COMMENTS FROM FACULTY CHAIR JURGENSON

Faculty Chair Jurgenson expressed his thanks to faculty for their professionalism at the faculty meeting the previous Friday. He had feared that the meeting could devolve into a large argument, but it did not. He indicated that he had gotten many emails of thanks and congratulations on the meeting, but that faculty should congratulate themselves for the meeting going well.

COMMENTS FROM FACULTY SENATE CHAIR JEFFREY FUNDERBURK

Chair Funderburk read the following statement:

Provost Gibson is unable to join us today due to a death in the family. On behalf of the Senate, I would like to express our sincere sympathies and best wishes.

As we are all aware, this is a challenging time for the University of Northern Iowa. We are beset by a number of adversities.

Friday's vote by the faculty expressed widespread frustration that has been building on campus for a number of years related to decision making processes. Recent events caused the frustration to boil to the surface.

But, I would like to keep in mind two quotes.

The first is from poet Lord Byron who said, "Adversity is the first path to truth."

The second is of unknown origin:

"Adversity is a fact of life. It can't be controlled. What we can control is how we react to it."

Friday's vote notwithstanding, it is important that we remain focused on a goal that we can all agree upon. We must be more effective at working together for the best interests of the students here at UNI and for the continued success of this institution of higher learning.

Towards that end, Secretary Peters and I along with Associate Provosts Arthur and Licari had a meeting today with President Allen to discuss the current situation and the path that lies ahead.

As stated earlier, President Allen will be joining the Senate for two meetings this spring. Currently, the plan is for President Allen to attend the Monday, March 19 meeting of the Senate. More details will be release as soon as they are finalized.
