

UNiversitas: Journal of Research, Scholarship, and Creative Activity

Volume 9
Number 1 Forum Theme: The Digital Turn: A Roundtable

Article 12

3-2014

Contributions

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.uni.edu/universitas>

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Copyright

Recommended Citation

(2014) "Contributions," UNiversitas: Journal of Research, Scholarship, and Creative Activity. Vol. 9 : No. 1 , Article 12.

Available at: <https://scholarworks.uni.edu/universitas/vol9/iss1/12>

This Contributors is brought to you for free and open access by UNI ScholarWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in UNiversitas: Journal of Research, Scholarship, and Creative Activity by an authorized editor of UNI ScholarWorks. For more information, please contact scholarworks@uni.edu.

Contributors

Phyllis Baker

Dr. Baker is Professor and Head of the Department Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminology at the University of Northern Iowa. There, she teaches courses in sociology, qualitative methods, and gender studies. Her research interests include gender and development, masculinities, and qualitative sociology.

B. Keith Crew

Dr. Crew is Associate Professor in the Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminology at the University of Northern Iowa. His research interests include sociology of law, criminal justice policy, interpersonal violence, and victimization.

Bettina Fabos

Dr. Fabos is Associate Professor in the Department of Communication Studies at the University of Northern Iowa. She teaches courses such as interactive digital communication, media literacy, and interactive digital visualization. Her research interests include media culture, visual literacy, and digital visualization. She also actively promotes the use of nonprofit digital archives.

David Grant

Dr. Grant is Associate Professor in the Department of Languages and Literatures where he teaches courses in professional writing. His research interests include rhetoric and composition and Native American Studies.

Sarah E. Kersh

Sarah Kersh (Ph.D. English, Vanderbilt University) is currently an adjunct professor at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. Her research and teaching interests include Victorian and neo-Victorian literature, queer theory and poetics, and digital humanities. Her book project, entitled Naked Novels: Victorian Amatory Sonnet Sequences and the Problem of Marriage, argues for the political efficacy of the Victorian sonnet sequence, a narrative form quickened by new 'modern' intimacies that suffer and negotiate the constraints of poetic and legal formalism.

Adrienne Lamberti

Dr. Lamberti is Associate Professor in the Department of Languages and Literatures, an Administrative Fellow with the Office of the Executive Vice President and Provost, and the Coordinator of Professional Writing at the University of Northern Iowa. There, she teaches courses in rhetoric, professional communication, digital media, disciplinary communication across the curriculum, and organizational culture. Her research interests include narrative and anecdote as forms of professional communication, and technology-mediated communication genres. Most recently, John Wiley & Sons Publishing named Lamberti as Co-Editor of a new book series, Engineering Transformation: Conflict, Crisis, Adaptation.

Kevin T. Leicht

Dr. Leicht is Professor and Chair of the Department of Sociology at the University of Iowa as well as the Director of the Iowa Social Science Research Center. At present, his research is examining gender inequality among professionals, transaction-cost approaches to career decision-making, the development of economic development programs by the U.S. states, and the causes and consequences of corporate restructuring. He teaches courses in the sociology of work, organizational theory, economy and society, political sociology, and social stratification.

Stephanie R. Logan

Dr. Stephanie R. Logan is Assistant Professor in the Department Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Northern Iowa, a former elementary classroom teacher, and a former elementary and middle school counselor. Her research interests include racial microaggressions in classrooms and multicultural education.

Jim O'Loughlin

Dr. Jim O'Loughlin is Associate Professor in the Department of Languages & Literatures where he offers courses in American literature, creative writing, and professional writing.

Francesca Soans

Dr. Soans is an independent filmmaker and Associate Professor in the Department of Communication Studies at the University of Northern Iowa. Her films and videos, exploring memory and identity, have screened at international film festivals and art centers in the U.S., Europe, and Asia, and been broadcast on public television and cable channels. She has received several major grants from the Iowa Arts Council and Humanities Iowa. She is currently working on a five-part documentary project exploring memory, place, and identity

Jason Treviño

An alumnus of UNI (BA English, 2007), Mr. Treviño is currently a Ford Foundation Fellow and doctoral student in English and Medieval Studies at the University of California, Berkeley.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International License.

