Summer School Opens June 4

The summer cover scene, snapped by "photog" Ralph Salisbury, will be repeated over and over again during the coming summer session. Starting date is June 4.

Only the 12-week session will be offered this summer. Classes will be concluded August 22.

Registration for those who did not register "in advance" will be June 4 for new students, and June 5 for former students.

Courses applying on all four-year and two-year curricula will be offered, with special attention given to those who wish to renew their teaching certificates.

College Offers Three Branch Schools

Three Iowa Towns—Corning, Denison, and Estherville—have been selected as sites for the three Teachers College branch summer schools this year.

Both a six-week and a 12-week session will be offered at each of the three towns. The 12-week session begins June 4 and ends August 22, running concurrently with the regular summer quarter at Cedar Falls. The six-week session begins June 16 and ends July 25.

Courses offered will be designed especially for beginning teachers and those interested in renewing teaching certificates.

Orchesis Features Dancing Coeds

Creative Dances, Ranging From the interpretation of an old-fashioned minuet to a college wrestling match, were featured at the annual Orchesis recital, March 28.

Sixty-six coeds appeared on the program, which is given annually under the auspices of Orchesis, creative dance group. Miss Maude Moore of the women’s physical education department is the faculty sponsor.

Included on the program were a series of “Modern Dance Rhythms,” including the tango, beguine, waltz and rhumba. The latter half of the program included rhythmic, artistic interpretations of Vachel Lindsay’s poem, “The Congo,” John Masefield’s “Sea Fever,” and “Summertime” by George Gershwin.
Knighthood Blooms on Campus

The hilarious saga of an errant knight, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," highlighted the spring calendar at Teachers College.

Capacity crowds viewed two evening performances April 24 and 25, with some 800 conference delegates attending a special matinee April 26.

Directed by Hazel B. Strayer and Stanley Wood, the Elizabethan comedy featured a replica of London's Globe theater, an array of colorful costumes and a succession of side-splitting scenes.

The play, written in the traditional five acts of the period, is by Beaumont and Fletcher.

Debate is "Big-Time" Again

The Canadian Debates, a pre-war tradition of the Teachers College forensic calendar, were renewed this year after a war-time lapse.

Two Teachers College debaters, Al Paul of Waukee and Kay Kough of Waterloo, traveled to Canada for two word battles in December, against Brandon College, Brandon, Manitoba, and the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg. They won and lost respectively.

The courtesy was returned in February when a University of Manitoba team braved the winter's worst snowstorm for a repeat bout. Again, the Manitobans were victorious.

The Brindley debate and discussion tournament, scheduled for February 7 and 8, was cancelled because of severe weather.

In intercollegiate competition, Teachers College students participated in tournaments at the University of Nebraska's Intercollegiate Discussion and Debate Conference, February 28, the Northwest Debate Tournament at St. Thomas College, St. Paul, Minn., March 10, and the annual state tournament of the Forensic Association of Iowa Colleges, March 14.

A trip to the national Tourney of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, April 10, completed the debate calendar.

Dr. Kolb Recommends Action

"Adult education, like any other form of education, must get into action. We can't simply sit around talking about our problems" . . . Such was the stand of Dr. J. H. Kolb, professor of rural sociology at the University of Wisconsin, speaking at the one-day Adult Education Conference on the Teachers College campus March 13.

He advocated a four-fold program to improve rural and midwestern living.

(1) "We need more housing for our families and we need to keep the farms in the hands of those who operate them.

(2) "We need more children, not simply to repopulate farms, but children have a very definite role in keeping families happy and in developing personality.

(3) "We need a much greater sense of well-being, not only in relation to health but in the whole field of emotional and spiritual values.

(4) "We need more and better social service agencies down at the community level."

Representatives of Farm Bureau groups, public schools, libraries, agricultural extension services and PTA groups attended the one-day meeting.

Alumni Will Have Their Day, May 25, 1947

Biggest Day Of The Year for Teachers college alumni — especially for new members of the Half-Century Club — will be Sunday, May 25, the day of the annual alumni reunion.

Eligible for membership in the Half-Century Club are members of the class of 1897. Special invitations for the event have been dispatched to the 97 living members, 37 of whom reside in Iowa. All who attend the reunion will receive a gold medal, shown in the accompanying photograph.

Any graduate who is a member of a class which dates its departure from the campus 50 or more years ago may receive one of the medals if he or she is present at the reunion.

An innovation will be the presentation of a special award to those graduates returning for their 60th anniversary. A gold pendant locket or watch chain charm, showing the Teachers College seal, has been designed for the occasion.

As The Alumnus goes to press, three "alums" have indicated that they will be on hand to receive this new award. They include Mrs. Heath Yewell (Estella Reuillard), El. '78, of Spokane, Wash., Dr. James Alderson, B.Di. '87 of Dubuque, and Brig. Gen. George H. McManus, B.Di. '87 of Cambridge, Mass.

A silver anniversary celebration is on the agenda for 396 members of the class of 1922. Other classes, whose numerals end in "2" or "7," are also eligible for special reunions of their own this year. Class representatives are urged to make arrangements in advance by writing the Alumni Office.

Alumni day will open with registration and informal visiting in the main lounge of the Commons from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Feature of the morning program will be the Baccalaureate service. The sermon will be given by Elton Trueblood, professor of philosophy at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind. The time is 10:30 a.m., and the place, the college auditorium.

Highlight of the entire day will be the "down-the-line" Alumni-Faculty dinner at 12:30 p.m. in the Commons. President Malcolm Price will present medals to new members of the Half-Century Club, as part of the program.

"All alumni are, of course, welcome to attend the dinner," said A. C. Fuller, director of Alumni Affairs, "but reservations must be made in advance by contacting the Alumni Office." The address: Alumni Office, 204 Gilchrist Hall, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

The newest members of the alumni family, the class of 1947, will likewise be honored at the conclusion of the spring quarter.

Members of the graduating class will be guests at the President's Reception, Sunday, May 18, from 7 to 10 p.m. The semi-formal Commencement Dinner Party will be May 23.

The Commencement exercises will be Tuesday, May 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Dr. Karl F. Robinson, chairman of the department of speech education at Northwestern University, will be the principal speaker.

Miss Campbell Flies to Guatemala

Miss Sadie B. Campbell, dean of women at Teachers College, took to the airlines, January 28, for a five-week trip to Guatemala and Mexico.

Flying from Des Moines to New Orleans and next to Guatemala City, she made daily excursions to picturesque, outlying towns. Among other things, she saw the ruined cities of Uxmal and Chicken-Itza, the hemp fields bordering Merida, Yucatan, and Lake Atitlan, the “bluest blue lake” in the world.

Favorite visiting headquarters were the Guatemalan market places where the Indians would carefully lay out their products, be they calla lilies, onions or prize pigs.

As all vacations come to an end, Miss Campbell soon found herself on a plane again—this time bound for Mexico. And before she knew it, she had arrived back at Cedar Falls—just in time for advance registration for the spring quarter!

Students Discuss Religion

Teachers College students considered a variety of subjects—ranging from methods of prayer to drinking, smoking and smooching—at the annual Religious Emphasis Week, February 2 to 7 inclusive.

Ten visiting theologians, writers and lecturers led five days of round tables, lectures and question-and-answer periods. Among them were the Rev. Bryan S. W. Green of the Holy Trinity Church of London, Professor G. Baez Camargo, of Mexico City, Edward G. Carroll, Negro theologian, and Mrs. Anna B. Mow, Bethany Biblical Seminary instructor and former missionary.

The week, which followed the theme, “A New Axis,” was arranged by Dr. Vernon Bondin, director of the Bureau of Religious Activities, and a student-faculty committee of 100 members. Student chairman were Richard Simpson of Webster City and Margaret Logan of Ruthven.

Kurtz Publishes Four Compositions

Dr. Edward Kurtz, head of the Teachers College music department, has had four compositions accepted for publication by the Belwin Company, New York.

They include two organ selections, “Adagietto” and “Sarabande,” and two women’s vocal ensembles, “Vine Covered House” and “My Heart is a Garden.” Mrs. Kurtz wrote the words for the vocal ensembles.

Hake Directs Summer Theater

Herbert V. Hake, Iowa State Teachers College radio director, will be on a leave of absence this summer to serve as a designer and technical director of the Black Hills Playhouse at Custer State Park, South Dakota.

The Black Hills Playhouse is operated in connection with the school of the theater of the University of South Dakota and the university’s extension division.

In addition to serving as designer, Mr. Hake will teach two university courses in stagecraft and scenic design. The theater season will begin June 15 and conclude August 23.

During his absence, Teachers College radio programs will be in charge of James DeJonge, instructor in music.
Old Gold Beauties Are Brunettes

The Year's Most Glamorous occasion, the Old Gold Beauty Dance, was the highlight of the winter quarter at Teachers College.

Four hundred formally-dressed coeds and their escorts crowded the Commons dance floor, February 15, to hear the rhythms of Don Simpson and his orchestra. And just before intermission came the announcements they had been awaiting — the names of the "most popular" and the "most beautiful" students.

Beauty honors went to four coeds: Shirley Jarman of Guthrie Center, Dorothy Moore of Marshalltown, Norma Mackin and Shirley Nelson, both of Des Moines. The first three beauties were selected by the student body in a campus-wide election January 22, and the fourth "surprise" was chosen from coed dancers by orchestra leader Simpson.

The beauties (all brunettes this year), carrying bouquets of American beauty roses, were presented against a backdrop of black velvet and within a large, gilt-edged picture frame. The artistic result simulated an artist applying the finishing touches to the portraits of four lovely ladies. Bill Eells of Cedar Falls, attired in smock and beret, portrayed the painter.

Men students took the honors in the popularity contest, winning three places out of four. Winners in this contest, popularly elected by the students, were James Maetzold, Red Wing, Minn., Earl Schramm, Hutchinson, Minn., Bruce McQuigg, Schaller, Iowa, and Charlotte Rashid, Fort Madison, Iowa. Pictures of the eight students will appear in the Old Gold, student yearbook, which sponsored the contests.

Don Henry of Waterloo served as master of ceremonies for the presentation ceremony. The grand march was led by Richard Simpson of Webster City, Iowa, editor of the Old Gold, and his dancing partner, Miss Lois Bare of Independence, Iowa. Don Goslin of Clarion, business manager of the Old Gold, was in charge of dance arrangements.

Presenting "A Day In the Life of a Teacher"

For the girl with sparkle, warmth, and intelligence there can be plenty of glamour in teaching. What's more, she doesn't have to be a prudish fuss-budget.

The color movie, "A Day in the Life of a Teacher," produced by the Bureau of Publications, prove this premise.

Directed by George H. Holmes and photographed by Dr. E. L. Ritter, the picture is now being shown throughout the state to high school seniors, vocational guidance classes and Parent-Teacher groups.

Using streamlined Stewart School in Washington, Ia., for its setting, "A Day in the Life of a Teacher" features Jean Westphal, El. '37, in the leading role. The film takes the spectator through a day with an attractive, successful kindergarten teacher.

The film opens as Jean drowsily awakes to the alarm clock's tinkle. At school, she leads the kindergarteners in their day's activities. The youngsters tell stories, make furniture, paint wagons, sew aprons, sing songs, and swing on their outdoor playground.

Playing the "second lead" in the picture is Mary Frances Womboldt of Red Oak, a senior music student at Teachers College. She is the third-grade teacher friend of Jean.

The film does not limit itself to classroom activities of the leading lady. After school hours, Jean goes out on a dancing date, takes a dip in the "Y" pool, plays bridge with the girls, bowls, and in general has a good time, like any other young "career girl."

The movie was "premiered," a la Hollywood, in its birthplace, Washington. Those who participated in its making were honored at a dinner.

The program which followed featured Herbert V. Hake, Teachers College radio director, as master of ceremonies and President Malcolm Price as principal speaker.

The 800 ft., 16 mm. film is available, free of charge, for high school showings. Requests should be addressed to the Bureau of Publications, Iowa State Teachers College.
Coed Baby Sitters "Sit" As

GI's and Wives Join "Ball and Chain" Club

Eye-catching posters on campus presented a perplexing query early in the winter quarter. "Are you eligible for TCBC?" they read.

For days, Teachers College students and faculty members pondered the probable meaning of the new alphabetical rhyme, which signified the birth of a new campus organization.

The secret was out on the evening of December 14 when the Teachers College "Ball and Chain Club" held its first get-together. Appropriately, only married students and their spouses were eligible for TCBC.

The first shindig was the Spouses' Spree, an informal party in the women's gymnasium, followed a few weeks later by a carnival, complete with Barker, bingo, dance pavilions, gypsies and seances.

A shocking time was had by all at the seance, where the patrons formed a circle and grasped hands. Everyone was silently waiting for the "message", when suddenly the lights flicked off, and an electric shock jolted the handclaspers.

Officers for the TCBC are Mrs. Russell Bush, president, Colburn Collinge, vice-president, and Mrs. Chet Williams, secretary.

Making it possible for many students to attend TCBC functions was another fledgling organization, the "Baby Sitters" club.

The community service commission of the Student Christian Association set up a babysitting program, offering "sitters" free of charge to student parents requesting such service.

Written requests for sitters must be made two days in advance by dropping the communication in the sitters' mailbox. If the request can be fulfilled (and the group's percentage runs very high), a notice is placed on the bulletin board informing the parents.

Pleased sponsor of both groups is Dr. Vernon Bodein, director of religious activities, who says, "The success of one group seems to depend on the other."
Miss Rolf Writes Book

LOVERS OF POETRY WILL BE interested in the little book of verse, "Out of the Night," published recently by Miss Ida C. Rohlf, for many years a member of the English staff of Iowa State Teachers College.

When complimented on the beauty of the cover, the quality of the paper and the printing, Miss Rohlf said that because of the dedication of the book, she had resolved that it must have a fitting format. The dedication reads:

"To honor the memory of My Father and Mother who loved beauty
and revered truth."

Following the title poem, which reveals that many of the ideas for her work came to her in sleepless nights, are a series of poetic gems which challenge the imagination and stir the memory. Miss Rohlf is not a poet talking to herself, but she is sharing with others her poignant observations.

Many of her poems have the mellowed gray tints of a family portrait, while others are as full of color as a technicolor motion picture. One can find every shade and hue in her lines.

Her aim, I am sure, has been poetic simplicity, but some of the works are filled with compound emotions. She has accomplished a true balance of fact and imagination which is indeed pleasing to the reader.

In this little volume are poems of love, war, sacrifice, nature, home, and grief. While one feels that its contents are a personal matter, yet there is a finer edge to them. Their thoughts are not a private meditation, but are the author's gift to all of us.—By Mrs. Malcolm Price.

Wife of Faculty Member Dies

MRS. SELMER C. LARSON, wife of the Teachers College faculty member, died March 24, 1947. Dr. Larson is a professor of education. Born Lulu V. Osmundson in Forest City, Iowa, she was married to Dr. Larson July 2, 1914. She is survived by her husband, a son, Robert Larson of Des Moines, and a daughter, Mrs. Willis McMichael, Cedar Falls, and six granddaughters.

Announce Faculty Changes

RESIGNATION OF THREE Teachers College faculty members was announced late in the spring quarter.

They include Marion Roose, social director of the Commons, James J. DeJonge, assistant professor of music, and Forrest Mayer, assistant professor of business education. All resignations are effective at the end of the summer quarter.

Miss Roose resigned to accept a Lydia C. Roberts fellowship for a year's study at Columbia University. Mr. DeJonge goes to his alma mater, Calvin College, Grand Rapids, as an associate professor of voice, Mr. Mayer has accepted a post in the business education department at Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Ind.

A Teachers College alumna, Margaret Gray Fullerton, B.A. '25, has been appointed assistant cataloger in the college library. She is the daughter of the late C. A. Fullerton, a long-time member of the Teachers College faculty.

F. E. Fuller Passes

F. E. FULLER, a member of the Teachers College faculty since 1917, died April 18, 1947, at the age of 71. He had been an assistant professor of natural sciences in the Extension Service, retiring in 1946 with emeritus standing.

Born in Battle Creek, Mich., he received his B.A. degree from Albion College, Albion, Mich., and his M.S. degree from Iowa State College.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Murrey, an instructor at Iowa State College; one brother, John E. Fuller of Albion, Mich.; and two sisters, Inez L. Fuller of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Elwood Smoll of Wichita, Kan. One son, John, died in 1944 while serving with the armed forces.
Planning next year's lecture-concert series is the work of this committee. Left to right, they are Dr. Vernon Bodein, Mary Frances Womboldt of Red Oak, Dr. Leland L. Sage, and Sadie B. Campbell. Student Gene Beike of Wapello and Dr. Edward Kurtz are also members.

A Happy Committee-Man Is Dr. Leland Sage

LECTURES AND CONCERTS ARE HIS BUSINESS

Not All Of Teachers College's guest artists may be as exciting as the one who had to accept the services of a highway patrolman to flag a train, but Dr. Leland Sage, professor of history, wouldn't swap his position as lecture-concert series chairman for any other committee in the world.

There are moments of suspense connected with such a post, of course, such as the time when tenor James Melton almost missed his train which was to enable him to perform a very important engagement in Detroit the next night.

Dr. Sage had deposited Mr. Melton and accompanist safely, he thought, in the lobby of the Black Hawk Hotel, there to await train time. Mr. Melton called a taxi and waited hopefully, then impatiently. A highway patrolman, loitering in the lobby, came to his rescue and raced to the station—just in time to see the train leaving. Undaunted, he successfully flagged the train, and Mr. Melton kept his "date" the next night.

Dr. Sage is assisted by five presidential appointees, including Dean Sadie B. Campbell, Dr. Edward Kurtz, Dr. V. P. Bodein, and a representative from both the Women's League and Men's Union. This year's members are Mary Frances Womboldt of Red Oak, and Gene I. Beikle of Wapello.

With the aid of this committee, Dr. Sage starts planning in the spring of each year the number and types of artists and lecturers that will be programmed during the following academic year. The committee also outlines many of the college's assembly programs.

In deciding which national lecturers and artists are to be contracted for, the committee members rely on recommendations from the representatives of management companies, from faculty members and outsiders, and on their own concert-going experiences.

Sometimes Dr. Sage wishes that he could arrange to have another "Twelfth Night" performance by the Chekhov Players. He would rate their performance the best single number in the entire history of the series.

The PANTHER PARADE
By Bob McGronohon

THE GREATEST Array of track talent ever to appear at the Teachers college relays braved the rain and chilly wind to establish two new records and tie two others. The 24th annual classic, a two-day affair for the first time this year, drew 949 athletes from 35 high schools and 17 colleges.

Drake’s Jim Gehrdes, and Carleton’s Jerry Shean, set new marks in the high hurdles, and high jump, respectively. Bob Brown, Ft. Dodge, tied the high school mark in the high hurdles, and Grinnell’s John Bonyata equalled the college 100-yard dash record. Coach Arthur D. Dickinson’s thinclads captured four events, the shot, discus, javelin, and 440-yard relay.

- Elvin “Dutch” Goodvin of Corning throws the discus for the Panther thinclads.

Heading the list of track celebrities present at the annual track classic was honorary referee Gil Dodds, one of America’s greatest milers. Dodds, who set the world indoor mile record (4:08.4) in 1944, came out of retirement this year, winning all of his 12 races easily. Dodds’s Wheaton college two-mile relay team missed the record by one-half second, being timed in 8:11.5.

The Panther thinclads overpowered Grinnell 81-48, in a dual meet; won a triangular scoring 103 points as compared to 19½ for St. Ambrose, and 8½ for Loras. Against tougher competition at the Drake relays Dickinson’s half mile and mile relay quartets finished second and third, respectively.

Track coach Arthur D. Dickinson has five holdover lettermen from last year. Two top scorers last season, sprinter Bob Ryan and Elvin “Dutch” Goodvin, in the weights, should be more valuable this spring.

Bill Berner, John Fowler and James Hall are the other returning letter winners.

Five freshmen, high jumpers Ed Hermann, and John Revelle, sprinter Jim Saunders, quartermiler Doug Pinkham, and Dave Williams in the weights, were standouts in indoor drills.

As the Alumnus goes to press Coach L. W. “Mun” Whitford’s baseball nine has won three of six games. The Panthers lost their opener to Drake 3-1, and then roared back to shut out the Bulldogs 7-0, behind Southpaw Carl Dresselhaus’ one-hit masterpiece.

The Whitford-men dropped two to Iowa State, 11-7, and 3-2, before getting back into the win column with an 8-5 victory over St. Ambrose and a 5-2 triumph over Luther. Contests with Drake, Luther, Wisconsin Teachers, St. Ambrose, and Simpson remain on the Panther schedule.
“Batter Up!”
Let’s Play Ball

Biggest loss to the baseball nine: their No. 1 righthander last year, Lyle Dodd, now coaching at Dumont, Iowa.

Lefty Carl Dresselhaus, regular hurler last year, winner of two of four starts and right-hand relief flinger, Herb Dorsey, are in top form however.

Eagle-eyed sophomore Van Combs, a one-handed push artist from London, Ky., established two new scoring records for Coach O. M. “Hon” Nordly’s basketball five.

He set a new scoring record for points in one game, when he scorched the net for 31 markers to pace the Panthers to a 62-44 win over St. Ambrose. He also led Panther scorers in total points with 234, breaking Jim Maetzold’s old mark of 227 set last year.

The season’s biggest surprise: the Panthers’ 46-42 win over Morningside, league champs. Had the Panthers won their two overtime contests and the two tilts which they dropped by one point margins, they could have easily finished with a .500 record, instead of winning 6 and losing 13.

Don Dutcher versatile pivot man, who also played guard and forward, finished second among Panther scorers with 206 counters.

Wrestlers Win Honors

For the second consecutive year Coach Dave McCuskey's wrestling team stole the show at the national grappling meet, winning three individual titles, a feat accomplished by no other entry. They finished second, however, to Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, with 19 and 32 points respectively.

The Panthers went to the N.C.A.A. tourney at Champaign, Ill., without the services of Gerald "Germ" Leeman, defending 128-pound champion, who was sidelined with a torn rib cartilage.

Bill Koll, Ft. Dodge, successfully defended his title in the 145 pound bracket, scarcely being "touched" by any of his foes. Russell Bush, runner-up in the 136-pound class a year ago, moved down a notch to become champ in the 128 pound division.

Bill Nelson, freshman sensation from Eagle Grove, dethroned Dave Shapiro, University of Illinois defending title holder, in a thrilling 7-6 semi-final win. Nelson then registered the Panthers' only fall of the meet in the finals.

Koll was named the outstanding wrestler of the tourney by a committee of coaches, a recognition which Leeman won last year.

In dual meet competition the Panthers were unbeaten again this year. Koll and Leeman won seven bouts each to remain undefeated in collegiate ranks. Both men scored 27 points on four decisions and three falls to pace the team in scoring.

DUAL MEET RESULTS

Panthers 25; Iowa State 5
Panthers 12; Cornell 12 (tie)
Panthers 14; University of Illinois 14 (tie)

LECTURE-CONCERT SERIES

This does not mean, however, that Dr. Sage is disappointed with the caliber of artists signed for Teachers College appearances. He believes, instead, that the committee is scheduling more and better entertainers each year.

There is one disappointment, however, in Dr. Sage's mind when he speaks of ticket selling. He cannot understand why college students are so "disinterested" in the whole field of good music and speakers.

"Did you know," he asked, "that one third of the student body is a high percentage to classify as ticket buyers?"

There is also what is known as a ticket season. Never again will the committee schedule a symphony concert in December. "People have too many other things on their minds," Dr. Sage explains.

Any rumor to the effect that artists must be temperamental or they're not artists, Dr. Sage would also explode.

"I've seen nothing of John Barrymore's temperament in any that have visited Teachers College," he said.

As for classifying himself, Dr. Sage says that he is only an amateur musician, but he does love music. Add to this an interest in politics and current affairs, and there is little doubt that Teachers College has a lecture-concert series leader.

Mrs. Starbeck Dies

Mrs. Clyde L. Starbeck, wife of the Teachers College head football coach, died April 17, 1947.

Born Esther Bergendahl at Montevideo, Minn., she was married December 26, 1925, to Clyde L. Starbeck. She had been a resident of Cedar Falls since 1936.

Surviving are her husband, and two sons, Bobby, 11, and Pat William, 9. Two sons, Clyde Jr., and Dick, preceded her in death two years ago.

More Men Teachers Are Needed In Schools

The Intermediate Grades In The nation's schools are in need of more better trained teachers—particularly men, according to Miss Marna Peterson, principal of the Campus Elementary School.

"There are some things in a man's world which are lacking in the intermediate grade teaching program if we have only women teachers," Miss Peterson declares.

"Just as in the home, where we have the guidance of a father and a mother, so do the schools need well trained teachers of both sexes."

Calling the fourth, fifth and sixth grades "the forgotten grades" of America's schools, Miss Peterson explains that for years the weakest and poorest prepared teachers have entered the intermediate field.

"This is because many teachers are afraid of the advanced methods required in primary grade work. Many also avoid junior high and senior high school grades because of difficult subject matter. The tendency, then, is for them to enter intermediate grades," she explains.

"We are finding more and more, however, that the intermediate grades, instead of being easy to teach, call for just as expert teaching as any grade," she says.

She also pointed out that the one reason why a child loses interest in school work at this age is because, just when he is the most curious about everything around him, he encounters an inexperienced teacher who teaches in a humdrum fashion.

The answer lies, of course, in attracting more and better teachers—both men and women—to this field.

For years such work has been regarded as "sissified" for the masculine sex. This, Miss Peterson feels, is unfair and untrue.

If it is all right for a man to teach in the high school, it is certainly proper for him to teach in one of the lower grades.

"No one grade is any more important than any other," she says.
“There are a great body of interests and knowledges that a man can bring to the child’s inquisitive mind that a woman could not,” she said.

As examples Miss Peterson pointed to the boyish interest in things mechanical—airplanes, trains and steam engines, which often are a mystery even to the most competent woman.

She also cited an incident occurring last fall in the Campus School. Fourth graders were excited by a swarm of bees that had attached themselves to the roof of the building, and were eager to capture the queen bee and her hive. Their man teacher accepted the challenge.

“Such a situation would have been difficult for a woman to meet,” she said.

On the playground, a man could teach youngsters some of the tricks of football, baseball, or the manly art of self-defense. Guidance of young children in such activities is no less challenging than direction of more mature children.

The fact that a youngster lives pretty much in a woman’s world until he reaches junior or senior high school is all the more reason for manly participation in the “forgotten grades.”

Children generally see much more of their mothers, sisters, aunts and grandmothers than they do of the men in the family. More men teachers on the elementary grade level would offset this all-woman environment.

The almost literal absence of men from the field of elementary teaching in Iowa is forcefully portrayed by statistics. Of Iowa’s 6,451 elementary classroom teachers, far less than one per cent of this group is masculine. An actual count of teachers reveals only 22 men teaching subjects below the seventh and eighth grade levels. Of the 63 male grade school principals in the state, only two are teaching.

Little improvement in the situation can be expected however, until schools recognize the importance of the elementary grade teacher and reward him or her as a financial equal to the high school instructor, Miss Peterson maintains.

She sees a hopeful trend in the new minimum salary trends in a few Iowa cities, where the minimum is the same no matter what grade the teacher teaches. Thus, there is no financial advantage to teaching in the high school over the fourth or fifth grade—provided, of course, that training is equal.

“If education breaks down in the middle, we are going to have children who are not interested or well taught coming into our high schools,” she concluded. “And today’s high school students are tomorrow’s citizens.”

The mysteries of the Morse code are being explained to these youngsters by Woodrow I. Nelson, B.A. ’42, teacher in the Reinbeck, Iowa, schools. He is also assistant principal.

"Pop, Now It’s Your Turn to go to college" said the children—and grandchildren—of the Reverend Harvey E. Moon 'way back in 1943.

And so the Reverend Moon began his career as an Iowa State Teachers college freshman at the ripe young age of 45. At the end of the 1947 winter quarter he brought home his sheepskin, a B.A. degree with a social science major. His minors include English, history and earth science.

Mr. Moon attended theological school in Cincinnati, Ohio, and has been preaching for the past 25 years. At present he is pastor of the Federated church at Hudson, Iowa.

A native of Spring Valley, Minn., Moon came to Hudson primarily so that his children could attend Teachers College.

"Pop" is the third member of the family to receive his degree at this school. Milton Moon, his second oldest son, graduated with a B.A. degree, in 1932, and daughter Joyce graduated with a two-year degree in 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Moon have been married 26 years and have three children and three grandchildren.

The whole family got “quite a kick” out of the fact that their father was a college man. When he started in 1943, he didn’t intend to finish, but one course led to another—and to the sheepskin.

He commuted daily from Hudson, approximately 10 miles, via the college bus or auto.

"Pop" Moon recalls his early college days when men were a scarce article on campus. Strictly with the fatherly outlook he “felt sorry” for the girls. He appreciated the fine student body attitude toward him as an older student and didn’t mind a bit when he was referred to as "Pop" Moon.

Reverend Moon has no intention of leaving the ministry, however, and he didn’t start college with that idea. He feels that his college work has already helped him in his church and Sunday school teaching. He says also, “All my eggs aren’t going to be in one basket.”

Alumnus Describes Teacher Shortage in Manila

A SURVIVOR OF THE Japanese occupation of the Philippines is Venancio Trinidad, B.A. '22, superintendent of the Manila city school system. He is also a lecturer in education of the University of the Philippines.

During World War II, Trinidad hid in the hill; with a Philippine guerilla band. His copies of the Alumnus were returned with the simple notation, "Service Suspended."

In a recent letter to Mrs. Irene Eaton of the Commons staff, he wrote that one of his seven children, Soledad Trinidad, was recently elected Miss Silver Jubilee to preside over the 25th anniversary festivities of the founding of the College of Pharmacy of the Centro Escolar University.

Strangely enough, all seven children and four grandchildren survived the rigors of war.

Writing in the Philippine Journal of Education on "The Demand and Supply of Teachers," he wrote that his country is burning the candle at both ends to find enough teachers in the provinces.

He points out that since 1932 enrollment in the Bureau of Education normal schools has been steadily decreasing from 2,200 in 1932 to 984 in 1939.

"Thus, even before the war, the graduates in the Bureau of Education normal schools each year were not even half the replacement needs. Nor was the number of graduates from private teaching-training institutions large enough to make up the difference.

"School equipment, supplies, textbooks, instruction materials, all essential in any program of education, have been lost or damaged, or have become obsolete," he writes.

To alleviate the critical teacher shortage, Trinidad recommends the establishment of 10 regional normal schools at different strategic places in his country.

Gerald Leeman Heads Student League

New President Of The Student League Board for 1947-48 is Gerald "Germ" Leeman of Osage, a Teachers College national wrestling champ.

One of three candidates in the campus-wide election, Leeman actually received the second highest number of votes. He became president when the No. 1 candidate, Corrine Hamilton of Greene, was forced to choose between the Student League post and the presidency of Women's League, to which she was also elected. She chose the latter post.

Correction

Through misinformation, The Alumnus carried an incorrect item concerning Mr. and Mrs. Ovey Vaala in the January issue. The article should have read:

Mr. and Mrs. Ovey Vaala are living in Melvin Iowa, where Mr. Vaala, B.A. '37, is manager and part owner of the W. S. Frees Lumber Company. Mrs. Vaala is the former Arlouine Frees, Iowa State College, '38.
