Extensive Departmental Reorganization Effected

An extensive reorganization of the administrative and instructional setup of the College became effective in part July 1 and will be completed by September. The changes do away with three departments of instruction, decreasing the number of separate divisions from 16 to 13.

Dr. M. J. Nelson, at present head of the Education Department, is now Dean of the Faculty. He has been succeeded as department head by Dr. E. C. Denny, associate professor of education. Dr. J. B. Paul, also of the Education Department, now serves as director of a newly organized Bureau of Research.

A merger of the two music departments at the College, orchestral and public school, to be placed under the direction of Edward Kurtz, a consolidation of the Department of Latin, Greek, and German with the Romance Language Department, under the headship of Dr. I. L. Lillehei, the disbandment of religious education as a separate unit, and the establishment of a new Department of Alumni Relations under the direction of A. C. Fuller, at present associate director of the Extension Division, will complete the newly authorized program of reorganization.

In announcing the new appointments growing out of the reorganization, President O. R. Latham explained that the new administrative officials will have charge of much of the work that formerly has been handled by committees of the Faculty, thus leaving members of the instructional staff free to carry on their teaching activities. The changes were also made in the interest of cutting red tape and saving the time of both students and faculty members. Many matters with which students are concerned will now be handled by administrative workers, and the students will not have to wait for the convening of committees in order to secure action.

The most significant change, that of the appointment of Dr. Nelson as Dean of the Faculty, took place July 1. The duties of the new position include general supervision of the following activities: the program of instruction, the admission and academic guidance of students, the instructional records and marking system, the faculty advisory system, the program of instructional and personnel research, and the program of placement and followup service. In addition, Dr. Nelson is responsible for the administration of the registration procedure and scholarship regulations. He passes upon all requests of students to make curricular adjustments, to earn credit by examination, and to carry extra work. He is to prepare the annual college catalogue, the summer session bulletin, and the program of recitations for each term. In addition to this work, under the new setup he is to serve as ex officio chairman of the faculty committee on curricula and courses of study and as the chief excusing officer. This last duty, however, he has delegated to the Dean of Men and Dean of Women.

Dr. Nelson has announced as an additional item on his present program a series of professional faculty meetings in the nature of a developing program for the improvement of instruction.

to press, are located in the quarters formerly occupied by C. S. Cory, registrar and examiner. Mr. Cory has a new private office which has already been installed at the north end of the general offices of the Registrar.

Dr. Nelson has as his assistants Helen Cowie, B. A. '31, secretary, and Gladyce Gooder, stenographer.

The Education Department will continue practically the same policy that it has followed in the past, according to Dr. E. C. Denny, who assumed his new position as head of the Education Department on July 1. “The reorganization has caused so little change that it is doubtful if it will be apparent to the students”, says Dr. Denny.

Besides Dr. Nelson and Dr. Paul, Dr. E. W. Goetch, professor of education and director of the Placement Bureau, has left the Education Department. Dr. Goetch will give his full time to the placement of teachers. G. W. Walters, professor of education, has earned partial retirement and is now teaching only one class. This makes a total reduction of three men in the Department, with a corresponding reduction of expense.

“If the enrollment of the College remains the same as it has been for the last two years”, Dr. Denny says, “this loss in the number of faculty members will be met by an increase in the size of classes. We can afford to run classes in this Department with as many as 30 or 40 students.”

As most of the members of Dr. Denny’s Department are experienced in testing, they probably will be called upon by the Bureau of Research to assist in administering tests. The Department also does most of the advising of students on the two-year curricula, with the remainder of this work being done by members of the Teaching Department.

The new Bureau of Research, under the Direction of Dr. Paul, is a service bureau for the Faculty and for the institution as a whole. Dr. Paul took over his new duties July 1. In this work he is quite largely “blazing a new trail” and does not expect to be able to announce definite plans until after the beginning of the new academic year.

The new Bureau will cooperate with members of the Faculty in any studies they may care to make for the purpose of improving their teaching procedures or their testing techniques.

Schools will be continued and expanded under the direction of the Bureau.

The new Bureau will conduct the placement tests given to all students entering the College for the first time. It will also supervise the giving of the achievement tests at the close of the sophomore year.

"The educational field," says Dr. Paul, "is full of unsolved problems. It will be the purpose of the Bureau to select some of the most worth-while of these problems and attempt to contribute something toward their solution."

The Bureau of Research is located in Room 221 of the Administration Building, formerly used as a classroom by the Mathematics and Commercial Education Department.

Mr. Fuller, as director of the Bureau of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relationships, has charge of the promotion of alumni organization and cooperation and the interpretation of the aims and purposes of the Iowa State Teachers College to the public school officials of the state. Mr. Fuller will hold individual and group conferences with members of high school graduation classes who are interested in teaching as a profession and will explain the objectives of the Iowa State Teachers College to the people of the state through appearances at group meetings of a lay character.

(A more complete account of this Bureau will be found on another page in this issue of the Alumnus)

Edward Kurtz

Edward Kurtz, present head of the Department of Orchestral Music, will become director of the combined departments when C. A. Fullerton, present head of the Music Department, retires in September.

Professor Fullerton will retire from the Department after a period of thirty-seven years of service. During this time he has distinguished himself in the field of music education and has brought renown to Teachers College and has achieved national fame for himself as father of the choir method of music instruction in the public schools. This choir method, which makes use of the phonograph, has been adopted in many states in America, and is being considered for use in several foreign countries.

In carrying out the consolidation of the two music departments at Teachers College, Professor Kurtz has announced a plan to decrease the number of public performances of music students and the various music groups, and to follow out a regular program covering all music activities for a given year.

Thursday afternoons from four to five o'clock will be set aside for recitals and concerts by music students. The Women's Band, the Orchestra Club the Euterpean, and Troubadour Glee Clubs, as well as soloists, will be presented at the Thursday afternoon musicales, conducted mainly for students in the Music Department to acquaint them more widely with the field of musical literature.

Mr. Kurtz wishes the more finished work, as a general policy, to go on in the Auditorium at night. “I desire the public to know,” explained Mr. Kurtz recently, “that anything we present in the evening will be artistic musical entertainment. Although the afternoon concerts and recitals are being presented primarily for students in the department, the general public is welcome to attend.”

Plan Year’s Program

Concerts planned for the Auditorium will be the College Band, the Symphony Orchestra, and an advanced student mixed recital including solos and ensembles twice a year, and the annual Cecilian-Minnesinger and Bel Canto concerts.

Handel’s celebrated oratorio, “The Messiah”, which has been presented at the Teachers College on twenty-eight Christmas Sundays, will not be the regular Christmas offering in the future, but will probably be presented only once each four years, in that way giving each music student a chance to take part in it once before he graduates. The three intervening years will be celebrated with appropriate music, according to Mr. Kurtz. This year, the Music Department will present Bach’s Christmas oratorio, with advanced students singing the solo roles, instead of faculty members.

The new head of the Music Department also plans to have a choral group that will be active throughout the year. Heretofore, explained Mr. Kurtz, the group has sung in the oratorio, in the opera, and then been relatively inactive. Mr. Kurtz wishes the choral group to present the Christmas program, the opera, and an annual spring festival.

After the retirement on September 1 of Dr. F. I. Merchant, who has served as head of the Department of Latin, Greek, and German for the past twenty-seven years, Dr. I.L. Lillehei, at present head of the Department of Romance Languages, will direct and supervise both departments. The new instructional unit will be known as the Department of Languages.

Dr. Merchant is recognized as one of the most outstanding and distinguished scholars ever to serve on the faculty at Teachers College. During his years of service, he has been active on important committees, including the Committee on Registration, the Committee on Curricula and Courses of Study, and the Intercollegiate Standing Committee. In addition, he has served on the editorial committee which passes on faculty rules and regulations and edits the college catalogue.

The man who will take over the duties of administering the combined departments, came to Teachers College in 1918 after a distinguished period of academic experience in university and college work. He has his Ph.D. Degree from the University of Illinois.

In view of the retirement on September 1 of Dr. Howland Hanson, who has served as supervisor of religious education for the past six years, that department of instruction will be eliminated as such, it was explained, because the actual instructional load in the field of religious education is not of sufficient size to warrant the continuance of a separate department. In the future, all courses of instruction in religion will be offered in the Department of English under the heading of Biblical Literature and the Philosophy of Religion. In this connection, the State Board of Education has authorized the appointment of Dr. H. A. Bosley, to be known as the director of religious activities. His duties will center around the giving of instruction in biblical literature and the philosophy of religion, serving as pastor of the Interdenominational Church, and lending encouragement to the further development among the student body of the present comprehensive program of religious life activities.
Alumni Relationships Bureau Set Up By College

A PHASE of the administrative reorganization which will be of interest to every alumnus of Teachers College is the establishment of a Bureau of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relationships. This Bureau represents a definite effort on the part of the College to maintain permanent contact with its graduates in their after-school life and to bring to them whatever service it may offer for their continued betterment in their chosen profession of education.

The man selected to administer this Bureau, A. C. Fuller, M. Di., formerly associate director of the Extension Division, is already well known to Teachers College alumni. His acquaintance with alumni and public school administrators both in Iowa and elsewhere in the country makes him especially well qualified for the new work. Through his service in the Extension Division at the College he has had opportunity to come in contact with nearly every prominent educator in Iowa and with almost every outstanding educational project carried out in the state during the past several years.

He has been unusually active in alumni affairs, having been secretary of the Alumni Association and having acted as a college delegate to many alumni meetings throughout the country. He has been in charge of the annual college dinners in Des Moines for many years, and has been the prime mover of plans for all alumni activities held on the college campus at Cedar Falls. Recently he was active in organizing the county alumni units in Iowa, and through this work, he came in contact with hundreds of graduates in the state.

During the past year, Mr. Fuller's services were loaned to the State Department of Public Instruction in connection with the emergency education work. He was appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction as director of the Emergency Education Program in Iowa. In this work he spent much time at the state capitol in organizing the efforts of the state to place unemployed teachers.

One of the outstanding contributions which Mr. Fuller has made in the line of alumni affairs is the assistance given by him last year in the planning of the Century of Progress Reunion in Chicago. Mr. Fuller assisted Marjorie Gist Sward, secretary of the Chicago unit, in the planning of this nation-wide reunion.

The director of the new Bureau will take over his new duties September 1.

The Bureau of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relationships will have offices on the second floor of Gilchrist Hall. It will occupy two rooms, one formerly used by the Old Gold, student annual, as an office, and the other, formerly the studio of Miss Alta Freeman, assistant professor of piano.

The two rooms will be made into a suite with a general office and a private office for the Director of the Bureau.

Alumni records, including lists of graduates from each town, county, and state in the country will be kept on file in the Bureau.

In addition to his attendance at Teachers College, Mr. Fuller studied at the University of Iowa. He was graduated from the State University in 1911 with the Bachelor of Arts Degree. He had his first teaching experience in 1900 as principal at Manning, Iowa. He later became superintendent of schools at that city, and served consecutively at Sidney, Storm Lake, and Washington, Iowa. He was inspector with the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction from 1913 to 1917 and in the latter year came to Teachers College as professor of rural education. He was made associate director of the Extension Division in 1918.

Debaters Win State Meet
Have Highly Successful Season
In All Fields—Indulge In Verbal Joust With Cambridge

A n enlarged program of forensic activities has been carried on at Teachers College for the academic year 1933-34 under the direction of Dr. F. W. Lamberton, associate professor of public speaking. Dr. Lamberton took over the work so outstandingly directed in past years by W. A. Brindley, professor of public speaking, who died last year.

During the past year, the Teachers College debaters engaged in approximately 125 contests. These debates took the students on trips to Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, South Dakota, and Minnesota.

The year's forensic program was started off in November with an international debate with a team from the University of Cambridge. David Grant and James Curtis, representing the Teachers College, gave an effective presentation of the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That the League of Nations is the only secure guaranty of peace."

Curtis Gets Peace Contest Prize

The next major event of the year was the Peace Oratorical Contest held the first Friday of December at Drake University. James Curtis, of Teachers College, won first place and the prize money of $50. This is the second consecutive victory of first place for Iowa Teachers. In order to make the competition more profitable, an Extemporaneous Speaking Contest was added this year, and in the first encounter Eileen Ferreter tied for first place with the representative from Central College.

Forty-two students have participated in forensics at the College during the past year. Debates have been held before high school audiences, luncheon clubs, farm bureaus, and in various tournaments. With the beginning of the year only two veteran debaters remained from last year's squad. However, many students developed marked ability during the year's work. Among these were James Daugherty, Bedford; Don Barker, Milton; J. B. Flesner, Rockwell City; Paul Smith, Waterloo; Earnest Brandenburg, Bristow; Lois Brauer, Hampton; Beatrice Moore, Missouri Valley; Frances Suter, Sibley; Eileen Ferreter, Marion, and Merle Miller, Waterloo.

The outstanding event of the year was the State Forensic Association meeting at Des Moines. Teachers College easily took first place, winning twenty-two of a possible thirty points. The Teachers College representatives took first place in men's debate, in women's oratory, and in women's extemprose speaking; second place in women's debate and men's extemprose speaking, and third place in men's oratory. This is the highest award ever won by a single college since the founding of the state organization.

The last event of the year was a congressional type of debate held with the Iowa State College at Ames the first week of May. Eight students of the Public Speaking (1) class were selected to represent the College in the discussion of the major theme of naval preparedness. The teams met in the morning, at which time each speaker was permitted eight minutes to voice his sentiments on any phase or aspect of the problem. During his speech, permission was granted for other members to challenge his statements, ask for sources of information, or in general heckle the speaker. Also during the morning meeting, the groups broke up into sub-units, each with one major aspect of the problem. In these units they talked over the facts which each one would present at the afternoon session. The final meeting in the afternoon continued for almost three hours and closed with a consensus-of-opinion vote.

Plans are already being laid for next year. Extended trips will be taken by men's and women's teams. The trip for the women debaters will be to the Rocky Mountain Speech Conference at Denver University on February 6, 7, and 8. A four-member team will compete in the tournament at this time, and Dr. Lamberton will give two addresses at the Conference. The trip for the men has not yet been decided upon.

Miss Stinson Honored

Maude M. Stinson, B. Di. '90, was honored recently on the twenty-fifth anniversary of her election to the principalship of Audubon School in Spokane, Washington. She has developed a great amount of community interest in the school, and as a result the whole community joined the celebration in her honor.

The Spokane Spokesman-Review has this to say: "To meet Miss Stinson is to understand her success as a principal. Her personality is expressive of kindliness, understanding, and sympathy . . . . Miss Stinson's record is an impressive one . . . ."

June Graduates Urged By President to Preserve
Spirit of Liberty

A n appeal to the educators-to-be in the June graduating class of the Iowa State Teachers College to preserve the "fierce spirit of liberty handed down to us by our fathers", and a warning that the New Dealers endanger the democratic ideal if they fail to develop an understanding public, were two of the high points in the commencement address delivered this year by President O. R. Latham.

The 1934 class was the fifty-eighth to receive degrees and diplomas from Teachers College. Two hundred eighty-eight students were awarded sheepskins in the exercises Monday, June 4.

We Must Not Regimen Thought

In discussing the educational implications of the various projects of the New Deal and the new social order envisioned by the leaders, Dr. Latham declared that as much as we need to raise the standard of living in America today, we need infinitely more to raise the level of thinking. He vigorously challenged the idea that individualism is synonymous with selfishness, and pointed out that though we may organize for the material betterment of the underprivileged, we must never regiment thinking.

When the average man in the street does not understand what is being done by the leaders of the new order, we have for the moment the wise or semi-wise leading the ignorant. This, Dr. Latham pointed out, is autocracy. The only way out is for the leaders at the earliest possible moment to assure full public knowledge of what is taking place. They must accomplish this through every means of enlightenment, including the public schools. In the words of Thomas Jefferson, they must "Educate and inform the whole mass of the people. They are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty."

Excerpts from the commencement address will be found on the following page of the Alumnus.

Graduates Have Busy Week

Beginning their commencement activities with attendance at the reception for graduates, alumni, and faculty at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Latham on Sunday evening, May 27, the graduates were kept busy for a full week, with a baseball game on Monday, a band concert on Thursday, the commencement play, "The Perfect Alibi," by A. A. Milne, on Thursday and Friday, and the commencement dinner party on Saturday in the Commons.

The theme of the toast program at the commencement dinner was "Rivers That Flow to the Sea." Dr. F. W. Lamberton, associate professor of public speaking, presided. Representing the graduates on the program, Viola Ann Herrig spoke on "Rivulets Among the Hills." Robert Ebel, B. S. '33, represented the alumni with his toast, "The Broadening Current." President Latham's toast was entitled "The Harbor Bar."

Fuller Administers Alumni Pledge

Group singing at the party was led by Olive Barker, instructor in voice and music, and Luther A. Richman, assistant professor of voice, sang a group of river songs, accompanied by Rose Lena Ruegnitz, assistant professor of piano. A. C. Fuller, associate director of the extension division, administered the alumni pledge.

Following the dinner program, senior speech students presented Booth Tarkington's one-act play, "The Trysting Place."

Baccalaureate services were held in the Auditorium on Sunday, June 3. Dr. Howland Hansom, supervisor of religious education, gave the invocation and delivered the address. George W. Samson, Jr., instructor in organ, played the processional and recessional. Special music was provided by Marion Jepsen and a mixed octette.

Cap and Gown Breakfast Inaugurated

An innovation in commencement activities this year was the cap and gown breakfast on Monday morning preceding the graduation exercises. Graduates met at the Commons wearing their caps and gowns for the breakfast. Immediately following, the graduates' procession was formed.

The procession started at 9 o'clock for the scene of the commencement exercises, the Men's Gymnasium, while the exercises proper began at 9:30 A. M., with the college band playing the processional. Margaret Christenson played a violin solo preceding the reading of the invocation by Reverend W. J. Diegelman, minister of the First Baptist Church in Cedar Falls. A group of three numbers was sung by the same octette that appeared on the baccalaureate program, and the exercises were closed with the benediction by Reverend Diegelman. President Latham conferred the degrees and diplomas.

"The Schools of America Have Conquered Illiteracy—But Not Ignorance, Prejudice, and Credulity"

GO BACK with me to a cold, gray morning a year and three months ago today. It is the fourth of March, 1933. Factory wheels had ceased to hum. Millions of blameless people shuffled in endless breadlines. Every bank in the land was closed. Borne down by one disaster after another, overcome by an almost complete paralysis of will, we stood with bowed heads, our arms and feet bound and fettered with the shackles of deflation, depression, failure, and despair.

"The enemy to our well being was within our gates, encamped within our very hearts and souls. Unbridled greed . . . uncontrolled selfishness . . . had brought our vaunted civilization to its knees. It was these enemies that the new government of March 4, 1933, mobilized its forces to defeat, and whatever criticism may be made, we must never cease to be grateful for the fact that sublime courage and resolution were exhibited in what was probably the darkest hour of our national life.

"Whatever may be our own reactions to the so-called New Deal, it is evident that for better or for worse, a new society is in the making. If, as we are told, the new scheme of living is to be based upon new concepts of social and economic justice, then the most patent observation that one can make is that we must have a new and more comprehensive system of education.

"It should be perfectly clear to the leaders of our national life that their program will never rise above the dust and smoke of the battle-field without the full assistance and whole-hearted cooperation of all the agencies for public enlightenment.

"Viewed in the light of education, there are four kinds of government. The first, with the ignorant ruling the ignorant, may be called tyranny; the second, with the ignorant leading the wise, is anarchy; the third, with the wise leading the ignorant, may be called autocracy, and the fourth, which can be portrayed as the wise leading the wise, is democracy. The instrumentality of this type of government is public education. It leads to liberty, equality, and fraternity, and the development of individual initiative.

"What is far more critical than the uncertainty, the confusion, and the disagreement among the leaders of the present day, is the lack of understanding on the part of the people themselves as to what is actually taking place. To a very great majority of the citizens of this country the New Deal is couched in language which they do not comprehend and is concerned with ideas which have heretofore never entered their heads.

"Thus, at the moment, we have the wise or the semi-wise leading the ignorant. If such a condition extends over any significant period of time, it is certain to degenerate into either tyranny or anarchy. If the American people love their hard-earned and cherished liberty, if they wish to avoid servitude, peasantry, or some other form of menial or spiritual subordination, and I believe they do, then it is imperative that their knowledge of what is taking place should approximate that of their leaders at the earliest possible moment.

"In a democracy, whole-hearted cooperation brought about by the methods and techniques for public enlightenment is always to be preferred to blind and, perhaps, sullen obedience obtained by either physical or psychological coercion. One hundred and forty-seven years ago Thomas Jefferson admonished James Madison thusly: 'Educate and inform the whole mass of the people. They are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty'.

"That, my friends, is why the new day that is dawning calls for a new education. This does not mean that we shall abandon instruction in reading, writing, and arithmetic. Neither does it mean that the scientifically established laws and technique of learning are to be abandoned. The education for the new day must transcend all this. It must have as one of its chief aims the production of citizens who understand the evil effects of selfishness, the social suicide of cut-throat competition, and the stupidity of a narrow, nationalistic philosophy in a world society. It must have as one of its prime objectives the production of citizens who will have

Graduate Writes of Early Days

Dr. E. A. Archer, student in 1889-90, osteopathic physician and surgeon at Pullman, Washington, writes an interesting letter to the editor of the Alumni concerning early days at Teachers College.

Pictures contained in the "Meet the Faculty" section of the Alumni remind him of many a college instructor of years gone by. "In glancing through these numbers, I noticed the name of C. A. Fullerton, who is the only one of the old group still at the institution whom I knew when a student there, 'way back' when it was the Iowa State Normal School," he writes.

Old Landmarks Hard to Locate

Mr. Archer recalls, among others who were instructors at the time of his attendance at the College, the late Dr. Seerley, Professors Bartlett, Laughlen, Ensign, McGovern, Wright, and Miss Riggs. There were but few buildings on the campus at this time, and Dr. Archer points out the interesting fact that during several of his visits to the "old home" country during the past thirty-five years he has found that the old landmarks, although still standing, "have been built around and incorporated into other and newer structures until it is hard to find anything familiar on the whole college grounds."

Dr. Archer has been active in the practice of his profession at Pullman for nearly twenty-five years. "I am happy, contented, and perhaps have been able to accomplish as much good in the world as I might have done had I been able to complete my course in the old I. S. N. S.," he says.
Campus Remodeling Under Way

The landscaping of campus grounds and the remodeling of various administrative offices, to accommodate changes brought about by the reorganization in the institutional setup, were two of the major projects upon which campus workmen were busily engaged at the opening of the summer term.

Two major landscaping projects were underway. The first of these was the construction of a central mart occupying the area formerly used as a parking ground and including the site of the old heating plant. The second project included the filling in and leveling off of uneven ground west and south of the new Commons Building. This includes the area immediately north of the central campus plaza, extending from the Campanile to the Men’s Gymnasium.

Central Campus Mart Constructed

The central campus mart was being prepared for seeding by the removal of cinders on the parking and the laying down of fresh soil. The mart is bounded on the south by the Training School, on the east by Gilchrist Hall, on the north by what was formerly the Engine House, and on the west by the Pre-School. It will be circled by a drive, which is to be paved with brick by the college workmen. This drive will extend directly south from the west boundary to meet the Twenty-seventh Street highway.

Contracts for the building of curbing and sidewalks from the Twenty-seventh Street entrance have already been let.

The mart will be cut diagonally by a sidewalk running from the rear of the Auditorium Building across in front of the old Engine House, now the new Bookstore, and extending through to the corner near the Vocational Building. Another diagonal will extend across the mart from a point near the Library to the corner near the Women’s Gymnasium. In addition, there will be a walk extending from South Hall, now called Gilchrist Hall, to the center intersection of the two diagonals.

The new area of campus greensward includes a huge elm tree of generous and graceful proportions, and when seeded, the plat will constitute a welcome breathing space between campus buildings. In addition, the crosswalks will greatly facilitate the movement of students from one building to another. This is a highly important improvement inasmuch as many students already complain that the campus has grown so large that five minutes between classes is insufficient time to get from one building to another. Whether this criticism is justified or not, it should be of interest to alumni as a means of gauging the extent to which the Iowa State Normal School has grown.

Remodeling of Offices Underway

The second major project in the campus improvement program is the remodeling of offices in keeping with the various administrative changes. This work also includes the redecoration of the Engine House for use by the College Bookstore, and the reconstruction of offices for the student publications.

Dr. M. J. Nelson, whose appointment as the first Dean of Faculty was announced recently by the Board of Education, will occupy offices formerly used by the Registrar. These are located on the first floor of the Administration Building, just opposite the front entrance. The Registrar is already occupying new offices recently installed in the northwest end of the Administration Building.

Dr. J. B. Paul, the new Director of Research, is to have offices on the second floor of the Administration Building, directly across from the Placement Bureau.

College Will Have Alumni Headquarters

Mr. A. C. Fuller, director of the Bureau of Alumni Affairs and Public School Relationships, will have his office at the south end of the second floor of Gilchrist Hall. Directly across from him will be the new offices of the student publications, which will include two large rooms. Also on this floor, at the south end, will be a new lounge and rest room for the clerical staff of the College.

Dr. I. L. Lillehei, who is to be head of the combined Language Departments, will have new offices at the south end of the third floor of the Auditorium Building. Classrooms of the Romance Language Department will be moved to this floor.

In the basement of the Auditorium Building, rooms at the north end will be given over to headquarters for the various religious activities of the College. These headquarters will include offices for the Director of Religious Activities.
1909'ers Eat "Tubera Cauponia," But Have Good Time

The Class of 1909 was honored at the annual Alumni Luncheon held in connection with the commencement exercises for the spring term Class of 1934. Fred D. Cram, a member of the Class of 1909, acted as toastmaster and chairman of arrangements in behalf of a twenty-five year class for his second successive year. Mr. Cram, also of the Class of 1908, which celebrated their anniversary last year, acted in the capacity of chairman last year.

Those who took part in the toast-program, in addition to the toastmaster, included Eugene B. Lynch, 1921, president of the Alumni Association and Superintendent of Schools, Sigiourney, Iowa; Elizabeth Burney Schmidt, 1909, Cedar Falls; A. C. Fuller, 1899, alumni secretary and associate director of the Extension Division at Teachers College; Hazel Webster Byrnes, 1909, librarian at the State Teachers College, Mayville, North Dakota; and President O. R. Latham. Many of the celebrating class were called upon for short toasts. Toastmaster Cram read several letters from class members who were unable to be present. During the Luncheon, the Old Gold for 1909 was circulated about the room, bringing amusement and happy memories to many of the alumni.

Special guests were President and Mrs. O. R. Latham, and the following members of the 1934 faculty who were teachers in 1909: Miss Alison E. Aitchison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Walters, and Miss Anna R. Wild. Mrs. D. Sands Wright was doubly honored as the member of the oldest class present and wife of D. Sands Wright, one of the first teachers upon the campus, now deceased.

Preceding the luncheon and following the program, returning alumni spent the time talking with old and new friends, and visiting interesting points on the campus, especially the new Commons.

Many 1934 Graduates Also Attend

A number of the 1934 graduating class and friends of alumni also attended.

The committee in charge of general arrangements included Professor Fred D. Cram and Professor A. C. Fuller. The local committee consisted of Mrs. Edith Riland Cross, Mrs. Dorothy Buell Hughes, and Mrs. Ethel Dryden Abrams.

The committee in charge of arrangements, in an endeavor to see if the returning alumni had profited by their college course in Latin I, printed the menu in the classic language. No fatalities were reported from persons eating something that they misinterpreted from the menu. Of course "tubera subterranea cauponina," included in the menu, might easily mean "potatoes," but to the editor it sounds more like a famous Chicago gangster. However, "ebus angelicus cum fragis et lacte gelato" practically figured itself out, as it came next to the last on the menu. Yes, the guess was right. It proved to be angel-food cake with something or other.

Warm weather, roads in good condition, and the fact that other schools were out contributed to a good attendance at the luncheon and a good time for those who were fortunate enough to be able to return to their Alma Mater.

(The foregoing article was prepared by Edwin Cram, a member of the March, 1934, graduating class who received the Bachelor of Science Degree in Physical Education.)

Husbands, Wives at Reunion

Class reunions approximated something like family reunions for four graduates and former students of the Iowa State Teachers College, who, with their wives, attended the consecutive class reunions at the University of Iowa on June 1 and 2 and the graduation dinner at Teachers College on June 3. All four of the men are practicing dentists; all attended the University of Iowa and Teachers College, and three of their wives are either graduates or former students.

Dr. A. C. Wyant, of Hawarden, Iowa, received the Master of Didactics Degree from the State Normal School in 1900; Dr. E. G. Thompson, of Kiowa, Kansas, is a former student who was enrolled here in that year; Dr. L. C. Hemsworth, of Waterloo, Iowa, is also a former student of 1900, and Dr. W. D. Wiler, of Cedar Falls, received the Master of Didactics Degree in 1898.

Mrs. Thompson attended Teachers College in 1900; Mrs. Hemsworth, as Fannie Butts, received the Bachelor of Didactics Degree in 1901, and Mrs. Wiler, as Lucy Hayes Miller, was awarded the same degree in 1902.
Homecoming Dates Set

The dates for Homecoming this year have been set as Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, November 9, 10, and 11. The festivities will center about November 10, the date of the football game between Grinnell and Teachers College in the home stadium.

In keeping with the plans carried out last year, the headquarters for all major Homecoming events will be in the Commons Building where the luxurious accommodations will invite graduates to tarry for informal chats with old classmates and old faculty members.

The graduates, upon arriving on the campus, will register in the Commons Building where they will find student guides and every facility for making their stay in Cedar Falls a pleasant one.

As usual, the annual alumni meeting will be held on Saturday morning of Homecoming day, this year with Eugene Lynch, B. A. '21, superintendent of schools at Sigourney, Iowa, presiding as president of the Alumni Association. Other officers of the 1933-34 academic year are Ralph Nichols, B. A. '29, English teacher at Fort Dodge, Iowa, vice president; Mrs. J. Foy Cross (Edith Riland), Kg. '11, Cedar Falls, Reunion Committee Chairman; Mrs. Leslie Hughes (Dorothy Buell), H. E. '11, member of Reunion Committee; Maurice Kramer, B. S. '33, commercial teacher at Sioux Rapids, Iowa, Board of Directors for three years; Rena Nelson, J. C. '26, county superintendent at Osage, Iowa, Board of Directors for two years; Emma Lambert, M. Di. '97, professor of mathematics at Teachers College, Board of Directors for one year.

Three former presidents who automatically became members of the Board of Directors by virtue of the new constitution approved last year are: three years, Glenn Cowan, B. A. '20, high school principal at Iowa Falls, Iowa; two years, Dale Welsch, B. A. '22, superintendent at Elkader, Iowa; one year, L. C. Ary, B. A. '15, lawyer at Cherokee.

(If you have wondered about the first graduating class, pictured on the back cover of this issue of the Alumnus, here are the names. Identified from left to right they are: D. K. Bond, B. S. '81, died March 14, 1917; Maude Gilchrist, B. S. '80, now living at 2518 Forest Drive, Des Moines, Iowa; L. E. Churchill, B. S. '81, died in 1885; and R. O. Benton, died in 1879. These graduates received their first degrees in the Class of 1878.)
First Campus Newspaper

Iowa State Teachers College had a newspaper as early as 1880, although heretofore it has been thought by those in the college publication work that the Normal Eyte, founded in 1892, was the first paper at the old Iowa State Normal School. "The Student's Offering," issue of June, 1880, has been brought to the attention of the editor of the Alumnus. "The Offering" was published twice a term by the Alpha and Philomathean Literary Societies. Wilbur Davis and Hannah Gallagher, B. Di. '02, were editors-in-chief in 1880.

Thirty Graduates Mentioned

The first nine pages of the 12-page issue are given over to comments and excerpts from the orations of the June graduates, in this instance thirty in number. Twenty-five students completed the elementary or two-year course, three the didactic or three-year course, and two the scientific or four-year course.

Among the graduates of whom the Alumnus has any record are: Sue Sawyer, N. C. '80; Jennie Mary Buchanan, N. C. '80; Mrs. Charles Dudley Williams (Carrie Williams), B. Di. '82; Carrie Lang, B. Di. '99, 641 Garfield Avenue, Pasadena, California; Mrs. Frank N. Packard (Alice Felmley), B. Di. '85, Eckert, Colorado; Mrs. David Goodale (Carrie Cox), N. C. '80, Reading, Massachusetts; Mrs. J. L. Raney (Kate M. Jones), B. Di. '94, Fairfield, Iowa; Ella D. Williams, B. Di. '82, Waterloo, Iowa; Jennie Love Buchanan, N. C. '80; Addie V. Gillespie, N. C. '80; Mrs. David Sands Wright (Eliza Rawstern), B. Di. '80; and Anna McGovern, B. S. '80, Los Angeles.

Alumni Register Gives Additional Data

About some others listed in the class of 1880 more is told in the last Alumni Register (1928). C. E. Moore, B. Di. '88, was farming at that time near Cassville, Missouri. Joel Edward McCarty, N. C. '80, was an architect at Columbus, Ohio. Kate E. Nevile Feltham, B. Di. '83, was an attorney at Weiser, Idaho.

Miss Gallagher was Mother Mary Leo, mother superior to the Sisters of Mercy at the Convent of Mercy, Omaha, Nebraska.

Maude Gilchrist, B. S. '80, was hall director of Oak Lodge, at Iowa State College, Ames.

Of the class, two were listed in the 1928 directory as deceased: Mrs. Charles W. Collins (Jessie Overman), '80, '81, and Edward T. Moyer, '78, '80, '81, who died on August 10, 1926.

Members who are not listed in the last alumni directory were Frank R. Gardner, Clara Cooke, Cora Pierce, Mary D. Ballantyne, Libbie A. Perkins, and Eva Cooks.

Among the news and personal paragraphs of "The Students Offering" was a notice that Professor Gilchrist performed the marriage of the late David Sands Wright, for many years on the faculty of the College, and Eliza Rawstern, one of the graduates of 1880. Another of the graduates of that year, Anna McGovern, was elected to the faculty of the Normal school.

A few of the other "local" items:

"A fresh crop of hay has been harvested on the Normal lawn, and makes the campus put on a somewhat of a cityfied appearance. The grounds have been so much improved in the last two years that it makes quite a summer resort, especially at this time of year.

Buggies Were Dangerous Those Days

"We are extremely sorry to hear that Miss Anna Jones was seriously injured in getting out of a buggy. May she speedily recover."

"Miss Libbie Perkins' mother and little brother came to hear her graduate, after which they will visit in the East."

Among the advertisers in "The Offering," only one firm is still known to Iowa State Teachers College students of today, Israel's Clothiers, although it was then operated by the father of its present proprietor.
Campus Life

Pictures on this page are from the 1934 Old Gold, student yearbook at Teachers College. This year’s edition of the Annual was profusely illustrated with views of campus life.

At the upper right, a group of students are shown working for their board, a very general practice for the past few years.

Bob Brown, Waterloo, B.A. ’34, was editor.

"Conserving to Be Seniors"

Freshmen, Sophs—

Paddling and other forms of hazing are now on the decline on most college campuses. At Teachers College the paddle is pretty much a ceremonial relic. The Sophomores still cling to the weapon as a method of enforcing the Freshman cap edict, and it is said that the paddle is still a cherished instrument in fraternities.

It’s Merely a Ceremonial Nowadays

Signing Jobs

Teaching vacancies are increasing, and the Placement Bureau finds itself busier than it has been in the past few years bringing graduates and students in contact with superintendents and school boards.

Placements Are On the Increase
Drama Shop Stages Two New Broadway Hits

First amateur productions of two Broadway hits were presented during the past school year by the drama division of the English Department at Teachers College. "Three-Cornered Moon" was presented in the fall term, and "Peace on Earth" in the spring. The other plays of the year have been Capek's "R. U. R.," and A. A. Milne's "The Perfect Alibi."

"Three-Cornered Moon," by Gertrude Tonkonogy, was offered as one of the activities of Homecoming last fall. "Peace on Earth" was presented at the College while it was still running in New York City. It is an anti-war play, written by the authors of "Merry-Go-Round," George Sklar and Albert Maltz. Forty-two players were in the cast, with twenty additional in the mob scenes. The play was presented in conjunction with the fourth annual Drama Conference at the College.

"Three-Cornered Moon"

Mechanical men in a futuristic world were depicted overcoming their masters in the play, "R. U. R.," presented in March. Capek's fantastic drama has been acclaimed a masterpiece by the leading critics of the stage in many countries and translated into nearly all European languages. The 1933-34 drama season ended at the College with the production of the commencement play, "The Perfect Alibi," by A. A. Milne. This play, a mystery comedy, is based on the solving of the murder of a house guest in the drawing room of an English country home.

All productions were directed by Hazel B. Strayer, B. A. '14, associate professor of oral interpretation. Stanley Wood, B. A. '31 had charge of the technical work in the fall and winter term plays, during the absence of Charles Holden.
Student Publications Win Honors
Two student publications at Teachers College have been awarded "All-American" honors in the National Scholastic Press Association contests during the school year just closed, and another, the Purple Pen, literary magazine, won second place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest and First Class honors in the national contest. The 1933-34 College Eye and the 1933 Old Gold were the publications which received the coveted "All-American" ranking, highest given in the N. S. P. A. critical service.

The "Eye" and the Old Gold were also awarded places in the state contest of the Iowa College Press Association, the "Eye" placing first with the best front-page makeup for papers of six columns or over and first with the best original advertisement. The Old Gold won first for the best "All-Around" book.

The College Eye scored 845 out of a possible 1,000 points in the national contest. This is the second year that the "Eye" has won top honors. This year's paper was edited by Richard Rickert, B. A. '34.

The Old Gold which won the superior rating was edited by Oscar Johnson, B. S. '33. The Annual received 925 out of a possible 1,000 points. Points lost were mainly for lack of uniformity in quality of pictures.

The Purple Pen was edited during the past year by Viola Ann Herrig, B. A. '34. It was entered in the Teachers College division of the Columbia contest, placing second, as it did the previous year. It received First Class honors in the national contest.

Three Hundred Mothers Are Guests
Approximately 300 mothers came to Cedar Falls the weekend of May 11-13 to visit sons and daughters who were attending Iowa State Teachers College.

Registration began on Friday evening, followed by the Blackhawk County Music Festival. Saturday, the May Fete, ruled by Lorinne Crawford, of Cedar Falls, as "Queen", was held in the Men's Gymnasium. More than four hundred mothers and students attended the luncheon Saturday in the Commons. Formal activity for the occasion closed with the Mother's Day services Sunday morning in the College Auditorium.

Fifteen Hundred in Music Festival
More than fifteen hundred school musicians took part in the program of the Blackhawk County Music Festival in Cedar Falls on May 11. The College Band and the College Symphony Orchestra, as well as all six of the college glee clubs, joined in the song fest with the rural schools' chorus, the sixth grade chorus, and ten high school glee clubs. C. A. Fullerton, head of the Music Department, was the director in charge of the festival.

Biology Fraternity Installed
Delta Iota Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, international honorary fraternity for biology students, was installed at the Iowa State Teachers College on May 25 in the Commons. The installation service was followed by a dinner, after which the group was addressed by Dr. C. L. Furrow of Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois, the installing officer, on recent trends in medical education.

Beta Beta Beta is the only honorary fraternity for undergraduates in the biology field.

Book of Student Verse Issued
Iowa State Teachers College's first book of student verse was issued on the campus on National Poetry day, May 22. The publication, entitled "A Book of Student Verse, 1927-1934," was sponsored by the local Lambda Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity.

The book opens, in lieu of a foreword, with these lines from Wordsworth:

"Dreams, books, are each a world;
and books
Are a substantial world,
both pure and good."

Fifty-two student poets contributed to the volume a total of seventy-eight poems. Sixteen women and seven men had more than one poem accepted, and four women have three poems in the book. One person, Jane Becknell, B. A. '32, is represented by four poems. Other prominent student poets represented are Dorothy De Zouche, B. A. '31, who recently had nine poems accepted by "The Poet," and who has been represented in "Adamant," "The Kaleidograph," and "The Rectangle"; and Marguerite Hoffman, whose poems have appeared in the New York Sun, "Forum," "Kaleidograph," and other publications.
Cass County, which led the enrollment in 1933, has the greatest number in the 1934 school, also, with 22 students. The branch school was held in Cass County last year, but this year it is at Corning in Adams County. Twenty-three of Iowa's 99 counties are represented.

Extension Service at "Far Corners"

Spanish is spoken in Ecuador, but it must be taught better in Iowa, for a school teacher in Quito, Ecuador, was studying Spanish by correspondence with the Extension Division of the College in the spring term.

Ruth Popejoy, a graduate from a two-year course at the Teachers College in 1922, is the teacher. She is now employed in a mission school in Quito. While this is not the farthest point the Extension Service has reached, Miss Popejoy is farther away than anyone now enrolled.

John Speer, Cedar Falls, recently completed a course while he was teaching at Ketchikan, Alaska. Correspondence work has been taken in the past by people in India, Burma, and the Panama Canal Zone, besides most of continental United States.

College Represented at Cleveland

Iowa State Teachers College was well represented by alumni at the Department of Superintendence meeting of the National Education Association in Cleveland, Ohio, from February 25 to March 1, 1934. Representation included two graduates who are now members of the college staff.

Dr. E. W. Goetch, B. Di. '96; M. Di. '09, director of the Placement Bureau at the Teachers College, addressed one of the groups on "The Problem of Teacher Placements," and spoke again on "The Problem of Guidance Within a Teacher Training Institution."

Fred D. Cram, M. Di. '08; B. A. '09, now associate professor of education in the Extension Division, was the other college staff member who attended the convention.

Other graduates who attended the meeting were Forest C. Ensign, B. Di. '94; M. Di. '95, now connected with the University of Iowa; S. T. Neveln, M. Di. '08; B. A. '16, now superintendent of schools at Austin, Minnesota; Lee L. Caldwell, B. A. '13, now superintendent of schools at Hammond, Indiana.

J. B. Edmonson, husband of Bess Josephine Chase, B. Di. '05; M. Di. '08; B. A. '11, was also at the convention. He is Dean of the School of Education at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Walter D. Cocking, husband of Etta O. Van Kirk, Kq. '14, also was there. Mr. Cocking is state commissioner of education in Tennessee, with headquarters in Nashville.

Agnes Samuelson, Iowa state superintendent of public instruction, with headquarters in Des Moines, was in attendance at the N. E. A. meeting also.

Boarding Club Still Active

Way back in the late fall of 1890 a group of young women students at what was then the Iowa State Normal School formed a boarding club which met at Mrs. Wilder's home downtown. The friendships which had their beginning around the dinner table have endured during the 43 years which intervened, being kept alive through a club letter which has been circulating for more than 40 years.

All the members of the club were teachers in Iowa, but time has scattered them from Minnesota to Texas and Oklahoma; from Washington, Colorado, and Iowa to Vermont and even to Luxor, Egypt.

The following of the group are now deceased: Mrs. Etta Calderwood Cooper, Oklahoma; Mae Calderwood, Iowa; Mrs. Anna Swanson Goldvig, Kansas; Mrs. Cornelia Hall Griffith, Texas; and Mrs. Gertrude Gregg Fitch, Vermont.

Those now living are: Mrs. James A. Caughey (Beatrice H. Evers) B. Di. '91, 630 13th Avenue N., Seattle, Washington; Mrs. Shirley Maynard Hammerley, Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Eva Cobb Eckerman, Loveland, Colorado; Nellie F. Hudson, M. Di. '93, Eldora, Iowa; and Rose Mintier, B. Di. '93, Assiut, Egypt.

Miss Hudson has recently retired from teaching, having been in school either as pupil or teacher for 60 consecutive years. When the 1928 Alumni Register was printed, Miss Hudson was principal of the junior high school at Staples, Minnesota. It is to her that the Alumnus is indebted for the information about this boarding club.

Miss Mintier taught for several years and for the last 15 years has been a missionary in Luxor, Egypt. She is now resting in an hospital at Assiut, preparing to return to the United States this summer.

The rest of the group are married and living in their own homes.

Two nieces of two of the members of the boarding club are enrolled in the Teachers College this summer term. They are Mariane and Margaret Calderwood, of Traer, Iowa. Their father, A. J. Calderwood, B. Di. '01, is a brother of Mae Calderwood and Mrs. Etta Calderwood Cooper.

"The new program in education must have for its clientele the entire population of the country, adults as well as youth. The schools of America have conquered illiteracy, but they have not overcome ignorance, prejudice, and credulity. As much, therefore, as we need to raise the standard of living in America today, we need infinitely more to raise the level of thinking. It is an educational task of tremendous proportions and extraordinary significance.

"The doctrine which holds that individualism is synonymous with selfishness is one that every thinking American should combat with all the force at his command. The idea that the aspirations, opportunities, and freedom of vision of some must be subjected to regimentation and restraint for the alleged benefit of the rest of us is absurd.

* * * * *

"If we concede that rugged individualism, possible in a wise people who are masters of their fate, broke down amid the filthy backwash of the World War, and if we grant that we have chosen capable leaders and given them large powers in order to guide them through the crisis, do these admissions necessarily imply that we should not preserve and perpetuate the fierce spirit of liberty handed down to our fathers? In the face of present perplexities, our only hope and protection is the free public school where intolerance, propaganda, and indoctrination are unknown."

Rites Read for E. E. Bartlett

Elmer Ellsworth Bartlett, B. Dl, ’83, passed away suddenly at his home in Blair, Nebraska, on March 29, 1934, and was tenderly laid to rest in Fairview Cemetery, Cedar Falls, Iowa, on Easter Sunday, by old-time friends of the Bartlett family.

Elmer Bartlett was born at western Linn County, Iowa, November 3, 1862. He was the elder son of the late Professor M. W. Bartlett, faculty member of the Iowa State Teachers College in whose honor the dormitory on the campus is named “Bartlett Hall.”

He received his grade and high school education in the public schools of Iowa. Entering Iowa State Teachers College, he there received the Bachelor of Didactics Degree. While a student he was a faithful member of the Philomathean Society.

Entering the classical and scientific courses at Iowa College, Grinnell, Iowa, he later received his Bachelor of Arts Degree, having been in the meantime an honorary member of the Christomathian Society.

In 1894 he was graduated from the University of Michigan’s Science Department, receiving therefrom his Master’s Degree. In those college days his scholarly qualifications, his equable temper, his fidelity in the discharge of duty won for him the confidence of all who knew him.

Mr. Bartlett taught for several years in the high schools of Ogden and Orient, Iowa, teaching history, Latin, and mathematics. Finding that he preferred a business life, he became connected with the State Bank at Cedar Falls, remaining in this capacity for ten years. Later he was interested in business investments and insurance.

He was a life-long member of the First Congregational Church and was always an enthusiastic worker in its various departments.

He was a beloved citizen in whatever community he lived. He lived his best each day, speaking kindly to everyone and accepting in full every responsibility that came to him. Kindliness and gentlemanliness were his outstanding characteristics.

His death was very sudden, the messenger coming for him as he was resting after luncheon. And so silent and swift was the coming that he passed on in sleep.

Services were conducted by Reverend Floyd Reeves on Easter Day at Cedar Falls from the First Congregational Church where the family had so often worshipped. Reverend Reeves was assisted in the service by Mr. Roger Leavitt, an old-time friend. Burial was in Fairview beside the loved father and mother.

Many floral tributes were received from old-time friends as a last tribute of love for the dead and sympathy for the living. Many messages came also from those who had been associated with him in years gone by, particularly from old faculty members who had been so close to the Bartlett family for many years.

One such said of him: “Could more families give us sons as loyal and true to the Heavenly Father, to right and duty as this dear friend who has just gone to his reward, the world would not be in the condition it is now.”

There survive Mr. Bartlett to mourn his passing his loved wife, Lily Bartlett; a sister, Mrs. Austin Burt, nee Mary Bartlett, Ontario, California, and a brother, W. A. Bartlett, Pomona, California. These have lost a husband and brother who was honest and true and Christ-like.

(The foregoing item concerning Mr. Bartlett’s death was prepared for the Alumnus through the courtesy of Mrs. Elmer E. Bartlett.)

Two Glee Clubs Present Concert

Two Teachers College glee clubs, the women’s Cecilian and the men’s Minnesinger, presented their forty-fifth annual spring concert Thursday evening, May 10, at 8:15 o’clock in the College Auditorium. Both glee clubs were organized in 1889.

Lauretta Starr, Springville, mezzo soprano, was soloist when the Cecilians sang “Call to Remembrance,” by Farrani. She was a pupil of Olive Barker, instructor in voice and music, who directs the group.

Accompanists for the concert were Miriam Marston, Mason City, for the Cecilians, and Frederick Feldman, Cedar Falls, for the Minnesingers. For the mixed chorus singing of the finale from Gilbert and Sullivan’s “The Gondoliers,” two pianos were used, played by Mr. Feldman and Ralph Moritz, Waterloo.

W. E. Hays, assistant professor of voice at the College, is director of the Minnesinger Glee Club.

Phi Sigma Phi Highest in Scholarship

The Phi Sigma Phi Sorority at Teachers College won the scholarship trophy, “Lady Victory,” the highest award of the three presented this spring. Pi Tau Phi Sorority won the second place plaque.

The V. O. V. Sigma Phi, whose pledges ranked first in scholarship among sorority neophites, won the silver loving cup for pledges.
Trackmen Pile Up High Scores

Win Four Meets; Take First Trophies in College Section of Invitation Relays—State Collegiate Group Here Next Year

One of the most successful season’s in years was concluded by the Teachers College track team at Cedar Falls, May 26, when they won for the seventh consecutive time the track championship of the Iowa Conference.

Officially, the track season at Teachers College got under way early in March when Coach A. D. Dickinson took a promising sophomore runner, Orville Nichols, of Hemet, California, to the Armour Indoor Relays at Chicago. Nichols, with but two weeks of preparation, won the 440-yard dash against a field of mid-western thin-clads.

Hastings Relays First Event of Year

The Hastings Relays at Hastings, Nebraska, provided the first outdoor meet for the Panther tracksters. In the Hastings meet, the Teachers College 880-yard relay team took a third, and the Tutor mile relay quartet was third. Roland White, Iowa Falls, a sophomore, tied for first in the pole vault.

The Teachers College Relays, one of the most outstanding meets for Iowa high schools, was enlarged this year to include a college section. In addition to State Teachers, the Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, and Carleton teams competed.

Relay Teams Take Trophies

The Panther 440-yard, 880-yard and mile relay teams won the first trophies ever awarded in the Teachers College Relays for collegiate competition. In view of the fact that the Relays have never included a college section, the times recorded by the relay teams will stand as official records.

Although there was no point system utilized at the Relays, the Tutor athletes took the lion’s share in the individual field and track events.

Two trophies were added to the collection in the Men’s Gymnasium as a result of the competition at the annual Drake Relays. The 880-yard relay quartet composed of Willys O. Hulin, Gilman: Orville Nichols, Hemet, California; Earl Meikle, Oelwein, and Anson Vinall, Newton, won first in the Iowa college section of the meet.

The mile relay team was also first to the tape in the Iowa college section. Members of the mile relay team were, Anson Vinall, Orville Nichols, Earl Meikle, and John Walgren, Harcourt.

Teachers First in Triangular Meet

The exceptional strength and balance of the Teachers’ track team held them in good stead at the annual Coe-Teachers-Cornell triangular meet, and when the scoring was completed, State Teachers stood out in first place.

The Iowa State collegiate meet was next, with all of the schools in the state entered. In this meet, Teachers College placed fifth. Roland White again tied for a first in the pole vault. Nichols took a third in the 220-yard dash.

Six colleges attended the Luther invitational meet at Decorah, May 19. Coach Dickinson’s thin-clads had little trouble in compiling the sufficient number of points to win the meet.

Win First in Conference Meet

Piling up 56½ points, the Teachers College track team won the Iowa Conference meet at Cedar Falls on May 26. Iowa Wesleyan was second with 44½ points.

Orville Nichols was responsible for 17½ of his team’s total points with a first in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the broad jump, in addition to anchoring both relay quartets.

Charles Barg, Montezuma, attended the Minnesota A. A. U. track meet in Minneapolis as an individual, not as a representative of the College, and placed third in both the shot put and the discus throw.

Nichols Fourth at Marquette in 440

Orville Nichols, Hemet, California, Teachers College track man, won fourth place for the Tutors in the 440-yard run in the Central Intercollegiate Meet at Marquette University in Milwaukee, a post-season encounter early in June. Roland White, Iowa Falls, another Tutor entry, tied with three others for third place in the pole vault.

Next year, Teachers College will entertain the annual State Collegiate meet at the Tutor stadium, for which the date has not been set. Coaches have long recognized the fact that the Tutor track is one of the fastest in the state.
Football Prospects Promising

Fourteen Letter-Men Expected To Return — Second Year for System Used by Coach John Baker

FOURTEEN men who won their letters on the 1933 football team may be available for Coach John Baker's 1934 Panther eleven. Seven of these are men who worked in the backfield last year. Lester Peterson, Alta, diminutive quarter-back, who scored two touchdowns in the Columbia College opener, in all probability, will be back this year. Others who saw action at the quarter post and who have not graduated are Harry Helgason, Wallingford, who spends the greater part of his time at fullback, and "Chuck" Potter, Hutchinson, Minnesota, halfback. Potter spent considerable of his time during the 1933 season on the bench with injuries.

Others who undoubtedly will be trying for places in the backfield are Willard Carson, Valley Junction, a converted end; Myron Cedermold, Waterloo; Paul Hoeman, Adair; and Ray Smalling, Janesville, another former wingman. As candidates for places in the forward wall, Coach Baker will have such material as William Schulz, Naperville, Illinois; James DeSpain, Marengo; William Chambers, Anderson; Vernon Stiblrey, Correctionville; Wallace "Tuffy" Stewart, Banning, California, and Steward Seidler, Waterloo, who returned last year for his first football season since 1926. Seidler was the only man to play all the first three games of the 1933 season.

Likely Prospects Among Freshmen

Besides the letterwinners, there will be a number of likely prospects from last year's freshman eleven who will be battling for positions on the varsity squad.

There will also be a number of non-lettermen of last year's squad back. Among them will probably be George Dana, Manson, a reserve half-back; Bud LeGrand, Los Angeles, tackle; William Kirsh, Valley Junction; Wendell Griggs, Cedar Falls, and Howard Barry, Woodbine.

The 1933 Panther team, learning a system entirely new to them, won three and lost six games on their schedule. This year, with a score or so men coming in to play their second year under the celebrated Jones system that Coach Baker brought with him from Southern California, the Tutor gridmen can look forward with considerable confidence to the coming season.

Netsters Meet Big Ten Teams

Teachers College netsters broke even on their season of play, winning and losing three matches. Meets were arranged with tennis teams from three conferences, one game in the Mid-West Conference, two in the Big Ten, and three in the Iowa Conference.

Defeat Penn College 5 to 1

The season opened for the Panthers at Oskaloosa, where Penn College was defeated 5 to 1. Illinois University and the University of Iowa both took the measure of the Tutors on the home courts 6 to 0, and Carleton at Northfield beat them 5 to 1.

In conjunction with the Iowa Conference track meet late in May at Cedar Falls, the conference tennis tournament was played. Stanley Reeves, Cedar Falls, was runner-up in the singles.

Four of the Teachers College team were awarded letters by the Athletic Board. They are Richard Rickert, Waterloo; Don Klotz, Wintrop; William McNabb, Cedar Falls, and Reeves. The only other Teachers men to see service were Leon Baral, Cedar Falls, who played against the freshmen, a match which the varsity won 6 to 2; and Elliot Hutton, Marion, who played in one doubles match.

Clouters Provide Thrills In Successful Season

What promised to be one of the most dismal seasons in the history of baseball at State Teachers College turned out to be a more than successful one.

Coach L. W. (Munn) Whitford started the season with an unusually small squad. Only four lettermen were in the ranks as the season opened. Of the four, only three had ever served as regulars on any previous Tutor ball club. Cold and inclement weather kept the erstwhile baseball candidates indoors for much of the first week of practice.

Dust Hides Outfield

In a swirling dust storm, which kept the outfield invisible most of the time, the Panther club opened its season against the strong University of Iowa nine. Don Blanchard, Lone Rock, veteran Panther shortstop, fractured his ankle just before gametime, necessitating a hasty replacement for this important position.

In a two-game series with Iowa State College at Ames, the Tutors were defeated 15 to 6, but on the second day hung up a 9 to 7 victory.

Simpson, an Iowa Conference foe, was next defeated by Coach Whitford's rapidly improving club, 7 to 3.

Two more Iowa Conference opponents were met by the Teachers' nine during their road campaign. Two Panther pitchers were pounded by Luther for a 7 to 2 victory at Decorah, but Upper Iowa was held to one run by alert pitching and "heads up" fielding, the Teachers winning by an 8 to 1 margin. The final game in the road series was played at Northfield, Minnesota, in a tilt with Carleton College. The Panthers lost 11 to 8, to conclude their off-campus campaign.

Iowa State Downed 4 to 3

Two more games with Iowa State were next on the card. The first game was won 4 to 3 in the ninth frame when Dick Rollins, Fredericksburg, stepped up to the plate with the sacks loaded and pounded out a circuit clout.

Teachers College won the final game in the Cyclone series by pounding out a 5 to 2 victory over their State College rivals.

Another game with Simpson was carded for May 21, but had to be called off because of rain. This was the only cancellation of the season.

Teachers were host to the Carleton club at Cedar Falls on May 24. After piling up a three run lead, the Panthers had two disastrous innings, with the result that the Carls were leading 5 to 3 in the final stanza. Timely singles ended the ball game with a 6 to 5 victory for Teachers.

The potent Luther club, conqueror of three Big Ten opponents, was the next opponent on the Panther card. Gordon Blanchard, Lone Rock, a sophomore hurler, held the Norse to seven hits and one run. The Tutor club had a 5 to 1 lead when the ballgame ended.

Fourteen See Service This Year

Those who saw service on Coach Whitford's 1934 baseball club were Ray Smalling, Janesville; Everett Scott, Waterloo; William Meyer, Holland; Gordon Blanchard, Lone Rock; Dick Rollins, Fredericksburg; Harry Kreig, Volga City; Al Ogland, Williams; Francis Talarico, Des Moines; Verne Miller, West Bend; Nevin Bowen, Cedar Falls; Don Blanchard, Lone Rock; Truman Manship, LeGrand; Verle Donald, Promise City, and John Champlin, Iowa Falls.

At all home games this year, the players occupied dugouts in a new baseball stadium south of the football field. The new structure is V shaped, facing the north and the west. It is of wood construction set on a concrete base.

Seats for nearly 1,000 spectators are provided by the new bleachers. Two complete dugouts are provided each team. The construction was under the direction of E. E. Cole, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and the plant was constructed by the college buildings and grounds department.

Francis Garner Miller, B. Di. '92, M. Di. '93, died March 8, 1934, in Moscow, Idaho.

Dr. Miller was Dean of the University of Idaho School of Forestry, a post he has held since 1917. In 1907 he organized the College of Forestry of the University of Washington at Seattle and was Dean until 1912, when he entered business. He was induced to return to forestry in 1915, and became head of the Forestry Department of the State College of Washington.

He is survived by his widow, the former Evelyn Depew, M. Di. '98.

By order of the Board of Directors, the following is spread upon the records of the North Idaho Forestry Association:

"Whereas, Francis Garner Miller as Dean of the School of Forestry of the University of Idaho and member of the State Cooperative Board of Forestry of Idaho, throughout his long period of contact with the North Idaho Forestry Association consistently exhibited the highest type of leadership, outstanding even in the able, public spirited group of professional foresters of which he was a highly respected member:

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Directors ... that in the death of Francis Garner Miller the Association has lost one of its most valued and respected councillors and one who has left vacant a place which cannot be filled."

From Yale University, where Dean Miller took his doctor's degree, comes this statement: "Dean Miller was one of our most admired and beloved alumni. He was a tower of strength in the profession. His achievements place him among our great leaders and teachers of forestry."

A colleague of Dean Miller at the University of Washington has this to say about him: "Friends and the world have experienced a permanent enrichment through his creative life.

"A man of great external calm, of simplicity of demeanor, whose tenacity of purpose could be seen only after its complete and difficult achievement. Faithful always to his friends and the best that was in him. And like his beloved forests always growing and pointing skyward. He called into existence or nurtured two great institutions of wholly noble and unselfish purpose; of how few men can this be truly said. He both planted and watered, and his saplings have at length become trees of beauty like the Cedars of Lebanon. His memory will be to us a permanent source of inspiration—a call to courage and endeavor."
William S. Rownd, age 87, father of Nellie M. Rownd, M. D. '01, died February 21, 1934, at Cedar Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Rownd operated the former Rownd Hall, a home for students in Cedar Falls.

After graduation from the Iowa State Normal School, he became principal of the Spencer, Iowa, Business University, of which he was later president for three years. He also organized the Estherville Business College, which was later consolidated with Buena Vista College at Storm Lake.

In 1915, Mr. Strawn became dean of the School of Commerce of Highland Park College, Des Moines. He carried on research work in printing and printing papers after he left the Des Moines school in 1919.

As president of the Omigraph Printing Company he made entry into the field of research and one of his greatest accomplishments was the perfecting of the dry offset rotary press. For the past ten years, he had continued his research work in the east, the past six years enlarging his scope of activity to include a scientific study of paper used in the printing industry. His last and perhaps most distinguished accomplishment was the development of a new type of leather from parchment paper.

Surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Rachel E. Strawn, are four children, four grandchildren, four sisters, an adopted sister, and a brother.
