
The Cornerstone textbook is a free, custom textbook for you, published by Rod Library. It is a compilation of materials from more than six free, openly-licensed textbooks. Your Cornerstone instructors carefully selected the best of the best for your course!

A few notes for success in using this textbook:

- Ebooks don't always have page numbers. Find sections by using CTRL + F on your keyboard and searching for a chapter title or other word.
- Note that some instructors may assign only some of the chapters in the text. Pay close attention to your syllabus, eLearning, and instructions/assignments provided to you.
- Separate pdfs are available for each chapter, in addition to a large pdf with the entire text. Use whatever is most useful to you, and know that all are available for download if you need to read when you don't have an internet connection.
- Some software such as Adobe Reader can read documents aloud to you. Try this if you like to learn by listening or you want to read while working out or taking a walk!
- Evidence from research studies suggests that our brains tend to skim more when reading online versus reading in print. Print sections you may need to, while considering sustainability.
- Engage in active reading by taking notes, either electronically or on paper. Software programs such as Adobe Reader allow you to annotate (mark up) and add "sticky notes" to pdfs.
- If you need support for academic skills such as reading scholarly sources, time management, etc., meet with a tutor in The Learning Center and reach out to your instructor.
- If you have a documented disability and need accommodations, including any related to course materials, see Student Accessibility Services.

Notice a mistake? Report it here so we can improve the next edition! We are all scholars working together, so your involvement with improving our educational materials is vital.

We at UNI aspire that all UNI students have access to high-quality course materials that are affordable, accessible, & inclusive.
