

Draftings In

---

Volume 9
Number 3 Draftings in Economics

Article 7

---

1997

Contributors

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.uni.edu/draftings>

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Copyright © 1997 by the Board of Student Publications, University of Northern Iowa

---

Recommended Citation

(1997) "Contributors," Draftings In: Vol. 9 : No. 3 , Article 7.

Available at: <https://scholarworks.uni.edu/draftings/vol9/iss3/7>

This Contributors is brought to you for free and open access by UNI ScholarWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Draftings In by an authorized editor of UNI ScholarWorks. For more information, please contact scholarworks@uni.edu.

CONTRIBUTORS

MICHAEL T. HEANEY received his bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Northern Iowa in 1993 and his master's degree in public policy in 1995. As an undergraduate, he was a member of the Economics Club, served as president of Omicron Delta Epsilon (the Economics Honor Society), and received the Leavit Economics Scholarship in 1992. As a UNI graduate student, he served as a research assistant for the Institute for Decision Making. Michael is currently an Associate Instructor of Political Science at Indiana University at Bloomington where he is working on his doctoral degree in economics. Michael is the only student ever to have lead essays in two Draftings volumes. His previous essay, "Flying the Not-So-Friendly Skies: Competition, Concentration, and Consumer Welfare in the Deregulated Airline Industry" appears in Volume 9, number 2 of Draftings. "Infrastructure and Local Economic Development," an article Michael co-authored with UNI economics professor Janet Rives, appeared in a 1995 issue of Regional Science Perspective.

JERI KURTZLEBEN, a native of Wesley, Iowa, graduate in May 1995 from the University of Northern Iowa with a major in history and a minor in economics. During her senior year she served as president of Phi Alpha Theta, the History Honorary Society. In the fall of 1995 she began studying for a master's degree from UNI in early American history. She plans to enter a doctoral program upon completing her master's degree in 1997.

BRET T. TULEY, a nationally rated chess player, graduated in May 1996 from the University of Northern Iowa with a double major in economics and finance—and a certificate in international business. As a freshman, Bret was inducted into Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman honorary society. As a sophomore, he was named a Presidential Scholar while participating in a National Student Exchange program at Humboldt State University in Arcata, California. Bret is a member of Omicron Delta Epsilon, the Economics Honorary Society; Golden Key, a national honor society; and he served on the Dean's Student Advisory Board in the College of Business Administration in the spring of 1995. He currently works for MCI in Cedar Rapids.

AMY REHDER HARRIS graduated in May 1995 from the University of Northern Iowa with a double major in economics and political science, and a minor in mathematics. She was awarded the Purple and Old Gold award from the Economics Department as the outstanding economics student of 1995. During her years at UNI, Amy served as president of Omicron Delta Kappa, the National Leadership Honor Society, as well as vice president and treasurer of the Economics Club. Like Bret and Michael, Amy is a member of Omicron Delta Epsilon, the Economics Honor Society. She is currently working on her doctoral degree in economics from the University of Maryland at College Park. Following receipt of her degree, she hopes to follow the path of Walter Heller, the subject of her Draftings essay, and work as an economics advisor to the federal government.