April 2019

Letter to the Editor [Amy Tamar Dickel]

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.uni.edu/postville_documents

Part of the Public Affairs, Public Policy and Public Administration Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Recommended Citation

https://scholarworks.uni.edu/postville_documents/271

This Document is brought to you for free and open access by the The Postville Project at UNI ScholarWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Postville Project Documents by an authorized administrator of UNI ScholarWorks. For more information, please contact scholarworks@uni.edu.
Thank you for taking time to read this. I really hope that as you read this you will have a positive view of the city of Postville. I know that some may come with a negative view of a city that needs some positivity to get back on track. The city of Postville is located in Clayton County.Originally, the town that is now Postville was called Dixie. It was settled in 1853 and incorporated in 1883. In 1909 it was decided that the town should be renamed. Postville was chosen because many of the people who lived there had come from the state of Indiana.

Postville is home to a variety of businesses. There are over 300 businesses and organizations in the town. Some of the largest businesses are the Agri-Processors meat processing plant and the Clayton County Health Department. There are also several small businesses such as the Clayton County Hospital, the Clayton County Library, and the Clayton County Courthouse.

There are several other businesses in town including the Postville Post Office, the Postville Police Department, the Postville Fire Department, and the Postville Elementary School. The town also has a community center, a community garden, and a community park.

In addition to the businesses and organizations, Postville also has several other important facilities. There are several churches in town including the Clayton County Baptist Church, the Clayton County United Methodist Church, and the Clayton County Catholic Church. There is also a public library in town.

Postville is also home to several major employers. The Agri-Processors meat processing plant is one of the largest employers in town. There are also several other businesses in town that employ a large number of people. Some of these businesses include the Clayton County Hospital, the Clayton County Library, and the Clayton County Courthouse.

Postville is also home to several large organizations. The Clayton County Health Department is one of the largest organizations in town. There are also several other organizations in town including the Clayton County Library, the Clayton County Courthouse, and the Clayton County Baptist Church.

In conclusion, Postville is a town that is full of life and activity. It is a place where people can work, play, and live. It is a place where people can be proud of where they live and work. It is a place where people can be proud of the town they call home.