Organize Alumni Club For Muscatine County

Thirty persons from Muscatine county organized an alumni club at a meeting June 9 in the Park Land Country Club at Muscatine.

Present from the college as guests were President and Mrs. Maucker, and G. H. Holmes of the Alumni Office.

Alumni gathered first at the home of Mrs. Evelyn L. Schauland (B.A. '48) for refreshments preceding the dinner meeting. Mrs. Schauland was sponsor and organizer of the get-together.

Officers elected for the coming year were: John Baird (B.A. '48), president; Mrs. Schauland, vice president; Mrs. Lee Smith (Ruth Hartwig, B.A. '46), secretary; and Helen Howe (P.S.M. '17), treasurer.

Following the short business meeting the new club president, Mr. Baird, introduced President Maucker, who spoke on "Recent Trends in Teacher Education as Applied to Teachers College."

Committees will be appointed to make plans for a meeting next year, according to club president Baird.

FORMER PANTHER WRESTLER WINS CHAMPIONSHIP AT THE OLYMPICS

Bill Smith, national champion wrestler and graduate of 1951, brought new laurels to Iowa and his alma mater by winning in his weight at the 1952 Olympics.

Smith was the only American wrestler to win a World's Championship title at the Helsinki games held in July and August.

Teachers College float in the Fourth of July Cedar Falls Centennial Parade was based on the idea that Teachers College has been "married" to the city of Cedar Falls for 75 years—and their "youngsters" growing up around them include College Hill, College Hill Business District, Sunset Knolls, and Sunset Village.

Educators and Lay Leaders Attend Third Annual School P/R Workshop

Nearly one hundred Iowa leaders of business, labor, industry, education and civic affairs attended the Third Annual workshop on School Public Relations held on campus, July 13-16.

Theme of the workshop was, "The Citizen's Responsibility for the Public Schools." Stewart Harral, director of public relations studies at the University of Oklahoma, was the featured speaker.

If America is to have good public schools, Harral told workshop participants, it is up to every town and hamlet to enter the battle on the local level.

"It will take work—talking, ringing doorbells, telephoning, meeting, thumping heads together—to drum up action for needed improvements," he said, "Let's move beyond the hand-wringing stage."

Wesley Erbe (B.A. '30), principal at the Fort Dodge high school and president of the Iowa State Education association, presented the final summary of workshop findings.

The citizen, said Erbe, has a responsibility to know the schools. In turn, teachers and administrators have the responsibility to inform the citizens of what's going on in the schools.

"It's a two-way channel of communication," he said, "By planning together we can provide better education."

He touched on curriculum planning, parent visits, P-TA, and Business-Industry-Education days and in general on parent-teacher-student relations.

"Happy students will result in contented parents who will fight for the school program," he said.

Annual feature of the Public Relations workshop is the Chuck Wagon Picnic sponsored by the Faculty Men's club at Teachers College. Workshop participants and faculty enjoy a chance to get together in this informal way. Charles Martin, executive secretary of the I.S.E.A., received the prize for the loudest sport shirt present.

A resolution passed by the workshop enrollees endorses the current study being made by the State Board of Education concerning possible establishment of an educational TV network in Iowa similar to the network of FM stations in Wisconsin.

The workshop is sponsored jointly by the Iowa State Education Association and the Iowa State Teachers College as it has been in the past.

Fun at the Chuck Wagon Picnic included a contest among the ladies to see who had the most articles in her purse. Here you see the winner, Emma Opler of the TC Campus School, (167 articles) getting help in counting from Dwight Curtis, professor of teaching and Campus School head.

Convention Time—Is Reunion Time!

When you go to Des Moines for the November convention of the Iowa State Education Association, there are three places you may greet TC friends and other alumni.

ALUMNI REUNION DINNER — An annual affair at the Moose Home, Des Moines, the dinner gives alumni a good place to eat in a congenial atmosphere, a program from the College . . . and you're out in time to attend the evening convention sessions.

TEACHERS COLLEGE EXHIBIT — Present plans of the Convention Management call for exhibits to be held in the Iowa Exhibit Building at the Fair grounds with free bus service provided from points down town. Stop by the TC exhibit.

I. H. Hart Writes Article On Mississippi Steamboating

A half a century of steamboating as a means of commercial transportation on the upper Mississippi between Aitkin and Grand Rapids, Minn., is traced by Irving H. Hart, archivist and historian at Teachers College, in an article in Minnesota History, official publication of the Minnesota Historical Society.

The article, "Steamboating on Mississippi Headwaters," appears in the Spring, 1952, issue of the magazine. Hart collected much of the material for the article while vacationing on Sandy Lake, Minn.

Former Student Writes Song Book

Mrs. Everett Perry (Margaret Christenson, '33-34) is co-author of a new junior high music book titled "Let's Sing." Formerly an instructor in music education at the University of Michigan, Mrs. Perry worked on the book with Miss Marguerite V. Hood of the University of Michigan staff and supervisor of music in the Ann Arbor public schools.

ALUMNI ADOPT 4-POINT PLAN

A four-point program for strengthening alumni activities at Teachers College was accepted at the 69th Annual Alumni Reunion, June 1.

The alumni attending the reunion voted to accept the four proposals of the Alumni Action Committee which had met twice last year to formulate an alumni program. Those proposals are printed in the next column.

In other business the alumni accepted the report of the nominating committee to elect the following officers for next year: president, W. Harold Hartman, B.A. '28; vice president, Leon Robb, B.A. '28; reunion committee, Mrs. John Latta and Mrs. David McCuskey, both '28.

Presiding at the meeting was association president Melvin Anderson, B.A. '27, and he introduced the guests at the head table: President and Mrs. Maucker, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Esbeck, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Holmes, Mr. A. C. Fuller, Dr. Harold Bernhard and his guests, Dr. and Mrs. Rolland W. Schloerb, baccalaureate speaker, of Chicago.

Julia May Cory, '00 and '51 was presented with a corsage as the oldest person to receive a B.A. degree here. Two members of the class of 1887, Brigadier General George McManus, retired, of Berkeley, Calif., and Dr. James Alderson of Strawberry Point, were introduced.

Four Points accepted by the meeting of the General Alumni Association as proposed by the Alumni Action Committee:

1—That the Association favors the establishment of an Alumni Fund for the support of Alumni Activities and various special projects. (Such projects might include alumni scholarships, loan fund, recognition programs and campus memorials, etc.)

2—That dues be established for Active Memberships at one dollar per year; Contributing Memberships at three dollars per year; and Supporting Memberships at five dollars per year.

3—That Alumni Clubs be organized in Iowa and surrounding states on a county and town basis as desired.

4—That an Alumni Action Council be established on a permanent basis to meet yearly or oftener as needed to discuss and implement lines of action to further the welfare of the Association and the college.

Sixty-year medals were presented to Dr. Fred Sage, '89; Cora Spargur Gibson, '92; and Kate Overfelt Annas, '92. Fifty-year medals were then presented to Maude Bozarth, '99, and Dr. Wesley Wiler, '98.

Twenty Foreign Teachers To Study Elementary

A contract has been signed with the U. S. Office of Education calling for an elementary education program for 20 foreign teachers at Iowa State Teachers College this fall.

Duration of the program will be from September 22 to December 20.

Under the program, the foreign teachers will attend two special seminars and will visit regular college classes. The government will pay the college regular fees plus a special fee to cover the cost of an extensive series of visits to school systems, other colleges, the state capitol, and other places of interest in the state.

Frank Martindale of the college education department will be the program coordinator and will be in charge of a seminar on the Administration of Elementary Education.

Miles Zintz, also of the college education department, will conduct a seminar in Elementary Education and will arrange for tours of Black Hawk county schools.

One seminar will meet two hours each week; the other five hours each week.

Plans call for the foreign teachers to live in residence halls on campus and to pay regular fees for room and board.

The college was granted authority June 27 by the State Board of Education to cooperate with the U. S. Office of Education in the establishment of the program at the college.

What's the Name?

With the announcement that the new dormitory for upperclass women has been officially named "Sadie B. Campbell Hall," let's look at the names for the other TC residence halls—

LAWTHER HALL

. . . . was named for Miss Anna B. Lawther, who was for 20 years a member of the State Board of Education, from July 1, 1921 to July 1, 1941.

She was one of the organizers of the group which later grew into the American Association of University Women.

During Miss Lawther's time on the Board she saw three different administrations at Teachers College and worked with Presidents Seerley, Latham, and Price as a member of the Board's faculty committee.

BARTLETT HALL

. . . . for freshman women, was named in honor of Moses W. Bartlett, a member of the first faculty of the Normal School. He was a professor of English and for several years was head of the English department. He was on the staff here from 1876 to 1904.

SEERLEY HALL

. . . . for men, really needs no explanation of its name for alumni of Teachers College. It was named for Homer H. Seerley, for 42 years president of the college. His term began in 1886 and ended in 1928. When Seerley came to the then Normal School the enrollment was under 400 and the faculty numbered nine members. Under his direction the college grew to many times that size and became a leader in the nation's teachers colleges.

BAKER HALL

. . . . named for George T. Baker, is another men's dormitory. Baker was a member of the State Board of Education for 32 years, 1909-1941. He was president of the Board during his last year of serving the state. In the words of Archivist I. H. Hart, "Baker

New Dormitory Named For Sadie B. Campbell

The newly constructed $1-million women's dormitory at Iowa State Teachers College here has been named Sadie B. Campbell Hall in honor of the dean of women whose resignation after 23 years of service became effective July 1.

Announcement of the residence hall's name was made by President J. W. Maucker during the graduate-faculty-family picnic, a commencement week event at the college.

He read a resolution of appreciation adopted by the State Board of Education at its recent meeting. In the resolution the service Miss Campbell has rendered was extolled and the hall thereby named after her as a lasting memorial to this service.

Sadie B. Campbell Hall, which will house junior and senior women, will be ready for occupancy this fall.

Naming of the dormitory prompted the student weekly newspaper, The College Eye, to publish a one-page broadside extra edition which was distributed at the picnic immediately after the announcement was made.

The dormitory had been temporarily called North Hall.

The resolution, adopted by the State Board of Education is as follows:

"BE IT RESOLVED, that the State Board of Education formally tender, in connection with the acceptance of the resignation of Sadie B. Campbell from the position of Dean of Women of the Iowa State Teachers College, the following statement of recognition of her services:

*In Grateful Appreciation
This Citation is Presented to Sadie B. Campbell*

In consideration of her twenty-three years of service as Dean of Women in the Iowa State Teachers College, a service unexcelled in efficiency and in fidelity to the ideals of enlightened womanhood, a service which has found expression in the development of a program through participation in which the young women of the College have been enabled to develop such attitudes and habits of gracious and wholesome living and of interest in intellectual adventure as will fit them to live democratically.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, as a lasting memorial to this service, the new hall for women on the campus of the Iowa State Teachers College be and is hereby named

Sadie B. Campbell Hall

In witness and confirmation whereof, the officers of the Iowa State Teachers College and of the State Board of Education have hereunto subscribed their names:"

The resolution was signed by President Maucker, Dwight G. Rider, president of the State Board of Education, and David A. Dancer, secretary of the State Board of Education.

Announcement of Miss Campbell's resignation had been made in January.

was willing to give any personal sacrifice and service to the state of Iowa all through his years on the Board. Through his efforts, largely, state schools are relatively free from political influence."

Panther

SPORTS PARADE

Grid Panthers Lack Depth, Defensive Power

When this was written, Panther football Coach C. L. (Buck) Starbeck didn't know what to expect during the 1952 football season.

The veteran Panther coach has high hopes that he will have a nucleus of 12 lettermen for the year, well below the figure of 19 underclassmen who won letters a year ago. Service calls made huge inroads on the returnees, and several others dropped from school.

Generally, Starbeck feels his 1952 team should possess as much offensive punch as the 1951 unit which won three games and lost four, and finished third in North Central conference play.

That 1951 team had plenty of running power, as it compiled a new Panther record for yardage gained. But the club lacked depth and consequently defensive strength, and Starbeck feels this year's team will face the same problem.

Spearheading the returnees are Lou Bohnsack, center, and end Mahlon Kaylor, both all-conference selections a year ago.

Other line veterans are tackle Bud Row-ray, who handled all the punting a year ago, tackle Bob Genzen and guard Karl Rauch.

With that quintet, Starbeck hopes to use John Howell a sophomore end whom he termed the outstanding performer in spring drills; tackle Bob Boesen and Rod Geist, who missed most of last season because of illness; end Francis Riney, and guards Harlan Phillips, Bob Miller and Bob Case to form one good unit.

The backfield should be more than adequate.

A trio of lettermen—Jerry Magrane, Mark Bumgardner and Gene Woolhiser—return at quarterback. Veteran halfbacks are Doug Butler and Jim Miller. Art Landau, also an illness victim a year ago, will help. And full-back should be well manned with Bud Paulsen and Ralph Capitani, both lettermen, on hand. It was Paulsen who set a school record with a 99-yard touchdown run from scrimmage against Augustana a year ago. Both are good passers, essential in the Starbeck single wing.

At that, Starbeck says freshmen are certain to see action. His big complaint on that score is that he has not rounded up a big, rugged type of lineman among the newcomers, so essential to the defense in the two-platoon age.

But with Starbeck's know-how, and the spirit which he always instills in his teams, the club could be tough. They should at least surprise some favored foes, as the University of South Dakota and South Dakota State, generally considered the two teams who will battle for the league crown.

Bill Koll Joins Teachers College Coaching Staff

Bill Koll, new head wrestling coach at Iowa State Teachers College, has the distinction of being the first new coach of a major sport at the college since 1937.

Koll joins a staff which is noted for longevity on the job. The new wrestling mentor is succeeding Dave McCuskey, who is now head wrestling coach at the State University of Iowa.

Koll, however, is far from unknown at Teachers College. In the three-year period immediately following World War II he was undefeated as a Panther wrestler.

He won national collegiate 145-pound titles in 1946, 1947 and 1948, and was chosen the outstanding wrestler of the NCAA meet each of the latter years. He was the U. S. 147.5-pound representative on the 1948 Olympic team.

After his graduation in 1948, he went on to receive his M.A. at Northwestern in 1950 and is working toward his doctorate at the University of Iowa. He served three years as wrestling coach at the University of Chicago and one year as Cornell College coach before being appointed to replace McCuskey May 28.

A native of Ft. Dodge, Koll is now 29. He was married to the former Barbara Johnson of Chicago on August 18, 1951. The couple has one son, Christopher Edward, born last July.

Just what awaits Koll in his first season is problematical. The new Panther coach will definitely have to get along on hold-over squad members, as new NCAA rules prohibit the use of freshmen.

Definitely missing will be Gene Lybbert, twice a national champ. Other possible stars face service calls.

The new coach, however, is almost certain to have 137-pound Bob Morris and 147-pound Jim Harmon on hand as a nucleus. Both of those boys were runners-up in last year's national collegiate meet.

From 4,500 Miles Away—

Would you travel 4,500 miles to see your son or daughter graduate from college?

Well, that's how far Jennie Ing's (center, in cap and gown) family traveled to see her participate in commencement exercises at Iowa State Teachers College June 7.

Jennie's mother (right), grandmother (left), sister and brother made the trip from Honolulu, T. H. Another sister, who has been living in the midwest, attended the commencement and returned to the islands with the rest of the family.

Missing on the return trip was Jennie, who will teach in the fourth grade at Council Bluffs this fall. A winter bachelor of arts graduate at Teachers College, Jennie has been teaching in the sixth grade at Emmetsburg.

Since no formal graduation exercises are held at the end of the fall and winter quarters, she returned to Cedar Falls for the spring commencement exercises. Jennie's home is in Honolulu.

Complete First Step in Accrediting Grad. Program

The Teachers College graduate program, which began with the 1952 summer session, has passed the first hurdle in becoming accredited.

Dean of the Faculty M. J. Nelson, chairman of the graduate council here, said, "We were pleased to have word recently that we have successfully taken the first step in meeting the requirements for accreditation of the graduate program as outlined by the Commission on Colleges and Universities of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools."

First step in the two-year process of accreditation consisted of submitting information on qualifications of the college staff.

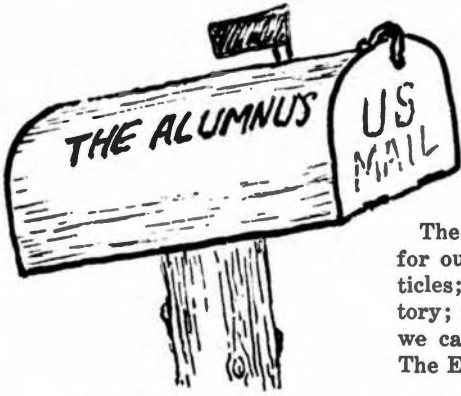

The second and third steps are in the form of a survey—a self survey by the faculty of the college and a report; and a visit by the examining committee of the North Central association.

About the time the first degree is granted the faculty survey is filed. Some time within a year after that, the examining committee will visit the campus to complete the third and last step in accreditation.

COLLEGE ARCHIVES PRESENTED POEMS BY '02 GRADUATE

The College Archives have been enriched by the presentation by Willis T. Wolfe, B.Di. '02, of a volume of original poems entitled "Chimes." The title is taken from a poem inspired by the Campanile bells. Other poems describe local scenes of beauty and interest.

MAIL BOX

The Mail Box is open to all alumni who have a message for our readers—additional information about alumni articles; comments on Teachers College, its policies and history; suggestions or criticisms. Because of limited space we can't publish long letters. You may address mail to The Editor, Alumnus Magazine, I.S.T.C.

During my course of travels recently, I ran across several TC'ers—Al LoBalbo (B.A. '42), Johnny Marinos (B.A. '47) and Russ Brown (B.A. '50). Al just completed a very successful season as basketball coach at St. Mary's high school in Elizabeth, N. J., where his team just won the Catholic school, Class B state championship. Johnny is working on his master's degree at NYU and I think Russ just completed his master's degree this past semester at NYU in Safety Education. Time flies—Russ was a soph at Teachers College high and was on my JV basketball team when I was a student coaching there in '40-'41.

Just recently I came across a diary kept during the years at Teachers College. On every third or fourth page I had written "ISTC is the most wonderful college in the whole world." How good to be able to feel that way about a school—and to look back years later and still agree.

Gwen Wescott, B.A. '37, 5262 Cartwright, North Hollywood, Calif.

I want to thank you for your thoughtfulness in sending me the ALUMNUS even though I am not a graduate of TC. I enjoy it very much and the section given over to the addresses of the service personnel.

To still receive the ALUMNUS gives me great pleasure. Am always interested in learning all the news and growth of the College. Hope someday to be able to visit there. Many are here in California and we have not forgotten our years at ISTC.

Greetings to my classmates of 1902: Fifty years have rolled by since THE RIVALS was staged under the direction of Margaret Oliver in the new Auditorium. The photograph of that high moment as reproduced in the May number of THE ALUMNUS brings back many happy memories.

I have been in the West for over forty years and have lost contact with all of you except my roommate, Lucy Miller, the Lydia Lanquish of long-ago.

Those were good days, but I find much of happiness in these.

The training under Miss Oliver is still bringing me dividends in satisfaction. This week I am speaking to the Spokane Valley Woman's Club on Bird Study as a Hobby, for I am a long-time bird watcher, and am one of the founders of the Spokane Bird Club organized in 1916. Getting people interested in birds is my form of community service.

I shall not be back for the reunion. Remember me as I do you "ever young and fair."

The address to which the ALUMNUS has been coming is incorrect. Please make this change as we get a great deal of enjoyment going over the contents and thus keep somewhat in contact with the past and with changes. Am still teaching school and getting along fine. My family is growing up and all seem to enjoy Texas.

Sam D. Gratke, M'l. Arts 17, 212 South Irving Heights Drive, Irving, Texas.

We alumni do not always get together but I get my hair clipped by a former Mason City barber and get my teeth filled by Dr. Nugent, formerly of Algona, Ia., who was a school board member there while Aubrey Bonham (B.S. '27) coached in that high school. Today, Bonham, football coach at Whittier College near here, wrote me a letter. I had written him, but probably if I had not told him I was "HAM" he would not have remembered. It has to have those old touches to make life worth while, and it is the things with the same old familiar touch that makes the ALUMNUS magazine worth so much.

Martyn Bacon, B.A. '27,

On June 10, Mr. G. C. Hoyt, B.Di. '04, a graduate of my class of "naughty-five" and now an attorney at Shelby, Mont., accompanied by his wife, stopped to see us. While here I read them a poem I had written concerning the burial of Major Dinwiddie in the fall of 1901.

The next day they returned and with them were his brother, John ('00), a student at the turn of the century, together with his wife. John has been a doctor in Spokane for many years. At G. C.'s request I reread the poem to the four in their car, as they were enroute to an outing at Liberty Lake, not far away. A short time later I heard sirens, but that being a common occurrence, thought nothing of it.

The next morning I read in the Spokane paper that their boat had overturned at the lake and that Dr. John and a grandchild had been drowned and G. C. and two other grandchildren saved only by the good work of rescuers.

Dr. John and G. C. both played in the band that eventful day of the burial of the Major, and I marched in the ranks of Co. D, the rookie company composed of "clodhoppers" fresh from Iowa farms.

The Hoyts suggested I submit the poem to the ALUMNUS. I protested that it was probably not of sufficient literary merit to warrant it. They thought otherwise; so if enough "old timers" would like to hear my version of the event and will write me to that effect at Greenacres, Wash., we will see what the censors will do with it.

I feel a college appreciates knowing when background helps business men of today. Cedar Falls means as much to a home builder as to a teacher. I consider my time and dollars were wisely spent at Cedar Falls. I should enjoy seeing any of my classmates at Cedar Falls.

Schaller, Iowa.*

My February copy of the ALUMNUS just reached me after having been forwarded from our Arlington, Va. address. It has reminded me to notify you that our address has changed and we are off again, this time to Athens, Greece, where my husband is a Marketing Specialist with the Mutual Security Agency. We are finding life here very interesting. The country itself, outside of Athens, is centuries behind the western world in its methods and way of thinking. It is a colorful place in spite of the bareness of the land. The ordinary Greek is very hospitable and charming. We do miss many of our "taken for granted" conveniences at home, and what couldn't we do in a good old U. S. Supermarket!

Spring Commencement Held in Stadium

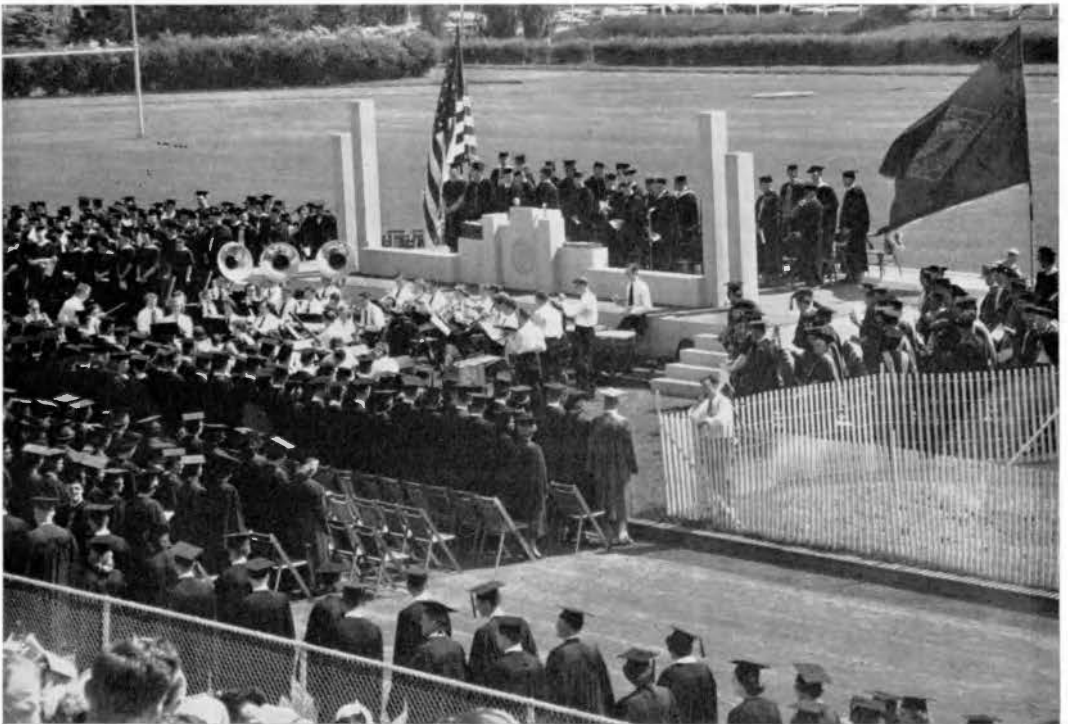

The 470 graduates of spring 1952 will long remember their Commencement day as one of the warmest of the year. The morning sun found its mark in the black-gowned graduands and the shirt-sleeved visitors who attended the exercises at O. R. Latham Stadium.

College officials had hoped for nice weather for the outdoor commencement but in the words of President Maucker, "The weatherman over-cooperated. . ."

Dr. J. Martin Klotsche, president of Wisconsin State College, Milwaukee, was the featured speaker.

In the picture below, the faculty flank the speakers and the last of the graduands are filing in as the TC band plays a processional, and the flags of the country and the college are stirred by the welcome breeze.

Begin Addition to Auditorium Building

Contracts for $102,563 auditorium building alterations at Iowa State Teachers College have been awarded and work has begun.

Under the present plan, construction will consist of a fireproof stairwell on the north side of the auditorium building, additional classroom space and a rehearsal hall, making the college drama rehearsals independent of the auditorium stage.

The new construction work will be at the north end of the present auditorium and stage. It would be used on the stage floor level for drama classrooms and a rehearsal hall and on the second floor for women's dressing rooms and storage space.

The entire project would release classroom space now used by the college drama shop for storage and dressing rooms. This would make possible the installation of a psycho-educational clinic to the northeast corner of the drama shop as well as additional classroom space.

Shaw Plays Presented As 'Arena' Productions

College theatre-goers of northeast Iowa were offered something new in drama when the annual summer play production at Iowa State Teachers College here was presented "arena" style.

Two short comedies by George Bernard Shaw—"Overruled" and "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets"—were presented by the English and speech department, July 23-25, in the College Commons Ballroom.

Arena production, sometimes called theater-in-the-round, or centerstaging, places the actors and the playing area in the center while the audience sits around the play, viewing it from four sides.

Although this was the first arena production at Teachers College for the public, there are numerous successful educational and community theatres presenting plays in this style the year round. The director was Hazel Strayer.
