Teacher Education Still Primary Function of College

A Message From President Maucker

I WISH TO ASSURE ALUMNI of Iowa State Teachers College that, while the college is now in a period of relatively rapid evolution, it is holding fast to its central traditions. When, after July 4, 1961, the name of the college changes to "State College of Iowa," this institution will have followed a pattern commonly found throughout the United States from its early origins as a state normal school (in 1876, in our case) to a four-year teachers college (in 1909) and then to a general state college (1961).

The following points will be of major interest to alumni:

1. In the process of broadening the function of the college, we have nailed down specifically the fact that teacher education is to continue to be our primary task.

Up until this time, all we have had to go on as a legal definition of function was a parenthetical phrase in the Iowa statutes to the effect that we were a college "for the special instruction and training of teachers for the common schools." Henceforth, the law says in so many words: "The primary responsibility of the college shall be the preparation of teachers and other educational personnel for schools, colleges and universities."

2. We expect to continue our close relationship with the schools of the state. The new statute defining our function indicates that the college is to provide "consultative and other services, including experimentation with instructional content, methods and materials for the improvement of the educational programs of the schools of the state."
3. In opening our degree programs to students who do not intend to teach, we do not intend to change our basic departmental structure or venture into new subject fields. We intend to continue to offer majors in the fields commonly taught in the high schools of Iowa. We do not anticipate offering majors in highly specialized subdivisions of the liberal and vocational arts as is commonly done in complex universities.
4. Our graduate programs, designed primarily for school personnel, will run through the six-year level leading to the Ed.S. degree, Specialist in Education, so that we may continue to prepare school supervisors and administrators as well as teachers.
5. Both our teacher education program and our program for those who do not plan to teach will require sizable amounts of required work in general education—work in the humanities, social sciences and sciences designed to meet the needs of the generally educated citizen as well as the professional educator. The program for the non-teaching B.A. will be

Name Change Only One of Many Historic Events Noted in Alumnus

ALUMNI and friends of the College are receiving, with this issue, their last Iowa State Teachers College ALUMNUS, after some 30 years of publication.

The news of the College and its alumni will, however, continue to be published under a new name: THE ALUMNUS OF THE STATE COLLEGE OF IOWA, with the College name change becoming official on July 4, 1961.

News has been sent to alumni since 1910, when President H. H. Seerley, wrote occasional ALUMNI NEWS LETTERS containing information such as the progress of new buildings, needed appropriations and growth of the institutions. About 1915 the NEWS LETTER was made a quarterly publication and included alumni achievements along with college news. Although the form of the publication varied from time to time, President Seerley continued to edit and contribute news of the college development, even after his retirement.

President C. R. Latham suggested the present form of THE ALUMNUS, and the first copy was issued in January, 1930, under that name. The magazine was edited by Emeritus President Seerley, with the managing editor G. H. Holmes, present director of College Relations.

The magazine noted that "The annual alumni reunion and banquet, held in Des Moines on November 7, 1929, brought together 368 loyal supporters of the College in what proved to be the banner event of the year." A headline concerning commencement noted that "sixty-nine were awarded diplomas at fall term," of which 10 received the bachelor of arts degrees. (703 persons received bachelor of arts and master of arts in education degrees in 1959-60.)

The 1930 ALUMNUS listed the regular instructional staff as 158, compared to about 250 today with some 2,227 students enrolled at the college in 1929 as compared to 3,600 today. One article in the publication said that the State Board of Education (now State Board of Regents) had approved a faculty recommendation that all sub-collegiate work be dropped from the college curricula, with the statement that "no student who is not fully accredited as a high school graduate will henceforth be permitted to take up work at the College."

And although the news of 1930 dramatically points up 30 years of progress and growth to the ISTC of today, the aim of THE ALUMNUS as stated by College Secretary Benjamin Boardman in that first issue still stands: "It is hoped that this publication will at all times mirror the old glories of Teachers College through the ever new, ever changing, and ever growing educational needs of mankind."

Details, Details, As ISTC Begins The Task of Becoming “State College of Iowa”

WHEN Iowa State Teachers College becomes the State College of Iowa July 4 of this year, there will be more changes than just the name.

The “Alma Mater” song, official emblem, department letter heads, identification of thousands of library books, and names on college buses, cars, highway signs, college catalogues and hundreds of leaflets will have to be changed.

In addition, many legal steps must be taken to notify businesses, the ISTC Scholarship Fund, the National Science Foundation and the Federal Communications Commission.

“I guess we’re just Scotch,” says Dr. Daryl Pendergraft, assistant to the president. “But we aren’t throwing out anything bearing ISTC.” As was the case with Iowa State University, the change-over will be a gradual process in most fields.”

Some of the changes such as undertaking the legal procedures, designing the emblem and painting the new name on college vehicles and highway signs will be started immediately.

But a great majority of the changes will occur slowly. Stationery supplies will be allowed to run low in departments. The new emblem will be used on all reorders.

New stationery will be used for letters to the State Department and correspondence with other states where the change of name is not generally known. Old supplies will be used within Iowa to save money.

Departmental leaflets will be handled the same way. All of the old materials will be distributed. New editions are not planned until fall. College catalogues, bulletins and other leaflets will be stamped, giving the correction.

Insignia in library books will not be changed until August and Christmas vacations when there is time to stamp the new name into volumes.

Engravings on campus buildings will remain as they are now to serve as landmarks. The name on the front of Gilchrist Hall still designates the building as “Iowa State Normal School.”

Audio-visual materials made at the Teachers College such as movies, TV kinescopes and tape recordings will have a tape inserted to explain the name change.

The “Alma Mater,” Pep Song and cheers will be changed by committees appointed by the president. However, the tunes will probably stay the same.

Few changes will be needed in the sports department according to Dr. Jim Witham, head. Most of the athletic equipment and uniforms have no lettering or insignia that require change.

Shops on “College Hill” foresaw the change and anticipate no financial loss. They expect sentimental alumni and seniors to purchase the old items.

New Basketball Coach

Former All-American at Missouri U.

ISTC will have a new basketball coach next season. He is Norman Stewart, former University of Missouri star who has been assistant coach at his alma mater the past four years.

Stewart, 26, succeeds Dr. J. H. (Jim) Witham, appointed ISTC director of athletics and men's physical education last summer. Witham coached Panther basketball five seasons.

Stewart was an All-America basketball player and star baseball pitcher at Missouri, and also played professionally in both sports. He has been called "one of the greatest basketball players ever produced at the University of Missouri" by long-time Tiger Coach Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup.

A 6-foot, 4-inch, 200-pounder, Stewart played guard and at one time held most of Missouri's scoring records. He scored 1,112 points during his career.

He was also an outstanding baseball pitcher and was a member of Missouri's 1954 NCAA championship team. He will be assistant baseball coach at ISTC.

Stewart signed professional contracts with St. Louis (basketball) and Baltimore (baseball) after graduation, and spent one season with each organization. He then returned to Missouri as a basketball and baseball assistant coach.

Stewart was elected to the Mystical 7 Honor Society as an undergraduate at Missouri. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and is listed in Who's Who in Colleges and Universities. He also holds a Master's degree from Missouri.

A native of Shelbyville, Mo., Norm is married and has two sons.

He becomes the 16th basketball coach in the history of ISTC, although he will be the first to coach a

Norm Stewart

State College of Iowa team. That's the new name that will become official in July.

TC Alumni Make News in Sports

ALUMNI coaches and their teams have been big news in the state this year.

In the state class A wrestling tournament, the five top teams were coached by ISTC graduates. The coaches and their schools were, in order: Dave Natvig of Waterloo East, Jim Fox of Davenport Central, Chris Flanagan of Cresco, Dick Formanek of Ft. Dodge, and Clyde Bean of Iowa City.

Merrit Parsons, Bettendorf football coach, was named the Des Moines Register's Coach of the Year. Parsons' team was undefeated in 1960 and won the Little Six Conference championship. He received a gold football trophy.

Winter Sports Teams Continue TC Successes

IT WAS an enjoyable winter for ISTC sports fans. The basketball and wrestling teams both had highly successful seasons.

In basketball the Panthers won 16 and lost only 5 to tie a school record. They finished second in the North Central Conference with a 9-3 mark. Two losses to champion South Dakota State cost ISTC the title.

Sophomore center Pete Spoden and junior guard Jerry Holbrook led the cagers in scoring. Spoden also topped the conference in rebounding and won All-America honorable mention from Associated Press.

The wrestlers had 10 wins and 2 losses, marking the third time in ISTC history a mat team won 10 or more dual meets. The defeats were to potent Iowa State and Michigan State.

The Panthers also had their highest NCAA finish since 1953. They finished eighth in the national tournament with 19 points. Dave Jensen took second place at 130 pounds, and Frank Freeman finished fourth at 123. Both are juniors, and were named as All-Americans.

Alumni vs. Varsity In Third Annual Spring Tussle

THE THIRD annual Alumni-Varsity football game will be played at O. R. Latham Stadium May 13 at 8 p.m. The game will be part of an all-sports day at ISTC.

Other events on campus that day include a baseball game with South Dakota U., a track meet with Coe and Wisconsin State, and a golf meet with Loras.

The special day is being planned to give alumni and friends of the college an opportunity to see several Panther athletic teams in action on the same day.

Coach Stan Sheriff opened spring football practice Apr. 10 with a squad of 60 candidates. After winning nine straight games and the North Central Conference title last fall, hopes are high for the 1961 campaign.

Coach Sheriff will have 18 lettermen on his '61 roster, but several of those vets are competing in other sports and will miss spring practice.

The Alumni will have another star-studded roster for the May 13 game. Off the championship team of last fall will come Little All-Americans Jerry Morgan and George Asleson, plus Mace Reyerson, Warren Hansen and Charlie Schulte.

This game will be the rubber match. The Alumni won the first game in 1959, and the Varsity squared matters last spring.

Fall and Winter Sports Post .842 Average

Fall and winter sports teams at ISTC won 48 of 57 contests — an impressive .842 average.

Football started the year off right by winning nine straight before losing at the Mineral Water Bowl. Cross Country was 7-1, wrestling 10-2, basketball 16-5, and indoor track had a 6-0 season.

TC Recruiting Teachers for East Africa

IOWA State Teachers College is interviewing young Americans interested in teaching in the secondary schools of four East African countries—Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda and Zanzibar.

The project is sponsored by Columbia University. Dr. Raymond Schlicher, director of placement and extension services at the ISTC is in charge of local recruitment. Dr. Schlicher says that the East Africa project will need:

1. About 50 young teachers with the bachelor's degree, professionally trained, certified and experienced as secondary teachers,

2. About 50 liberal arts graduates with the bachelor's degree, but no professional training,

3. And 50 graduates with the bachelor's degree, professionally trained, but without actual teaching experience.

Those chosen must enter the program June, 1961, to undergo orientation in this country and at Makerere College in Uganda. They will receive two year appointments as "expatriate" teachers. Salaries are $2,800 to $3,000 a year.

Candidates must be in their twenties; preferably unmarried, although married candidates will be considered; academically superior; and personally resourceful, imaginative and realistic. They must know about American life and education and want to understand people and cultures of other lands.

All instruction will be in English. Fields of specialization most in demand are English, history, geography, mathematics, physics, chemistry and biology.

Further information may be obtained from Dr. Schlicher at the Teachers College.

Play on Words for Homecoming Theme: "SCI's the Limit"

PLANS FOR the big 1961 Homecoming are underway. Homecoming committee student chairman Dave Appleby of Manchester has been meeting with his group this spring so that information about events for Homecoming weekend can be made available to alumni earlier than usual.

As in the past, many fraternities, sororities and other campus organizations will hold coffee hours, teas and dinners for alumni who are former members.

A special feature every year is the Alumni Buffet Luncheon, held in the Commons before the game.

Coach Stan Sheriff's football squad is expected to provide a glimpse of the exciting brand of play which has become their stock-in-trade. The Panthers, who should be as good or better than last year's conference champions, will tangle with Augustana, another looming power in the NCC.

Other events for alumni to plan attending include the Homecoming Variety Show on Friday night, the parade on Saturday morning and the Homecoming Dance. Dr. Harold Bernhard will conduct the Homecoming Chapel on Sunday.

A more complete listing of Homecoming events is planned for the September issue of the ALUMNUS.

Problem at the College:

Naming and Renaming Buildings

A FACULTY committee has been appointed at the College to study and recommend names for new buildings and buildings whose functions will soon change. The committee is composed of Registrar Marshall Beard, chairman, Dean of Students Paul Bender and Head Librarian Donald Rod.

Dr. Beard has asked that alumni who have any comments or suggestions on the buildings listed below write him at the College.

New Music Building

New Health Service Building

New Men's Dormitory

New Library (funds have been requested)

New Administration Building (funds have been requested)

Old Library, which is being planned on as an instructional building

The Committee will be interested in comments on the possibility of removing President Seerley's name from the present men's dormitory, and using it on an instructional building, possibly the Old Library, which was built during his administration, and which is even today one of the most attractive buildings on campus.

Dennis, '40, Heads Training Program of U.S. Peace Corps

LAURENCE E. Dennis, a 1940 graduate of Iowa State Teachers College, has been named by President Kennedy as head of the training program for the U.S. Peace Corps.

The Peace Corps will be comprised of trained American men and women sent overseas by the U.S. government and other organizations to give skilled help to foreign countries. The initial emphasis of the Peace Corps program will be on teaching.

Each new Corps member will receive six weeks to six months training and orientation in the culture and language of the country to which he will be sent. Specialized training will be available to increase work skills of individual members.

Dennis, of University Park, Penn., is vice-president for academic affairs at Pennsylvania State University. He was recently elected chairman of the Joint Council on Educational Broadcasting.

The Joint Council is composed of representatives of American education on all levels. Formed in 1951, it is concerned with reserving, preserving and utilizing educational television channels.

Dennis received his masters' degree in journalism at the University of Minnesota. After serving as a Navy communications officer overseas in World War II, he did additional graduate work in political science and taught at Kansas State College and Drake University, served on the editorial staff of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and later was administrative assistant at Pennsylvania State College.

The co-author of two journalism books, Dennis has written many articles for newspapers, magazines and professional journals. He has also served actively in many publication, broadcasting, and education organizations as a lecturer consultant, commentator and columnist.

Article by 1921 Grad In May INSTRUCTOR

An article by Miss Delinda Roggensack, a 1921 music education graduate of ISTC, appears in the May issue of THE INSTRUCTOR magazine.

Now a professor of music education at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa, Miss Roggensack examines "The Case of the 'Out of Tune' Singer" in the article.

Miss Roggensack explains in her study the problems young children have as beginning singers and suggests the physical, mental and emotional limitations that handicap children in their singing.

"In no other area of educational activity does the matter of individual differences so quickly manifest itself," relates Miss Roggensack.

Activities that may help the children to control their singing voice, according to Miss Roggensack, are to set phrases to music that are familiar to the children, and to break the octave into intervals of thirds, fourths, fifths and sixths.

Book on Eskimo Art By 1941 Alumna

Dorothy Jean (Tostlebe) Ray, BA '41, is the author of Artists of the Tundra and the Sea, to be published in June by the University of Washington Press. Mrs. Ray describes and analyzes archeological and historical art styles of the Alaskan Eskimoes, as well as contemporary attitudes and products, and their cultural significance. The book contains 104 photographs, and has been very favorably recommended by reviewers.

Mrs. Ray, whose home is at 18905 73rd Ave. N.E., Bothell, Washington, was a recipient of a Merchant Scholarship. She has published several articles on the subject of Alaskan Anthropology, on a free-lance basis.

Spring Reunion of Southern Cal Alums

The Annual Spring reunion of the Southern California Alumni Club was held March 25th at the Y.M.C.A. in Pasadena.

F. Eugene Mueller (B.A. '28) President of the group reports that "the Y.M.C.A. facilities and the dinner were so good that we have decided to go back there again next year."

Mr. Mueller presided at the dinner meeting and described vividly the first of several sleet storms (in Oregon they call them "Silver Thaws") which occurred while he was on the I.S.T.C. campus this winter.

Mr. Orville Orr was program chairman and had arranged for a tape by President J. W. Maucker of "What's new on Campus."

Chances were sold on four door prizes which enabled the Club to sponsor a $100 scholarship for the third consecutive year.

Mr. Orr (B.A. '31) was elected President of the group for the coming year.

San Francisco Area Alumni Hear College News

Chairman, Baird McIlroy, B.A. '38, rushed plans through for a March 10th meeting of the San Francisco Bay Area in order that Dr. Myron Russell, head of the Music Department at I.S.-T.C. might attend and bring news of the College. Unfortunately "Old Man Winter" complicated things by stirring up a blizzard that prevented Dr. Russell's departure until he had to cancel his trip.

However, Dr. Robert Getchell, B.A. '11, who was visiting his daughter, Dorothy May (Mrs. Van R. Crawford, B.A. '33) attended and was able to bring a personal greeting from the Campus. The group enjoyed listening to a tape on recent changes at I.S.-T.C., the highlight being the name change to State College of Iowa.

Raymond Nelson, B.A. '37, was named chairman for next year's event.

Alumnus Presents Piano to College

The Iowa State Teachers College department of music has received a piano as a memorial gift from W. W. Clover of Lohrville.

The piano, a Story and Clark studio upright, was presented in memory of his late wife, Ethel Horn Clover, a 1924 graduate of the Teachers College.

The piano will be placed in the Activities Room in the new Music Education building now under construction, according to Dr. Myron Russell, head of the music department. It will be used in music education activities and for accompanying musical organizations that will meet in the room.

Clover also presented the music department with a violin to be used in classroom work, and a large collection of music books.

Fulbright Scholarship To Former TC Prof

A former member of the Iowa State Teachers College faculty has been awarded a Fulbright educational exchange grant, it was announced this week.

Miss Amanda Langemo, formerly of the department of languages, speech and literature, has been selected by the Board of Foreign Scholarships to teach English at St. Mary's College in Jamaica, British West Indies.

Miss Langemo is presently engaged in research at the University of Oslo, Oslo, Norway.

The Fulbright Act provides about 400 grants for teaching and participation in seminars abroad each year under the educational exchange program of the U.S. Department of State.

Mrs. May Heath, '25, Publishes Book on Iowa Pioneer Days

(Mrs. Heath passed away in April, shortly before The ALUMNUS went to press.—Ed.)

AN 80-year-old alumna of Iowa State Teachers College, Mrs. May A. Heath of Waterloo, Iowa, had her first book published in March.

The great-grandmother wrote her book Iowa Hannah about her own family's pioneer days in Prairie Rapids, which later became Waterloo. She has been compiling material for the work since 1925, the year she graduated from the Teachers College.

Mrs. Heath has lived around Waterloo all her life. Her parents farmed in nearby Washburn when she was a child, and she attended school in Manchester.

After graduating from high school, Mrs. Heath taught in Millerdale, Foulk, Orange Township and Manchester. She enrolled in Cornell College, but soon withdrew to marry an old schoolmate, Charles Heath.

She did not return to college again until two sons were born and raised to junior high age, when she enrolled at ISTC. During these college years, Mrs. Heath spent hours listening to her mother tell the pioneer stories of early Iowa, then more hours writing them down to remember and relate to her family.

Her instructor, Miss Selina H. Terry, now a retired member of the ISTC English department, told her the stories were valuable and encouraged her writing.

The writings were eventually formed into a book. Covering the period from 1850 to after the Civil War, the book is the story of her grandmother Hannah's girlhood. It includes such episodes as houseraising, preparation for the long Iowa winters, spinning and sugaring-off, and constructing the flour, saw and woolen mills, besides anecdotes of Hannah's schooldays and shopping trips.

After many rejections, the manuscript was sent two years ago to an agent recommended by the Waterloo Public Library. The agent submitted the work to a group of mothers who read it to their children and made suggestions.

The revised manuscript was accepted by Hastings House of New York. A second book about Mrs. Heath's mother, Dulcina, is now at the publishers.

Fire Damages Wing Of ISTC Auditorium

An early morning fire April 17 caused $5,000 damage to the north wing of the Auditorium, as estimated by Stanley Wood, Director of Drama at the College.

Officials blamed a faulty electric motor in a heating unit as the cause of the fire. Quick response from the Cedar Falls fire department averted much greater damage.

Main losses were in the costume shop, where irreplaceable costumes and jewelry, some just completed for an upcoming play, were ruined. The building itself was not seriously damaged.

The blaze occurred in a recently constructed section.

TC Student Wins Prize in Iowa Poetry Contest

Connie Stimpson, Iowa State Teachers College student from Lake View, was named the 1961 third place winner of the college poetry award sponsored by the Iowa Poetry Association.

Miss Stimpson's poem "Sunrise" was selected from 122 poems submitted by college students. Some 3,000 poems were submitted to the Association by adults, college students, association members and school students. Over 250 poems were chosen to be published in Lyrical Iowa 1961.

A student of Mr. James Hearst, Miss Stimpson is an English major and music and history minor. She will be editor of the College Eye, ISTC student newspaper, next year.

Miss Stimpson is a member of the English Club; the KYTC college radio staff, and Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity.

highly similar to the corresponding program for teachers except that additional liberal education and electives will be substituted for the requirements in professional education.

We expect to continue our efforts of the last three years to raise academic standards and to increase our efficiency in the utilization of staff. To these ends we are tightening on admissions of students, expecting higher quality of work by the students, making a greater effort to recruit strong staff members, increasing opportunities for students to demonstrate competence through examinations, and seeking in a variety of ways to improve the quality of instruction in college classes. To make better use of staff we are endeavoring to increase class size where we can do so without impairing instructional effectiveness.

The most encouraging indications that these efforts are getting results are the excellent attitude of students toward the increased demands of the faculty and the greatly stepped-up use of the library which makes it imperative that library facilities be expanded as soon as possible.

We are at last making headway in campus development. A new music building is under construction—and it will be an outstanding facility in design and usefulness; we have added substantially to the Arts and Industries Building; a new Health Service Building will be occupied this spring; and we have a dormitory for 400 men under construction (with non-tax funds). Even more encouraging, the legislature appears very likely to make a sizable capital appropriation for the coming biennium so that we might get started soon on a new library and an administration building.

One last thought—the ISTC Foundation, which was organized about two years ago, has already been a source of tangible assistance and considerable encouragement. We are deeply appreciative to those of you who are making financial contributions to the college so that we can create a stimulating environment for students and continue to turn out graduates of whom our alumni will be proud.

J. W. MAUCKER, President
Iowa State Teachers College

Former Professor J. O. Perrine Built First Ames-Cedar Falls Wireless

A 44-YEAR-OLD clipping found in a scrapbook belonging to a former Iowa State Teachers College professor, J. O. Perrine, marks the first exchange of messages by wireless telegraph between Ames and Cedar Falls.

The messages were sent and received from a wireless plant which had been built by Prof. Perrine, then of the physics department. The clipping reported that the first messages were exchanged at 8:45 p.m. March 16, 1917, between ISTC President Homer H. Seerley and Raymond Pearson, president of Iowa State College at Ames.

Both men acclaimed the progress of science in their messages. President Pearson wired, "Often we have exchanged messages by mail, telegraph and telephone, and now I send greeting by wireless telegraph. By the genius of engineers, they make it possible for us to talk by wireless telephone. We invite you to visit us when you can."

President Seerley answered, "Congratulations on the new plan. What a wonderful world has come from the application of science and mechanics. I send you greeting from the State

Transcription for Band Of Beethoven Concerto Premieres at College

Mrs. Suzanne Conklin-Happ appeared at the College as soloist in the premiere performance of the Beethoven Concerto No. 1 in C Major, Opus 15, transcribed for concert band by Dr. Karl Holvik. Both Mrs. Happ and Dr. Holvik are members of the ISTC music faculty.

The Concerto was performed by the Iowa State Teachers College Band in the College auditorium under the direction of Dr. Holvik. The performance marked the result of three years of work in transcribing the Concerto.

Teachers College. With best wishes for success and progress in the future."

The clipping said that the messages were clear and that due to the efforts of Professor Perrine and students in building the wireless, "now it is possible to send and receive messages at long distances."

Professor Perrine is now associated with the Teachers College at Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

Top Journalism Awards Given to ISTC Students

MISS Myrna Pierce of Lake City and Michael O'Brien of Strawberry Point have been named to receive the top awards for outstanding service to student publications at Iowa State Teachers College.

Miss Pierce, editor of the College Eye, student newspaper, was honored for "inspiring leadership."

O'Brien, editor of the Old Gold, student yearbook, was cited for "his grasp not only of the technical problems involved in yearbook production but also for his appreciation of the artistic aspects of yearbook production."

Awards for "excellence of service" also were presented to College Eye staff members Robert Bina, Spillville; Bob Button, Marshalltown; Joy Marie Drennen, Mason City; Roger Harlan, Winterset; Ila Jean Hewicker, Marcus; Lynda Krueger, Waterloo; Mary Mapes, Elberon; Mike McBride, Oelwein; Sandy Phillips, Cedar Rapids; and Connie Stimpson, Lake View.

Mrs. Russell Tubaugh Of Belle Plaine Is 'Mother-of-Year'

Mrs. Russell Tubaugh of rural Belle Plaine was honored as Mother of the Year at the Iowa State Teachers College mother's day festivities May 6.
