And so to press...

● MAKING THE PAGES—"Round the stone" as you would hear it in the printing office. Here the form of the several pages is set with the slugs from the linotype. Mr. J. Ellitt Grayson is shown fitting the stories in their proper places. Bystanders are Kenny Thompson and Burt McConeghey, visitor from Newton.

Grade Points Rise Since the 'Duration'

● The grade point of the average student has had a tendency to rise since the beginning of the war according to Dean Martin J. Nelson, dean of the faculty.

Students enlisting in the several branches of the service have seemingly been studying harder. Dean Nelson stated that this was probably due to the requirement of graduation from college in certain branches. Stiffer courses are also being taken which require more intense concentration.

Those students who are uncertain as to what they are going to do have had a tendency to lower their grade point, but the average of the student body grade point has been slightly higher than before.

Knoff and Hake Speak At Religious Services

● "When Life Says No" will be the sermon of Dr. Gerald E. Knoff, director of the bureau of religious activities, at the morning chapel service and Teachers College training school baccalaureate service, 10:30 a.m., in the Auditorium.

Professor H. V. Hake, assistant professor of speech, will conduct the forum in the faculty room at 7 p.m., using "Theatre Season 1941-42, Its Social and Religious Emphases" as his topic. Dr. Hake will illustrate his speech with his own charcoal drawings.

Margaret Holroyd will sing "The Lord Is My Shepard" by Liddel as solo for the morning worship.

Honor Students Recognized

● Twenty-six senior honor students and nearly 500 members of campus honorary scholastic fraternities received special deference at the Recognition day assembly, Wednesday morning in the college auditorium.

Honorees and the student body heard the Recognition day speaker, Dr. T. V. Smith, nationally known professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago, explain that the principle of specialization, upon which our culture is built, is needed in the intellectual world as well as in the manual world. He went on to state that when one does a task, he should do it so well that the doing of it becomes his own reward.

Only graduates attaining a grade point average of "three point" or "B" are eligible for the Recognition day honor. (A perfect grade point average is a "four point" or "A.") The group of 26 was also honored at a special luncheon in the Commons at noon. Special guests were Dr. Smith, the assembly program speaker, and the heads of the departments which the honor students represent.

The honor students are Edwin Bro, Rosemary Fleming, Esther Kaplan, John Moodie, Howard Nelson, Annis Tatge, Mary Jane Thierman, and Dorothy Wilkinson, who are all social science majors; Fern Betz and Ruth Willis, home economic majors; Vivian Wheeler, Kurt Helmut Niedringhaus, Malinda Hilbert, and Kathryn Harries, all commerce majors; Lucile Dahlgren, Josephine Faris, and Clara Van Roekel, kindergarten-primary majors; Robert Keyes and Fred Ritze, physical education majors; Irene Fockler, Mona Jane Van Duyn, and Pauline Norris, English majors; Rachel Baumgartner, an art major; August Ebel, majoring in science; Elaine Thompson, majoring in elementary education, and Charles Todd, a mathematic major.

Ted Cross of Cedar Falls, the new president of the council, sponsoring group for the program, presided at the morning assembly

Journalism Class Publishes the 'Eye'

● Eleven students were found missing from the campus today. These students compose the Journalism I class who are responsible for this issue of the College Eye.

Misspelled words and names, incorrect data, and mistakes galore were a few of the reasons for the disappearance of these troubled students.

It is no simple job to publish a paper as the regular staff resigned temporarily to make way for the green up-and-coming journalists.

News must be located, the story written and corrected, and the

ESTABLISHED 1892 IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE CEDAR FALLS, IOWA, FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1942

Prom to Be All-College Affair

Teacher Sophs Rate 'Average'

● Teachers College sophomores compare favorably with those in other colleges in the country as shown by the results of the national sophomore testing program received here recently by the bureau of research.

The national median for the "English" test is 60, and the median for Teachers College sophomores as a whole is 60.2. In the "general culture" test Teachers College also ranked above the national median with an average of 155.5, while the general average is 152.

Only in the "contemporary affairs" test did the sophomores on our campus fall below par. In this test the national average is 103, while the local students made a score of 98.

Each student on the campus who took the tests is given a chart showing the national norms for men and women and his own scores. From this the student can make a comparison between his own results and the average for the entire nation.

Next week, according to Dr. J. B. Paul, director of the bureau of research, a percentile chart showing the ranking of all students on this campus who took the tests will be posted on the bulletin board across from the business office. Students will be indicated on the chart by table and seat numbers. If you cannot remember what your number was, inquire at the research bureau and they will help you out.

Watson Wins Vote Over Casey Jones for Office

● Professor E. E. Watson, professor of mathematics, won a unanimous vote over his competitor Casey Jones in the election for Faculty Men's club secretary-treasurer Tuesday noon at their regular meeting. Professor Watson has held this position for several years now.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Dr. F. W. Lambertson, professor of speech, elected president; Mr. O. R. Wessels, instructor in commercial education, vice-president.

Mr. Benjamin Bordmann, business manager, secretary and treasurer, was elected member of the executive committee.

Students Travel To Synagogue

● Tonight, May 15, is the time set for the last of the Adventures in Brotherhood trips when Teachers College students will pay a visit to the Congregation Sons of Jacob, Jewish synagogue in Waterloo.

Fellows and girls are supposed to wear hats if possible, says Dr. Gerald E. Knoff, director of bureau of religious activities and adviser for the trips, and those signed up before Wednesday will leave the Commons on buses at 7:30 p.m., tonight.

The group will take part in a regular Sabbath service where Rabbi David Shapiro, Green Bay, Wisconsin, is preaching on "The Unique Characteristics of the Jewish Civilization." After the service questions will be answered and the different customs and articles of service will be explained.

College Eye Receives All-American Rating

● "All-American—1942" was the rating awarded to The College Eye by the Associated Collegiate Press this week for the fifth consecutive year.

News of the award, which is given annually to the top collegiate newspapers of the country, was Thompson, executive editor of The College Eye.

The letter stated that the "Eye" was one of eight papers in its class to receive the rating. This class includes weekly newspapers of colleges with an enrollment of 1,000 to 2,500.

"The high honor this year is an especial tribute to the cooperative spirit of the staff members," said George H. Holmes, Jr., adviser, "since no less than three changes in the executive editorship have been made since last September."

Scores are given in the critical survey after the paper is read and assigned points for make-up, writing, choice of news and other factors in newspaper work. The honorary award is evidenced by a certificate issued by the national press association.

With the adoption of the "dynamic" streamlined layout and format in 1937-38, the "Eye" achieved the All-American rating again after an interval of two years. During this year the paper was under the editorship of James R. Jordan.

For every year since that time, the "Eye" has been given the coveted award for excellence in the national competition. Editors for these years were: Ruth Culbertson, 1938-39; Harland Riebe, 1939-40; Donald Templeton, 1940-41, and Kenneth Thompson, Harold McConeghey, and Josephine Faris, 1941-42.

Judges for the contest were persons outstanding in the journalistic field. Among them were: Oz Black, Minneapolis Star-Journal; Don Brannan, United States Marine Corps public relations; Merrill Cragun, co-owner of Queen Press, St. Paul; Otto Quale, Associated Collegiate Press staff member, and Mary James Stark, editor of Minnesota Clubwoman.

Students who are registered for teaching will continue their teaching work through Thursday, May 28. The Department of Teaching will issue excuses from teaching only in cases of conflict with examinations.

Plans Are Now Complete for Graduation

● Graduates of 1942 will attend their last all-college dance at the Senior Prom, May 22, in the Commons. Although the prom is an annual dance sponsored by the seniors, all students are invited to attend, according to Miss Catherine Spooner, social director of the Commons.

"This dance comes on a one o'clock night, so let's all turn out and have a big time," said Marjorie Armstrong, co-chairman of the dance committee. The dance will be held from 9:15 until 12:15 p.m. Those who do not have a date as yet, are encouraged to ask the hometown boy or girl friend. The admission price is $1.10 per couple.

The dance will be formal, and the fellows may wear a white coat and dark trousers, dark coat and white trousers, or just a dark business suit. "Down Memory Lane" will be the theme for the prom with Jimmy Smith and his orchestra playing.

Committee chairmen are as follows: general chairmen, Marjorie Armstrong and Don Templeton; feature dance, Josephine Faris; hospitality and invitations, Esther Kaplan; publicity, Allan Lomen, and program, Yette Ramaker.

Page to be Commencement Speaker

Commencement will be Sunday, May 31, at 5 p.m., on the Commons terrace, with Floyd E. Page, Denison, Iowa, chairman of the Commission on Iowa School Code Revision, as the speaker, according to Dr. Leland L. Sage of the social science department, chairman of the commencement committee.

Graduates will be feted at the Cap and Gown breakfast Sunday, May 24, at 8 a.m., and afterwards will attend the Baccalaureate services at 10:30 a.m. in the auditorium.

Reverend Stoddard Lane of the Plymouth Congregational Church, Des Moines, will give the baccalaureate address.

President Opens House for Seniors

President and Mrs. Malcolm Price will hold "open house" for all graduates from 7 to 10 p.m., Sunday, in their campus home at the traditional President's reception.

Final examinations will hold the students' attention during most of the next week, with a picnic and outing for graduates and their guests Friday afternoon, May 29. The evening will be highlighted by the commencement band concert at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium, under the direction of Myron Russell of the music department.

Saturday, May 30, the evening of commencement, will be the occasion for two more important events—the commencement dinner party at 6:30 p.m. in the Commons, and the senior women's lantern parade at 8:30 p.m. at the campanile plaza.

A new tradition will be inaugurated for Teachers College graduates attending the 62nd annual alumni reunion, Sunday, May 31, when they attend the first alumni chapel service in the auditorium at 10:30 a.m.

Professor Kenneth W. Colegrove, head of the political science department at Northwestern university and son of a prominent early-day educator at Teachers College, will be the principal speaker. He will discuss "A New World Order: East and West."

Examination Schedule . . .

● Examinations for the spring quarter begin on Tuesday, May 26, and end on Thursday, May 28, according to Dr. Martin J. Nelson, dean of the faculty. The following schedule will be observed:

CLASS HOUR	EXAMINATION PERIOD
11:00	3:00-4:50 Tues., May 26
10:00	8:00-9:50 Wed., May 27
8:00 T. Th.	10:00-10:50 Wed., May 27
10:00 T. Th.	11:00-11:50 Wed., May 27
1:00	1:00-2:50 Wed., May 27
1:00 T. Th.	3:00-3:50 Wed., May 27
2:00 T. Th.	4:00-4:50 Wed., May 27

2:00	2:00-3:50 Thurs., May 28
9:00 T. Th.	4:00-4:50 Thurs., May 28

The schedule is to be interpreted as follows:

When only the hour of the regular class meeting is indicated, all classes meeting at that hour with the exception of all classes meeting twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday, or on Tuesday only or on Thursday only, are included.

When the symbols T. Th., follow the hour, they mean that the corresponding examination period has been set aside for classes meeting twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday or on Tuesday only or on Thursday only.

Attendance is required by all students in all classes from May 20 to May 26 inclusive.

No excuses are given for absence from examinations and no changes will be made in the examination schedule.
