Marchers walk for immigration reform during Sunday’s rally.

Children of an age, from students to middle schoolers, were treated to a day where they left last Friday thanks to Eric and Tina Meyer and their children Connie and Emily. Tina said, “We saw how excited the children were when I took a small farm animal to the Center earlier this year and decided it would be fun to show the kids country living. During the day the kids heard stories about farm safety, as pictured above, saw many different farm animals, rode in a hayride, and saw many food animals. The animal handler we hired was with the event were members of the Postville FFA, Advisor Nick Zuercher, family, friends and neighbors of the Meyers. Everyone in attendance agreed it was great fun and the hands-on learning for the kids was superior. The Meyers are to be commended for hosting the group of over 50 kids and showing them true country living at its best.”

NICC Dairy Judging team travels to Scotland for competition there

The Dairy Judging Team from Northeast Iowa Com- munity College, of which Postville’s Darren Kraus is a member, had an extreme honor this summer when they were invited to the Royal Highland Show, an international livestock and agriculture show in Scotland. Other team members are Megan Keograd of Guttenberg and Hannah Grog of Wau- kegan, Illinois. Keograd and Gesing judged four of the seven bovine classes, gave two sets of rea- soning and what is righteous.”
