The chant that can be heard in college football stadiums throughout America each Saturday in the fall will be ringing through the ears of Northern Iowa's volleyball team this season. Iradge Ahrabi-Fard is going to see to it.

Although last year's 17-9 mark and third-place finish in the Missouri Valley Conference standings was no small accomplishment, it was not quite up to the standards the Northern Iowa coach and his teams have set in recent years. With two of UNI's most potent offensive weapons from a year ago graduated in all-conference hitter Stacy Makoben and NCAA service ace leader Dawn Meester, the defensive battle cry has gone out.

"That's really going to be our emphasis this year," said Ahrabi-Fard, who enters his 13th season at the helm. "We made that commitment to defense in the off-season. All our players know about it and should be ready to come into camp with that in mind. We were near the bottom of the conference statistically last year and that's not going to happen again."

If it doesn't happen again and the Panthers are able to show improvement in that area, Ahrabi-Fard thinks his squad can make a run at the second Missouri Valley Conference crown.

"I'm extremely pleased with the improvement many of our players made during the off-season and feel we have every reason to be optimistic for this season," he said. "I would venture to say this team is as talented as any we've had here, but with not as much as experience. We could make a lot of improvement from the beginning to the end of the season, more than any other team we've had."

And lest we preach defense too much, Ahrabi-Fard is blessed with a roster with more versatility on offense and quality depth than any he has had.

"Offensively, we have a lot of options open to us because of the personnel we have," he said. "We may go with a 6-2 or 5-1 offense or different types of teams, depending on the circumstance. We could have a tall team out there or a short, quick team. If we need extra hitters, we have plenty to choose from with no drop-off in talent."

"I think we're going to be very deep, enough so that we'll have three people battling for certain positions."

Which brings us to the middle.

An already deep corps of front row players returning has been added to with a top recruit. A wide-open battle is expected among the middle hitters with senior Tricia Mills, junior Carrie Shurr and freshman Kate Marovich expected to see plenty of action.

Mills has progressed steadily throughout her career, ranking in the top 10 in the league in blocks (1.28 bpg) each season, as has Shurr (1.37 bpg), who missed a month last season due to an ankle injury. Sophomore Diane Cuttell filled in admirably during Shurr's absence and proved very capable. But Ahrabi-Fard feels Marovich is the wild card.

"Kate is a very talented young lady and if she comes in in top condition, she'll definitely be a major factor," he noted. "It's a nice problem to have."

On the outside, junior Natalie Walters returns after receiving honorable mention all-conference honors a year ago and compiling the highest kill average (3.33 kpg) by a sophomore in school history. She ranks among the top five returners in the league in kills and hitting percentage.

"Natalie has improved tremendously and we certainly expect her to be one of the top forces in the conference," Ahrabi-Fard said. "And Jill Schoeberl has been..."
I would venture to say this team is as talented as any we've had here, but with not as much as experience.

Ahrabi-Fard

important setter position the next several years after Kara Galer, Kate's twin sister, lived up to all expectations last season as a freshman. She was one of a talented crop of freshman setters in the Valley last season and ranks third in assist average (9.75 apg) among the returners. She also is second among UNI returners in kills (1.49 kpg) and digs (1.65 dpg) and third in aces (0.28apg). The Panthers didn't miss a beat last season when junior Dionne Pettit filled in when Galer was sidelined with an ankle injury.

Sophomore Michelle Becker, the third of three sisters who have played at UNI, is expected to move into a key role in the back row. Ahrabi-Fard has plans to use her much more extensively this season after limited action a year ago.

"Michelle is going to see a lot of action this year in the back row," he added. "With our emphasis on defense, the back row is going to be an area of concentration and she will figure prominently. Some of the front row players who aren't up to speed in the back will lose that spot.

The biggest news regarding the Missouri Valley Conference this season is the return of an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament after a year's absence. Northern Iowa was the last team to make use of the automatic bid in the now-defunct Gateway Conference two years ago.

Ahrabi-Fard said that is by far the most significant development in the conference this season, although he expects some of the traditionally weaker teams in the league to make some strides.

"I don't see any major changes at the top," he noted. "I think we'll be better, but it will still boil down to the same four as the past few years with us, Illinois State, Southwest Missouri and Wichita State.

"Some of the teams that traditionally have been in the lower half of the league are making definite strides. I don't think there are going to be any pushovers in the Valley. I think Drake, Bradley and Tulsa are all going to surprise some people and come through very well."

Recognized as one of the most successful coaches in the Midwest, Ahrabi-Fard enters his 13th season at Northern Iowa sporting a 318-115-4 record. He collected career win #300 at the Gateway Conference Tournament in 1991 against rival Illinois State.

Under his guidance, the Panthers have reached new heights over the last eight years, recording a 203-52 mark with four conference championships, three NCAA Championship Tournament berths and two National Invitation appearances. Ahrabi-Fard's teams have chalked up at least 20 victories in 10 of his 12 seasons. He was voted Gateway Coach of the Year in 1985 and 1987, and earned recognition as Midwest Region Coach of the Year by his peers in 1985.

A 1965 graduate of UNI, Ahrabi-Fard has long been involved in athletics on the international level. In his native Iran, he served as President of the Institution of Sports from 1967 thru 1969, head swimming coach for the men's and women's national teams from 1967 thru 1970, Executive Director of the Education Department of Sports Ministry in 1970, and Vice-Minister of Sports Ministry from 1977 thru 1978. He also served as special physical educator for the Crown Prince and Princess of Iran.

As an athlete, Ahrabi-Fard competed on the Iranian national volleyball team internationally and in the Asian Games. He also was a high jumper on the national track and field team and competed his freshman year at UNI.

He was a successful high school coach in several sports at Northern University High School in Cedar Falls prior to taking the UNI job, earning various district, regional and state coach of the year honors in volleyball, track and field, and swimming.

Ahrabi-Fard has authored several books on volleyball coaching and is a highly sought-after speaker/clinician throughout the country.

After earning his bachelor's degree in physical education, Ahrabi-Fard received his master's in physical education from UNI in 1966 and his doctorate in physical education and educational administration from the University of Minnesota in 1975.
Assistant Coach
Jan Bittner

Assistant coach Jan Bittner is in her 12th season at UNI after becoming the school’s first assistant in 1982. In addition to her on-court duties, Bittner is UNI’s recruiting coordinator and handles most administrative duties of the program including scheduling, team travel and coordination of the summer volleyball camps.

A native of Rockford, Illinois, Bittner is a 1976 graduate of Valparaiso University, where she earned a bachelor’s degree in physical education and lettered four years on the basketball team. She received her master’s degree in physical education administration from Illinois State University in 1981.

Her previous coaching experience includes two years as head girls’ volleyball coach at St. John’s High School in Houston, Texas, where she compiled a 51-11 record and led her 1980 squad to a Southwest Prep Conference title. Bittner also served three years as head girls’ tennis coach and junior varsity girls’ basketball coach.

Assistant Coach Sheng Gao

Sheng Gao returns for his sixth season as a Panther assistant after first becoming involved with the program as a graduate assistant in 1986.

Gao was an outstanding player in his native China, leading the University of Beijing to the 1979 collegiate national championship. He graduated from Beijing with a bachelor’s degree in 1983 and then began teaching and coaching. He first came to UNI in 1984 and recently earned his master’s degree in physical education.

The Missouri Valley Conference, the oldest athletic conference west of the Mississippi River, begins its second year sponsoring women’s athletics. The MVC took on a new look in 1992 when it officially began administering women’s programs into what had been — for 85 years — a league which sponsored men’s athletic programs only.

The St. Louis-based MVC began operating as a basketball conference in 1907, and through the years has produced many individual and team national champions in basketball and several other sports. The league merged with the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference, which concluded a decade of excellence in years — a league which sponsored men’s programs into what had been for 85 operating as a basketball conference in athletic programs only.

The Missouri Valley was formed on January 12, 1907, when eight administrators representing five midwestern state universities got together in a hotel room in Kansas City. In the fall of that year, basketball became the first competitive sport in what was then the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The season ended with the crowning of a conference champion, which was the first step for a league which had four teams win national basketball titles, sent 17 others to the NCAA Final Four, and scores of players into professional basketball.

In recent years, the league has built a reputation as one of the premier conferences in college baseball. Since 1980, some 22 MVC teams have competed in the NCAA baseball tournament, with seven advancing to the College World Series in the last 10 years.

But basketball is not the only sport that has been around a long time in the MVC. Last spring, the league contested its 80th outdoor track and field championship, while intercollegiate tennis in the Valley has been contested for 75 years.

Those programs, plus the other current sponsored sports of golf (50 years), baseball (46), cross country (36), indoor track and field (26), and the 1993 start of the third year for competitive soccer, have helped establish the Missouri Valley as one of the most respected conferences in the nation.

Through the years, there have been 31 colleges or universities representing 13 states which have been a part of the Missouri Valley. Membership has stabilized in the past decade, and now a league that has survived in what has been a volatile environment for the past few years enters a new era with women’s athletics.

In 1982, the Gateway Conference was formed to provide a home for women’s programs, which had previously administered women’s athletics only. Gateway football quickly established itself, as the NCAA waived its two-year waiting period for automatically qualifying for the NCAA Tournament and granted Gateway football an automatic bid after just one season of play. Gateway teams have annually been ranked in national polls, and in the last four years, six Gateway teams have advanced to post-season play. Under the new conference structure, the Gateway Conference name remained for 1-AA football only. All other men’s and women’s athletic programs are under the Missouri Valley Conference banner.

The Missouri Valley Conference sponsors the following sports: baseball, men’s and women’s basketball, men’s and women’s cross country and track (indoor and outdoor), men’s and women’s golf, men’s soccer, softball, men’s and women’s tennis and volleyball.

Members of the MVC are Bradley, Creighton, Drake, Illinois State, Indiana State, Northern Iowa, Southern Illinois, Southwest Missouri State, Tulsa and Wichita State.

A campus-wide commitment to great teaching lies at the heart of the University of Northern Iowa's reputation for providing exceptional undergraduate education, as well as complementary programs at the master's, specialist's and doctoral levels. Building on its historic strength in teacher education, the University has developed a number of outstanding programs in business, natural sciences, humanities and fine arts, and social and behavioral sciences.

Northern Iowa prides itself on providing a student-centered educational experience. The University's medium size allows it to offer the faculty, facilities and academic choices of a major university, while retaining a friendly, small college atmosphere. Small classes enable the University to foster one-on-one working relationships between faculty and students. More than 90 percent of UNI's classes have 50 or fewer students.

Students enter the University well-prepared, demonstrated by their selection of high school courses and rank in class. In recent years, over 90 percent of the entering freshmen ranked in the top 50 percent of their high school classes, with about 60 percent ranking in the top 30 percent. The average undergraduate arrives at UNI with an ACT score of 23.

U.S. News and World Report has recognized the University by ranking it seventh among the top 15 colleges and universities and second among best buys in the Midwest Region in its America's Best Colleges Book. It also recognized Northern Iowa as one of two "up-and-coming" Midwest regional universities.

The College of Business Administration has become the largest undergraduate business school in Iowa. The College's Department of Accounting is ranked among the 10 best in the country by educators and accounting professionals. In a national survey of 400 accounting faculty, Northern Iowa ranked as one of their top programs.

Considered a long-time leader in the field of teacher education, UNI has implemented several programs that continue this tradition of excellence. the Regents' Center for Early Developmental Education is a leading setting for research and training in the education of young children. The Center is the only educational resource of its kind in Iowa.

Northern Iowa's 19 men's and women's intercollegiate athletics programs compete at the NCAA Division I level with major conference affiliations. The Panthers boast a nationally recognized coaching staff to maintain consistently competitive programs.

The Northern Iowa campus combines the grandeur of early 1900s architecture with striking, modern building designs that have characterized an impressive growth period over the past dozen years. The attractive, park-like campus contains more than 40 major buildings on 861 acres, yet is compact enough to cross in a 10-minute walk.

UNI is located in Cedar Falls, an inviting and historic community of about 35,000 people. Together with the adjacent city of Waterloo, the metropolitan area has a culturally diverse population of 115,000 and combines big city opportunities with small town friendliness. Cedar Falls/Waterloo is a center for industry, finance, commerce, recreation and cultural activities for northeast Iowa.

The University was founded in 1876 and is one of three state-assisted universities administered by the Iowa State Board of Regents. Additional private support is provided by the UNI Foundation and Northern Iowa Alumni Association, representing more than 65,000 alumni in the United States and other countries.
For the third time in the last nine years, the Panthers took their brand of volleyball overseas last May. Last year's team spent three weeks in Holland, Belgium and France, where they participated in several tournaments.

Among the team's stops were Paris and the Eiffel Tower (left) and their local sponsor, an automobile dealer (below).
