The Chimes Rang Out

On the first day of registration, Freshman Day, 787 new students, an increase of 119 over last year, enrolled at Teachers College.

Among them were scores of superior students whom Alumni of Teachers College had encouraged to enroll.

This belief in the excellence of its Teacher Training facilities, the College cherishes and hopes ever to merit. Alumni have shown that they well know that it is not mere size of enrollment, but, even more, the quality of the student body which maintains true educational prestige.

The New Students Came
"Crash the Line" for Homecoming, Nov. 10

A LUMNI returning for Homecoming this year will see not only the speedy little quarterback pictured on this page, but a veritable war camp of earnest young gladiators of the gridiron, determined if not to win every game on the schedule, at least to give all comers the sort of scrap they will not soon forget.

However, the football game at 2 P. M., Saturday, November 10, will be only one major event on a program of lively entertainment for Homecoming celebrants. The Saturday schedule of events will be replete with tours of the campus, alumni get-togethers, dancing, and novelty entertainment. In fact, the events of interest to returning alumni will actually get under way Friday evening, November 9, with a special presentation of the annual fall play for alumni visitors.

The date for Homecoming this year will in no way conflict with the meeting of the Iowa State Teachers Association in Des Moines or the Homecoming of the University of Iowa. In past years, the committee has had difficulty in dodging both of the above-mentioned dates, and many alumni have found it impossible to make connections to attend the Reunion and Dinner at Des Moines and the Homecoming at Cedar Falls. On other occasions, those who have graduated both from Teachers College and the University of Iowa have found their loyalty torn between two Homecoming celebrations. This year, however, there will be no need for such conflict, the Homecoming for the University of Iowa being on October 27, the Iowa State Teachers Association convention at Des Moines on November 2, and the Teachers College Homecoming festivities on Saturday, November 10.

Registration of Homecomers will begin promptly at the official headquarters in the Commons at 8 A. M., Saturday morning, and this year the committee is making a special effort to insure the registration of every graduate who returns to the campus.

Gathering for the second time in the gay and modernistic setting of the dining room at the Commons, alumni will meet at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning for the annual Homecoming luncheon.

P r e s i d e n t E u g e n e Lynch, B. A. '21, superintendent of schools at Sigourney, Iowa, is expected to act as master of ceremonies at the luncheon. Mr. Lynch will also preside at the annual alumni business meeting to be held at 10:30 A. M. in the Commons. In addition to the president, officers for the current year expected to be in attendance are: Vice President, Ralph Nichols, B. A. '29, English teacher at Fort Dodge, Iowa; Reunion Committee chairman, Mrs. J. Foy Cross (Edith...
Immediately after the football game on their home field. That system which Coach John Baker brought with him from Southern California, and though Coach Baker, like most football mentors, would make little comment on the outlook for the coming season, it was evident this fall when the candidates showed up for practice that he was well pleased with the prospects. He gave assurance that the boys were in the frame of mind that produces hard-hitting, hard-playing football.

The dinner program is being planned as usual this year to allow opportunity for graduates to leave the Commons Building in time to arrive at the football field at 1:30 P. M., and every alumnus should be in the stands at that hour. The committee on arrangements expects to be able to provide a special section of the grandstand set aside for the returning T. C. lettermen and other special guests.

Immediately after the football game, graduates will be honored at dinners and social affairs sponsored by the various campus organizations. In addition, there will be an open house period at the Commons where alumni may gather to meet friends and acquaintances.

All former dramatic students and their friends participating in the Homecoming festivities are being invited by Theta Alpha Phi and the Playcraft Club to attend the annual Drama Shop Tea, which will be held in the basement of the Auditorium Building immediately following the football game Saturday.

At 8:30 P. M., students, faculty, and alumni will gather in the spacious recreational hall of the Commons Building for the annual Homecoming dance. The affair will continue until 11:30 o'clock.

Special church services of interest to Homecomers will be held in the College Auditorium at 10:30 o'clock, Sunday morning, November 11. Dr. Harold Bosley, director of religious activities at Teachers College, will deliver the Sunday sermon.

The committee in charge of making arrangements for the various events of the annual celebration includes Dean of Men, L. I. Reed, chairman; Dean of Women, Sadie B. Campbell; L. L. Mendenhall, director of athletics; Hazel Strayer, assistant professor of oral interpretation, and A. C. Fuller, head of the Bureau of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relations.
Washington, Iowa, California Claim Class of '79

Of the four members of the second graduating class of the then Iowa State Normal School, two are shown by the records at the College Office to be now living, one is deceased, and one has been without record in the office files for the past 20 years. These four people received their degrees in 1879. On the back cover of this issue of the Alumnus is a composite picture showing the four as they appeared at graduation time.

Mr. Benham Now Deceased

W. I. Benham, shown at the upper left in the picture on the back cover of this issue of the Alumnus, died April 11, 1928. According to the information contained in the 1928 issue of the Alumni Register, he was at that time living at 1638 A Street, Northeast, Washington, D. C. He received the N. C. Diploma from the Iowa State Normal School in 1878, and was awarded the B. Di. Degree in 1879. His final degree, that of the Bachelor of Science, he received in 1881.

He was principal of the Fairland School at Dallas, Texas, in 1899, and previous to that time served in the schools of Iowa, Colorado, Nebraska, and Tennessee. He was principal of the Hamilton Institute at Mendota, Virginia, from 1892 to 1896, and professor of natural science at Blackburn University, Carlinville, Illinois, from 1897 to 1898. He married Hattie A. Cain on August 3, 1892.

Mrs. Sartori Living at LeMars

Mrs. Anton Sartori (Kate Mullarkey), now living at 315 Second Avenue, Southeast, LeMars, Iowa, received the N. C. Diploma in 1878 and the B. Di. Degree in 1879. She taught in the Cedar Falls schools from 1879 to 1881, and was married April 13, 1882. An uncle of Mrs. Sartori's husband is the man in whose honor the Sartori Hospital of Cedar Falls was named. Both the uncle and a cousin of Mr. Sartori contributed to the establishment of the hospital.

No Record of Anna E. Fitch

Mrs. W. C. Sloan (Anna E. Fitch), is the graduate of whom the College Office has no record in recent years. She received the N. C. Diploma in 1877 and the B. Di. Degree in 1879. She was a teacher in the Iowa schools at Nautrille, Delmar, and Waterloo, and was married in 1883. The Editor of the Alumnus would be pleased to receive any additional information which alumni may have concerning this graduate.

Anna E. McGovern in California

Anna E. McGovern, now living at 521 South St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles, California, served on the faculty of the Iowa State Normal School and later the Teachers College from 1880 to 1919. After receiving the B. Di. Degree in 1879 and the B. S. Degree in 1880, she was elected teacher of geography, serving in this capacity until 1884. According to information contained in the April, 1901, State Normal School Bulletin, she served as teacher of didactics and physiology from 1884 to 1885, and in the latter year was elected professor of methods. She was teacher in education and primary methods until 1919.

Alumnus Made Dean at Louisiana

Ira F. Heald, B. A. '16, was this year appointed dean of men at the Louisiana State Normal College at Natchitoches, Louisiana.

Mr. Heald has taught in the Louisiana College since the fall of 1923, giving instruction in the subjects of psychology and education. He has also carried on guidance work at the college.

Mr. Heald was married August 26, 1917, to Rachel R. Williams. They have two children, Herbert W., and Ruth Iris.

In addition to his degree from Teachers College, he has studied at the University of Iowa.

Says Mr. Heald in a recent letter: "I shall always have the most kindly feelings toward my Alma Mater because of the pleasant and educationally profitable years I spent in Cedar Falls as a student. I shall never forget the inspiration of the fine faculty and our beloved President Seerley."

While at Teachers College, Mr. Heald acted as student reader for a blind young man, a Mr. Frank Cole, and worked at the Spicer Boarding House to help pay his way through college. It was at Teachers College that he met Miss Rachel Williams and a romance started that later culminated in their marriage.

"I owe much gratitude to Mr. Arey and Mr. Cable, under whom I did my major work," wrote Mr. Heald.

"I like my work and the people here very much. Our president is an alumnus of this college, a scholar, and a fine executive. There is a faculty of about ninety."
Wm. Harwood, '79, Gave Name For First Student Newspaper

Iowa State Teachers College had a newspaper on the campus as early as 1879, and the name, "The Student's Offering", was selected by a committee of five headed by President J. C. Gilchrist as chairman in December, 1878, according to William H. Harwood, N. C. '79, of 825 N. Crescent Heights Boulevard, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Harwood was a member of the Board of Trustees in 1909, the last Board before the present State Board of Education was created, his residence being in Des Moines, Iowa, at that time. Mrs. Harwood (Jennie Macy) N. C. '79, who later became his residence being in Des Moines, Iowa, at that time. Mrs. Harwood (Jennie Macy) was a visitor with the Harwoods recently: Eliza McManus, Cedar Falls, and Anna McGovern, Mitchell, now resident of Los Angeles, Cal.

The members of the Elementary Class were Alfred Grundy, Morrisonville; Ada McClelland, Des Moines, now a resident of Los Angeles and a visitor with the Harwoods recently; Eliza Rawstern, Greencastle; Rose E. Southard, Charles City; Lou P. Barrett, Ellington; May Davis, Hudson; Edgar Anderson, Marshalltown; Louisa Jennings, Janesville; S. B. Reed, Cedar Falls; Frank R. Willis, Nugent's Grove, noted jurist in Los Angeles who died four or six years ago; C. W. Johnston, Utica; Jennie Macy, Northwood; Cleland Gilchrist, Cedar Falls; George Chandler, Riceville; Alice McManus, Hudson; Eva Cooke, Tripoli; Daniel Eiler, Cedar Falls; and Will H. Harwood, Grove Hill.

Orations Given by Graduates

Each gave an original oration, the subject of Mr. Harwood's being "Man as Man," which was reprinted in the first issue of "The Student's Offering," the following autumn, the fall of 1879. The subject of Mrs. Harwood's was "The Pillars of Light," but the printer made an error and it appeared "The Pillars of Sight."

Among the most pleasant recollections of the Harwoods are the visits which they have had with Ada McClelland and Anna McGovern in Los Angeles and earlier interchange of experience with Alice McManus when she visited in California about ten years ago and with Judge Willis before he passed away. The Harwoods have lived in Los Angeles for the last twelve years. Their son, Herbert M. Harwood, was in the University of Iowa at the same time as President O. R. Latham. He resides with his wife and two children across the street from his parents in Los Angeles, his work with the U. S. Department of the Interior being confined to Southern California.

Waterloo Teachers Are Alumni

All four new grade teachers hired by the West Waterloo, Iowa, school board for this year are graduates of the Iowa State Teachers College.

Ruth Ewing, B. A. '32, one of those teaching in Waterloo, completed the course for critic teacher training at Cedar Falls. She has had 10 years' teaching experience, the last four years of which were in the training school at the College. She served for two years at Brookings, South Dakota.

Helen M. Starr, J. C. '23, has attended courses at the University of Chicago and Columbia University. She has had 11 years' experience in Webster City, Osage, and Mason City, Iowa, and Juneau, Alaska.

Dorothy Peterson, El. '30, is also teaching in Waterloo. For the past four years she has been teaching in the consolidated school at Lewis, Iowa.

Marguerite Reese, B. A. '27, the fourth teacher hired by the West Waterloo board, was at one time critic teacher in the West Waterloo schools and also critic teacher in Mason City for four years.

Mrs. Henry J. Hermann (Catherine Lude-man), B. A. '21, is living in Nutley, New Jersey, a suburb of New York City, where her husband is employed as an engineer in Western Union.
Secretary Perkins Invited to Speak at Reunion

U. S. Labor Head Asked to Speak at Des Moines Dinner

UNUSUAL interest is being shown this year in plans for the Annual Reunion and Dinner of Teachers College alumni, faculty, and friends held each year at Des Moines, Iowa, in connection with the convention of the Iowa State Teachers Association.

November 2 Is Date Set

In view of the expected presence of United States Secretary of Labor, Miss Frances Perkins, an unusually large attendance is anticipated. Miss Perkins has been invited to be the guest of honor at the Reunion this year to be held on November 2. Members of the committee feel confident that she will accept because of the fact that the Teachers College Alumni Association is at once representative as one of the outstanding teacher-training institutions of the country and the largest teaching unit actually at work within the state of Iowa.

To Present New Executives

In addition to the expected appearance of this noted public official, alumni will have an opportunity at this occasion to meet various new executives of the Teachers College faculty. Among these will be the new Dean of the Faculty, Dr. M. J. Nelson, formerly head of the Education Department; A. C. Fuller, director of the new Bureau of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relationships; Dr. E. C. Denny, new head of the Education Department; Dr. J. B. Paul, head of the new Bureau of Research; and Dr. Harold A. Bosley, new director of religious activities.

Be On Hand at 4 P. M.

The Annual Reunion and Dinner will be celebrated this year as usual at the Hotel Fort Des Moines. Members of the committee in charge have obtained the usual luxurious quarters on the mezzanine floor of the hotel. These accommodations have been reserved for Teachers College graduates and friends to enjoy between the hours of 4:00 and 8:00 P. M. In view of the enthusiasm and happy buzz of conversation at the very earliest hour of the meeting time in recent years, it seems no longer necessary to urge alumni to be on hand at the 4:00 o'clock hour. Moreover, it is expected that the dining room will be crowded to capacity as a demonstration of appreciation and respect for the first woman secretary in the United States cabinet.

The supper will be served promptly at 5:30 o'clock, and the price of the tickets will be kept at a reasonable figure. Speeches other than that of the guest of honor will be of minimum duration, and the College Male Quartet, consisting of W. E. Hays, Luther Richman, H. G. Palmer, and I W. Wolfe, will sing the songs that all alumni like.

Write Early for Reservations

All those who expect to attend are urged to make reservations well in advance. Address A. C. Fuller, director of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relationships, either at the College or at the Hotel Fort Des Moines. Your friends are welcome to come with you.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the Alumni Reunion and Dinner includes A. C. Fuller, M. Di. '99, Chairman; Miss Alison Aitchison, M. Di. '03; Miss Olive Barker, B. A. '31; Miss Louise Hearst, B. A. '21; Miss Monica Wild, B. A. '12; Mr. Fred Cram, B. A. '09; Mr. L. I. Reed, M. Di. '00.

Drake Educator, An Alumnus, Dies

Mrs. Ella Ford Miller, B. Di. '89, for the past thirty years professor of primary education at Drake University, died at her home, 1310 Twenty-eighth Street, Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday, August 9, 1934.

Recognized As Outstanding Educator

Mrs. Miller, who had retired on a Carnegie pension at the end of the special nine weeks summer session at Drake, had planned to make her home in California. She became critically ill with pneumonia shortly after school closed. Burial was held at Cedar Falls, her birth place.

During her years of service at Drake, Mrs. Miller established an enviable reputation in the field of education. She was highly respected by her many friends and was recognized as one of the outstanding teachers and experts in the field of primary education.
School Teaching or Marriage, Students Will Be Prepared

Courses in Home Economics Will Teach Women How to Manage
The Family Pocketbook

Preparation of women students for marriage as well as school teaching, in view of the fact that most of the graduates of a teachers college ultimately become home-keepers, is the objective of seven new courses in home economics which will be taught at the College this school year.

Family Pocketbook Studied

Prospective teachers taking up the courses will be graduated prepared to make wise purchases of clothing for children as well as for themselves. They will know how to make the most out of the family pocket-book, be it large or small. They will be equipped with an understanding of the relation of health, food, and dress to personality, and provided with some useful homemaking hobby in which to find relaxation from routine home duties. They will be able not only to choose clothes that will fit the pocket-books of their husbands but also to select such wearing apparel as will best fit their particular type of beauty and personality and provide the most in quality and service.

No Additional Teachers Required

The expanded home economics program at the Teachers College, although it will call for no additions to the instructional staff of the department, will prepare the prospective school ma'ams to deal with such important domestic items as attractiveness, nutritional value, and economy of time and money in the preparation of food for the home. A course in problems of the consumer will teach the women students how to get information on the commodities every housewife must buy, starting with houses and furniture and continuing into the problems of purchasing food, drugs, and cosmetics. The students will learn the various sources of accurate information on home purchases and the guides to use in selecting merchandise.

The complete setup of the new courses, two of which were started in the summer term, includes problems of the consumer, food preparation and meal service, clothing for children, personality and social relationships, clothing selection, personal and family finance, and weaving and home crafts.

Early Graduate Visits Campus

William W. Coates, B. Dl. '97, who is now living at 830 East Second Street, Pomona, California, visited at the campus this summer.

Mr. Coates is engaged in real estate business at Pomona. Previous to taking up this line of work, he was for many years connected with the public schools of California, having taught there at various times since 1893. He was at one time principal of schools in Los Angeles County for a period of fifteen years.

Mr. Coates' memories of Teachers College go back to the early days when students belonged to boarding clubs, rather than fraternities, and took turns buying food, paying the land-lady for doing the cooking.

The last year of President Gilchrist's service at Teachers College, 1893, was the first for Mr. Coates as a student. It was only one year before, in 1892, that the first issue of the Normal Eye, now the College Eye, was issued. During his years as student, Mr. Coates was a member of the then famous Philomathean Society. At that time the Alpha Society was the only other literary organization. He roomed during the years of 1890 to 1892 with the Streeter family, and the now famous writer, Bess Streeter Aldrich, was then a little girl.

Mr. Coates can remember the days when the students at Teachers College sat in the plain school seats formerly used by the children in the Orphan's Home, the building which served as the first structure of the State Normal School. This building still stands and is in use on the campus today, known as Central Hall and used as the headquarters for the Music Department.

Class of '29

Leola Benda, B. A. '29, is teaching English and dramatics in the high school at Earlville, Iowa. Since her graduation from Teachers College, she has taken advanced work in speech and music at the University of Iowa. She spent part of last summer touring the western part of the country and visiting the Yellowstone Park, Black Hills, and Salt Lake City, Utah. She was accompanied on this trip by Mabel Bolland, Pri. '29, who is teaching at Anthon, Iowa.
All "Voices of Iowa" Had Training at Teachers College

Teachers College is the "Voice of Iowa", or at least practically so, for although Radio Station WMT, of Waterloo, Iowa, claims that distinction, voices which go on the air announcing or taking part in the various programs of the station are those of graduates or former students of the College.

Three of the announcers are graduates, two are former students, and one of the regular station operators is at present monitoring the transmitter.

Ralph Childs, B. A. ’29, is one of the chief announcers, and, in addition, takes part in the various dramatizations of plays presented over WMT. Mr. Childs, while a student at the Teachers College, served at one time as business manager of the College Eye, student newspaper.

Bob Cunningham, B. A. ’32, is publicity director and official news reporter. He is heard each noon broadcasting his popular Washington Column of the Air, a symposium of significant and national news. At present he is presenting a new feature three times each day as the WMT news reporter broadcasting news events of national, state, and local importance. While a student at Teachers College, Mr. Cunningham was successively sport editor and editor of the College Eye and official reporter for the College News Service. He studied in the Journalism courses at the College, and later did graduate work in Journalism at the University of Iowa.

Maxine Harned, B. A. ’34, is the third graduate now serving on the radio staff. She appears regularly in the various dramatic sketches presented by the "Voice of Iowa."

Joe Dumond, chief announcer of the station, is a former student of Teachers College, having studied in Cedar Falls in 1921-22. He took special music instruction under Lowell Thomas and later continued his musical studies in New York City. Mr. Dumond is widely known in Iowa and neighboring states throughout the Midwest as the creator of Josh Higgins of Finchville, kindly old narrator of homely philosophy. Recently he published a book of Josh Higgins hymns and at various times he has written and published poems.

Don Kelley, former student at Teachers College, is one of the regular announcers over station WMT. In addition to his work as announcer, he writes the continuity for various programs.

This array of announcers would seem sufficient to establish Teachers College as the actual voice in the "Voice of Iowa," but as though to insure the fact, James Ebel, senior student at the Teachers College, sits at the control board and as operator watches the dials and twists the gadgets which insure perfection of the voices from Teachers College.

SRE Fund Increased This Fall

One hundred and sixty-five students are working at the College this fall on Student Relief Employment projects. Jobs for the 54 men and 111 women were made possible through an appropriation of funds made by the Federal Emergency Relief administration to assist deserving students in continuing their college education. The allotment to the Teachers College this year, based on the enrollment of October 15, 1933, is a little more than $22,000. Last year 138 students received aid.

Federal aid used at the Teachers College last year was based upon ten per cent of the enrollment on October 15. The new order allows aid for twelve per cent on the same enrollment. At least half of the students receiving aid this year must be new students or students who were not enrolled in any college in January of 1934. The other half may be students who were enrolled in colleges last year.

The rules for the administration of the funds stipulate that the kind of employment furnished must represent socially desirable work, including the sort customarily done in the institution by students working their way through college. This includes such employment as clerical, library, and research work. All jobs must be under the direct charge of the institution granted the funds.

Class of ’33

W. A. Bartlett, B. Di. ’33, is residing at 620 North Eleanor Street, Pomona, California. Mr. Bartlett resigned his position as a pedagogue in 1933 after fifty years of teaching. He is ex-dean of the Junior College at Pomona.

Mr. Bartlett was married in 1897 to Emily M. White of Winona, Minnesota. She has been a teacher in the Pomona schools. They have three children, Harold, William, and Ruth.

Mr. Bartlett has studied at Harvard University and Chicago University since graduation from Teachers College.
No Caps, No Gowns, But Smiles Belied Professor's Frowns

Happy Days, Escapades Recounted By Early Graduate Who Enjoyed Campus Life in Spite of No Dance Rule

"We never had any caps or gowns or campus parades in those days, but we did have fun. Of course, we were not allowed to dance either, or play cards, and a violin in the orchestra was unthinkable. I wonder if you still have fire escapes, and do the girls ever use them by moonlight?"

Such are the reminiscences in an interesting letter from George H. Olmsted, M. Di. '92, a graduate who remembers many a student prank, as well as more serious moments "when students paused in admiration of a grand old man (President Seerley) as you will all agree."

Was a Philo Member

Mr. Olmsted now lives at 705 Courtland Avenue, Park Ridge, Illinois. While a student at Cedar Falls, he was a member of the Philomathean Society, and discloses the rather intriguing information that "the Alpha girls were our closest friends."

Reactions of this graduate of early years to items which appeared in the July issue of the Alumnus should make interesting reading for alumni, and with this idea in mind the Editor presents the following excerpts from Mr. Olmstead's letter:

Congratulations, But Beware of Bureaus

"Congratulations to Professor Fuller . . . I am glad to see this new Bureau of Alumni Affairs established, but I don't like that name bureau. We have too many of them in Washington . . ."

"In that California unit mentioned on Page 9, I recognize many old friends, Anna E. McGovern; A. C. Page, my old chemistry teacher; Bertha Pratt, Elizabeth Wyatt, J. F. Doderer, Emma Mantz, et al. I was much interested in Dr. Archer's article on the same page. I was too young to remember him, but I did know, and intimately, Professors Seerley, Bartlett, Loughridge, Ensign, McGovern, Wright, and Riggs.

Good Old Days, Those Were

Speaking of Loughridge, that grand old G. A. R., and Latin instructor, recalls a certain day before Thanksgiving when we seniors in the next classroom were waiting for a lecture. On a dare I burst into the room, presided over by the dignified Professor L. and announced excitedly, 'Sorry to disturb your class, Professor, but we have just heard that the United States has declared war.' When the hubbub had subsided somewhat, I added, 'It is against Turkey,' and beat it for the door, with applause from my own classroom. Well, those were good old days. Do you still have them?

"Speaking of remodeling the campus and buildings, I first attended the old Iowa State Normal School when the campus was a cow pasture, and there were no houses on the Hill. When I was a young pupil in the "Model School", among my first teachers was Maude Gilchrist, daughter of the then President Gilchrist. Later came Ella Buckingham Chase.

Buggies, Runaways, Barns

"Speaking of buggies, on Page 14, Miss Ensign, and Professors Seerley, Bartlett, and Wright all drove their buggies up to the old barn which has long since been removed. One day Professor Wright had quite an exciting runaway.

"Greetings to my old school mate Forest Ensign, (Page 18). Glad to learn that so many of the old grads are getting on so well. Sorry to hear of the passing of Elmer Bartlett (an old Nobleman) and William Rownd, a pioneer of Cedar Falls and my oldest friend in that city. His widow, 'Aunt' Martha, and daughter, Nellie, are still among my best friends in good old Cedar Falls, my birthplace and boyhood playground."
Inspiring Teachers—First Need of Good Schools

FREE public education is an important means of raising the general level of civilization, S. A. Lynch, head of the English Department, told the 211 members of the summer term graduating class.

Every man, Mr. Lynch said, must have the free right and unrestricted opportunity to develop the potentialities of his being as fully as he can, and remembering the rights of others, struggle for the highest degree of success that he can attain.

Graduation exercises were held in the auditorium on Thursday evening, August 23.

Citizens Paramount, Not Problems

"Today's problems of government, industry, and finance are not settled in today's school rooms," the speaker pointed out, "but the citizens of tomorrow are to be developed and trained there. A teacher has to take a long look into the future to see the ultimate outcome of his or her work in a classroom."

Science has advanced education, Mr. Lynch is willing to admit, but if a town has the finest scientific buildings, books, laboratories, and curricula, it is still not enough. The citizens must have in that town a teacher whose personality, character, and knowledge will make the pupils better men and women than their predecessors.

Commencement activities began with the reception for graduates, faculty members, and friends of the College at the home of President and Mrs. O. R. Latham on Sunday, August 19. On Wednesday, August 22, the dinner in honor of the graduates was served in the dining room at the Commons.

Mrs. J. F. Cross (Edith Riland) Is Speaker

After-dinner speaking at the banquet was not on assigned topics, but upon anything the speaker wished to say on the commencement theme. Melvene Draheim, Clarion, represented the graduates on the program; G. W. Walters, professor of education and former head of the department, represented the faculty; Mrs. J. F. Cross (Edith Riland, Kg. '11), the alumni, and President Latham the administration.

Group singing was led by Luther A. Richman, assistant professor of voice. A vocal solo, Joan's aria, Farewell Ye Hills, from "Maid of Orleans", by Tschaikowsky, was sung by Olive L. Barker, instructor in voice and music, accompanied by Rose Lena Ruegnitz, assistant professor of piano.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Graduation exercises on Thursday were held in the auditorium, moved indoors from the South Campus because of cold and rainy weather. The College Band, under the direction of Myron Russell, played the Coronation March from "The Prophet," by Meyerbeer, for the processional at 7:30 o'clock. Marjorie Palmquist, Smithland, and Charles Seltenrich, Cedar Falls, played Marsal's "Fantasie for Oboe and Clarinet". This was followed by the invocation by Reverend W. G. Crowder.

Selections from the oratorio, "Elijah", by Mendelssohn, were sung by the combined Cecilian-Minnesinger Glee Club, directed by Olive Barker and accompanied by the Band. The graduates were presented for diplomas by Dr. M. J. Nelson, dean of the faculty. Following the address by Mr. Lynch, Dr. Latham conferred the degrees and diplomas. The benediction was read by Reverend Crowder.

William H. Ray, M. Di. '01, is now employed as supervisor for 19 counties of northeastern Iowa with the Federal Land Bank. He maintains his residence in Cedar Falls, but spends the larger portion of each week working out from his office in the Savings Bank Building in Cedar Rapids.
Scholarship Requirements Raised; Ten-Minute Class Interval Voted

Faculty Gives Students More Time to "Sprint" from Top Floor of One Building to Third Floor of Next

The faculty this summer gave recognition to progress which has so enlarged the campus that the five-minute interval between classes is no longer considered sufficient to allow students to make their way from one class to the next on time. The professors voted to increase the interval to ten minutes.

No More "Sprinting"
The change, announced by Dr. M. J. Nelson, dean of the faculty, was welcomed by students who in the past have complained that it was all but impossible to sprint from the fourth floor of the south end of the Library Building and reach a class on the third floor, north end, of the Auditorium Building without arriving in class too much out of breath to give proper attention to the first few minutes of the lecture.

Class Interval Once "Nothing Flat"
Students at the College once dashed from one class to another in "nothing flat," apparently, for at one time there was no interval between classes. Even as late as 1907, first-hour classes were dismissed at 8:55 A. M., and second-hour classes convened at that same hour. Since then, however, buildings and grounds have been added until the campus now includes 127 acres of land scattered along the southern edge of Cedar Falls, and 28 buildings, the oldest, Central Hall, built in 1868, and the newest, the Commons, erected in 1933. The five-minute interval has been in force for the past 25 years.

Graduates Must Be Average or Above
Along with the increase in time to cut down tardiness and to allow better attention in the initial moments of class work, the faculty moved to insure higher scholarship on the part of all students in attendance at the College. An average of 2 grade points per credit hour instead of 1.75 points, as previously required, will be necessary for graduation, it was decided. This means that a student must do work equivalent to the student body average of C grades. The new grade ruling will not go into effect until after the spring term, 1936.

Dads To Be Honored Oct. 27th
Dad will have a day at school and a chance to find out how it feels to go collegiate, throw his hat in the air, yell for the team, and even "trip the light fantastic" on Saturday, October 27, when students at Teachers College do themselves proud in honor of their fathers.
The sixth annual Dads' Day at Teachers College will include a luncheon at noon, a football game at 2 P.M., between the Panthers and Coe College, and a general get-together and dance in the evening.
All correspondence relative to Dads' Day is to be addressed to L. I. Reed, dean of men, chairman of the Dads' Day committee.

Two on Honor Roll for Four Terms
Two students at the College were named on the honor rolls for four consecutive terms, it was discovered when honor rolls for the spring term were given out. John Smith, Lacona, and Katherine Olsen, Cedar Falls, are the two who have been scholarship leaders for the four terms.
Seventeen other students maintained places on the honor rolls for three consecutive terms. In many cases these students do not attend summer sessions; consequently, they were not listed for four terms. To earn a position on the honor roll a student must attain an average of 3.33 grade points per hour of work carried. Thus, four points would be perfect grades, or straight A's.
Rutherford Rogers, Jesup, who is one of the seventeen on the roll for three terms, has earned straight A's for all his two years, six consecutive terms in which he was enrolled.

The Alumnus Makes a Correction
In the July issue of the Alumnus a statement was made concerning the death of Francis Garner Miller, M.D. '93, to the effect that "he is survived by his widow, the former Evelyn Depew," M.D. '98. Mrs. Miller was formerly Evelyn Depew Miller, instead of Evelyn Depew.
Music Groups Have Busy Summer

Teachers College musicians have been busy through the summer term, with the College Band, the Symphony Orchestra, and the Orchestra Club each giving a concert during the twelve weeks. In addition, the band took part in the graduation exercises on Thursday, August 23, and many of the groups appeared at the annual Cedar Falls Bible Conference between July 29 and August 5.

The band was the first to give their concert, presenting on July 10 the program originally scheduled for June 26. The concert was played on the steps of the Auditorium Building in the early evening. Myron Russell, instructor in woodwind instruments and director of the College Band, was in charge.

The program included Eilenberg's overture, "King Mydas"; the Schutt waltz, "A la bien attentive", and "A Hunting Scene", by Bucolossi. Three marches were played as encores: "Columbia University Band", by Flint; "Tri-City Band March", by Manker, and "Pitt Panther", by Panella.

On July 24 Edward Kurtz, head of the Music Department, directed the concert of the College Symphony Orchestra. Luther A. Richman, assistant professor of voice, as soloist, sang "Vision Fugitive", from the opera Herodiade, by Massenet.

The 80-piece orchestra opened the concert with Symphony No. 100 in G Major, by Haydn, a composition known to musicians as the military symphony. Bruno Oscar Klein's "Farewell to my Georgian Home", an arrangement in the style of the American folk song, was followed by "Intermezzo" from Granadas Goyescas. "March in D", by Director Edward Kurtz, closed the evening's program.

The Orchestra Club, under the leadership of its director, Frank W. Hill, instructor in violin, viola, ensemble, and instrumentation, presented a string orchestra concert August 7 in the recreation hall at the Commons.

Gerald Boshart, Wayland, played two French horn solos. Bach's "Gavotte" opened the first group of three numbers by the orchestra. It was followed by Chaminade's "Scarf Dance", and Dvorak's well-known "Humoreskes".

The second group, "Petit Valse", by Karganoff, and "Passe Pied", by Gillet, were followed by the horn solos, "Wiegenlied", by Mozart, and a piece by the same name from Schubert.

Alumni Dramatists on Summer Plays

Nine summer term students, many of them graduates of Teachers College, participated in the presentation of Sidney Howard's comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean," on July 12 and 13, and six alumni members of Theta Alpha Phi returned to the campus for several weeks prior to August 9 and 10 for the presentation of the honorary dramatics fraternity play, "The Mistress of the Inn," by Carlo Goldoni.

Raymond Pedersen, Cedar Falls, played the part of Dr. Hagggett, portrayed in the Broadway original by Walter Connelly, and Nellie Norman, B. A. '34, played the role of Mrs. Hagggett. Miss Norman, who teaches at Elk Horn, played in the 1932 summer production, "The Good Hope". Mr. Pedersen appeared last year in the summer play, "The Show Off".

Two daughters of the Haggetts were played by Evelyn Spears, B. A. '34, and Madeleine Hallahan, Pri. '24. Miss Spears teaches at Keokuk.

The romantic young painter, Warren Creamer, was portrayed by David Barninghausen, Nashua, who has taken part in "R. U. R.", "Peace on Earth", and "The Perfect Alibi", all recent campus productions. Lillian Holmes, J. C. '22, a teacher at Burlington, was cast as the Haggett's hired girl, the one best acquainted with the late Christopher Bean. The parts of art critics were played by Raymond Phillips, B. A. '34, John Fuller, and Le Von Linder, Kensett.

The Theta Alpha Phi play was taken from the eighteenth century Italian "La Locandiera," Marshal Kathan, B. A. '32, took the part of the dashing woman hater, the Cavalier di Ripaftratta. Mr. Kathan was graduated after participating in every production while he was enrolled in the college. More recently he has been playing with a professional stock company in Waterloo.

Segrid Njus, B. A. '31, as the attractive mistress of the inn, flattered everyone at the inn in order to keep the place full. Burdette Moeller, B. A. '34, played as the Marquis de Forlipopoh, and Caryl Middleton, B. A. '34, was the Count D'Albaflorita.

Fabritzio, the serving man of the inn, was Raymond Berrier, B. A. '32. Max Auld, Cedar Falls, still a student and holder of one of the Bertha Martin Memorial Scholarships in drama at the Teachers College this year, played the servant of Ripafrratta.

This was the third summer that Theta Alpha Phi has staged an alumni play. "Children of the Moon" was presented in 1933 and "The Good Hope" in 1932, the first season.

Five Alumni at Palmer Reunion

A reunion of the Palmer family, which includes five graduates of the Iowa State Teachers College, was held at the home of Mrs. G. E. Palmer, of Cedar Falls, in July.

The graduates attending the reunion included Mrs. A. L. Graham (Iva Palmer), A. '11, of Cedar Falls; Mrs. H. G. Mimar (Faye Palmer), Pri. '12, of Minneapolis, Minnesota; Mrs. William B. Ford (Gladys Palmer), B. Di. '13, of 1775 Ninth East St., Salt Lake City, Utah; Professor H. G. Palmer, B. A. '24, of the Manual Arts Department at Iowa State Teachers College; Mrs. John Kyhl (Doris Palmer), B. A. '24, of Cedar Falls.

Mrs. Mimar has recently changed her address from Litchfield, Minnesota, to 1621 East River Road, Minneapolis.

As part of the reunion celebration the members of the family made a tour of inspection of the campus and expressed themselves as much impressed with the many improvements and new opportunities recently made available to students attending Teachers College.

Changes in Faculty Personnel

Announcement of the appointment of H. Darkes Albright to succeed Charles A. Holden, instructor in English, who has acted as technical director of Iowa State Teachers College dramatic productions, was made recently by S. A. Lynch, head of the English Department.

Dr. Bosley Is Religious Director

At the same time, Dr. Harold A. Bosley was announced as the successor to Dr. Howland Hanson, director of religious activities at the College.

Mr. Albright received the B. A. Degree from Lebanon Valley College in Pennsylvania and the M. A. Degree from Cornell University. He is at present working toward the Ph. D. Degree at Cornell, while acting as assistant in public speaking at Cornell and part time instructor at the Cascade School, a private institution in Ithaca, New York.

During the summer session of 1933, Mr. Albright was director of the University Theater at Cornell. In addition to experience in high school work, he has taught at the Pennsylvania State College. He assumed his duties at Teachers College at the opening of the fall term.

Dr. Bosley, the new director of religious activities, also assumed his position at the opening of the fall term. He received the B. A. degree from Nebraska Wesleyan College and the bachelor of divinity and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Chicago. For the past four years he has been pastor of the MIDLOTHIAN CHURCH. He is now teaching in Chicago, Illinois.

By invitation of the National Student Committee on Religious Affairs, Dr. Bosley spent a part of the summer at Lake George, New York, delivering a series of lectures and leading religious discussion groups.

Music Instructor Studied at Vienna

O'Lincoln Igou came to the College this fall as instructor in brass instruments, following a year of study in Europe.

Mr. Igou attended the summer master class in conducting at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria, and during the last academic year was working toward the doctorate degree at the University of Vienna. He received the Master of Science Degree from Northwestern University in 1933, the same school from which he also received the Bachelor of Music Education Degree in 1930. The B. A. Degree was conferred upon him by Hiram College, of Hiram, Ohio, in 1929. Mr. Igou, who plays the French horn and trumpet, has previously taught in Grosse Pointe, Michigan, and Evanston, Illinois.

Two new instructors have taken their places in the Teaching Department. Miss Mae Ruppel is now supervising critic of health and physical education in the Training School. She received the Master of Arts Degree from Columbia University and the Bachelor Degree from Carthage College, Carthage, Illinois, where she later taught for six years.

Miss Gracia Robinson is the other addition to the Training School staff. She has taken over the duties of supervising critic in music at the Hudson School, which is affiliated with the College Teaching Department. She is taking the place of Josephine Dresden, instructor in teaching, who resigned the past summer to be married.

Miss Robinson received both the Bachelor and Master of Arts Degrees from Northwestern University. She has studied with private music teachers as well as members of the Northwestern music faculty. According to these faculty members, Miss Robinson was considered the most promising person in piano at the University. She has previously been supervisor of music in Weiser, Idaho.

Mabelle M. Gross, supervising critic in the East Waterloo schools, was added to the instructional staff of the English Department, and Dora Kearney, assistant professor of teaching and supervising critic in the Teachers College High School, substituted for Emma Lambert, professor of mathematics, who was vacationing during the summer.

Alumnum Finds Ancient Skull

Dr. Earl H. Bell, B. A. '25, now of the University of Nebraska staff, returned to Lincoln early in August from an extended field trip involving the exploration of prehistoric villages in Cedar County of eastern Nebraska.

He brought with him a primitive skull which, instead of clearing up the question of whether America was peopled 10,000 to 15,000 years ago for the first time, or whether it was 50,000 to 80,000 years ago, upset some data already assembled.

The skull shape, according to Dr. Bell, might lead some to take it for one even older than the famous Neanderthals of Europe, who date back 50,000 years, but the truth is that the skull is no older than 1,000 years, probably not over 500. It was found in a burial mound on a Missouri river bluff near Wynot, Nebraska.

"If that skull had been found in western Nebraska under the conditions we make some finds," Dr. Bell said in an Associated Press interview, "a good many of us would take it for nearly positive evidence that man lived there in pre-glacial times."

Iowa Schools Hire All But Three of 1934 Coaching Majors

Sixteen of This Year's Graduates Already at Work Directing Football Teams in Iowa High Schools

Some conception of the success of coaching work at Teachers College and the esteem with which Iowa schools regard graduates from Teachers College may be had by consideration of the fact that sixteen of the 19 men who have been graduated from the course since last fall with the degree of bachelor of science in physical education were elected as coaches by Iowa schools this fall and took over the direction of high school football teams when the schools opened in September.

In addition to these men, eight graduates of former years from the coaching and athletics course at Teachers College have gone to new positions this fall, and seven men who were not majors in the department, but who had special training and participation in athletics, have assumed positions this fall which call for coaching as part of their work.

The 1934 graduates with the bachelor of science degrees in physical education who took over the direction of football teams in Iowa schools this fall and in the schools in which they are coaching are Kenneth Allbee, Earlville; Clarence Bain, Elk Horn; Chris Den Ouden, Beaman; Francis Flanagan, Grant Consolidated, Ledyard; Maynard Harman, Huron Consolidated, Oakville; David Irvine, Salix; Clair Kraft, Grundy Center; Harry Kruchten, Ottosen; Paul Lambert, Garwin; Truman Manship, Green Mountain; William Meyer, Doon; Harry Myers, Lewis; Ralph Piper, Hansell, and Harlan Rigby, Bagley.

Those graduating from other departments and having coaching as part of or all their work in Iowa schools this fall are Richard Hammans, Gaza; Mahlon Hintzman, Clutier; John McCaffrie, University of Dubuque; Alfred Ogland, Luana; Edward Roelofs, Shell Rock; Carlton Lytle, Williamsburg, and T. A. Dunmire, Tiptonka.

Eight graduates of former years went to new positions this fall. Don Cole is teaching and coaching at Mt. Auburn this year. Rinard, Iowa, has Clarence Hinde as coach, and Virgil Duea is at Milford Consolidated School, Nevada, Iowa.

Louis Armstrong has left Hartwick to become coach in Villisca. Rockford has taken Gale Fisher from Morning Sun, and Floyd Hurd has left Carpenter for Parkersburg. Frank Ralston is coaching at Delta this year, having served the past year in a similar capacity at Iowa City. Robert Burley, who was at Wellman, is coaching at Harris this year.

The positions vacated by Armstrong and Fisher at Hartwick and Morning Sun have been filled by two of the 1934 graduates from the Teachers College. Don Klotz, B. S. '34, former Tutor tennis ace, is teaching at Hartwick, and Owen Rolston, B. S. '34, Panther wrestler, has the coaching position at Morning Sun.

McCaflrie Is Coach at Dubuque

John R. McCaffrie, of Dubuque, who was elected head football coach at the University of Dubuque this fall, is the third graduate from the Iowa State Teachers College to become head coach in an Iowa Conference school in recent years.

Coach Melvin Fritzke, of Penn College, went to Oskaloosa as head coach and director of athletics after four years of participation in Panther athletics and three years of experience as instructor and coach in the Teachers College Physical Education Department. David McCuskey, another Teachers athlete and graduate, was made head wrestling coach at Teachers College in 1930, a position he still holds.

McCaffrie goes to Dubuque well grounded in the Jones system that Coach John Baker brought to the Teachers College two years ago from Southern California. He has been schooled for two years under the former All-American, part of the time as a quarterback and part as running guard on the Panther team. He won his letter both years, and last year was mentioned by the Associated Press sports writers as All-Conference quarterback. He missed only fifteen minutes of play in the Tutors' 1933 schedule. In addition to his work in football, he held the post behind the home plate on the Panther baseball team.

He was graduated at the end of the summer session with the Bachelor of Science Degree.
Forty-Five Likely Gridders Answer First Call

Veterans and reserves were much in evidence in the squad of 41 men that turned out as candidates for the Panther eleven on September 10th. Head Coach John Baker started the group working on fundamentals the first day, and continued on this tack for almost a week. The second week was given over to work on offense, with a little intra-squad scrimmage, and after a tough scrimmage with the freshman gridders, the men plunged directly into drills on defense against Cornell College formations.

Large Frosh Squad, Also

When Baker called the first practice, he had 20 days in which to whip the Panthers into shape, a full week more than he had a year ago. He expressed himself as well pleased with the outlook for this year, and the hopes for next year, when he will have the pick of 70 yearlings who trotted out this fall for first-year football.

Besides the veterans and last year's freshman gridders, the Tutor team has been augmented by a number of junior college men who have transferred and are eligible for varsity competition. Among these are LaVern Ostrem, Gilbert; John Harp, Cedar Falls; Lester Jones, Washington; Robert Torrence, Estherville; Robert Young, Iowa Falls, and Gunther Steinberg, Waterloo.

Vernon Stribley, Correctionville, prominent candidate for an end post, was forced to drop out of competition the first week of drills. A broken shoulder suffered in an accident last spring began to act up again and Stribley's doctor ordered him to give up the gridiron sport.

This left Coach Baker still with six men fighting for berths at the Tutor wings. Outstanding among them are William Chambers, Anderson, and Warren "Pete" Jordan, Riverside, California. Others out for the end positions are James DeSpain, Marengo; Donald Stout, Cedar Falls; Kenneth Erwin, Kent, Illinois, and Steinberg.

Even more men are on trial for the tackles than for ends, with eight men reporting. Two have been outstanding, Russell Bell, Waterloo, and Donald Blue, La Porte City, sophomores from the 1933 yearling team. Bell, a great big fellow with a lot of drive, has also been worked by Baker at the guard post. Others out for tackle are Floyd Rokenbrodt, Wallingford; Bob Torrence; Bernard Schmidt, Fort Dodge; John Wickersheim, McGregor; James Freeman, Newhall, and Arlo Hulme, Traer.

No Question About This Point

There seems little doubt that the Panther line will average nearly 170 pounds this year. Most of the men have gained back what weight they lost during the first-of-the-season, hot-weather practices.

Wallace "Tuffy" Stewart, Banning, California, and William "Dutch" Schulz, Naperville, Illinois, are two safe bets for lots of work in the guard positions, but they are being pushed hard by a newcomer to the Tutor varsity, Harp. Ostrem is another of the new men who looks good in play at guard. Glenn Smith, Keota, returning to football after three years absence from the campus, Alfred Comito, Des Moines, and Curtis Norem, Humboldt, are three more men still in the running for the position.

The team is without the services of "Barney" Seidler, Waterloo, who did not return to school, but the silver lining shining through that cloud appears to be Melvin Nelson, Nevada, flashy pivot man on the freshman eleven a year ago. Robert Young, Iowa Falls, and Earl Klinzman, Bagley, both probably will see service sometime during the 1934 season.

Sixteen of the 40 men out for the Panther eleven are trying for backfield positions. There is no doubt in anyone's mind that Lester Peterson, "Little Pete" from Alta, will see lots of work at his accustomed quarterback position. Spelling him probably will be Orville Nichols,

Spurt of Interest Noted
In Sports Program

Seventy Out for Freshman Football; Basketball Practice Begins Early This Year

A SUDDEN spurt of interest in athletics was noted at Teachers College this fall following the compilation of enrollment statistics for the fall term which opened with the registration of 1,491 students. Approximately 200 of the 500 men enrolled at the College this fall are already engaged in some type of extra-curricular athletics, whereas a year ago, with almost as many men in school, only a few more than 100 were participating.

Seventy freshmen, an unprecedented increase over the 35 reporting last year, showed up for yearling football, and 40 men reported as candidates for the varsity team, in contrast with 35 a year ago.

Tabulated, the number participating in the various sports at the opening of the term would read something like this: freshman football, 70; varsity football, 40; basketball, 15; track, 30; theory of football, 35; total, 190.

 Entirely an addition to the fall sports program are the 15 men reporting for pre-season semi-weekly basketball practices, for a year ago the cagers did not begin until well along toward the winter quarter. About the same number of tracksters are reporting this fall as in 1933, making a total in cross-country and fall track of about 30 men.

Theory of football, an academic course in the Physical Education Department, takes in another 35 collegians. Actual playing on the field, somewhat in the nature of laboratory work, is a regular part of this course. Demonstrations of points and plays learned in classroom lectures are carried out, in order that the future coaches of Iowa high schools who do not play inter-collegiate football will be competent to teach the fall sport, as well as the activity in which they excel—basketball, baseball, wrestling, or whatever it may be.

Besides the work in extra-curricular athletics, there are 11 physical training classes in which approximately 125 more men are enrolled. All men are required to complete six terms of physical training or engage in athletics an equivalent time. With the group in these required classes, there are about 325 men engaged in the physical development program at the Teachers College.

Forty-Five Report for Football

Hemet, California, ace dash man from the Tutor track squad.

Keith McCabe, Naperville, Illinois, and Lloyd Gnagy, Grundy Center, both sophomores, are another couple of backs who will be seen carrying the pigskin in Tutor offense. John Champlin, Iowa Falls, a little fellow weighing less than 140 pounds, shows real promise in his backfield work. This is first year of varsity football.

The ability of such men as Harry Helgason, Wallingford, Raymond Smalling, Janesville, and Frank Snyder, Waterloo, is well enough established that they are bound to look good. Helgason and Snyder, along with Lester Jones, are fullbacks, and Smalling has for competition and relief as running halfbacks Champlin and Gnagy; Norton Whitelock, Des Moines; Arvil Hinshaw, Janesville; Roland White, Iowa Falls, and Walter Rivers, Riceville. Blocking halves are not so numerous, but there is real quality in them. There are Olin and McCabe, both mentioned above; Harlan Calhoun, Lake Mills, and another strong candidate, Paul Hoermann, Adair.

This issue of the Alumnus went to press before the season opener with Cornell college, of Mt. Vernon, on October 6th at Cedar Falls. As in past years, Boy Scout Day was to be celebrated in connection with the opening of the season, and Scouts from all over the Wapsipicon Area were invited to attend.

Hertha O. Muller, P. S. M. '27, daughter of Henry Muller, Clarksville, Iowa, took graduate work in the modern novel under Dr. Richard E. Burton, Pulitzer prize judge and well-known literary critic, at the University of Hawaii during the 1934 summer session, at Honolulu, T. H.

Dr. Burton was one of the well-known educators from all parts of the world who acted as teacher and lecturer at the University of Hawaii summer session this year.

Yes They Do,
Times Change »

The years roll on . . . and college chums of years gone by move to distant towns and cities, there to distinguish themselves, there to become a vital part of some community of activity.

Where are these members of the second graduating class of the Iowa State Normal School? Are they still living? In what community are they or were they located?

You, no doubt, are interested to know more about these people—

Just as your classmates would like to know more about you . . . where you are located . . . in what work you are now engaged . . . what honors you have won . . . whether you are married . . . if you have children . . . distinguished activities in which you have engaged or may now be taking part.
