HOMECOMING

The One Big Get-together For Alumni, Students, and Faculty Members — The Alumni Luncheon and Annual Business Meeting.

October 22, 1932
"True Scholar" Pictured by Graduation Speaker

THE picture of the scholar as an anaemic, stoop-shouldered, retiring individual so commonly presented to the public through moving pictures, the press, and the theater was denounced by the June commencement speaker, Dr. A. H. Upham, president of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, who spoke to 464 spring term graduates in the Men's Gymnasium Monday, May 30, on the subject "Gentleman and Scholar."

In the place of the popular conception, Dr. Upham presented the scholar as a "dynamic thinker and doer." "The real scholar," he said, "is a man who does for a cause. He is a man with creative imagination. He is self-denying, but he has a great deal of ego, and is enormously pleased with himself."

Dr. Upham listed four characteristics of the true scholar. "First," he said, "is intellectual curiosity; second, is an interest in ideas rather than things; third, a regard for accuracy of fact; fourth, an ideal of self-denial and service plus a recognition of his own significance."

"Scholarship," said the speaker, "has in it a combination of two things; a respect for accuracy of detail against a comprehensive background. This accuracy of detail is recognized by the scholar as the basis for the motive power of creative ability."

Dr. Upham first presented a picture of the gentlemen-scholars of the time of Samuel Pepys, describing their background as the ripest, busiest civilization England has known until the present. "Great strides were being taken in learning," he said, "after the slowing up that came later from puritanism, and science even then was threatening the strongholds of orthodox beliefs. But many of the scholars were gentlemen and many of the gentlemen were proud to be scholars.

"Today in a similar period of over-ripe civilization those who aspire to be men and women of affairs and occupy positions of eminence have been slow to recognize the appeal of scholarship. Too often we get our conception of scholars from movie-screen or comic-strip, and set up a picture of stooped and anaemic weaklings who are out of place in society and unable to make a living except as objects of charity. We forget that most of our great leaders in scholarship today are far from being "highbrows," as we have called them. The Hoovers and Owen Youngs, the Millikens and Comptons are really splendid examples of the gentleman-scholar, worthy of anybody's emulation.

"There is so much today that scholarship has done and is doing. In Elizabethan England, before Pepys lived and wrote, men boasted of their gentleman-adventurers, bold, far-seeing men like Francis Drake and Walter Raleigh who steered frail little barks into distant, unknown seas seeking new discoveries and new lands for the crown. Maps of the world in those days still contained great blank spaces marked "Terra Incognita" (unknown land). Nowadays the entire surface of the globe is mapped and charted, but the call to gentlemanadventurers of daring and vision is as distinct as ever. Our “terra incognita” is not geographic; it is in the ether about us, and in the minds and hearts of men. We have speculated as to Lindbergh’s “We,” forgetting that there traveled with him in his flight across the seas a mighty company of unknown heroes. These were they who in closet and laboratories for years before his flight had pursued experiments that made possible the internal-combustion engine, had worked out the formulas of stress and strain, and had mastered the secrets of air-currents. The gentleman-adventurers of today are gentleman-scholars.

Scholarship Positive, Not Negative

"Perhaps we have failed to appreciate this because we have not really understood the spirit of scholarship; we have considered it as negative rather than positive. Let us see if we can agree in defining its essentials. One of its first essentials certainly is intellectual curiosity, the spirit of inquiry, a consuming interest in the “why” of things. We all have it as children. Somewhere along the way, in the very process of what we call “getting educated,” all too many of us lose it. We desire to appear sophisticated, and sophistication implies disillusionment. “Be nonchalant,” the advertisements admonish us. And youth, at the age of natural enthusiasms, paying for an education and surrounded by the heaped-up learning of the ages, foolishly stifles the very impulse that will make an education possible. Nonchalance may be all very well for the indolent cake-eater; it is not the stuff of which scholars are made.

Interest In Ideas Necessary

“It is also essential that we be interested in ideas as well as things. To be interested in things is all right as far as it goes. The remarkably busy days of undergraduate life will no doubt be projected out into your entire careers. Life also has many “big activity men.” Clubs and committees, sports and luncheons occupy the time of all of us. “I am so full of business,” Shakespeare has a character say, “that I cannot answer these acutely.” There is the rub of it. Our gentleman-scholars must needs be men of affairs, but they must also be men of acute answers; they must be able to philosophize facts and life into ideas and those ideas good ones. All the petty social machinery of Pepys’ day has passed away and been forgotten. The art has lived and the ideas have matured and flowered.

“There is no great scholarship without depth and accuracy of knowledge. Sometimes there are captivating ideas and brilliant flights of fancy based on mistaken conceptions of fact, but they lead only to disappointment and disaster. Lindbergh's flight would have been a brilliant thing if his calculations had been wrong, but he would have met a watery grave. Accuracy of detail for many of us is a trying and unpleasant thing and modern education has been trying to escape the drudgery of it. Now employers complain of the difficulty of securing high-school and college graduates who can spell and add a column of figures.

"The real spirit of scholarship is the spirit of service. Many of our greatest investigators work not for personal profit but to add to human knowledge, to benefit mankind. Scholarship is a service-calling and he who must always watch the clock and fret over his pay check would better transfer at once to the bond business. Of course the laborer is worthy of his hire and for the real creative scholar the rewards are ample.

"Perhaps a better way to put it is to say that scholarship has in it something of art and the scholar is a sort of artist—the prophet-bard of a new day. His reward, like that of poet or painter, is in the glory of achievement, for he is the interpreter of things to the public. Like all great artists, he must often be ahead of his time, be misunderstood and made the object of ridicule. If we could know what is going on today in the research laboratories of our largest industrial concerns we might marvel at the expensive foolhardiness of great corporations. But the scholar, however self-denying in service, accepts this bardic function and takes pride in it, whether the public understands or not. Hence we often brand him as an egotist. Perhaps he is. Perhaps, too, he is our real super-man.

"These qualities represent a composite picture of the scholar as some of us conceive of him today. Certainly in this picture you have no shrinking, negative personality; no anaemic weakling, but a virile, positive character, distinctly of the crowd but thoroughly capable of leading it. Against the college professor as he appears in moving pictures, suppose we set up the sculptor Rodin's conception of "The Thinker." That splendid full-muscled figure represents one who has mingled and buffeted with the crowd and can do it again; but for a time he has drawn apart to meditate and philosophize upon his experiences. Exactly such is our all-round man, the gentleman and scholar."
Rain Hampers Graduation Events

Rain which continued intermittently throughout the morning made it impossible to have the traditional commencement procession. The graduates and faculty members assembled in the corridor of the Men's Gymnasium and marched directly into the main room of the building where the exercises were held. Approximately 2,500 friends and relatives witnessed the commencement exercises which moved forward with dignity and precision.

The faculty male quartet gave the opening number of the commencement exercises, singing "Sunset" by Van de Water. The quartet was composed of W. E. Hays, professor of voice and public school music, first tenor; L. A. Richman, professor of voice, second tenor; H. M. Kauffman, extension instructor in public school music, baritone, and I. W. Wolfe, instructor in public school music, bass. The invocation was pronounced by Dr. Howland Hanson, supervisor of religious education at the College. This was followed by a musical number by the faculty string quartet, composed of Edward Kurtz, head of the Orchestral Music Department, first violin; Harvey Waugh, assistant professor of violin and ensemble, second violin; Marlys Schwarck, instructor in orchestral music, viola, and Roland Searight, assistant professor of orchestral conducting and violoncello, cello.

The commencement address was followed by the conferring of degrees and diplomas by S. A. Lynch, head of the English Department at the College. Mr. Lynch presented the diplomas in the absence of President O. R. Latham, who was called away on business.

The exercises of commencement week began with the traditional band concert on the College Library steps at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, May 25, with Walter Emch, instructor in orchestral music, conducting.

The events of Thursday included a baseball game between the Teachers College and the University of Minnesota on the athletic field at 3 p.m., and the presentation of "The Rivals," Sheridan's famous eighteenth century comedy of manners, by students of the drama division of the English Department, in the College Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock in the evening. Hazel B. Strayer, professor of oral interpretation, was director, and Charles Holden, instructor in English, was technical director of the play. The production was presented with a background of painted "drops" just as it was given in 1775 in London. A second performance was given Friday evening.

On Saturday afternoon the students, graduates, and alumni attended the baseball game between Teachers and Luther College.

Commencement Party

Approximately 600 students, alumni, and faculty members were in attendance at the annual commencement dinner at 5 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, in the Women's Gymnasium. I. H. Hart, director of the Extension Division, presided as toastmaster in a program with the campanile as its theme. The Alumni Association held a business meeting at the conclusion of the toast program.

The commencement party started at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening in the Men's Gymnasium.

Dr. J. Richmond Morgan, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Waterloo, delivered the baccalaureate sermon in the College Auditorium at 10:30 a.m. Sunday. Dr. Hanson presided, and George W. Samson, professor of organ, played the organ prelude and processional.

Members of the class of 1907 met for dinner at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in Bartlett Hall Dining Room. Fifteen of more that 200 members of this class live in Cedar Falls or Waterloo, while others are scattered over all parts of the United States. Members of the reunion committee included Mrs. Ruth Johnson Corning, P.S.M. '19, chairman; Mrs. Mary Barnum Kadesch, B.A. '11, and Mrs. Edith Riland Cross, Kgs. '11, all of Cedar Falls.

An alumni tea at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon brought to a close the activities of the week preceding the commencement exercises on the following day.

Dr. Ira B. Roadman, B.Di. '88, Iowa State Teachers College; M.D. '98, University of Minnesota, has retired from active practice and purchased a home at 1842 Sargent Street, St. Paul, Minnesota. He recently moved to his new home from Minneapolis.

For many years Dr. Roadman was a physician in the Indian Service at Ponsford, Minnesota. He is an uncle of Dr. Earl Roadman, who is president of Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, South Dakota.
Nearly Six Hundred at Commencement Dinner

GRADUATES, alumni, faculty members, and friends and relatives of the candidates for degrees and diplomas, including 577 persons, on Saturday, May 28, took part in one of the most colorful commencement dinners held in recent years at the College. The banqueters gathered on the front lawn of Bartlett Hall for an informal reception and at 6 p.m. filed into the second floor rooms of the Women's Gymnasium where, in the place of basketball courts and physical education equipment, they found a scene gay and beautiful in Italian settings.

Italian Setting

The Italian decorations planned by Mrs. Iris Branagan, assistant professor of art, included a stage picture featuring an Italian scene. The stage settings included a miniature campanile, a fountain, and platform for the orchestra, all set off against a background of blue sky. Search lights were arranged to play on the water from the fountain.

The long, white dining tables were decorated with clusters of purple and gold balloons, and overhead were Japanese lanterns which provided a soft lighting effect throughout the large room. Waiters in Italian dresses served the dinner, which was prepared under the direction of Miss Ruth Mitchell, director of cafeteria and dining room. Mr. I. H. Hart, director of the Extension Division at the College, presided as toastmaster.

Before the toast program, recognition was given to the Class of 1907 and 1882, as well as to alumni from out of the state, all alumni present, and to relatives of the graduates. Alumni from out of the state included those from Montana, North Dakota, Illinois, and Minnesota. The sounding of the campanile was simulated by numbers played on the xylophone for the four quarters of the hour preceding the giving of the respective toasts. Music was presented by the college orchestra, and following the community singing, Mr. Virgil Lekin, B.A. '32, of Parnell, Iowa, responded to the toast "The Quarter Hour." Dr. J. W. Charles, professor of education, gave a toast on "The Half Hour," followed by vocal solos of Italian songs by Mrs. Elizabeth Burney Schmidt, P.S.M. '09, Voice '11. L. H. Minkel, B.Di. '94, M.Di. '95, responded at the "Three Quarter Hour." Following this, the chimes were presented by Mr. Irving Wolfe.

In the absence of the president of the Alumni Association, J. Dale Welsch, B.A. '22, superintendent of schools at Elkader, Iowa, First Vice President, Glen Cowan, B.A. '20, principal at Iowa Falls school, Iowa Falls, Iowa, conducted the business meeting which followed the dinner.

The secretary's report of the business meeting follows:

The minutes of the previous annual meeting were read and approved.

The treasurer reported $19.62 in the treasury. Accepted.

Mr. A. C. Fuller reported for the Seerley Foundation.

Miss Emma Lambert reported that the special committee to investigate the possibility of a permanent secretary had made their report to the president and that their committee had been combined with a larger one which the president of the Alumni Association had appointed.

General Reunion Discussed

Mr. A. C. Fuller, M.Di. '99, director of the Extension Division, reported for the special committee to investigate and formulate plans for an alumni meeting in Chicago during the Century of Progress Convention in 1933. Letters had been sent to each alumnus in Chicago and Evanston, asking for suggestions. Replies from approximately twenty alumni showed interest in organizing a unit in Chicago for the purpose of planning a get together in Chicago in 1933.

On the suggestion of Benjamin Boardman, financial secretary at the College, Mr. Fuller told of the work being done on the Campanile. This included repairing the roof and installing a motor and electrical equipment for the clock and chimes.

Mr. Cowan summarized the business of the two special meetings called by the president.

Mr. Fred Cram, B.A. '09, moved a change in Article IV of the old constitution: that the time of the alumni business meeting be changed from the time of the June commencement to the Homecoming date. This was carried. Thus the election of new officers was not to be held. This was not to affect the social gatherings at the commencement season.

After discussion on the question of the Iowa State Teachers College reunion in Minneapolis at the time of the winter meeting of the National Department of Superintendence, Miss Sara Riggs, B.Di. '85, moved to appoint Mr. Robert Fullerton, M.Di. '95, as a committee of one to convey to the Branch Alumni Association of the Twin Cities the suggestion that they extend to us an invitation to come to a reunion at the time of the meeting of the Department of Superintendence. Carried.

Adjournment for the party.

Lou A. Shepherd, Secretary.

MEMBERS OF '17 CLASS WIRE GREETINGS

President Emeritus Homer H. Seerley received a telegram on May 28 bringing greetings from members of the Class of 1917 who are living in New York City. The wire was received the day of the Commencement Dinner at the College.

Members of the class signing the telegram were Charlotte Brockenthein, B.A. '17; Emma Ehlers, B.A. '17, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '25, Columbia University; Mrs. Marius Underwood (Lorena Meek) H.E. '17, Iowa State Teachers College; B.S. '23, Columbia University; Henrietta Radell, B.A. '17, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. Columbia University, and Lawrence M. Jepsen, B.A. '17, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '18, Columbia University.

B. F. Osborn, '78, a member of the Board of Trustees of Teachers College from 1902 until the State Board of Education assumed control of the state educational institutions in 1909, was Iowa's oldest delegate at the Republican National Convention held at Chicago recently. Mr. Osborn is from Rippey, Iowa.

Mrs. L. W. Boe (Helga Jacobson), B.Di. '04, of 1308 St. Olaf Avenue, Northfield, Minnesota, wife of Dr. Boe, president of St. Olaf College of Northfield, was a visitor at the College in June. Mrs. Boe called on President Emeritus Homer H. Seerley and other friends at the College. She was accompanied on her trip to Cedar Falls by her two daughters, Esther, age 16, and Margaret, 13.

Mr. Boe was at one time president of Waldorf College at Forest City, Iowa.

Donald Sims, grandson of Mrs. Mary Achenebach (Mary Fairfield), B.Di. '93, of Gladbrook, Iowa, is attending the Teachers College Training School this summer.

Inez Johnson, B.A. '32, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, has secured a position as teacher of violin and voice at Wartburg Junior College at Waverly, Iowa, for next year.
Twenty-Five-Year Class Enjoys Reunion Dinner

NINETEEN members of the Class of 1907 and seven guests were entertained by the College at a Reunion Dinner in Bartlett Hall Dining Room, Sunday, May 29, as part of the June commencement activities.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis Begeman acted as host and hostess respectively. Mrs. Begeman was before her marriage (Mary A. Whitworth), B.Di. '07.

Dr. Seerley, Mrs. Latham Among Guests

After enjoying old photographs of the class and of the class play for 1907, and after perusing the Annual of that year and the Normal Eyte, the class members and their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Homer H. Seerley, Mrs. O. R. Latham, Judge Carl W. Reed and son, and Miss Addie E. Havens, B.Di. '11, B.A. '14; Frank L. Byrnes, M.Di. '08, B.A. '18, of Petersburg, North Dakota, assembled in the dining room for the Reunion Dinner.

At the close of the dinner the hostess called upon each person present for a word of greeting and a brief account of his or her activities since graduation from the College. These personal glimpses were full of interest and given in sparkling manner, affording the laughs required after any good dinner.

Many fields of work have been entered by the "1907'ers." Almost every kind of work from farming and salesmanship to teaching and undertaking was represented. Dr. Martha Cowie, B.Di. '07, chiropractor of Cedar Falls, offered to "insure the health of the entire class."

Nora B. Treganza, B.Di. '07, of Britt, who is in the undertaking and furniture business, promised to "bury the class members in case the doctor fails."

Alice Swensen Reed, B.Di. '07, of Cresco, state corresponding secretary for the Iowa Federation of Woman's Clubs, said that she entered the legal profession via matrimony and brought Judge Reed along to adjust any marital difficulties.

Hazel Webster Byrnes, B.Di. '07, M.Di. '09, B.A. '10, Librarian at the State Teachers College at Mayville, North Dakota, was "willing to supplement the knowledge of her class members on any subject," but said that she preferred anything relating to North Dakota, now her home.

U. S. Government Represented

The other Hazel of the group, Hazel Cam ery Morrow, B.Di. '07, of Traer, as postmistress, said that she represented the United States government for the class.

Blanche Martin Petersen, B.Di. '07, of Waterloo, supervises 40 saleswomen for "Book Trails" and asked the reunion celebrants to treat her saleswomen kindly when they call. She reported herself as "grandma."

Agriculture was reported by Mayne
Spaulding, B.Di. '07, and Bernice Dilts Spaulding, B.Di. '07; Isabel Taylor Whannel, B.Di. '07, of Traer; Mrs. Mabel K. Frisby Grimm, M.Di. '07, of Ionia, and Martha Souk-up, M.Di. '07, of Reinbeck. These people guaranteed plenty of food for the class.

Maude McChane Wagner, P.S.M. '07, of Waterloo, said she represented "wet goods" and solicited patronage of the class for milk and gasoline when they happen to travel her way.

Grace Kroesen Sucher, H.D. '07, of Cedar Falls, said she "takes in the tourists who call."

Those who have remained faithful to the teaching profession were Miss Myrtle Gaffin, B.Di. '07, instructor in commercial education at the Teachers College, and Luetta Knights, M.Di. '07, of Marshalltown.

Messages Read At Dinner

Messages were received from three other teachers including Ida M. Huglin, M.Di. '07, of Teachers College, now on leave of absence studying at the University of Minnesota: Joanna Hansen, A. '07, B.A. '07, head of the Home Economics Department at Iowa State College at Ames, and Mrs. A. J. Ramker (Nellie C. McEnery), B.Di. '07, of 3743 West Sixty-fourth Place, Chicago, Illinois, at present in the Günsaulus School of Chicago.

Margaret Kelly Casey, B.Di. '07, of Cedar Falls; Verna Hallowell Park, B.Di. '07, of Waterloo, and Mary Whitworth Begeman, B.Di. '07, announced themselves as home makers "with the usual outside interests." Mrs. Begeman has been in the P. E. O. sisterhood for the past six years. She was the state president of that organization last year.

Dr. Seerley Gives Talk

Words of greeting were spoken by all of the guests, and at the conclusion of the dinner Dr. Seerley spent some time telling of the early days at Teachers College and gave a fitting close to the hour in remembrance of 25 years ago. After the dinner, the group returned to Bartlett Hall parlors where they visited and afterward assembled on the front lawn to have their picture taken for the Alumnus. They later visited Miss Gaffin's beautiful garden nearby and inspected the plans for her house that is in the process of building. Many of the members of the 25-year class remained for the alumni tea which was held at 5 p.m. in the faculty rooms of the College.

The Annual College Dinner

Thursday, November 3, is the date which has been set for the Annual College Dinner at the Hotel Fort Des Moines, this year, which as usual will be held in connection with the State Teachers Association convention. The alumni will gather at 5 o'clock for the social hour as usual, and the dinner itself will be held beginning at 6 o'clock. Plans are already under way for the program full of variety and inspiration and alumni may be assured that there will be no depression as far as the Annual Reunion Dinner is concerned.

Full details of the Dinner will be announced in the October issue of the Alumnus.

Mrs. Scheeler Brings Greetings

Mrs. Matilda Palmer Scheeler, N.C. '78, who is a private teacher of French at Marshalltown, Iowa, brought greetings from her class, the second one graduated from the College, to guests at the Commencement Dinner held in the Women's Gymnasium at the College on May 28. An interesting coincidence was the fact that Mrs. Scheeler had her first experience as a teacher at Grinnell High School under the superintendency of Mr. A. C. Hart, father of I. H. Hart, director of the Extension Division at the Teachers College. Professor Hart presided at the toast program following the Commencement dinner.

Mrs. Scheeler will attend ceremonies next spring at Pasadena, California, in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the graduation of the first class under her instruction at Grinnell. She was a charter member and the first president of the Alpha-Literary Society at the College.

Other graduates of early classes who attended the dinner include Mrs. D. Sands Wright, N.C. '79, B.Di. '80, of Cedar Falls; Horace F. Anders, B.Di. '82, of Des Moines, and Elmer Bartlett, N.C. '82, B.Di. '83, Iowa State Teachers College; B.S. '87, Grinnell College; M.S. '94, University of Michigan, of Cedar Falls.
A CHICAGO unit of the Iowa State Teachers College Alumni Association covering the Metropolitan area and adjacent regions in Illinois was organized at a meeting in the College room at Mailliard's, 308 South Michigan Avenue, at 6:30 Friday, June 10.

At this meeting, attended by some 50 graduates and their friends living in and about Chicago, plans were made for an organization "to renew and promote acquaintances and fellowship and maintain the spirit of Iowa State Teachers College."

In June or July 1933

Picnics, boat excursions, and other gatherings were suggested for the program this year. As a major project, however, the Chicago unit is making plans for a general reunion of Iowa State Teachers College alumni from the entire country to be held in Chicago during the Century of Progress Exposition in 1933. Tentative discussion favored late June or July for the reunion. The exact date would be subject to the state of completion of the Century of Progress Exposition and also subject to the major opinion as to the most favorable date.

All alumni are urged to watch for announcements in the Alumnus for dates of this nation-wide reunion in order that they may plan for a Chicago visit in 1933 at a time that will enable them to see old friends and renew old acquaintances.

Officers of the new alumni unit who were selected at the meeting are David Lee Shillinglaw, 5836 Stony Island, Chicago, president; Joe S. Wright, M.Di. '05, B.A. '09, 330 Webster Avenue, Chicago, vice president, and Mrs. Marjorie Gist Sward, K.C. '16, 8256 Kimbark Avenue, Chicago, secretary-treasurer.

For a committee on general arrangements, the following persons were appointed: Mrs. Joe S. Wright (Mabel McNally), M.Di. '06, B.A. '10, chairman; Miss Mary McAdams, J.C. '19, 4725 Drexel Blvd., Miss Thea Sando, former student at the College, 5531 South San Francisco Avenue; Roy N. Crouse, B.Di. '02, 4506 Malden Avenue; Edyth Denkhoff, 4727½ Ellis; Etta B. Fluke, B.A. '22, 11157 Union Avenue; Edith Ford, B.A. '28, National College of Education, Evanston; Alice Foster, B.Di. '93, University of Chicago High School; Mrs. Lillie Britten Gibson, P.E. '09, Junior High School and Art, Saint George School for Girls, 4545 Drexel Blvd.; Mrs. Luella Greene, Pri. '23, 6449 Newgard Avenue; Lillian B. Gremmels, B.A. '26, 1001 N. Dearborn Street; Merland F. Haselman, B.A. '18, 207 W. Washington Street; Clara T. Havermale, B.Di. '07, 5802 Maryland Avenue; Madonna Honeyman, Pri. '24, 6449 Newgard Avenue; Alma Manson Horrocks, B.Di. '98, 834 E. 51st Street; Mary Lynch, J.C. '24, 701 N. Michigan.

Credit for the initial meeting of the unit goes to Mrs. Lillie Britten Gibson, P.C. '98, 4545 Drexel Blvd.; Alice Foster, B.Di. '93, 1223 East 57th Street, Hyde Park; Miss Margarette Uttley, B.Di. '12, B.A. '15, 5700 Kimbark Street, now on leave of absence from the Teachers College doing graduate study at the University of Chicago, and John G. McDonald, B.Di. '09, B.A. '10, 1120 Lake Shore Drive, who acted as chairman of the group.

A. C. Fuller, M.Di. '99, associate director of the Extension Division at the College, brought greetings to the members of the unit from President O. R. Latham and Dr. H. H. Seerley. Mr. Fuller brought back to the College many personal messages from those present. He declares that if enthusiasm is any indication of what is likely to happen, alumni may expect great things of the Chicago unit.

Many Attend First Meeting

Alumni in attendance at the initial meeting of the unit include the following: Mrs. J. M. Allen (Ida Ann Freeney), Pri. '24, care of Medinah Athletic Club; H. M. Anderson, J.C. '23, 6613 Normal Blvd.; Mrs. H. M. Anderson, 6613 Normal Blvd.; Mary E. Bell, Pri. '19, 61 E. Goethe Street; Anne Johnson Burkhardt, 1051 Massasoit; Roy N. Crouse, B.Di. '02, 4506 Malden Avenue; Edyth Denkhoff, 4727½ Ellis; Etta B. Fluke, B.A. '22, 11157 Union Avenue; Edith Ford, B.A. '28, National College of Education, Evanston; Alice Foster, B.Di. '93, University of Chicago High School; Mrs. Lillie Britten Gibson, P.E. '09, Junior High School and Art, Saint George School for Girls, 4545 Drexel Blvd.; Mrs. Luella Greene, Pri. Twin City Alumni Plan Big Time

Members of the Alumni Association group of Minneapolis and St. Paul are one step ahead of the group at Chicago. They have already started making plans for a big reunion of Iowa State Teachers College people at Minneapolis during the National Department of Superintendence meeting the last week of February, 1933.

The Minneapolis and St. Paul groups have been organized for many years and their annual reunions are highly stimulating and well attended. Mr. Bruce Francis, M.Di. '91, is now president of the Minneapolis chapter. Assisted by a large number of vigorous and enthusiastic alumni he will have charge of the big reunion in February.

Further announcements of this reunion will be carried in the October issue of the Alumnus.

MISS THORNTON RESIGNS, WILL TRAVEL

Henrietta Thornton, professor of art at the Teachers College, who holds the record of 38 years of service at the College, has received formal statement of the acceptance of her resignation by the State Board of Education. Her resignation becomes effective at the close of the summer term.

Although Miss Thornton has made no definite plans for the future, she expects to travel, and spend part of her time in study. The close of the summer term marks the thirty-eighth year that Miss Thornton has been a member of the Art Department at the College. She was head of the Department until about 20 years ago when it was merged with the Manual Arts Department.

Miss Thornton has a record of almost continuous service at the College. She has taught during most of the summer terms. Her leave of absences include one year that was spent in study in Europe and a summer term for a vacation trip abroad.

Thirty-Year Anniversary Marked By Play

"First nighters" who attended the presentation of "The Rivals" by Sheridan, which was staged as the annual Commencement Play at the College on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 26 and 27, saw a production which is famous not only in dramatic history, but which also marked the anniversary of an important event in stage traditions at the College. Thirty years ago, on June 9, 1902, the play was staged at the College as the first dramatic production ever put on in the auditorium.

Early Plays Given in Tent

Before the construction of the auditorium, commencement events had been held in a large tent because of the inadequate size of Gilchrist Hall.

Important changes and improvements in staging dramas have been made since the first production in the auditorium. Under the supervision of Hazel B. Strayer, professor of oral interpretation at the College, and Charles Holden, instructor in English, drama students at the college staged Sheridan's famous comedy in the manner of its first presentation in 1775 in London.

Students Build Own Sets Now

While costumes of the period, and painted drops, and even gas footlights, designed and built by the students in the drama shop, took the present day audience back to the original settings of the play, the students of thirty years ago were compelled to stage their production with a background of curtains draped over a wire across the stage, and two important members of the cast, Mrs. Lucy Miller Wiler, B.Di. '02, of Cedar Falls, and Mrs. Martha Stilson Eaton, B.Di. '02, of Waterloo, wore their graduation dresses in their portrayals of Lydia Languish and Julia.

At the time when the pioneer play was staged, there was no partition between the main auditorium and the hall; so no admission price was charged. Long before 9:30 o'clock of the morning of June 9th arrived, the seats were filled, and when the curtains parted even the hall was thronged with eager spectators.

"We can't hear," was the word that was sent up at intervals to the actors, Mrs. Wiler recalls. She declares that each of the actors (Continued on Page 12)
Presentation of "The Rivals" as the June commencement play this spring calls to mind the fact that the same production was staged as the first commencement play given in the College Auditorium just thirty years ago. Pictured above is the cast of "The Rivals" as produced in 1902, and pictured below is the same play produced this June.

Reading from left to right above, the characters are Dr. F. O. Smith, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '03, as "Sir Anthony Absolute"; Dr. John Parish, M.Di. '02, "Bob Acres"; Roy Hoats, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '03, "David"; John Dunkerton, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '03, "Fag"; Margaret Houston, "Lucy"; Ernest Smith, B.Di. '01, M.Di. '02, "Captain Jack Absolute"; Mrs. Lucy Miller Wiler, B.Di. '02, "Lydia Languish"; Robert Barr, B.Di. '01, M.Di. '02, "Faulkland"; Mrs. Martha Stilson Eaton, B.Di. '02, "Julia"; Joe Adams, B.Di. '02, "Thomas"; Nells Bardsley, B.Di. '02, "Sir Lucius O'Trigger"; and Mrs. Elizabeth Kaye Buchecker, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '07, "Madame Malaprop."

In 1932
Congregation Honors Dr. Huget

Dr. J. Percival Huget, M.Di. '92, was honored by the members of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church in New York City at a celebration paying tribute to the completion by Reverend Huget of fifteen years as minister of the church.

Dr. Huget received the Ph.B. Degree from the University of Iowa in 1903, and the Master of Arts and Doctor of Divinity Degrees later from Coe College, and the Doctor of Divinity in 1912 from Knox College.

Members of the congregation of which Dr. Huget is pastor held a special anniversary service on Sunday, April 24, and at the conclusion of the service held an informal reception for Dr. and Mrs. Huget who were greeted by some 1,200 persons, according to the Congregationalist and Herald of Gospel Liberty. On Friday evening, April 22, the Men's Association held its annual dinner in the Parish House, choosing this date in recognition of the anniversary, since Dr. Huget's first service as minister of the church was held on Sunday, April 22, 1917. The president of the Association, Mr. Henry C. Jahne, presided, and tendered the greetings and best wishes of the Association and of the church to Dr. Huget. Reverend Ernest E. Houtz, the associate minister, read a number of letters from Dr. Huget's friends, and later presented him with over fifty letters from ministers and other friends in all parts of the country, conveying their greetings and congratulations.

Dr. Huget was called to the New York pastorate in 1917 to succeed Dr. Waters from the First Congregational Church of Detroit, Michigan. Previously, he had ministered to Central Congregational Church of Galesburg, Illinois, and First Congregational Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where he was ordained into the Christian ministry in 1903, after years of educational work in the public schools and colleges of the state of Iowa.

He has had a distinguished career and has held a number of important offices in the denominational work of the Congregational churches. He was at one time a member of the executive committee of the American Missionary Association, and was later president of the Church Extension Boards. He was chairman of the Commission on International Relations. He is the present chairman of the Committee on Credentials of the New York City Congregational Church Association.

Mrs. Huget was formerly (Annie Lees), B.Di. '92, M.Di. '93. Her family lived on a farm near Cedar Falls. Her brother is Dr. James H. Lees, B.Di. '93, M.Di. '97. Dr. Lees received the B.A. Degree from Coe College in 1901, the M.S. Degree in 1903 from the University of Iowa, and the Ph.D. Degree in 1915 from the University of Chicago. He is assistant state geologist of Iowa.

spoke as clearly and loudly as possible, but that the confusion in the halls often drowned out their voices.

An Outstanding Cast

Miss Margaret Oliver, an instructor in elocution and reading, directed the play. The students of the class of 1902 who appeared in the cast were Dr. F. O. Smith, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '03, head of the Department of Psychology at the State University of Montana, Missoula, Montana, "Sir Anthony Absolute"; Dr. John Parish, M.Di. '02, professor of history, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, "Bob Acres"; Roy Hoats, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '03, a science teacher in a high school, Tacoma, Washington, "David"; John Dunkerton, M.Di. '02, M.Di. '03, travelling salesman of Des Moines, "Fag"; Margaret Houston, "Lucy"; Ernest Smith, B.Di. '01, M.Di. '02, attorney-at-law, Hood River, Oregon, "Captain Jack Absolute"; Mrs. Wiler, Cedar Falls, "Lydia Languish"; Robert Barr, B.Di. '01, M.Di. '02, Omaha, Nebraska, "Faulkland"; Mrs. Eaton, Waterloo, "Julia"; Joe Adams, B.Di. '02, city labor agent, Spokane, Washington, "Thomas"; Nells Bardsley, B.Di. '02, attorney at Spokane, Washington, "Sir Lucius O'Trigger"; and Mrs. Elizabeth Kaye Buchecker, B.Di. '02, M.Di. '07, 725 Chelan Avenue, Spokane, Washington, "Madame Malaprop."

The 1,700 mark had nearly been reached by the college enrollment at the time of the final deadline for Alumnus material, June 14. Of this number 1,380 were women and 320 were men.

The last report of the branch school at Creston showed an enrollment of 208 students.
The Proposed New Commons Building

Plans for the new Commons Building, which is to be constructed at the south end of the west wing of Bartlett Hall, are now going forward rapidly following the approval of the project given recently by the State Board of Education.

The architects' plans of the building, pictured above, call for a two-story structure, 160 feet long and 115 feet wide, housing recreation rooms, dining rooms, kitchens, a ball-room, and a large student lounge and promenade. Additional facilities include check rooms, rest rooms, and a post office. The building is expected to be completed late in the spring of 1933.

Mrs. Fay Hart Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Fay Hart, wife of I. H. Hart, director of the Extension Division at the College, died suddenly at her home in Cedar Falls, on the evening of May 20, following an illness of only one day. Although Mrs. Hart had been in failing health for the past three years, her condition had not become serious until immediately before her death. Funeral services were read on Monday, May 23, at the First Presbyterian Church in Cedar Falls. Reverend Henry Park, of Janesville, Wisconsin, assisted by Reverend Bruce Giffin of the local church, conducted the services. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery, Cedar Falls.

Surviving, besides her husband, are four children, Mrs. John Bennett (Elizabeth Hart), Pri. '22, Chicago, Illinois; Mrs. Frank Zink (Mary L. Hart), B.A. '23, Manhattan, Kansas; Irving H. Hart Jr., former Teachers College student, who will be graduated this summer from the University of Texas, at San Antonio, Texas, and Evan, who is a member of the junior class at Teachers College.

Mrs. Hart was for several years connected with the teaching staff in the Art Department of the College. She was well known as an authority on Indian culture and gave many lectures on the subject. She is remembered by her friends and many graduates of the college who knew her as a woman who always put others before self. Even when in failing health she refused to give up and continued her work, going out of her way in showing kindness to others.

An appreciation in memory of Mrs. Hart, written by Fred D. Cram, B.A. '09, extension professor of rural education, appears below.

AN APPRECIATION

Genuineness—in this one word is summed up the briefest possible description of Ida Fay Pew Hart. Were another descriptive term to be added, it should be thoroughness. She was genuine, and she was thorough.

I talked with her a month before her untimely passing—a three hour conversation on the road to Iowa City. Here was a woman of mature years, of an age when many think of rest. She outlined her plans for larger service. In the midst of a mental pilgrimage to the hopes of a lifetime, the hope of a truthful contribution concerning Indian life and lore, Mrs. Hart, seeing a striking roadside view, would remark on it. Nothing artificial, little of man's making, attracted her attention. The elaborate farm-house by the side of the road she did not even see. The clump of pussy willows by the rippling waters nodded to her, and not in vain. Here was genuineness, touch of the hand of God; there was artificiality, just another man's dwelling house.

So genuine and so thorough was Mrs. Hart that a minor error in an announcement concerning a bit of her work caused her worry and pain. "It is not true—" and because it was not true it was short of her ideal. In facing the ordeal of the hospital clinic she revealed that same devotion to honesty. She must know the truth—her whole thought was of thoroughness, whatever the test might reveal.

When she was asked why she did not stop for a moment's rest from the demands upon herself, she had the ready answer "The moment I voluntarily remain in bed is the morning of the end." And to the husband, called to her bedside as she died, called by the boy whose loving hands had ministered to her in that last precious moment—to man and boy it is known that the two days' withdrawal was not a voluntary one. She died as she had lived, her thoughts infinitely high.

Visit her garden, a transplanted bit of Nature's prairie and woodland, you will find no single false note in the plot. Here the birds sing as they do in the woodlands and amid the grasses. Here again is revealed her genuineness and her thoroughness. Her neighbors, her friends, and her family will ever see here in time to come the beautiful fruits of devotion to loyalty and truth. In the recurring song of a bird that misses the presence of the designer of each delightful refuge; in sweet gurgles of soft waters whispering a wonder at her absence and a welcome to the wayfaring; in each quaint bow of stately bush, or timid and modest nod of a prairie flower; we see and hear the spiritual overglow and overtone of a life well lived, genuine, thorough; a life which left its impress on us all, and in future years will sustain us in its pure revelation of wifeliness, motherhood and friendship in the most sublime degree. Through the gate to the greater gardens opened to receive her spirit there streams a light, stretching beneficent beams through the infinite reach of time.

New Economics Head Announced

Beatrice J. Geiger of Madison, Wisconsin, has been appointed head of the Home Economics Department of the Teachers College to succeed Miss Anna L. Leggett, who has resigned. Miss Geiger will assume her duties the coming September at the beginning of the 1932-33 academic year.

Miss Geiger has received the Bachelor's Degree from the University of Chicago, the Master's Degree from Columbia University, and the Doctor of Philosophy Degree from the University of Wisconsin. Her teaching experience covers three years in the Oak Park, Illinois, public schools, six years in the Colorado State Agricultural College at Fort Collins, and three years in the Oregon State Agricultural College at Corvallis. She has served as acting head in the latter institution for a year and two summers. Her major field is nutrition.

TRAINING SCHOOL SUPERVISOR DIES

Leona Sutherland, for the past six years first grade supervisor in the College Training School, was killed instantly in an automobile accident near Brocton, Illinois, May 31, when she lost control of her car on a loose gravel road and crashed against a culvert. She was returning to Cedar Falls from Lawrenceville to resume her teaching duties here this summer when the accident occurred.

Bernice Bryan, third grade supervisor in the Training School, who was riding with Miss Sutherland, received a fractured jaw and was badly bruised as result of the accident.

JOANNA KYLE DEATH SUDDEN

Joanna Kyle, of Washington, Iowa, died on June 2, 1932, as a result of shock following an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Kyle has been critic in teaching of social science at Teachers College Training School for the past six years. She was a graduate of Iowa University where she received the M.A. Degree and served as an assistant in the Department of Social Science. She had worked toward a graduate degree at Columbia University, in New York City. She had had extensive teaching experience in Iowa, North Dakota, and Wyoming.

Miss Kyle was affiliated with the State Historical Society of Iowa and with the local chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary fraternity.
Dr. Magee Elected Bishop

Dr. J. Ralph Magee, B.Di. '04, Iowa State Teachers College; Ph.B. '04, Morningside College; D.D. '21, Upper Iowa University; LL.D. '31, Morningside College, district superintendent of the Seattle, Washington, area was elected a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church by the general conference in Atlantic City, New Jersey, on May 19. Bishop Magee received 561 votes on the seventeenth ballot. This was twenty-five more votes than the two-thirds majority necessary for election.

Bishop Magee was consecrated in ceremonies on Sunday, May 22. His brothers, Carlton, B.Di. '93; M.Di. '94; A.M. '08, Upper Iowa University, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and John, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and his sister, Jessie, of New York City, were present at the exercises. Carlton made the trip to Atlantic City by plane. He is managing editor of the Oklahoma Daily News, and is credited with having written the editorials in an Albuquerque newspaper which resulted in the investigation of the famous Teapot Dome oil leases. John is pastor of a Methodist Church in Pittsburgh.

Bishop Magee will preside over the St. Paul area for the next four years, and he and his family will move to the city of St. Paul, Minnesota. Mrs. Magee is the former (Harriet A. Keeler), B.Di. '00, of Cedar Falls. The family consists also of two children, the Rev. Dr. J. Homer Magee, of Selah, Washington, and Miss Dorothy Magee, who is attending the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Washington. Mrs. Frank Snider, 421 Clay Street, Cedar Falls, is a sister of the Bishop. Percival E. Magee, M.Di. '04; Ph.B. '06, Upper Iowa University, of Los Angeles, California, is a brother of the bishop.

Dr. J. C. Magee, father of the bishop, was pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Cedar Falls from 1891 to 1894, and he returned in 1899 and served as district superintendent for six years. It was during that time that his son, Ralph, who was destined to rise to the highest position conferred by the Methodist denomination, attended high school and college here.

In spite of the fact that the future Bishop earned his way through the Teachers College, he found time to devote to such extracurricular activities as debate and journalism. Even then, he proved his platform ability as a member of the Aristotelian Literary Society, and during his second year in college, he served as the literary society editor of the "Normal Eyte," predecessor of the "College Eye," student newspaper. Literary societies played a much more important role in college life at that time than they do at the present.

After he was graduated from the Teachers College, Bishop Magee was ordained in the ministry. His first pastorate was in Sioux City, Iowa, but later he served churches in Massachusetts, Washington, and other states in widely separated parts of the United States.

Bishop Magee and his family have spent eleven years in the Northwest country. The Rev. John Magee, of Pittsburgh, will occupy the pulpit of First Church, Seattle, where his brother, the new bishop, served for eight years.

Bishop Magee was escorted to the platform following his election by Bishop William McDowell, of Washington, D. C., Senior Bishop, who is retiring, and Bishop Titus Lowe, of the Portland Area, who was pastor of the Methodist Church in Cedar Falls from 1909 to 1912.

During the World War, Bishop Magee was director of religious work in the Young Men's Christian Association at Camp Devans, Massachusetts, and in the Boston district. He was appointed District Superintendent at Seattle in 1929.

High Courage Here

In times of social and financial stress when we are all bemoaning our difficulties and the "hard times" and are inclined to become faint hearted in the struggle, it is well to consider the courage of such good warriors as William C. Conradi, J.C.'23, B.A. '26, who has fought depression, physical suffering, and battled his way through to success. Some indication of his high spirit is revealed in a letter to the editor of the Alumnus. He writes, "The Alumni Editor and the alumni may be pleased to know that I am very much alive despite the prevalent report that I died a few years ago."

Writes Thesis in Bed

Mr. Conradi received the M.A. Degree from the University of Iowa in 1931. While still under treatment at the Iowa State Sanitarium at Oakdale, he studied many of his lessons while confined to his bed.

"I did a great deal of reading," he writes, "while I was comfortably resting in my bed in my ward looking up from my books from time to time to listen to the conversation of my ward mates or to look across the snow-covered lawn. During part of the winter I wore gloves while I did my reading on the open porch, though I also did some inside my steam-heated room. I was not permitted to study from one to three-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, nor after nine o'clock at night; so I had only short study hours even though I was carrying about six semester hours of work, nor was I ever permitted to attend afternoon classes. I did not attend classes more than three days out of the week or carry more than nine semester hours of work at any time until the last summer, and even then I was required to take at least two hours of afternoon rest and retire at nine o'clock in spite of the fact that I was writing a thesis which was my gravest problem, as writing tired me considerably."

In spite of these difficulties, Mr. Conradi's graduate scholastic standing averaged higher than his undergraduate record at the Teachers College. He received his discharge from the Sanitarium in August, 1931, and the next month entered the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary which he had previously attended. He received the B.D. Degree from that institution on May 4, and was to be ordained pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church following his ordination at Denver.

The topic of his master's thesis at the University of Iowa was "A Critical Investigation of American Studies of Martin Luther," while the topic for his divinity thesis was on "Martin Luther's Relation to the Peasant Revolt."

Seerley Foundation Helps Many

Reprinted below is a report of the treasurer of the Seerley Foundation as of May 4, 1932. The Foundation, one of the most worthy activities of the Alumni Association of the College, was organized in honor of President-Emeritus Homer H. Seerley.

The report of this year shows that approximately 20 different students received the benefits of loans through the Foundation. Gifts during the past year amounted to $217.48, while loans to the Fund, without interest, made a total of $1,555.00.

Memorial Book For W. L. Wallace

Warren L. Wallace, professor of government at the College for the past twelve years, died at his home Tuesday, May 10, following a long siege of illness which began early in March. The funeral was held on Thursday, May 12, at the Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Mr. Wallace was born March 3, 1883, in New York State. He held the Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Michigan and the Master of Arts Degree from the University of Minnesota. He had had a long and successful career as an educator in public schools of New York, Michigan, and Washington. He became professor at the Teachers College in 1920. He was the author of numerous text and work books in government and history, among them the "American History Work-Book for Eighth Grade," "The American Historical Work Book," "The Teachers Manual for Eighth Grade Work," "The Teachers Manual for Our Nation's History," "Story of Iowa," and the "Iowa History Work-Book." He was author of numerous historical articles in the Midland Schools, official magazine of the Iowa State Teachers Association.

He was well known on the Campus of the College as an organizer of the local chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, and as a member of the Lecture and Entertainment Course Committee at the College. He was a member of the Iowa State Teachers Association, State Historical Society, and the Iowa State History Teachers Association.

An indication of the esteem which faculty members of the College held for the former professor of government may be seen in the publication of a book entitled, "In Memory of Warren L. Wallace," prepared by the Faculty Men's Club at the College. This book, of which only two copies were printed, was presented to the Wallace family by members of the Club. A committee of the Men's Faculty Club, including Dr. M. R. Thompson, head of the Social Science Department; Dr. E. O. Finkenbinder, professor of education, and Dr. W. R. Harbeson, instructor in social science, prepared a resolution of appreciation and sympathy for the family. In the resolution, the faculty members declared that "Mr. Wallace was recognized by all those connected with the College as an able and thorough student, one whose scholarship, teaching skill, and sterling character have touched the lives of students and his colleagues."

Graduates Attend Science Meet

"Old grads" of the College who attended the state meeting of the Iowa Academy of Science at the Teachers College on April 29 and 30, included Dr. James Henry Lees, B.Di. '93, M.Di. '97, Iowa State Teachers College; B.A. '01, Coe College; M.S. '03, State University of Iowa; Ph.D. '15, University of Chicago; John R. McKee, B.Di. '85, Iowa State Teachers College, and Samuel L. Thomas, B.Di. '91, M.Di. '92, B.A. '07, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '25, Drake University.

Dr. Lees presided at sessions of the Academy in his official capacity as president of the organization. He is Assistant State Geologist for the Iowa Geological Survey.

Mr. McKee, who is engaged in the profession of journalism as an editor and publisher at Spencer, called on President Emeritus Homer Seerley while he was on the campus.

Mr. Thomas is head of the Science Department and instructor in physics in a high school at Des Moines. He attended sessions of the Junior Academy of Science, an organization of high school science clubs,
BUSINESS AT HOMECOMING

Alumni should make a special note of the fact that the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association will hereafter be held on the Saturday morning of Homecoming. This decision was made at the annual business meeting following the Commencement Dinner, Saturday, May 28.

The business meeting will be held at a special alumni dinner at noon on Homecoming Day. The reason for changing the date was to make it possible for greater numbers of alumni to be in attendance when the important problems affecting the Association are decided. It has been found that more alumni find it possible to return to the Campus at Homecoming than at the time of June commencement.

The noon dinner is to be made one of the outstanding features of the Homecoming celebration in the future, and alumni are urged not to make plans which will interfere with attendance at this feature of the day's program.

DEADLINES

The “deadline” for all material for the Alumnus is the first of the month preceding each issue. Thus the deadline for the October issue will be September 1. Material received after that date will be used only in case the forms are not completely filled.

Frequently, in Alumnus articles it is necessary for the editor to use the expressions “was to have been” or “was to be.” The necessity of having material in very much in advance accounts for the use of these expressions. It is often possible to change these expressions to positive statements in cases where alumni write in to notify the editor of the fact that a friend who “was to be” graduated at a certain date actually has received his diploma. When alumni notify us of coming events, we would appreciate it very much if they would drop us a line confirming the actual occurrence as soon as possible after the event takes place. This will enable us to make our statements much more up-to-date.

POPCORN STREET

On the cover of this issue of the Alumnus is pictured a street at the north end of the Campus which is familiar to every woman student and graduate who has lived in Bartlett Hall. This is the street down which every evening troop the future teachers of Iowa in two's and three's to “Dad's” stand, and back up this street these same young women may later be seen carrying over-full sacks of popcorn with plenty of butter thereon. At least, that is what this street is noted for at the present date.

The picture, to be exact, shows a scene on Twenty-third Street looking east from the Women's Dormitory at the College. The walk leads to College Street and the famous Berg's corner.

PUBLICATIONS CUT PRICES

With the creation of an activity fund and a subsidy for the College Eye, Old Gold, and Purple Pen, the Board of Control of Student Publications at the College has made a reduction in the price of the College Eye and the Old Gold.

The College Eye will sell to students at twenty-five cents per term, and the Old Gold will sell to students at $2.50 a copy. The College Eye will be sold to alumni and others off the campus at forty cents a term or $1.60 for twelve months. The former price of the College Eye was seventy-five cents a term, or $2.75 for twelve months. The price of the Old Gold was formerly $4.00. The price of the Purple Pen will remain at twenty-five cents the copy.
Thirteen Lettermen to Report for Football

WHEN Coach L. W. Whitford issues his first call for varsity football practice early in September thirteen letter winners from last year will be among those reporting. Of this number, four are regular backfield men from last year's team. Five of the linemen who will return were consistently in the starting lineups for the games last fall.

Veteran Backs to Return

The veteran backs who will don the Panther uniform again are Kenneth Kimberlin, Marshalltown; Art Olsen, Cedar Falls; Max Boller, Nevada; and Gale Fisher, Washington. Kimberlin was forced to drop out of school last winter due to complications in a nose injury received sometime before in football, but he is expected to be back next fall as good as ever. Fisher is another man who suffered injuries last year. His back was severely injured in a game, but has completely healed now.

In the forward wall, Coach Whitford has Donald Gooden, Bedford; Raburn Miller, Zearing; and Phillip Sheffield, Story City, at the guard positions. The tackles are well cared for by Clair Kraft, Oelwein, and Merlin Westwick, Williams, both of whom weigh over 200. Alvin Stieger, Waverly, is another tackle who won a letter last fall. Roger Willert, Reinbeck, will be back for his second season of varsity football at his end post. He tips the beam at close to 195 pounds and is one of the best pass receivers on the Panther squad.

Center Post Hard to Fill

The loss of Russell Hackler, Lincoln, Nebraska, at the other wing position will be keenly felt, but Martin Luther, Colfax, who was an understudy to Hackler last fall should develop into a good end. The center post is going to be a hard one to find a man to fill. He tips the beam at close to 195 pounds and is one of the best pass receivers on the Panther squad.

Other candidates for backfield jobs are Merle Zepp, Hedrick; Clarence Bain, Washington; Wilbur Wiegand, Spirit Lake; and Maynard Harman, Sac City. In the line competition will be furnished in ample quantity by Harlan Rigby, Mechanicsville; Rausenberger, and a number of promising sophomore candidates.

The 1932 Football Schedule

Sept. 24—Columbia at Dubuque.
Oct. 1—Penn at Cedar Falls.
Oct. 8—Cornell at Cedar Falls.
Oct. 15—Luther at Decorah.
Oct. 22—Morningside at Cedar Falls.
Oct. 29—Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Michigan, at Kalamazoo.

Athletes Greet Dr. Seerley

Greetings from athletes who were graduated from the College in the early 1900's were received by President Emeritus Homer H. Seerley the first of May. The letters to the veteran college educator were delivered by members of the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity, the successor to the Able Hobo Fraternity, the successor to the Able Hobo Fraternity, to which the men belonged.

The graduates who sent greetings were Jerry Wolfe, of Grand Mound, Iowa, who was noted for his activity and service in classes and games; Joe Adams, B.Di. '02, of 201 West Trent Avenue, Spokane, Washington, who is a city labor agent, and Thomas E. Jones, B.Di. '04, M.Di. '05, B.A. '09, Iowa State Teachers College; B.P.E. '08, Y. M. C. A. Training School, Springfield, who is professor of physical education at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

Dr. Seerley declared, after the fraternity men had called, that "such good will and generous best wishes as these men sent gives one reason to believe that the 'old days' were good for the education and training of young men."
Iowa Conference Champions

The men pictured above are members of the Varsity Track Squad of 1932 which carried off honors for the fifth consecutive year in the Iowa Conference meet held this year at Cedar Falls on May 20-21. They are from left to right: top row—Risse, Grinnell; Frese, Trippoli; Berry, Wellman; Grimes, Shannon City; Lake, Cedar Falls; Sheffield, Story City; Pierce, Cleghorn; Kittrell, Waterloo; Bain, Washington; Willert, Reinbeck; Lawrence, Cedar Falls, and Schneider, Duluth, Minnesota.

Middle row—Dardis, Milford; Sherman, Cedar Falls; Downey, Gladbrook; Moeller, Waterloo; Meyers, Lewis; Allen, Dumont; Kingery, Greene; Grier, Guernsey; Gerber, Kamrar; Hulin, Gilman, and Stapley, Cedar Falls.

Trackmen Win Fifth Conference Victory

COACH Art Dickinson's Iowa Teachers track squad climaxed a successful season May 28 by scoring third thirds in the annual Iowa State meet. Keith Stapley, Cedar Falls, failed to retain his pole vault title, but placed third with a vault of twelve feet six inches. Paul Grier, Guernsey, Berg trophy winner for the 1932 season, placed third in the broad jump, and Roger Willert, Reinbeck, was third in the shot put.

The most important meet of the season for the Panthers was the Iowa Conference meet which was held in Cedar Falls on May 20 and 21. The Panthers coped the title for the fifth consecutive year, with a margin of more than twenty points over Luther College, the nearest competitor.

In the annual triangular meet with Coe and Cornell the Panther trackmen were second to Coe, while the freshman runners were beaten by both Coe and Cornell yearlings. In this meet Roger Willert established two new meet records in the discus and shot put.

In the Dakota relays, the Panthers placed high with two firsts, two seconds, and two thirds in the special events as well as seconds in two relays. The first places were tallied by Grier and Stapley, in the broad jump and pole vault. Willert tied for first in the shot, but lost the play-off to Meinhover of North Dakota. He also placed second in the discus. Grier was third in the 100 yard dash, and ran on both relay teams. Stapley tied for third in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 11 inches.

A few men entered the Kansas and Drake relays. In the Drake event, the Panther half mile relay team was third in the special Iowa Conference race.
Southern California "All-American" Joins Staff

John (Johnny) Baker, All-American guard on Howard Jones' University of Southern California American championship football team of last fall, will come to the campus in September to serve as instructor in the Department of Physical Education for Men.

In addition to his instructional work in the classroom, Mr. Baker will serve as varsity line coach in football under the direction of Head Coach L. W. Whitford. In addition, he will have charge of weight events in track and field work under the direction of the head track and field coach. He will also handle the yearling squad in basketball.

Baker is a former Iowa boy. He attended school at Greenfield, Iowa. Last fall he was unanimously selected at guard position on the All-American team. At different times during his football career he has played every position in the line, but most of the time at guard and end. His most distinctive work last year, in the opinion of critical observers, was in leading interference. He is an excellent student of kicking technique, as shown by his successful execution of the field goal which beat Notre Dame in the annual game between the Ramblers and the Trojans at South Bend last fall.

Baker will assume his duties at the opening of the football practice season a week or so before school begins in the fall. He is 25 years old and was graduated with the baccalaurate degree this June as a four-year major in the Physical Education Department at the University of Southern California. He was selected for the position at the Teachers College after careful consideration of a large number of candidates.

The men who were awarded letters for track work this spring are Frances Rummel, Cedar Falls; Delmar Risse, Grinnell; Stanley (receiving in addition a four-year blanket award); William Steinmetz, Sanborn; Paul Grier; Wilbert Brown, Oelwein; Willys Hulin, Gilman; Keith Kittrell, Waterloo; Merle Zepp, Hedrick; Harry Myers, Lewis; Wendell Pierce, Cleghorn; Lewis Lake, Cedar Falls; William Grimes, Shannon City; Arthur Gerber, Kamrar; Burl Berry, Wellman; Roger Willert, Reinbeck; and James Dardis, Milford.

Mr. Baker comes highly recommended from Coach Jones, who declares that he is the greatest linesman that he has ever coached. Baker has had charge of the line candidates in the spring practice at the University of Southern California.

Coach Dave McCuskey will continue as backfield coach of the varsity football squad. Melvin Fritzel will be head freshman coach next year.

Ten Freshmen Get Awards

Two freshmen of Iowa State Teachers College earned first-year awards in three sports this year, and eight others were awarded sweaters in two branches of yearling athletics.

The men who received the three sport awards are Truman Manship, Le Grand, in football, basketball, and baseball; and William Kirsher, Valley Junction, in football, basketball, and track.

Those who were proficient in two sports are Carr, in basketball and baseball; Odekirk, in football and baseball; Smalling, basketball and baseball; Chapman, basketball and baseball; Weissman, track and tennis; Rivers, football and track; Peterson, football and track, and Sanborn, in basketball and track.

Third row—Carty, Earlville; Montgomery, Monroe; Paustian, Walcott; Gingles, Collins; Boller, Nevada; Chapman, Cedar Rapids, and Coach Whitford.

Second row—Johnson, Northwood; Lekin, Parnell; Coler, Ackley; Schrody, Cedar Falls; Lambert, Buckingham.

Baseball Squad Wins Six Games, Loses Six

When the initial baseball practice was held indoors in the Men's Gymnasium early this spring Coach L. W. Whitford found himself faced with the task of building a winning ball club from a bunch of green and inexperienced aspirants. Although there were eight letter winners reporting, only three of them could be classed as regulars from last year's nine.

Using these three, James Paustian, Walcott; Ray Schrody, Cedar Falls, and Paul Lambert, Buckingham, as a nucleus, Coach Whitford drafted a number of sophomores and united them into a team that played twelve games, winning six of them including victories over the University of Minnesota and Luther College.

The greatest weakness in the Panther lineup, according to a survey before the first game, was in the pitching staff, which consisted of two relief hurlers from the 1931 squad and two sophomore candidates.

Charles Ward, Wall Lake, and Dan Johns, Lime Springs, received letters last year, while the only experience Oscar Johnson, Northwood, and Elmer Carty, Earlville, had was in freshman baseball and on the sand lots.

However, before the season had progressed much farther than the first two games Carty and Johnson established themselves as mainstays of the hurling staff. Ward alternated with these two while Johns filled in as a relief man. Ray Schrody played in every game and his timely hitting and fine work behind the plate earned him the 1932 Berg trophy for being the most valuable member of the baseball team.

Edward McGreevey, Britt; Paul Lambert, Buckingham; M. C. Chapman, North English; and George Gingles, Collins, made up the State Teachers infield in most of the games, with Francis Fish, Whittemore, alternating with Lambert at second base.

In the outfield Coach Whitford relied upon Lee Coler, Ackley, a catcher made over; James Paustian; and Don Cook, Corwith. Paustian twisted his ankle toward the last of the season and Don Blanchard, Lone Rock, did a good job filling in for him. Other outfielders who saw service were Melvin Ingebritsen, Cedar Falls; and Virgil Lekin, Parnell.

The scores of the games are Iowa University 5, Teachers 0; Carleton 5, Teachers 7; Luther 10, Teachers 11; Carleton 5, Teachers 6; Western State Teachers—Teachers, rain; Minnesota U. 6, Teachers 3; Michigan Normal 7, Teachers 2; Upper Iowa 6, Teachers 10; Michigan Normal 7, Teachers 2; Western State Teachers 14, Teachers 2; Upper Iowa 10, Teachers 11; Minnesota University 2, Teachers 6; Luther 3, Teachers 2.

Letterwinners for the 1932 season are Ray Schrody; Charles Ward; Elmer Carty; Oscar Johnson; Edward McGreevey; Don Blanchard; Paul Lambert; M. C. Chapman; George Gingles; Francis Fish; Virgil Lekin; Lee Coler; James Paustian; Don Cook; and Melvin Ingebritsen, who received a blanket for four year's work on the Panther squad.

Schrody, Ward, Lambert, Fish, Coler, and Paustian received their second awards, while the others all won letters for the first time. Those who will be lost by graduation are Schrody, McGreevey, Lekin, Paustian, and Ingebritsen.

Coaches Pursue Advanced Studies

The best that the best schools in the country have to offer in the way of modern methods and policies in physical training is being brought to the campus each year by coaches and instructors in physical education at Iowa State Teachers College, who are taking turn about leave of absence to pursue graduate studies.

Paul F. Bender returned this year from Columbia University, New York City, where he received the master of arts degree, to act as director of physical education, while L. L. Mendenhall took a leave of absence for a year to secure the M.A. degree at the University of Iowa.

Coach Mendenhall returned this June to assume his duties as athletic director. In his turn, Coach A. D. Dickinson will be gone next year to the University of Oregon, at Eugene, where he will work on an advanced degree. This summer Coaches Dave McCuskey and Melvin Fritzel are at Columbia University for a second term of work on their degrees.

Next fall, Coach Whitford will again direct the destinies of the football team, with Johnny Baker from the University of Southern California and Dave McCuskey as his assistants. Coach Bender will probably devote his entire time to the direction of intramural activities throughout the year.

Fritzel is expected to be advanced to the position of head coach of varsity basketball with Baker handling the yearling squad. McCuskey will coach wrestling again with the assistance of Coach Whitford. In the spring, Coach Bender will have the track squad, with Baker as an assistant. The varsity baseball staff will remain intact, as will the freshman coaching staff.

Wrestlers Eligible For Olympics

Maynard Harman, Sac City; John Brindley, Cedar Falls, and Arthur Gerber, Kamrar, members of the Varsity Wrestling Squad at the College, are eligible for the Olympic tryouts which will be held in Columbus, Ohio, on July 7-8.

The three men were to leave the Campus July 4, accompanied by Coach Paul F. Bender, in order to arrive promptly on time for workouts before the beginning of the meet. The Teachers College wrestlers qualified for the tryouts by winning places in the National Collegiate meet last March at Bloomington, Indiana. Harman wrestles in the 145 pound class, whereas Brindley is in the 135 pound division. Gerber, the giant of the squad, wrestles in the heavyweight division.

Jess Arends, C. '30, who has been teaching commerce at Olin, Iowa, for the past year, and who is now enrolled at the College in the summer term working on a B.A. degree, attended the National Y. M. C. A. Wrestling meet at Grand Rapids, Michigan, June 28-29. If Arends qualifies in the Y. M. C. A. meet, he will be a prospect for the Olympics. He won second in the National Collegiate meet at Providence, Rhode Island, last year.

Ralph Harmon, former student at the College, now at Iowa University, won the State Intercollegiate Golf Championship in the second annual medal-play tournament on the Finkbine course at Iowa City, June 10-11. Harmon scored a total of 161 for 36 holes, playing an 84 in the morning round and a 77 in the afternoon.
Dorcas Whitaker, B.Di. '91, who is in the service of the Women’s Evangelistic work of the American Baptist Telegsue Mission at South India, reports of her work at Vinu Konda, “this past year has been in some ways a great joy, a joy to be among the people with whom I worked so long.” Her report goes on to tell of the difficulties of the work and the considerable struggle to bring the teachings of Christian faith to the people of India.

The buildings where Miss Whitaker has been working had to be repaired. She has been forced to travel practically everywhere on foot because of lack of funds to buy petrol for the mission work. She says, “The encouraging part of our work is that many are seeking Christ and have been baptized. Some among the caste people have received baptism. The women, too, are coming, which is hopeful for the home and for the men holding out.”

Miss Whitaker went to India first in 1898 and again to her present position in 1926. Her address is Vinu Konda, Guenthen District, South India.

Miss Amber B. Mann, J.C. '17, was graduated “with high distinction” in the commencement exercises June 6 at the University of Iowa. She received the Bachelor of Science Degree from the College of Commerce in the midyear convocation.

George Freshwaters, B.S. ’27, athletic coach of the junior college at Washington, Iowa, holds an enviable record as the trainer of winning teams. For the past two years his basketball teams have won the state title. He has also piloted two state championship De Molay quintets.

His football and track teams have also been successful. They both finished the season in the upper bracket.

Coach Freshwaters has signed his contract to remain as junior college coach for the coming year.

Mrs. Arnold Conrad (Esther K. Doermann), R.S. ’26, formerly of Lowden, Iowa, now lives at Tipton, Iowa.

Mrs. Conrad taught three and one-half years following her graduation from college. She substituted as teacher for several of her friends for a few days at a time during the past year.

Roy N. Collins, P.S.M. ’24, Piano ’23, supervisor of music of District 1 at Pueblo, Colorado, acted as individual judge for South-eastern Colorado Music Contest which was held at Lamar, Colorado, April 16, 1932.

In a series of Music Festival programs on April 25-28, demonstrating the music in School District 1, from Kindergarten through High School, 1,500 selected voices and instrumental groups performed to packed houses under the direction of Mr. Collins.

Mr. Collins will be a member of the faculty of The Scott School of Music and Expression at Pueblo during the summer of 1932. He will teach voice, piano, and public school music methods.

Mrs. Ray Lambert (Clara Geuder), P.S.M. ’23, writes that her new address is 451 East Fifth Street, Dover, Ohio. She formerly lived at Guttenberg, Iowa.

Lorna G. Seabury, J.C. ’23, Iowa State Teachers College; B.A. ’31, University of Wisconsin, of Pigsah, Iowa, was this year employed as teacher of speech and dramatics at Sheboygan High School at Sheboygan, Wisconsin. Her address while in Sheboygan is 1528 N. 9th Street.

Lonnie Houvenagle, El. ’29, of Blue Grass, Iowa, taught music and language in the fifth grade in the Webster City schools at Webster City, Iowa, during the past year. Her address was 902 Wilson Avenue, Webster City.

Evelyn Wyss, El. ’29, of Salem, North Dakota, taught third and fourth grades and music in the grades from one to six during the past year at Colman, South Dakota.

Alice L. Glew, Pri. ’29, of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is this year attending school at Colorado Teachers College at Greeley. Her address there is 1945 Ninth Avenue.

Mrs. H. J. Copenhaver (Ethel M. Selen-sky), J.C. ’16, writes that her address is now Plainfield, Iowa, R. R. No. 1. She formerly lived at Omaha, Nebraska.

Mrs. J. C. Wilson (Erie Collins), B.Di. ’99, M.Di. ’03, writes that she is now enjoying northern California. Her address is now Chico, California. She formerly lived at Stout, Iowa.

Carrie A. Barnes, N.C. ’82, B.Di. ’89, of 303 Blunt St., Charles City, Iowa, writes that she is no longer teaching. For thirty years she was head of the Department of Mathematics in the Lincoln High School at Portland, Oregon, which position she resigned last June. She will still reside in Portland, but has not as yet announced her permanent address.

Hubert Moeller, B.A. '27, of Cedar Falls, has accepted the position of school editor for the Des Moines Register. He will spend a large part of his time interviewing educators in various parts of the state of Iowa, but part of his work will be done in the office of the Des Moines newspaper. He will also edit a review of important events of the world for the editorial page.

Mr. Moeller was first connected with the Register last fall when publication of his "History of Iowa" was begun in a series of weekly installments.

Alexander C. Roberts, B.Di. '01, Iowa State Teachers College; A.B. '06, University of Wisconsin; M.A. '17, Ph.D. '22, University of Washington, called on Dr. and Mrs. Homer H. Seerley and President and Mrs. O. R. Latham during the latter part of February.

Mr. Roberts is president of the State Teachers College at San Francisco, California.

Mrs. Frank W. Hicks (Elsie I. Arnold), B.Di. '94, is now president of the North Dakota State Chapter of P. E. O. Sisterhood at Minot, North Dakota. Her husband is a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College at Minot.

Mrs. Hicks has held an office for twenty-five years in the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and is now treasurer of the North Dakota Conference. She is a member of the D. A. R., and is active in club work. She was president of the Woman's Club at both Clinton and Ames, Iowa, when she lived in this state. She has been for six years a member of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A., having served as president of the board.

Mrs. George Strader, former student, is now living in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Her son, Harold, who is a petroleum engineer, is a graduate of the University of Wyoming. Her daughter, Lillian, is a graduate of the University of Colorado.

Mrs. A. R. Lauer (Margaret Harper), R.S. '18, Iowa State Teachers College; B.A. '24, McPherson College, accompanied by her husband and little daughter, Gloria, attended the Iowa Academy of Science meeting held at the Teachers College on April 29-30.

Mrs. Lauer taught at the Demonstration School at Cedar Heights, Iowa, at one time. Her husband is associate professor of psychology at Ames, Iowa.

Their address is 1218 Curtis, Ames, Iowa.

Linden Whitten, C. '29, of Rowan, Iowa, is working as floorman of the Schulte United, Inc., at Cleveland, Ohio. His present address is Apartment 130, Mount Royal Apartment Hotel, 4311 Prospect Avenue, Cleveland.

Letha M. Davidson, daughter of W. T. Davidson, B.Di. '95, is a member of the instructional staff of the library summer school of the State University of Iowa this summer. She is librarian of the Public Library at Ames, and has been granted a six weeks' leave of absence to enable her to act as Instructor at Iowa City.

Mrs. Lynne E. Forisch (Bernice A. L. Morgan), J. C. '22, is president of Chapter P. of P. E. O. at Williston, North Dakota. She was chosen as one of the two delegates from Chapter P to attend the State Convention of P. E. O. at Wahpeton in June.

Mrs. James B. Edmonson (Bess J. Chase), B.Di. '05, M.Di. '08, B.A. '11, and her husband, of 1016 Michigan Avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan, visited at the College on April 12, 1932.

Mr. Edmonson is Dean of the School of Education at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Ira E. Perry, B.A. '24, is having great success as coach at Alta, Iowa. His basketball team of 1931 played in the State High School Tournament at Des Moines, and this year competed for district honors at Sioux City. Coach Perry's team has this year won 22 consecutive games without a defeat, and during the past two seasons has won 48 games out of 50 starts.

Dr. William L. Hearst, B.Di. '89, B.S. '90, Iowa State Teachers College; Ph.B. '95, M.D. '97, University of Iowa, physician and surgeon at Cedar Falls, Iowa, was elected a member of the Board of Councilors of the Iowa State Medical Society at Sioux City, Iowa, on May 6, 1932.

Mrs. Thomas W. Eaton (Martha Stilson) B.Di. '02, of Waterloo, Iowa, was a visitor at the College on Mother's Day on May 14-15. She attended the College Dinner with her son, who is now a freshman at the College.
THE ALUMNUS July

Alison Aitchison, M.Di. ’03, Iowa State Teachers College; B.S. ’07, University of Iowa; M.S. ’14, University of Chicago, was elected president of the Iowa Division of the American Association of University Women on May 7, 1932, at Marshalltown, Iowa.

The 1934 biennial convention of the Association will be held at Sioux City, Iowa. According to a report made at the business session, the Iowa Association has a total membership of 1,185, divided among 18 chapters.

Miss Aitchison is professor of natural science at Teachers College.

Cap E. Miller, M.Di. ’01, B.A. ’13, Iowa State Teachers College; M.S. ’17, Iowa State College, professor of agricultural economics at North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo, is the author of an article entitled “Cosmocraft and Horseshoes” appearing in the May 1932 issue of the Cosmopolitan Club. Mr. Miller is district governor of the North Dakota Cosmopolitan Club.

Dr. W. W. Patty, B.A. ’14, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. ’20, Ph.D. ’25, University of California, is taking special studies at the Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City, during his leave of absence from Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana.

Dr. Patty is professor of secondary education in the School of Education at the University in Indiana.

Katharine L. Cochran, J.C. ’27, is employed in the general office of the Henry Field Company at Shenandoah, Iowa. Her home address is Lorimor, Iowa.

Harold G. Stevens, B.S. ’29, of Decorah, Iowa, taught boys’ physical education in the East Junior School at Sioux City, Iowa, during the past year.

Captain Alfred Sorensen, C. ’18, Iowa State Teachers College; B.A. ’23, M.A. ’26, University of California, returned to his home in Berkeley, California, on March 19, after having been called to Cedar Falls to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Sorensen. Mrs. Sorensen was also the mother of Miss Anna Marie Sorensen, professor of English at the College.

Captain Sorensen is lecturer in education and supervisor of commercial teacher training at the University of California at Berkeley. He has been engaged in teacher training work at the University since 1925, and has also been pursuing studies for the Ph.D. Degree.

He is vice president of the National Association of Commercial Teacher Training Institutions and also a member of a National Survey Committee.

Aviation has interested Captain Sorensen since his entrance into the air service during the World War. Following his graduation in June, 1918, he received orders from officials to remain at Teachers College and organize the cadet corps for the summer session. He entered the air service as soon as he was released from duty here. He was retired from active duty at Post Field, Oklahoma, in April 1919, but has retained his commission in the Army Air Corps Reserve since that time. He is also a member of the Almeda County Air Patrol Flying Deputy Sheriffs of California.

After operating an airport in Texas and doing sales and promotion work for two years, Captain Sorensen entered the teaching profession. He was connected with public school systems in the state of Washington and in Berkeley, California, before he was called to his present position with the University.

Captain Sorensen made the trip by plane from California and return.

Walter W. Fye, M'l.A. ’22, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, is employed as assistant manager of the Kresge Store in Oskaloosa. Mr. and Mrs. Fye (Esther Hale) reside at 414 A Avenue East, Oskaloosa.

Dorothy Luella Antle, R. ’29, of Kellogg, Iowa, has been employed during the past year as a teacher in a rural school near her home town.

Jane Schuster, B.S. ’31, of Shelby, Iowa, has been principal of schools at Le Claire, Iowa, during the past year. She will remain in this position next year.

Adeline Asher, B.A. ’31, of Clarksville, has been engaged as voice teacher in the Cedar Falls High School for the coming year. She has been teaching at Clarksville, Iowa.

Laura B. Van Delinder, Pri. ’25, of Pleasantville, Iowa, was employed last year as teacher of the first and second grades in the Lindon, Iowa, school. She also taught art to pupils in the first six grades.

George E. Strawn, B.A. ’26, taught in North High School, Des Moines, during the past year. His address is 712 41st Street, Des Moines.
Edna Mary McCutcheon, J.C. '21, of Goldfield, Iowa, taught last year in the schools at Eagle Grove, Iowa. Her duties consisted of departmental work and teacher of reading.

Laila B. Eckholm, Pri. '26, of Swea City, Iowa, has been first grade teacher in McKinley School, Mason City, during the past year.

Marguerite Briar, J.C. '27, of Monona, Iowa, taught sixth grade in the Manly, Iowa, schools during the past year.

U. K. Reese, B.A. '16, who is now school band director at Elgin, Illinois, was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Illinois School Band Association at a banquet which climaxed the three-day music contest at the University of Illinois at Urbana.

The band, directed by Mr. Reese, won an "excellent" group rating in the state competition recently, which places the organization in the Class A Bands of the State. A student clarinetist, under the direction of Mr. Reese, won a "superior" or first place rating in the solo competition, as did the Elgin High School clarinet quartet.

Mr. Reese's band was one of nine Class A bands participating in the Class A finals as survivors of 125 bands originally entered.

Mary E. Brannan, B.Di. '94, P.C. '02, terminated 40 years of service as an educator, recently, when she tendered her resignation to the school board at Anacortes, Washington.

Miss Brannan has distinguished herself as a first-class teacher of the Nelson school faculty at Anacortes. She finished a two-year course at the Iowa State Teachers College and later a special primary course at the College. She taught for seven years at Clarkson, Washington, and was county superintendent of schools of Asotin County for two years. She has been teaching in Anacortes for the past fourteen years. At the time of her retirement she was highly praised for her long, successful career as a teacher.

Olive Barker, P. S. M. '20, who was on leave from Teachers College during the past academic year studying at the Teachers College, Columbia University, was recently honored at a concert in the Grace Dodge Room at Columbia. A song composed by Miss Barker was presented in an old English fashion as the banqueters sat around the table. Miss Barker sang her song unaccompanied by instrumental music.

Miss Barker, according to a letter receiv-ed from Finn B. Eriksen, B.S. '31, who also studied at Columbia University during the past year, has been receiving considerable recognition for her work and has participated in many concerts in which famous singers were featured.

In the Physical Education Department in which Mr. Eriksen studied, Dr. Willard Patty, B.A. '14, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '20, Ph.D. '25, University of California, is also taking special work. Mr. Patty is now director of physical welfare training at Indiana State University. While at the Teachers College Mr. Patty participated in athletics and dramatics, and was affiliated with "Hoboes," later the Alpha Theta Beta social fraternity and at present the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. Eriksen states that Dr. Patty, while attending the National Physical Education Convention in Philadelphia, in April, met two of his former schoolmates from Cedar Falls, including William Moorhead, now state supervisor of physical education in Pennsylvania, and George Vinall, who is now supervisor of physical education at Portland, Maine.

Mr. Eriksen, while attending the Teachers College, was a prominent athlete, a champion wrestler, a member of the Board of Control of Student Publications, and a member of Chi Pi Theta social fraternity. Next year he will be employed as athletic coach at New Hampton, Iowa.

Wilma Garnett, B.A. '18, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '24, University of Iowa, supervisor of teaching at Madison, South Dakota, has been conducting a research project which involves the use of tests of the "Nation Wide Experimental Study of English Uses." The English Department, under the direction of S. A. Lynch, head, has cooperated in the study and has administered the testing of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors at the Teachers College.

James A. McFadzen, C. '25, has accepted a position at Lindsay, California, for next year at a doubling of salary and an advancement in rank. He taught commerce at Eagle Grove, Iowa, during the past year.

Mrs. Clarence T. Kingsbury (Carrie C. Rule), M.Di. '94, now lives at 1832 Billmore Street, Washington, D.C.

Mrs. W. H. Shaffer (Lenora Collins), B.Di. '01, writes that she is still living in Claremont, California, where she has made her home for the past twenty-two years. Her older daughter, Ruth, was to graduate from the Department of Music at Pomona College in Claremont in June.

Dr. Rodney M. Arey, B.Di. '92, M.Di. '93, Iowa State Teachers College; B.S. '96, M.D. '14, University of Iowa, a physician at Muscatine, Iowa, broke the bones and tore the ligaments in both ankles when he fell down a freight elevator in Muscatine on May 18. Dr. Arey is recovering satisfactorily, and physicians say he will suffer no permanent disability.

The gate to the elevator was open, and Dr. Arey stepped into the darkened shaft without realizing that the elevator had been moved down one floor. He probably would have been more severely injured if he had not instinctively grasped at the sides of the shaft in an attempt to land on his feet.

Dr. Arey is a son of the late Melvin F. Arey, for many years professor of natural science and curator of the Natural History Museum. Dr. Arey has two sisters, Miss Amy Arey, B.Di. '95, P.C. '96, Iowa State Teachers College; Ph.B. '99, Grinnell College; A.M. '06, Columbia University, who is a professor of education at the Teachers College, and Miss Ethel Arey, M.Di. '95, who lives in Minneapolis.

Mary McDonald, B.Di. '08, of Tokyo, Japan, is spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald of Cherokee. She was present at the golden wedding anniversary of her parents which was celebrated in June.

Miss McDonald has been a member of the faculty of the Woman's Christian College at Tokyo for twenty years. The school is sponsored by six different church denominations. She will return to Japan in August.

Dr. Milton Metfessel, B.A. '21, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '24, Ph.D. '25, State University of Iowa, is the inventor of a reaction-time apparatus by which he can measure the speed of thoughts and the effect of emotions on the brains of his students in the University of Southern California. Dr. Metfessel is professor of psychology in the California school.

In the test, the operator presses a telegraph key as he utters a word. This breaks the electrical circuit on a revolving disk. Just above the disk is a metal arrow marker, and when the subject gives his answer to the word the marker drops back and establishes the electrical contact again. The elapsed time is then measured.

Measurements may be made with variations of only a thousandth part of a second, according to the inventor. It is possible to use the machine for visual tests by having the subject indicate when he sees a light beam flashed by the operator.

Mrs. Metfessel is the former (Carol Lucile Stone) B.A. '21, Iowa State Teachers College; M.A. '24, State University of Iowa.
