You’ll GET Your Alumnus

IF YOU LET US KNOW!

BUT . . .

MARKS THE SPOT where you’re Alumnus will go if you fail to tell us when you move. Uncle Sam’s postmen can’t find you if you don’t “tell all” — at least about where you are! Last year’s JULY ISSUE failed to find over 600 of the 17,500 readers, and all for the want of a penny postcard giving us their NEW address. So if you move — let the spirit move you to tell us where.

If you’re planning to move or have moved send us your new address.
Enrollment Holds Its Own

LATEST TABULATIONS REVEAL that the enrollment for the summer quarter may equal or exceed that of last summer. Figures at the end of the second day of registration showed 806 students enrolled for 12 weeks as compared with 799 on the campus at the end of the first day of school last summer. Since many of the public schools were still in session when registration began May 31, late enrollment was expected to be heavy.

Considerable additional registration was expected for the 6-week session on June 19.

With the 398 students enrolled in the three branch summer schools at Mt. Ayr, Atlantic, and Estherville at the end of the first day, the Teachers College had a total of 1,204 students beginning their first week of studies. The branch figure includes both the 6 and 12-week sessions, since they operate simultaneously at these schools.

Governor Speaks to Waves

Speaking to the graduating class of Wave yeoman in the Auditorium May 1, Governor Bourke B. Hickenlooper admonished each member of the group to “never slacken in her duty, for a whole campaign might be spoiled because of one person’s mistake.”

Training received while in the armed services, the governor pointed out, will help women to meet the responsibilities they will face after the war as a result of their having a larger place in the changed political and economic system of the country.

Preceding the graduation exercises, the Governor reviewed the class of yeomen as they marched beneath a bright sun and cloudless sky.

“Cry Havoc” Thrills Audience

Life in a Bataan underground air-raid shelter was vividly “brought home” to Teachers College theater-goers, April 28 and 29, by the spring play, “Cry Havoc.”

The all-women cast, under the direction of Miss Hazel B. Strayer, associate professor of speech, scored a hit as it realistically portrayed the gallant volunteer nurses under fire on the besieged peninsula. The situation and characters, having conflicting temperaments ranging from assured Doc to a quick-tempered Irish gal, were brought out as more important than the plot.

Complete with cement-like walls and pin-up boys over the bunks, the set, designed by James Schaeffer, B.A. ’42, contributed to the atmosphere of a bombshelter.

Play Conference Draws 400

The 13th annual Play Production Conference held here on the afternoon of April 29 was attended by over four hundred people from all over the state.

Though formerly an all-day conference, this Year’s activities of registration, presentation of the play, “Cry Havoc,” and a tea in the Drama Shop were condensed into one afternoon.
Big Names on Lecture Series

Though last on the '43-'44 Lecture Concert series, Mona Paulee's concert April 20 was by no means the least offered during the year.

Miss Paulee, one of the nation's leading mezzo-sopranos, is a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company and came directly to Teachers College from Chicago at the time of the opera company's engagement there. Besides her work in opera, she has sung frequently in radio and concerts.

While on the campus Miss Paulee was installed as an honorary member of the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary professional music fraternity for women.

Stress Needs of Junior High School

In a conference held at the college April 17, twenty-one junior high school principals from the entire state met with members of the State Department of Education and representatives of the faculty and administrative body here to discuss the problem of introducing into our college curriculum special courses for the training of junior high school teachers.

The group generally agreed that junior high teaching should be accorded equal standing with teaching at any other level in the eyes of the profession and the public.

It was repeatedly brought out that junior high teaching should emphasize guidance and the pupil rather than subject matter, that more emphasis is needed on psychology of adolescence, and that junior high teachers needed four years of college training with a broad education in several fields rather than specialization in one particular area.

Men Abhor Slouchy Slacks

The "battle of the sexes" raged anew on the campus during the spring quarter (despite the manpower shortage) with Joe Male attacking the coeds on a subject vital to all — their dress.

The encounter climaxcd in a page of pro and con opinions complete with pictures in The College Eye. Joe Male carried the torch for femininity while Betty Female stood firm for comfort in her mode of attire. However, she didn't hesitate to state that she would use all the devices known to feminine pulchritude to "stay feminine" for the fellow who expected it. "But why be elaborate among women?"

No Fooling

"Starbeck Announces All-Coed Football Team," "Explosion Rocks Campus — Prof. Getchell Missing," "Smoking Rules Relaxed on Campus," "Commons Wages Raised to $1.25 per Hour."

Those were the headlines carried on the baby blue April Fool issue of THE COLLEGE EYE. However, the four inner pages carried the caption, "You Can Believe This." Where do you think the article about the coeds "cold-shouldering" the kaydets for studies was found?

Librarian Anne Duncan Dies

Miss Anne Stuart Duncan, who served as head librarian at Teachers College for 30 years having retired from public service only last September, died at her Cedar Falls home on Tuesday, March 28, after an illness of several months.

Miss Duncan left a library five times the size of the one she took over in 1913.

Miss Marybelle McClelland, formerly reference librarian who has been on the staff since 1929, has succeeded Miss Duncan since her resignation last fall. Miss Duncan's work is discussed in full on another page of THE ALUMNUS.

Students Combine War Work, Studies

Several war-minded T. C. students met the plea to help relieve the labor shortage and are working in plants and offices in Cedar Falls and Waterloo.

Some have found it possible to arrange their classes so that they have an entire morning or afternoon free for work at the Viking Pump Company of Cedar Falls, John Deere's and Rath's in Waterloo.

Others organize their schedules in order to have their mealtimes free to help feed the army and navy units. Many Commons employees give up a late weekend morning's sleep to be on duty at military breakfast time.

Fifty-Year Medalists—Eighteen members of the class of 1894 received 50-year gold medals from President Malcolm Price at their reunion held on the campus June 6. The day's activities included a dinner in the faculty dining room, a campanile concert, listening to the recording of the voice of former President Homer H. Seerley, and the making of a recording of the class singing, “Auld Lang Syne.”

Standing—left to right—Mrs. Maude Humphrey Palmer, M.D., Waterloo; Mr. Michael H. Thielsen, M.D., Grundy Center; W. Walter Wilson, M.D., '92, Traer; Orianna Wesche, B.D., Spirit Lake; Erdenee Rose, B.D., Cedar Falls; Mrs. Lucie Smith Ensign, M.D., Iowa City; Harlin H. Hollis, B.D., Hudson; Grace Potwin, B.D., Independence; Mrs. Clara Eckhard Lengles, B.D., Waterloo; Lucy Spicer, B.D., Gunnison, Colorado; Dr. Forest C. Ensign, B.D., Iowa City; Mrs. Clara Bedford Vanderveer, B.D., Janesville; Robert Fullerton, B.D., Parkersburg.

Graduates Are Urged to Teach Courageously

One hundred thirty-two students were awarded degrees and diplomas at the sixty-seventh annual commencement of Iowa State Teachers College Sunday, May 21, climaxing a week of varied activities for the graduates.

Speaking on the subject, “Some to Be Teachers,” Dr. Liston Pope, assistant professor of social ethics in the Yale Divinity School, surveyed present and future teaching problems and told the Commencement audience that, “We must find courage and time to teach social problems and issues.”

To Win Democracy, Teach It

“We attempt to evade responsibility with the excuse that the schools cannot afford to take sides on controversial issues,” stated Dr. Pope. “Democracy is a subject of furious controversy at this moment. If we believe in it, we must teach it and win it, at home and abroad.”

In a warring world, teaching seems insignificant, but we must remember that those “who sit and think sometimes change the world a lot faster than those who stand and do.”

Dr. Pope urged the graduates to remember St. Paul’s statement that the vocation is heaven sent and that it deals with life’s ultimate and sacred things. The teacher must teach people not only to live their private lives, but to live in their world with competence and confidence and to shape that world into structures fit for human habitation.”

Face Evil Times With Courage

in his Baccalaureate sermon, "Redeeming Bad Times," that through the centuries God has always been able to bring long range good out of short range evil. Citing the examples of Victor Hugo, outstanding poet and dramatist of France who completed his greatest works while in exile for twenty years, and Jonathan Edwards, outstanding intellectual figure of colonial America dismissed from his church because of a church procedure controversy, Dean Gilkey emphasized that man, too, has the power to transform temporal evil into ultimate good.

Relating this power to the present day tragedy and horror, the speaker said, "To all of us civilians, St. Paul's word comes across the centuries with special relevance: "Make the most of your opportunity."

At the Commencement program in the evening, Dr. Price awarded honors and prizes. Penelope Scott, Cedar Falls, and Jean Horn, Tipton, both received a Purple and Old Gold conspicuous achievement award. Miss Scott also won a like award in kindergarten-primary education for meritorious scholarship.

Other graduates who received Purple and Old Gold awards were: Elizabeth Stewart Gibson, Waterloo, commercial education; Marian Roose, Allison, English; Mavis Meek, Charles City, home economics and Marvel Jones, Hawk-eye, science.

The Furness and Mary Lambert scholarship in mathematics for one year was awarded to Jean L. Arrasmith, Ames; while Lola Pine, Clear Lake, and Ydun Jensen, Kimballton, were given the Bertha Martin memorial scholarship.

An all-college formal dance, with the seniors as honored guests, ushered in the Commencement season May 13. The gala crowd, dotted with numerous uniforms, danced to the music of the Marshalltown Junior College orchestra.

President and Mrs. Price held a reception for the faculty and graduates the following evening.

Graduates were again the guests of the college at the annual commencement dinner in the Commons Saturday evening, May 20.

Letters to the Editors

CHICAGO, ILL. . . . I follow the Alumni News with great interest, especially in these times when my former associates are scattered over the globe. And I take pride in the format which is so superior to that of publications by more pretentious institutions.

It was nice to hear from you and I appreciated your "department of facts and figures" taking note of my graduate work. This past five years' investment in education represented a great deal of time, money, and effort.

Now I am doing the thing for which I trained. As assistant personnel director for Erle-Sentinel Radio (Electrical Research Laboratories) I am in charge of all employment and placement of women in the factory as well as counseling activities.

My experience and training in teaching are useful in matters concerning supervision; so my classroom has only changed its locale from school to industry. It is good to know my work has direct impact on the production of material vital to my country's effort.

JANET LITTLE, B.A. '41; M.A. '43.

Somewhere in China . . . I am wondering if there are any former I.S.T.C. students who receive the Alumnus in any more distant places than southeastern China? I am not on your mailing list, probably because I only finished three years at T. C., but the Alumnus always reaches me.

The January issue reached me here on April 9. I have found many addresses of my former friends and contacted them through the Alumnus.

Your radio station must be really hitting its stride . . .

I am, and have been for the past eight months, in the southeastern part of China instructing Chinese officers. This is all I can say about my work and location. If you have any Jap prisoners over there, they can tell you what we are doing. We use interpreters in our work and find it very interesting. We study the Chinese language in regular classes and I can now get along pretty handily. These Chinese soldiers are really good men. They live on rice almost entirely, are very short and always happy. I've seen and dined with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek and Madam Chiang, also General Ho, the Chinese minister of war and General Lo, the number three man of China.

Give my regards to Dr. Riebe, Dr. Erbe, and Dr. Abbott — Buck Starbeck and "Dick" Dickinson. T. C. seems to be a gentleman's paradise these days.

1ST. LT. JOHN W. LEE.

Southwest Pacific . . . Recently I received two copies of the "Alumnus" from Jeannette Williams, who was a student on the campus the same time I was. Never have I so carefully read them as I did this time. I imagine you have read the advertisements on the page of "Readers Digest" written by readers who testify to the extreme pleasure they get from reading and rereading the magazine. Well, that is the way the "Alumnus" went over with me. Just a word about myself; I've been here in the South Pacific a little over six months and I can say that life isn't all a bowl of cherries. At the present time I am a clerk and had I known that I would earn my living operating a typewriter I'm sure that I would have dragged myself out of bed and attended a few more of Miss Gaffin's eight o'clock classes.

I've kept in touch with only a few of the fellows since I left the campus and am rather surprised to note that there are so many of them in this area. The only one I've had the pleasure of meeting was Karl Kutish who attended in '38-'39. We sure had a real bull session discussing old times and mutual acquaintances.

I took special interest in the article about the novel pep rally you had this year in getting the leaves raked up. When I was a freshman I certainly would have appreciated it, for I spent quite a few hours with a rake and a basket.

That's about enough for one night so I'll close. I did enjoy hearing the news of the campus and am looking forward to completing the courses I have left when this is over. It's a grand school, Mr. Holmes, and I know it will still be that way when all this excitement is over.

VICTOR ARGOTSINGER.

Iowa City, Iowa . . . After a period of 34 years, three former violin students of I.S.T.C. met in Chicago for dinner April 24. They are Alma Cutler (Mrs. Frank I. Brown, 1224 Darrow Ave., Evanston, Illinois), Coral Sykes (Mrs. Ralph Scott, 6854 S. Comesky Avenue, Chicago 29), and Helen Katz (Mrs. George F. Robeson, 322 Beldon Avenue, Iowa City, Iowa.)

The occasion for this reunion was the coming of Mrs. Robeson to Chicago for a week of Grand Opera. While in the city she also met Erma Robertson, (Mrs. G. G. Erskine, 13 No. Hudson Street, Westmont, Illinois) who joined her in a call upon Grace Rock (Sister Mary Alphonse, 4637 N. Ashland, Chicago, Illinois). Mrs. Erskine, Sister Alphonse and Mrs. Robeson roomed at Chapman Hall in 1908.

MRS. GEORGE F. ROBESON.

MacDill Field, Fla. . . . I have been receiving your quarterly and monthly publications and take it from an old timer who attended I.S.T.C. in 1914-1915, it still gives me a thrill to read about my old (and new) friends. I was very sorry to read about Rex Haight's death. I knew him well.

I was raised in Cedar Falls, and went thru school from the First Grade on thru High School and one year at I.S.T.C. I have only been in Cedar Falls twice in the last 30 years, but it has a soft place in my heart. I knew Prof. Sampson, Wright, Lambert, and many others. Most of these have passed on.

Wishing you all the best of luck and hoping I will be able to visit the old campus again.

S/Sgt. R. H. Blaine.

Dike, Iowa . . . I am enclosing a snapshot of our son — S/Sgt. Edward F. Volberding, B. S. Com’l ’36, taken in a German prison camp in November, 1943. He has been a prisoner since February 17, 1943. I listed the names of the other prisoners. They are all interned at Stalag II B which is near Stolp and Hammerstein. Edward is employed in the camp post office. He has mentioned that the Belgian boy is learning English. On his birthday Ed traded something with a French boy for a cake he received from home, made it into a birthday cake and presented it to the Belgian boy along with a new toothbrush which he had been wanting a long time.

MRS. H. F. VOLBERDING.

Soldier Feasts on Music

North Africa . . . I have long been intending to write telling about the many chances I have had to hear fine music since leaving the states. While in England I, for a time, had my choice of three symphony concerts weekly, could go to a play, a musical comedy every evening. In addition there were performances of the Elijah, the Creation, Dream of Gerontius etc. I heard Myra Hess four times, heard Sir Adrian Bouet, John Gielgud in Love For Love, sat in the King’s box at Albert Hall, heard a fine performance of Brahms’ Requiem at Southmark Cathedral, and heard a festival of Russian music. Also I have visited Canterbury, Oxford, Salisbury, Stonehenge, Peterborough (which I may revisit). I have gone to church at Westminister Abbey, seen the Tower of London, visited Hampton Court and have visited Stratford-on-Avon and Kenilworth, and Warwick in the Midland.

This cook’s tan has been continued in North Africa where I have visited Roman ruins, heard a fine series of chamber music, heard Faust, Aigalelto, Barber of Seville and have seen the sights of Algiers.

I hope the time is not too far off when we will be revisiting the campus in civilian clothes — and once more be back among the rolling hills of Iowa.

TECH. SGT. RALPH G. MORITZ.

Oceanside, Calif. . . . I imagine it’s about time I come thru with a more correct address so the “Alumnus” can get to me more quickly.

Living on the West Coast is pretty good duty, but I’d sooner be back in Iowa. May always reminds me of picnic times, and the beautiful campus up at good ole’ T. C.

This is sure a small world. Just today I learned that Lt. Hal Veenker (B.A. ’43) is living in Oceanside, California, only one mile from me. Guess where I’m spending the evening?

Up until yesterday I have been doing some instructing here at the Amphibious tractor training center. As of May 1st I am in a Tractor Battalion, just newly formed. Life in the Amphibious Branch is quite rugged, as is any other branch of the service.

My regards to all T. C.’ers.

LT. GLENN GERDES.

Camp Sibert, Ala. . . . After your latest issue had chased me all over the country I decided it was about time to answer and let you know how much I enjoyed the little sheet from home.

S/Sgt. Bernard Erdman and I usually get one between us and it takes quite a beating before we are finished with it. Incidentally he is our O and T non-com. Or to get out of

- Adviser to men entering service, coordinator of war activities of the college, recipient of countless letters from service men, Dr. H. A. Riebe.

- A program from The Campus Radio Studio Goes on the Air.
To the far corners of the earth each month go copies of a mimeographed news sheet, "Kampus to Khaki," bringing to Teachers College men in service the latest news about Campus doings at Cedar Falls. Likewise, bounding out over the ether waves each week during the past year has gone a series of dramatic skits depicting Teachers College men in action in the many war theaters.

The two men responsible for these home front services are Dr. H. A. Riebe, professor of education, and Bob Brindley, senior student now released from the army on a medical discharge. Dr. Riebe, chairman of the College War Activities Council, has authored and helped enact the radio programs, and Bob Brindley has written and edited the servicemen's news sheet. Dr. Riebe's material for the radio programs comes from the scores of letters he receives each week from graduates and former students serving on the battlefronts in practically every quarter of the globe. Many of these men, especially those called to service from their studies at Teachers College, have at some time or other gone to Dr. Riebe for advice concerning their prospective induction into the armed services, and through his friendly helpfulness he has become sort of a military father and confidant of the men. They write to tell him everything from thrilling or harrowing exploits on the battlefront to news of the baby at home sprouting a new tooth.

Bob, on the other hand, gets his news grist from the College Eye, student newspaper, from the "gang," practically all of them girls, at the "crossroads," from conversations in and about "dogtown," better known to older alumni as College Hill, and of course from chats with the professors. Many an item about doings of service men comes from the Alumni Office and from Dr. Riebe's voluminous mail. Bob "bats out the dope" on one of the few remaining typewriters in the "Eye" office (most of the repororial writing machines have "gone to war"). Members of the Student League tend to the mailing.

Bob Brindley pounds out Kampus to Khaki news for 1,500 T. C. service men.
THE OLD GOLD editors at work on the "Story of a War Year"

PUBLICATIONS

In a Year of War

The College Eye Staff at work
Campus Publications Tend the Home Fires
KEEP EMBERS OF SCHOOL SPIRIT AFLAME

Although College Publications the country over are finding such tough going in wartime that many are suspending operation for the duration, Teachers College student journalists are determined to do battle to the last man (pardon... woman) and give no quarter to the enemies of discouragement and difficulty.

Is there a call for donors for the blood bank? Are the bond and stamp sales falling behind? Is it pretty noisy and confusing living four to a room in the women’s dormitory? Then the EYE gets behind the wartime project or anticipates the need for editorial direction of student attitudes and helps to set things straight. Do students and faculty alike need to see their college year as having tremendous meaning and historic significance in this greatest of all wars? Will the story of these war years at Teachers College be an important document in the years to come? Then the OLD GOLD editors, most of them as new to a yearbook office as the veriest “cub” on a newspaper, plunge unhesitatingly into the big job of telling the story of “Teachers College in a Year of War.”

Is there a need, as never before, for those who will go out in the public schools as guides and interpreters of the literature of today and tomorrow to have, themselves, a first hand acquaintance with the business of literary creation? Then the PURPLE PEN holds fast to its job and strives for more, not less; for better, not inferior, literary productivity.

It’s no easy job say the editors, to see such work as important in morale building on the home front, to see the significance of whacking out news, editorials, and discussional articles in a campus editorial chair while brothers, fathers, and sweethearts are daring death on the battlefield. Social life is disrupted. The usual routine of easily gotten news of traditional campus doings and gossip is gone. Stories come the hard way, the way of digging out what’s of real significance in a confused world. Editorials about School Spirit and Fraternity

Sub-State Basketball Here

The Iowa High School Sub-state boys' basketball tournament was held March 15-18 in the Men's Gymnasium. The tournament was sponsored by the Teachers College High School under the auspices of the Iowa High School Athletic association with Mr. Jackson, principal of the high school in charge.

Winners of the various Northeast Iowa District tournaments were entered in this contest. By defeating Hampton in the final games, Waverly won the right to represent this section in the tournament at Iowa City where they captured the state crown.

Superintendents Meet With Faculty

Twelve city and state superintendents, representing the seven school districts of Iowa, met here March 13 with Jessie M. Parker, state superintendent of public instruction, President Malcolm Price, extension director Irving Hart, radio program director Herbert V. Hake, and Dean M. J. Nelson in an all-day conference.

The main purpose of this educational “cross-section” of the state was to get a first-hand understanding of problems facing the public schools of Iowa, and to receive suggestions for dealing more efficiently with these problems.

Discussion centered around "refresher" instruction for inactive teachers returning to service with minimum knowledge of present-day methods, extension service for the college, and evaluation of Teachers College curricula in terms of present and postwar education needs.

Coach Starbeck’s Son Dies

Karl Richard Starbeck, 13, son of Coach and Mrs. Clyde L. Starbeck, died of pericarditis May 31, following an illness of two weeks at Sartori Memorial Hospital.

Born July 26, 1930, at Grand Forks, N. D., he graduated from the eighth grade at the Campus school this spring. He was a member of First Baptist Church and of boy scout troop No. 56.

Besides his parents, three brothers, Clyde, Robert, and Pat, survive him.

Boehmler Gift to College

Announcement was made this spring by Benjamin Boardman, business manager, of a gift to Teachers College of the sum of $18,000. The fund was established by the will of Mrs. Katherine S. Boehmler, B.Di. ’85, of Cedar Falls.

The income of this money will be used to create a student endowment fund, which according to the will is "To be used by some needy student of Cedar Falls in pursuit of an education, such student to be selected by the president of the college." Income from the endowment, to be known as the C. A. Boehmler and Katherine S. Boehmler Memorial Scholarship Fund, will amount to about $360 a year as estimated by the business manager of the college.

A sum of $36,000 in Mrs. Boehmler’s will was directed to the Sartori Hospital to establish a free bed and for the upkeep of a room in the hospital.

Mrs. Boehmler, formerly Katherine Sheridan, was married in 1889 and had lived in Cedar Falls since that time. She took an active interest in Teachers College and was honored in 1939 among graduates of 50 years or more returning for a reunion at the college.

She was a member of the First Congregational Church of Cedar Falls. She died at her home in Cedar Falls on June 1, 1943.

William Veatch Dies

William Veatch, B.Di. '90, Cedar Falls photographer for 48 years, died of a heart attack May 20 after a week’s illness.

In 1938 Mr. Veatch retired from the photographic business which he started in 1890. He was owner of the W. L. Veatch Studios on Main Street in Cedar Falls.

Years before Teachers College put out an Old Gold, Mr. Veatch published a yearbook of the college's graduating seniors and continued that practice for many years. Group pictures of the faculty members taken by Mr. Veatch are hanging on the walls of many of the college buildings today.

In order to advertise the city business section, Mr. Veatch took a series of pictures of groups of business men called, “Push of Cedar Falls.” These pictures are important because of their historical recordings and are now in the Public Library.

After he married Izola Albright in 1891, the couple came directly to Cedar Falls where they have always lived.

Surviving besides the widow are an only son, W. Homer, B.A. '13, Pullman, Washington; two grandchildren, John William, in the air corps at Maxwell Field, and Sarita; and one sister, Mrs. Lydia Fiscus, Green Mountain.

New Radio Hours

Two significant changes have been made in the KXEL college broadcasting schedule this summer. Beginning June 3, the studio's early afternoon time changed from 1:30 to 1:00. Since May 29, KXEL comes on the air with a 15-minute musical program each morning with the exception of Saturday and Sunday at 7:45.

These changes were made to make time available for network use and to reach a greater and different potential audience.

The new morning program, known as “The Music Box,” features musical selections taken from a new radio library of 500 familiar semi-classic records. At the close of the record program, played entirely without announcement, listeners are urged to write down the names of the selections and send them in. An album of records is awarded to the person sending in the most nearly correct list each week.

Nurses Enrolled in Science Classes

During the spring quarter, ten student nurses from Allen Memorial Hospital in Waterloo were enrolled at Teachers College for fifteen hours of science work. According to Dr. C. W. Lantz, professor of biology and campus adviser for the nurses, these girls work harder and get more out of their courses than any college flutter-bug.

In addition to their classes here from one to five each afternoon, the student nurses have four hours of laboratory work and two hours of floor duty in the hospital to fill in their weekly schedule.

All members of the class on the campus during the spring quarter were members of the Cadet Nurses Corps. However, nurses are accepted for regular civilian nurses' training.
The Library — Few colleges the size of Teachers College can boast of such a fine library. Under Miss Duncan's direction its services were expanded each year until it now boasts 144,000 volumes and a collection of more than 500 reproductions of noted original paintings.
Anne Stuart Duncan

Builder of a Great Library

Anne Stuart Duncan, head of the library staff at Iowa State Teachers College from 1913 to 1943, died at her home in Cedar Falls March 28, 1944, after an illness of four months.

Miss Duncan was born in Au Sable, Michigan, September 28, 1872. That birthplace, on the shore of Lake Huron, gave her a natural love of the water and ships, and as a girl she was a frequent passenger on her father’s boats, which carried on lake commerce. Later life took her inland, but she never lost her longing to live near the sea.

Miss Duncan was a graduate of the Oscoda, Michigan High School and of the University of Michigan. Later, after several years of teaching, she enrolled on a course of study in library work at the University of Chicago and in 1903 received her library certificate.

From 1904 to 1909 Miss Duncan was reference librarian at the University of Chicago Library. From 1909 to 1911 she was in charge of the public library in Marquette, Michigan. The year 1912-13 she spent in travel and study in Europe. On her return home she accepted President Seerley's invitation to become head of the Iowa State Teachers College Library. With the exception of two summers, 1926 and 1936, of travel in Europe, she gave thirty years of this work.

At the time of the arrival of the new librarian, in September 1913, there were about 25,000 books in the college library. By 1943 the number had grown to 144,000. That increase represented thirty years of continuous, studied, selecting of books. To this vital task Miss Duncan brought a mind, keen and discriminating. She chose books not only to supplement basic needs of class work but also to build up a collection of value of cultural and recreational reading. She made available, to students and faculty, books that would invite them to read for the sheer joy of reading and at the same time acquaint them or renew their acquaintance with the great minds in literature, science, history and the arts. Probably without exception each new instructor coming here to teach has been amazed at the extent and value of library material awaiting him in his own field.

Miss Duncan believed that the ability to recognize the best in pictures would be a desirable asset to students, especially in a college that trains teachers. With that purpose in mind, and with President Seerley's enthusiastic approval, she set about to build up a collection of pictures, and in that new, added responsibility she used the same careful judgment that she did when making book purchases. Many of the pictures she selected in person from the studies of eastern firms. The pictures, framed by campus workmen, were hung in the library halls, to begin their mission of exposing students, faculty and visitors to the silent influence of art. This collection numbers more than five hundred, excellent reproductions of noted originals in art galleries of the world. In the dormitories, in the Commons, and in numerous offices on the campus are many more pictures, selected with the advice of Miss Duncan and hung under her direction.

An efficiently functioning library was the proof of Miss Duncan's administrative ability. Her method was not to dictate details of procedure but to evaluate results achieved. The library was under the continuous care and direct supervision of Miss Duncan for almost half of the period since the beginning of the school in 1876. Whatever changes and additions may be made in the days to come, the real value and importance of its careful, steady development in these early years will never be outgrown.

Anne Stuart Duncan, a woman of modest, gracious dignity, will be long remembered not only as an efficient librarian but also as a loyal friend of the institution.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

the letter class and into the work class he is our Operations and Training boss. It's a plenty tough job and he's doing all right.

At present moment I'm holding down the job of "Inspector of Material." Maybe all of Dr. Getchell's efforts in chemistry didn't fail completely.

Our sojourn through the country has carried us to Second Army Maneuvers in Tennessee, then to Kentucky, Utah, Desert Maneuvers in California, and finally back to camp Sibert. . . .

The entertainment here is strictly high class. Dicky Moore and Bobby Breen, the former child movie stars are here. Also, we have present the portrayer of Nick Charles, or I should say former, on the radio program of the "Thin Man." There are many others, too.

Our company contains a lot of Iowa boys who know fellows mentioned in "Kampus to Khaki" so they enjoy it, too.

By the time your next issue comes out I'll have moved, I suppose, but I hope it catches up with me.

T/Sgt. Melvin Case.
Henry Petersen, B.A. '35, Cpl., 4710 Edgemoor Lane, Apt. 203, Bethesda 14, Maryland.

Karl James Roeder, B.A. '27, Lt. (j.g.), University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona.

Max R. Teske, Jr., '41-'42, Cpl., 3704 A.A.F., Base Unit, Section "B" Box 1523, Keesler Field, Miss.
Warren J. Thomsen, B.A. '42, Lt., Class 44-H, 68th AAFFTD, Jackson, Tennessee.
Henry LeRoy Thompson, B.A. '43, Ensign, Naval Training School, General Motors Institute, Flint, Michigan.
Donald Todd, Student '41-'43, R.M. 3/c, c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, California.

Podemski Awarded Silver Star
James Podemski, B.A. '41, Teachers College graduate of football fame, was awarded the coveted "Silver Star" for gallantry in action, according to a letter from Marine Lt. Paul R. Jones, whose address is now Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, California. Says Lt. Jones, "Jim led, and I mean 'led' the assault platoon of an important enemy hill . . . Hansbruch, Giddly, Barney Lewellen are among the T. C. graduates from New Guinea, Australia, and the fighting on Cape Glauchester, New Britain."

ROLL OF HONOR

We Can’t Let Them Run in the Streets

A Message We’d Like Alumni to Pass On to Recent High School Graduates

• NO ONE, certainly, would agree that American boys and girls of grade school age should be forced to roam the streets and countryside aimlessly, as do the children of bombed and blasted Italy . . . Yet that is exactly what could happen if thru indifference to the desperate need for teachers we fail to keep all the public schools open and flourishing . . . This is a challenge for those who believe in the profession, for those who really believe in education, to encourage young high school graduates to prepare now for teaching.
