IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

CEDAR FALLS, IOWA, MAY 10, 1909.

To the Alumni and Friends of the State Teachers College:

This little bulletin announces the thirty-third annual Commencement. The class of 1909 exceeds in membership any class that the years past have given to the history of this institution. According to custom, special exercises occur at the closing of the fiscal school year in June, altho one section of the class graduated at the end of the Winter term and other sections will complete their work at the end of the Summer and Fall terms. This permitting of graduation at the College quarterly has been of great benefit to all concerned and has resulted in accommodating many conditions without retarding students or without sending them away without the full work required.

The designation of the normal school at Cedar Falls as the "Iowa State Teachers College" was made by the last General Assembly and was a fit conclusion of the thirty-three years servis in the educating and training of public school teachers for the great state of Iowa. The expansion and the development of the Teachers College has now reached such perfection that in no other place in or out of Iowa can a more practical, thorough education as a teacher for public school work of any grade or kind be obtained. This fact is not an over-statement due to imagination or to extravagance of pride, but can be easily verified by any one who will investigate broadly and make proper comparisons. The training of high school teachers of every kind and degree has now been completely reached so that in the foreign languages, the sciences, the manual arts, the political and historical lines of education as well as in mathematics and English the most effectual and thorough training is obtainable. The status of the college is not modified so far as the preparation of elementary, primary, kindergarten, music, drawing, physical training and domestic science teachers are concerned, since such work is conducted in accordance with the most approved standards and yet the preparation of all grades of high school teachers is given an attention and is made a specialty of as high a type as is undertaken anywhere in the United States.
These things are mentioned in order that the alumni and friends of this teachers' school may realize the standard that has been reached and may fully appreciate what such conditions must mean to the young people of Iowa who may desire to prepare themselves thoroughly for the great work of public education. The training school is one of the most efficient departments of the College. Here there are kindergarten, primary schools, grammar schools, and a first-class secondary or high school in which instruction work is assigned according to the special field for which the student prepares. The secondary school is organized on an original plan and gives much earlier language instruction to the children than is common and hence grants large opportunity for training teachers in the proper methods of teaching Latin and German in public high schools. Here is taught also a better curriculum than the average high school has, simply because everything is organized to suit the age and the capability of the children taught rather than to conform to some system adopted without a full realization of the actual problems involved.

Every provision is made for the coming Commencement. This will be the final meeting of the Board of Trustees that has had the direction of the College for a third of a century. The members of this Board have been faithful in devotion, earnest in their attention to business and discreet in management of the financial affairs. They are, therefore, able to turn over to their successors in office a well organized, well built and well conducted College for teachers that will always be a monument to their ability and wisdom. The new managers, appointed by the State, "The State Board of Education," are men of broad experience, large ideals and notable reputation as publicists. They come to make the institution more helpful, more important and more progressive, if such a condition can be secured in any single respect, and their administration gives promise of every good thing that human instrumentality can devise. With loving farewells to the old friends whose public services all have learned to appreciate, and with confident hope for the future as the new friends are greeted who come in sincerity to take up the work that remains yet to be done, this introduction is completed.

Homer H. Seerley,
President.
TO THE ALUMNI.

A special effort is being made this year to make Alumni Day, Tuesday, June 8th, an unusual success, and the executive committee ask your hearty co-operation and attendance at the meetings arranged.

In order that the students and general public may feel a greater interest in the alumni program, it has been decided to secure a speaker of note to give an address on some live topic in place of the regulation history, poem and oration. No stone has been left unturned to obtain a speaker of genuine merit and national reputation. You cannot afford to miss this part of commencement week.

Immediately after the lecture will occur the business meeting, at which all members are urged to be present. This will be followed at 12:30 by the annual luncheon served to the Alumni Association and its guests. Besides the toasts and music by the orchestra and Minnesingers, we are anticipating a special exercise of unusual interest to all.

Great effort has been made to bring back the classes of '84, '89, '94, '99, '04. May we not count on your loyal support in making this day one of unusual interest, not only to the Alumni, but to the general public as well.

By order of the executive committee:
L. H. MINKLE, '95, President.
F. D. CRAM, '08, First Vice-President.
MARY L. TOWNSEND, '99, Second Vice-President.
G. H. BALLARD, '99, Third Vice-President.
H. C. CUMMINS, '98, Treasurer.
EMMA RIDLEY COLGROVE, '88, Secretary.
