Notes For The Stalled

Women's History Month

In honor of Women's History Month, the UNI Museum presents Changing the Station: Women in the Golden Age of Radio. The student-curated exhibit tells the changing narrative of women in the 1920's. The exhibit opens on March 2, at 3:00 p.m. with a short talk from exhibit curator Ellie Akers. The exhibit will run until August 9th. On March 24th from noon until 4pm we will be hosting the Art + Feminism Wikipedia Edit-A-Thon. Join us for a communal updating of Wikipedia entries on subjects related to the arts and feminism. We will provide tutorials for the beginner Wikipedian, reference materials, childcare, and refreshments. Bring your laptop, power cord and ideas for entries that need updating or creation. People of all gender identities and expressions are invited to participate. Throughout March, stop in the Learning Commons to see our display featuring the #MeToo movement.

Film Screening and Discussion

Join us March 28 from 7-9pm as we welcome Patti Miller to discuss her film "Iowans Return to Freedom Summer." In the summer of 1964, hundreds of predominantly white college students answered the call from civil rights leaders to volunteer for Freedom Summer. Civil rights veteran Patti Miller will be on hand to talk about the film, her Freedom Summer experience and her life as a civil rights activist.
