Notes For The Stalled

UNI Edits Wikipedia

Have you ever been frustrated by the lack of representation of people of color on Wikipedia? You are not alone. Join us on Dec 1 from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. for our UNI Edits Wikipedia: People of Color event. Training, food and childcare will be provided free of cost. Direct questions to Angela.Pratesi@uni.edu. We hope to see you here! Can't make this event, but are interested in future Edit-a-Thons? Look for "Women and LGBT+" and "UNI Edits for Diversity" events in the Spring. Stay tuned to our social media and webpage for upcoming opportunities.

Stress Busting

Finals week approaches. Have no fear, the Rod is here not only to help you with that paper or project, but to chase away the finals week blues. P.E.T.P.A.L.S. will be here Dec 6-7, 10-12 from 11-2:00 in the Learning Commons. Stop in to have them proofread your paper. They promise not to be too ruff on you. Check out the "What Makes Us Happy" art display near the Family Study Room in the Learning Commons to celebrate artwork by the kids from the Child Development Center. The exhibit will be available from Dec 3-21. The Graffiti wall will also be available to send notes of encouragement to your fellow panthers. Good luck!

Virtual Reality

Rod Library is partnering with Educational Technology and Media Services to bring Virtual Reality to the Library. This Spring stop by the Digital Media Hub to try your hand with our Oculus Rift and Microsoft Hololens. The staff of the Digital Media Hub will be able to help guide you in your alternative environment. Stay tuned to our website and social media for more information.

Textures of UNI

Rod Library is hosting a photo exhibit and competition for UNI student organizations during December and January. The exhibit will be on the main floor of the library. An Audience Choice Award will be given based on the votes received in a ballot box at the exhibit. Stop by the library to vote for your favorite student organization and join the fun!
