charlie Chaplin's movie "The Fireman" comes to the Empress . . . campaign issues of tariff, war and the administration's Mexican policy spark campus discussion . . . The Eye observes that "any day of the week cars may be seen rushing up and down College Street at a speed far above the limit set by city ordinance."

A log cabin just three miles up the Cedar is the scene of gay campfires and picnics . . . Wilson defeats Charles Evans Hughes . . . a student council is instituted by President Seerley and its first item of business is a proposal to flood the athletic field for a skating rink . . . students and faculty subscribe $2,500 to the YMCA World War I Prison Relief Fund . . . women are clamoring for the ballot and equal suffrage.

The Eye reveals that "unnecessary boisterousness" by groups of men in the corridors causes some TC ladies to refrain from reading notices on the bulletin board . . . Ida Tarbell lectures on "Industrialism and Idealism" . . . TC male faculty and students organize for military training . . . a new manual arts building, now Wright Hall, is completed . . . William Harding, governor of Iowa, delivers the commencement address.

Class of 1927

The Eye announces the launching of "a new experiment in education" in the form of a school for children of pre-kindergarten age conducted under the auspices of the department of teaching . . . approximately 12,500 people come "from every section of the state" to hear the first concert of the Campanile played at its Installation Program . . . the senior class votes to "perpetuate traditions" by continuing the custom of carrying canes and swagger sticks.

The newly organized inter-fraternity council holds a smoker to rectify the "apparent dearth of inter-fraternity fellowship" . . . girls can have "the best marcel and curl" for 75¢ but marcel "to the end of hair" cost $1.00 . . . men don collegiate "roll-it" caps . . . "every gyration is called a form of the Charleston," the Eye remarks.

A nickel buys a "fine" hamburger or roast beef sandwich . . . seniors, clad in appropriate costumes, gather for a hard-times party . . . literary societies debate the pros and cons of adding a secretary of education to the president's cabinet . . . tenor Lauritz Melchior performs at TC . . . "another feminine invasion into the realms of masculine emperory" occurs when the Ladies Band of TC presents its first public concert.

Bronson Millinery's specialty is "good bloomers" . . . the Blue Bird Tea Room serves lunches "at all hours" . . . zippers are advertised as "an incomparable method of fastening" boots . . . prohibition, the Eye contends, seems to be "resolving itself into a nation-wide period of nonchalant law-breaking" . . . Roy Chapman Andrews, "nationally known as the discoverer of the dinosaur egg," presents his motion pictures on "Hunting the Bones of Adam."

"Stella Dallas" gives movie-goers a glimpse into "the lens through which the love life of every woman is x-rayed" and Clara Bow is "It" . . . Tennessee's anti-evolution law is upheld in its state supreme court . . . soprano Galli Curci and the Cleveland Civic Orchestra perform at TC . . . "Elmer Gantry," a new book by Sinclair Lewis, is recommended in the Eye . . . the Iowa Blues DeLuxe Orchestra plays for TC's second senior prom.

Class of 1942

"Clothes-wise" coeds are wearing copies of army overcoats and "regimental beige" is the new color . . . TC athletic teams face a formidable opponent—the draft . . . war is the prime topic of campus debates and forums . . . 200 TC students take the train trip to Des Moines for a grid clash with Drake . . . "In keeping with the 'Good Neighbor' policy," the girls invitational tea dance features the rumba and la conga —“as well as the more staid, traditional dances.”

In the early 1940's, WAVES were trained on the campus and were a familiar sight on College Hill.

Panthers capture the NCC football title . . . hundreds of TC men are “drafted”— for the annual girl takes boy dance, Femmes Fancy . . . a whirlpool bath, designed by TC track coach A. D. Dickinson and Dr. Max Durfe and constructed by college plumber Mike Coleman at a cost of about $50, is installed in the Panther’s training room . . . according to the Eye, “country cousin” pigtails worn with earrings are “in the know,” as are long jerkins, 60-inch pearls worn on “sloppy joe” cardigans and knee-length argyle plaid socks.

Current pastimes are “giving introversion-extroversion tests to your pals, ‘bundling’ for Britain and playing jacks” . . . war and defense work increasingly drain male enrollment . . . the Eye discloses that the student musical show “Hooray for Hep!” is cancelled due to— lack of interest . . . Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland star in “Babes on Broadway” at the new Regent . . . TC students join in an “all-out for victory” program.

“Coking at Mack’s,” matinee dances and Saturday night “varieties” are popular campus diversions . . . the Eye reports that after a “long and useful life on the TC campus,” Queenie, the English bulldog who was “practically a campus mascot,” has died at the “ripe old age” of 13 years-7 months . . . the College Eye celebrates its 50th anniversary . . . Carl Sandburg appears and Marion Anderson presents a benefit concert at TC.

In honor of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, TC students hold “MacArthur Day” in a “concerted campaign to sell war savings stamps and bonds.” The main activities are a wartime gridiron “razz” dinner, and a “gala” benefit dance featuring Anson Weeks and his “Let’s go dancin’ with Anson” band . . . men are warned to be careful in selecting their spring suits as they’re “competing with uniforms” . . . seniors stroll “Down Memory Lane” at the senior prom.

Controversial Speakers Program

Edward J. Thorne

(Editor's Note: Since its beginning in 1965-66, views expressed by individual participants in the Controversial Speakers Program have aroused a strong response, both pro and con, from faculty, students, local citizens and alumni.)

During the spring of 1966, James Farmer, former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), and Ross Barnett, former governor of Mississippi, gave their views on civil rights. Last December, two human relations specialists from Minneapolis spoke on civil rights.

In February, Paul R. Goldman, a Chicago attorney who has lobbied for "enlightened" laws on homosexuality in Illinois, and David Stienecker, an active member of Mattachine Midwest, Chicago's homophile organization, discussed the plight of the homosexual.

On March 17, George Lincoln Rockwell, founder and "commander" of the American Nazi Party, spoke here. On March 21, a judge, a law enforcement officer, a psychologist and a minister joined in a panel discussion of "Homosexuality in Our Community."

Dr. Edward J. Thorne, faculty advisor to the Controversial Speakers Committee, here states the rationale behind the program.)

The Controversial Speakers Program at SCI is a student-financed and student-operated program. While the events presented in the program are subject to the approval of the President of the College, and the student committee is closely advised by a faculty member, censorship has been carefully avoided.

The assumption has been made that one of the functions of an educational institution is to encourage habits of mature, responsible behavior on the part of its students. Such habits are best encouraged by giving genuine responsibilities to the students and then allowing them to carry them out—the faculty and administration standing ready with guidance and advice, but vetoing or prohibiting only when serious consequences seem to be the likely outcome of a course of action.

Accompanying the assumption concerning the encouragement of responsible behavior is the assumption that students gain a better perspective on matters of morality, ethics, political institutions, and the like, by some exposure to views that differ from those they have heard expressed most of their lives. It is difficult, for example, to come to an intelligent conclusion as to the genuine merits of a democratic form of government except by contrasting it with other forms—totalitarian forms, for example.

One of the functions of the Controversial Speakers Program, therefore, is to make available to the student body points of view which differ in basic ways from those which they customarily hear. In order to make such presentations meaningful and effective, they must be made by true believers in the views being presented. A professor talking about communism, for example, is rarely as effective as having a genuine communist talk about it. Or, as another example, our students have heard many professors, many diplomats, many experts of various sorts talk about National Socialism—what it is, how it functions. It was not until they heard George Lincoln Rockwell saying the things he believes in, however, that they truly recognized the evil results of following a program dictated by deep-seated hates espoused by the speaker. Unlike the experts who analyze objectively, a George Lincoln Rockwell believes in what he is preaching. The result of this kind of exposure is an important educational experience for our students.

It is unwise to generalize about human behavior, but it appears that thus far the appearance on our campus of speakers representing views diverging widely from the views held by most of our students and faculty has had the effect of strengthening the views already held by providing something with which to contrast them. At the same time, new insight into the complexities of man and his institutions has been gained.

In addition to the educational experience of seeing and hearing a speaker who holds views quite different from the views commonly held in our society, there is another important value derived from the Controversial Speakers Program. As one professor of religion and philosophy put it: "This is the only thing that makes this College a real community." By that he meant that the program permeates the entire campus—cutting across departmental lines, and relating administrators, faculty, students, service personnel and the surrounding community to one another through discussions, letters and articles in newspapers, in a general examination of a single topic. For weeks after the appearance of Mr. Rockwell, everywhere I go—at the College or in the community—I hear discussions of the speech, the speaker, and what he stands for.

Furthermore, unlike many programs and events at the College, our Controversial Speakers have drawn huge crowds, overflowing our limited auditorium facility. This means that a sizable segment of the total population of the campus has been drawn into events in which they participate directly with their fellows. If these are the characteristics of a community, then the professor mentioned above is right: The program has established an important sense of community.

We hope to continue to present challenging, stimulating speakers through the Controversial Speakers Program.

Spring Commencement

About 600 students are expected to receive degrees at Spring Commencement scheduled for 7:30 p.m., June 2, in O. R. Latham Stadium. Dr. J. W. Maucker, SCI president, will speak to the graduates.

Baccalaureate is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., June 2, in the Auditorium. Dr. James H. Robinson, executive director of Operation Crossroads Africa, Inc., will give the Baccalaureate address.

Operation Crossroads Africa is a work-camp-study seminar, friendship and aid program, which takes American and Canadian college students, mostly sophomores and juniors, to countries in Africa for short-term service during the summer.

An ordained Presbyterian minister and founder of the Church of the Master and the Morningside Community Center in Harlem, Dr. Robinson has served since 1962 on the Advisory Council on African Affairs of the U. S. Department of State.

In 1965, President Johnson appointed Dr. Robinson chairman of the youth activities committee of the International Cooperation Year and chairman of the youth section of the resulting White House conference which President Johnson established to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the United Nations.

A reception for seniors and faculty will be held in the homes of President and Mrs. Maucker and Dean and Mrs. Lang from 7:30 until 10 p.m. Thursday, June 1.

Wrestlers Win NCC Crown

Don Parker, Jerry Bond and Kent Osboe, a senior, a junior, and a sophomore, made the big difference for the State College of Iowa wrestling team. The Panthers posted a 10-7-1 dual season record, but it was only a sign of better and bigger things to come.

With five men earning individual titles, the Panthers waltzed to the North Central Conference crown, scoring 92 points to 61 for runner-up South Dakota State. Champions crowned for SCI were Wayne Shutt, Des Moines 155-pounder; Jerry Bond, New Sharon 137-pounder; Tom Horton, Fort Dodge 160-pounder; Don Parker, Hawkeye 177-pounder and heavyweight Kent Osboe, Fort Dodge. It was the third straight NCC title for Parker, the second for Bond.

Six Panthers then moved on to the NCAA College Division finals, the five champions plus senior 152-pound Dennis Goetz, Davenport. Goetz brought in four points and SCI finished third in the toughest College Division field in history.

Parker repeated as the 177-pound national king and Bond and Osboe finished second in their respective weights, Bond wrestling despite a rib injury, Osboe despite a broken nose.

Parker wasn't through. He and Osboe entered the NCAA University Division tournament. Osboe lost in the first round to defending champion Dave Porter of Michigan. Parker won his first two matches, then lost 6-3 to eventual 191-pound champion Tom Schlendorf of Syracuse. Parker came back to finish sixth.

One day later Parker was selected to wrestle at 177 pounds in the first annual East-West All-Star wrestling meet at Oklahoma State, Stillwater, on April 8. Parker was to represent the west squad and was matched against Dave Mucka of Moravian, the man he beat in 1966 to earn the first of his two national college division titles.

As a team, the Panthers had a sparkling season. They gave Iowa State a battle for the first time in years with Bond scoring an impressive decision, Larry Rechtfertig getting a surprise verdict and Parker scoring a pin over Waterloo's Jim Duschen before a standing room only crowd. The Cyclones won 20-11, but the fired up Panthers were ready for tournament action.

SCI's seven losses came at the hands of Michigan State, the national champions who defeated SCI twice, Iowa State, Colorado, Wisconsin, Mankato State, and Moorhead State.

Win Indoor Track Crown

SCI wrapped up a pair of winter conference titles, one in wrestling, the other in indoor track where Jack Jennett's team used balance to score an impressive win.

The Panther runners won only three of fifteen events but piled up 71 points to 47½ for runnerup South Dakota State.

Sophomore sensation Larry McCready, Dubuque, had a hand in all three SCI wins. The 6-4 speedster set new league records in winning the 60-yard high hurdles in :7.4 and the 60-yard lows in :6.9. McCready joined Howard Davis, Tom Gilmore and Mark Sanborn in winning the mile relay event.

The Panthers scored in 14 of 15 events in rolling to its second straight indoor league title. Earlier they had won seven of eight indoor meetings, losing only to Iowa State University.

SCI wasted little time in getting its outdoor season underway, running in a pair of triangular meets at Central Missouri State and Southwest Missouri State in late March.

Seniors Don McKinney, Traer, and Bill Rauhauser, Ruthven, are co-captains of the 1967 team.

Hogeland Named Cage Coach

Wesley Dean "Zeke" Hogeland was named head basketball coach and physical education instructor at the State College of Iowa April 6. The appointment was made by SCI president J. W. Maucker, effective immediately.

Hogeland, 41, succeeds Norm Stewart, who resigned the post in March to become head basketball coach at the University of Missouri.

Hogeland

Hogeland is a native of Marshalltown and a 1949 graduate of SCI where he lettered for three years in basketball under O. M. "Hon" Nordly.

A coach for 17 years, Hogeland resigned April 5 as head basketball coach at Bemidji State College, Bemidji, Minn., where his 1966-67 team posted a 19-5 record and became the first team in Northern Intercollegiate Conference history to go undefeated in 12 league games. Bemidji State lost in the NAIA playoff to St. Thomas, 73-64 for the right to a berth in the NAIA meet at Kansas City, Mo.

Hogeland completed his college work in three years, graduating in August of 1949. He later earned his master's degree in physical education at the University of Iowa in 1955.

"I've always wanted this job," he continued, "ever since Hon (former SCI coach O. M. (Hon) Nordly) left. It is like a dream I imagine every coach has, to go back to his alma mater. I'm sure Stewart is happy going back to his own school. I am just as elated to be returning to mine."

In regard to his new team, Hogeland said, "I want to analyze the returning players very objectively before I make any statement. I am optimistic, though. We played SCI last December here and we lost, so I know they had a fine team."

Swimming and Gymnastics Teams Complete First Year of Competition

SCI's two new sports, swimming and gymnastics, are off the ground and headed for brighter days.

Swimming coach Glen Henry's first tank crew finished with an 0-7 record as did gymnastic coach Garf Stych's first team.

Henry operated all year with only 10 tankers but nine of them return and the prospects for additional help and experience from the freshman team makes the future much rosier for the Panthers.

No one is waiting more patiently for his freshman team than Stych, who finished off the major portion of his schedule with only four varsity men, none of which had had high school experience.

Depth will still be a problem next year, but not so acute.

Sports Record Book Sales Good

The sale of the SCI All-Sports Record Book has been good according to sports information director Dick Dietl.

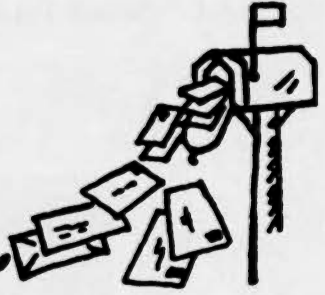

"The response to the story on the book in the last Alumnus was tremendous," Dietl said. "We still have a number of copies left and I want to urge other alumni and friends of SCI that it is not too late to purchase a copy."

The book sells for one dollar and may be purchased by writing:
