Notes For The Stalled

Open Education Week

Open Education Week is a global event that seeks to raise awareness of free and open sharing in education and the benefits they bring to teachers and learners. Open education includes free and open access to platforms, tools and resources in education, including learning materials, course materials, videos, assessment tools, research, study groups, and textbooks, all available for free use and modification under an open license. Join us as Nicole Allen, the director of the Open Education Resources, speaks on March 8 at 1pm. We will also be viewing "Paywall: the Business of Scholarship" on March 7 at 12:30. See: <https://tinyurl.com/oedweek19> for more information.

Spring Workshops

Please join us for the Spring 2019 library workshops for Health Sciences. Join your friendly neighborhood librarian Angie Cox as she helps you navigate how to create effective database search strategies, avoid common citation mistakes, search tricks in Google Scholar, and how to stay organized with citation managers. See: <https://preview.tinyurl.com/springrod19> for more information.

Unveiling the Tusk

Join Rod Library and the UNI Museum for "Unveiling the Tusk: The exhibit opening of the scientific study, conservation, and interpretation of the American mastodon" on April 3, 2019 from 4pm - 6pm. This event is free and open to the public.

UNI Edits Wikipedia

Wikipedia's diversity problems are well documented. Due to a lack of diversity among Wikipedia's editorship, there are critical gaps in the information available on the free encyclopedia. We're here to fix it. This edit-a-thon will focus on adding information about women and folks in the LGBT+ community from around the world to Wikipedia. All computer skill levels are welcome. We will provide tutorials for the beginner Wikipedian, reference materials, childcare, and refreshments. Bring your laptop, power cord, (we will have some laptops available) and ideas for entries that need updating or creation. People of all gender identities and expressions, races and ethnicities are invited to participate. #RodEdits #WikipediaSoStraight #WikipediaSoMale #WikipediaSoWhite #WikipediaSoNorthern

Calling All Artists

Our 6th annual mini comic con is just around the corner on April 13th. We are looking for art to showcase on the Learning Commons art wall. The items will be exhibited from Mar 13-Apr 15. The overall theme will be Marvel and DC timeline related, however all comic/anime/manga/popculture art will be accepted. Please include the title of your piece, the date created, and your name so we can give proper attribution. Deadline for submission is March 12. For more information contact julieann.beddow@uni.edu
