University of Northern Iowa

Cedar Falls, Iowa
A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN IOWA

The University of Northern Iowa, one of the state's three leading institutions of higher learning, is the outgrowth of the Iowa State Normal School established by the General Assembly in 1876. On September 6 of that year 27 students under four instructors began classes in a renovated home for Civil War orphans. This building, later named Central Hall, was destroyed by fire in July, 1965.

From a single building on a 40-acre campus, the University has grown to include 33 major buildings, a 557-acre campus, 422 full-time faculty members and 8,239 students.

During the first 27 years, the school issued teaching certificates requiring 12 weeks to two years of training. In 1903 a four-year curriculum based on high school graduation and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education was authorized.

In 1909 the institution was renamed the Iowa State Teachers College and the government of the College, along with that of the University of Iowa and Iowa State University, was vested in the State Board of Regents, a nine-member body appointed by the Governor. Under the new name, the College attained a reputation as one of the nation's top ten institutions for training teachers.

On July 5, 1961, the Iowa General Assembly on recommendation of the State Board of Regents changed the name of the school to State College of Iowa and redefined its function to include the offering of liberal arts degrees.

On July 1, 1967, the General Assembly on recommendation of the Board of Regents gave the College university status. Its name was changed to University of Northern Iowa and its function was again redefined.

Although teacher education remains the chief aim of the University, it is permitted to offer degrees to students who do not plan to teach. Thus UNI has two programs leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree, one with certification to teach and one without certification. In addition, in June of 1968, the Board of Regents approved a new undergraduate degree — the Bachelor of Technology.

On the graduate level, courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts in Education were offered for the first time in the summer of 1952 and a sixth-year program leading to the Specialist in Education degree began in 1960. Specialist degrees are now granted in industrial arts and business education.

In 1964, the Master of Arts degree was approved by the State Board of Regents. The first Master of Arts degrees were granted in 1966.

Looking toward an enrollment of over 11,000 by 1975, the University is expanding residence hall facilities, building a new Union and physical education center, and is enlarging its academic offerings.
